Wildcats Will Get First Real Test Friday Night with Paducah

The Crowell Wildcats will get their first real test of the season Friday night at 8 o'clock when they tangle with the Paducah boys in the last home game of the season.

The mighty Dragons more than held their own in a scrimmage with the Children's Class A Bobcats powerhoused over the Chillihothe Eagles Friday, Sept. 17, 25 to 0. The Paducah eleven will present the toughest defense and offense the Crowell boys have been offered in their other three games this season.

The visiting Dragons may present a defense that will bog the Wildcats' running attack. The Paducah boys held the Chillihothe boys for downs on their own line and the Eagles did not complete a pass against the Dragons to show that they are a team to be reckoned with in any rival squad.

The two teams stack up practically the same in weight, Paducah having a slight advantage of seven pounds per man.

The Dragons' line averages 155 pounds and the Crowell line 154. A visiting backfield will outpace the local back by six pounds, the Paducah backs average 146 pounds and the Wildcats will tip scales at 140 pounds per man.

Over-zealous Paducah fans who called the Crowell boys perform Friday night declare that the game is a 12-point better than the local club but this remains to be seen Friday at 8 o'clock when the teams will play to protect their undefeated records and one of them must fall the Crowell fans are backing the deserving Wildcats to win.

When these two teams meet, the Wildcats will be out to avenge a defeat suffered last year and the Dragons will try to make it a second win over a Crowell team in 1937, last year being the first. From reports that come from the Dragons' lair, they are sure that just that will happen and Crowell fans are anxious-waiting game time Friday because they know that one of the best games to be played in section will be witnessed on Crowell field as neither team has been defeated this year and are rated as two of the best Class B teams in West Texas.

OFFICIALS ON GRADED HORSE DISEASE HERE

New Cases of Sleeping Disease Reported in County

Two Fort Worth veterinary officers and a United States Army veterinarian were here Wednesday to confer with County Agent John Naggy on the sleeping sickness among horses of Foard County in connection with a survey of the graded disease being made in Texas and Oklahoma.

Dr. T. O. Booth, chief veterinarian of the State Livestock Commission; Dr. H. L. Darby, chief of Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, both of Fort Worth, and F. Shahan, federal pathologist, spent several hours in the county agent's office discussing the cause of treatment of sleeping sickness.

One of the officials named above is in Crowell several days a week-end and the first of next week. He will make the office of county agent his headquarters, according to Mr. Naggy. According to Mr. Naggy, there are several cases of this disease in the county at present and that 15 or 20 animals had died in the past three months.

The disease is communicated by a bite from a mosquito. Officials blame the fall weather for the southward movement of the mosquitoes. The disease usually affects a horse from five to ten days, and is fatal only when caught in the early stages. Officials state that the chances for the normal fifty percent recovery of stricken animals are as follows:

Quiet and plenty of bedding, water or large quantities of water through the mouth. Most cases are accompanied by a paralysis of the throat, and "rising" water may fill the horse's lungs and give him pneumonia.

Interment in Crowell Cemetery Saturday Afternoon

William E. Taylor, 56, who had resided on the farm of Mack Gamble in the Gambleville community for three years, died in the Quannah Hospital Friday afternoon, Sept. 24, following a short illness. Marvin Brotherton of Vernon officiating.

Mr. Taylor was converted and joined the Methodist Church at Rule in 1917. He served as a steward in the church during the time he lived there. He moved to the Gambleville community with his children in 1934 where he had made many friends.

He is survived by the following children: Dewane, Leon, Ruby and Claude Taylor of the Gambleville community; Ruth Taylor of San Francisco, Calif.; and Paul Taylor of New Mexico. All were present for the funeral except the last two named. He is also survived by a sister who lives at Rule and a brother who lives at Brownwood.

GRAVEL BASE ON HIGHWAY 16 GETS TOPPING

Prime Coat Finished; To Be Completed Next Week

A coat of cut-back asphalt has been put on the gravel base of Highway 16 south of Crowell under the supervision of W. C. Hazen of the State Highway Department at Childress. State-owned equipment was used to "shoot" the topping on the road surface.

This prime course will be followed by a coat of straight asphalt and gravel the first of next week. The rock has been received and will be piled on the road shoulder. When the asphalt is put down the gravel will be scattered over the top by hand. This work will require about two days to complete.

