MAX SUITS TO BE FILED IN DIST. COURT

Many Suits Prepared; Others Are Being Prepared

Preparations for filing suits for collection of delinquent school tax for the September term of district court were made at a meeting of the school board Monday.

Several suits have been prepared and others are being prepared by D. D. Oswald, attorney for the Independent School District.

A statement released Wednesday was pointed out that this suit was forced upon the school board as the Crowell schools have operated as long as possible without forcing delinquent taxpayers to pay their taxes. The tax payments did not meet expectations this year and there are several obligations to be met and another term of school will open in short time.

According to the statement released by the board, those who have suits brought against them will be forced to pay the suits and court costs, and those who are not to pay before the suits are filed to save the court costs.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—The courts took a hand and the legislature indicated it would do so next month, in the political controversy raging over the $22 per capita school apportionment this week. Hearing on an injunction issued by the district court at San Antonio, forbidding the state board of education to reduce the per capita apportionment below the $22 figure set last month, was scheduled, with Atty. Gen. Bill M. Crow in a warm spot politically. By law, McCraw must represent the board, and oppose making permanent the injunction; but a majority of the board, led by Ghent Sanderford, Ferguson appointee, doesn't want to do what the injunction forbids the board from doing. So McCraw has worked out what he considers a nice solution. He will tell the court that the injunction can not be legal-turned last week from East Texas where they visited relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Abb Dunn left Tuesday of last week for Mexico City and other points. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thomas of McLean.

SAFETY SLOGANS

During 1936 accidents cost 111,000 lives. This is more than twice the number of American soldiers that were killed in the World War. Drive with care on your vacation—even a small accident can mar a good vacation.

If you can't swim stay out of deep water. Stay out of water if you do not know its actual depth. Many lives are lost each year by persons wading or swimming who step off suddenly into deep holes over their depth. Pure carelessness. Every one should know better than to go into water the depth of which he does not know unless he can swim.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY

(C. I. A.) Make up your mind, then make up your face. Money talks, but sometimes it says the wrong thing. Homeliness keeps some folks decent. Many are busy going somewhere for the purpose of coming back. Neither seek nor expect what you don't deserve. Legalized wrong is not right. A man may be his own worst enemy.

Trying to Please Everybody "The man dat tries to please everybody," said Uncle Eben, "ain't guine to git along nice so well as de man who squares up to de world an' gits everybody tryin' to please him."

and should be dissolved; but he will reassure the school lobby at the same time, but declaring the reason it shouldn't stand is because the board can not legally act to change the apportionment after Aug. 1, and because schools have already contracted obligations based upon the $22 figure, and these obligations can not now be impaired. McCraw declared he believes present tax revenues will yield sufficient to pay the full $22 apportionment, anyway. If they do not, then the deficit resulting will be chargeable against next year's per capita apportionment, and this appears to be the sole actual difference between the conflicting actions taken by the state automatic tax board, and the state board of education.

Political Implications But however small the actual difference between the two boards, the controversy has stirred a political cyclone. L. A. Woods, the state superintendent of education, next year for reelection to a fourth term, has taken the stump and is making speeches all over Texas, lambasting Alfred and Comptroller George Sheppard for reducing the ad valorem tax rate, charging the schools have been robbed by the "big interests." Alfred, leaving for his Mexico City vacation, fired a blast in the form of a spirited written defense of himself and Sheppard, which he sent to every weekly newspaper in Texas, with a promise of more to come later.

Montgomery Named Julian Montgomery, lauded throughout the state by his colleagues as one of the most capable engineers in Texas, will be chief highway engineer Oct. 1, upon retirement of Gibb Gilchrist, who becomes dean of engineering at A. & M. college. Montgomery, who headed the PWA set-up in Texas—the government work-relief organization operated by Ickes, which got something permanent in the way of improvements for every dollar it spent—has been the final authority on expenditure of many millions of federal money in Texas, sums comparable with the millions the highway department uses to build and maintain roads. Incidentally his appointment was forecast this column two weeks before occurred, and of any daily newspaper in Texas, and while one of the leading dailies was declaring him eliminated and not being considered.

LIBRARY NEWS

Agatha Christie was born in Devonshire, England. As a youngster, it never once occurred to her to write, as her spelling was atrocious. Her mother was responsible for her writing. Agatha was in bed with a cold, and her mother made her write a story. For some years all her stories were of unrelieved gloom where most of the characters died. This probably accounts for her interest in the detective story. Her first novel to be printed was "The Mysterious Affair at Styles," written while she was working at a Red Cross hospital during the war.

Agatha is a lover of the theatre and the desert. She does a lot of traveling, mostly in the Near East. Her novels in the library are: "The Murder at Hazelmoor," "13 for Dinner," "Murder in Three Acts," "Cards on the Table," and her latest novel, "Poison Losses a Client."

Oldest Mountains in U. S.

Great Smoky Mountains National park has many advantages, not the least of which is its proximity to the great centers of population in the United States. It is estimated that more than 60 million persons in eastern America are within 24 hours' travel time of this playground. It is the largest national park east of the Rocky mountains, and one of the nation's youngest. It is 71 miles long, nearly 20 miles wide, and contains 427,000 acres. It straddles the mile-high backbone of the Great Smokies, which forms the boundary between Tennessee and North Carolina. They are the oldest mountains in America and the highest mountain mass in eastern America. There are 94 peaks more than 5,000 feet in height, 33 more than a mile high, and 27 exceeding 6,000 feet.

America's Near East

Western Ireland is America's Near East, according to a travel authority of Great Britain and Ireland. The western Irish call their country the next parish to America. They know more about America often than they do about Dublin and Cork, in their own country, for almost everyone in the Irish West has a brother or a son or a cousin in the United States. American association with western Ireland began with Columbus. People say that he sailed along that way and picked up one of the western Irish for his crew when he was setting off to discover America.

Early Increase in Felons

When a statement was made that the population of the Ohio Penitentiary was 70, as of August 19, 1918, three years after the first convict had been received, many Ohioans were alarmed over what they declared as an "enormous increase in felons," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Some editors, ministers and other leaders were crying to the heavens for an answer to the crime problem. One hundred years later, on August 19, 1918, the population of the penitentiary was 1,944, which as compared with the population of the state showed that the number of convicts was increasing three times faster than the population.

ry out the provisions of the act. Until this corporation is set up and has established its own personnel or has designated some agency of the Department of Agriculture to execute this program, it will be impossible to refer farmers to anyone who has authority to give them any information.

The organization placed in charge must then set up county committees, Harris said. These committees will examine applications of persons desiring to finance home ownership through one of these loans and also examine and appraise the farms. Until these committees have actually been appointed and are functioning no applications can be approved by anyone at any place. Organization of the machinery will start with naming the three members of the board of directors of the Farmers Home Corporation, then proceed all the way down through regional or state or district to county headquarters. The bill states that all applications must be made through a county representative who shall be either the county agent or someone else chosen by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Loans will be made only for farms large enough to constitute an efficient farm management unit, which will enable a diligent farm family to carry on successfully the type of farming best suited to the locality. Only farm tenants, farm laborers, share croppers, and other individuals who earn or recently earned the major portion of their income from farm-labor operations are eligible.

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

'Tis not what man does which exalts him, but what man would do.—Robert Browning.
Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us to the end, do our duty as we understand it.—Abraham Lincoln.
Since the creation of the world there has been no tyrant like intolerance, and no slave so cruelly treated as his.—William Lloyd Garrison.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY (CIA)

If you don't try to be something, you are not likely to be much.
Two wrong sides and one right side make the triangular boundary of every fuss.
One's size is measured by the stature of his soul.
A doubter is beaten before the fight begins.
The worst barnacle is he who lives by the sweat of another's brow.
Seeing the beauties of the earth will not minimize those of heaven.

Are Children Ready for School?—State Health Officer Asks

Austin.—Now is the time, according to State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, for every parent to ask himself if his child is physically ready for school. A visit to the family physician will answer this question and give time for correction of minor defects before school bells ring out this September.

School children are exposed to so much infection that where a definite preventive against disease is known, parents should take advantage of it.
Vaccination against typhoid, diphtheria and smallpox should be done at once. These vaccinations may save many days out of school, doctor fees and perhaps life itself. More than three hundred children die each year in Texas from diphtheria.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school, until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions as habitual winking may be caused by defective vision and should be attended to immediately.

The far reaching effect of infected tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for many years. Many of the ills of later life, as heart disease, arthritis, deafness and the like, are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, estimates the Texas State Health Department, urging that children should be taken regularly to the dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth.

This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible for dental defects to be discovered as soon as they appear.
Postural defects are detectable in children much sooner today than was formerly the case. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulder blades project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises while the child is young, diligently adhered to, will prevent later developments.

Some physical defects of children, particularly underweight or malnutrition, show no appreciable present effect. If such a condition is not corrected it may result seriously in later years.

Hard and fast rules for a child's weight at a certain age are difficult to arrive at due to variation in children's bone construction and physical build, but some gain should be shown each month. Average weights for height and age, as computed by experts, may be had from your family physician.

have dependent families, and wherever practical, so persons who are able to make an initial down payment. Farmers who have been thrifty enough to become owners of livestock and farm implements necessary to run the farm are also to be given general preference, where other considerations are equal.

The county committee must certify that they believe the applicant will be successful in carrying out the provisions of the agreement. The committee must also certify to the reasonable value of the farm.

Size of the farms shall be determined according to local conditions, but shall in no instance exceed the amount the county committee believes is the honest value of the land. Loans must be paid within an agreed period of time not to exceed forty years, and the interest rate will be three per cent per annum on all unpaid balances. A surplus above the average annual payment will be collected in periods of above normal production or price. Reduced payments will be allowed when farm income is substandard. The farm-er may pay out and take a clear title at any time he is able. However, he cannot make final payment or the government's interest be released prior to five years from the making of the loan, except with the consent of the secretary.

Two hundred of 215 girls answered "Yes" to the question "Do You Swear?" at an inquiry made at a girls' seminary.

But admitting that they swear is not proof that these feminine lips do utter oaths, according to an authority in a Northern state.
"Four or five people must hear you swear, not a second or two, but for five minutes—that's the law in North Carolina."

"Down in Alabama they don't expect a man to swear from the houseposts, but the law says that if three or four persons hear you just once, godnight!"

"In Tennessee it is not necessary to repeat the offensive words when a culprit is indicted.

H. D. Notes

In the report of her wardrobe demonstration Wilma Nichols, wardrobe demonstrator for the Black 4-H Club, tells an interesting story of how to be appropriately and attractively dressed on $5.85 and with the garments she displayed and the clothing that she wore in the contest proved that she had done a good job of it.

Her records show that she has made five dresses, one pair of pajamas, one slip, and four cap-towels. Her storage space was remodeled by adding a shelf to the closet built during her work last year.

"I saved $5.32 by making my own clothing," says Kathleen Johnson, wardrobe demonstrator for the Foard City 4-H Club. Kathleen gives actual figures for expenditures for a pair of shorts, three dresses of different kinds, and a searsucker house coat. Opposite these she gives figures for the same garments bought ready-made and decides that she has made a substantial saving by learning to sew.

The money saved by making her own clothing more than paid for a closet two by five feet equipped with a rod, shoe rack, and other accessories.