Approximately 3.9 miles of the road received the prime coat and over 16,900 gallons of two tank cars of cut-back asphalt were used and two days, Saturday and Monday, were required to complete the spraying of the topping material, according to Tom Seale, resident engineer.

The road was barricaded at the end of the pavement one block south of the court house and will remain so until the laying of the topping on the gravel base, which was completed several months ago. The road will be ready for public use some time next week.

Plastering of the walls will be completed some time during the first part of next week. All of the inside of the rooms have been finished and only the walls of the halls have yet to receive the finishing touches.

All of the inside trim has been delivered and the inside doors are expected any day. Finishing work in the rooms will start within the next few days.

Approximately one-half of the Celetox ceiling is in place and this work is progressing rapidly.

Former Crowell Man Killed Friday Night in Cottle County

J. W. (Jim) Bratton, 68, a former Crowell resident, was killed last Friday on Highway 62 in Cottle County when the wagon in which he was riding with his family was struck by a pick-up. His step-son was also killed in the collision. Mrs. Bratton and small daughter, Wanda, were not seriously injured. Occupants of the pick-up also escaped injury.

Mr. Bratton was one of the early residents of Crowell, leaving here over thirty-five years ago. He is a cousin of H. C. Roark, and his wife was a niece of "Uncle" Ben Meason, of Crowell.

A double funeral for the two men was held in the First Baptist Church in Quannah Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in the Quannah Cemetery. Both were former residents of Quannah.

Mr. Bratton is survived by his wife, two daughters and one son. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Roark attended the funeral.

V. A. Teachers of District Addressed By Supervisors

Plans for Vocational Agriculture work during the coming year were discussed and explained to the teachers of the Vernon district by Mrs. J. B. Rutland, state supervisor, and O. T. Ryan, Area 1 supervisor, at the first regular meeting held in Vernon Saturday afternoon, Sept. 25.

Report blanks and instructional sheets were distributed and plans for attending the Tenth National Future Farmers of America Convention at Kansas City, Oct. 16-21, were discussed. Each chapter of this district voted to send at least one representative.

The State F. F. A. president, Oscar Dodson of Chillicothe, will be a member of this delegation. Three officials of the Soil Conservation Survey located in Vernon attended the meeting and invited the teachers and their students to visit their project on Adam's Creek, east of Vernon.

The next meeting will be held on October 30 and district officers will be elected at that time.

Teachers attending the meeting were: J. W. Hulsey, Chillicothe; Walker P. Todd, Crowell; Henry Elders, Archer City; M. S. Dean, Burk Burnett; Francis Todd, Quannah; Ed McMinn, Kirkland; H. G. Barber, Harrold.

Mr. Ryan urged that more boys enter in the various contests this year and strive to make this year's chapter better than that of last year. He told of the National F. F. A. Convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 19-21. Each chapter in Area 1 of Texas is striving to send a representative to the assembly and the Crowell boys indicated that they would attempt to be represented at this convention.

INFORMATION OF INTEREST TO COTTON PRODUCERS RELEASED WEDNESDAY BY COUNTY AGENT

The following information, which is of interest to cotton producers who desire to take advantage of the 1937 Cotton Price Adjustment, was released yesterday by County Agent John Naggy. The data gives the method of securing and recording evidence of sale made from the 1937 cotton crop.

Congress has appropriated $130,000,000 for the payment of a subsidy to cotton farmers on their crop this year. The payment is a subsidy in the form of a check for that part of their 1937 cotton crop which is sold prior to July 1, 1938, up to 65 per cent of the cotton base production which was or could have been estimated for each farm under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, and on an additional amount of cotton, above 65 per cent of the base, if sufficient funds remain available.

Important Details
Original buyer's receipts for all cotton sold from the 1937 crop on or before September 15, 1937, must be mailed or delivered in person to the county agent's office not later than September 30, 1937. Buyer's receipts for cotton sold after September 15, 1937, must be mailed or delivered in person to the county agent's office not later than fifteen days after the date of sale.

Buyer's receipts must be in the original and must contain the date of sale; the name and address of the producer (at least one of the parties who had an interest in the cotton sold); the number of bales sold and the total gross weight of such bales; the signatures and address of the buyer.

If the cotton is sold in the seed, the receipt must show the number of pounds of seed cotton and the number of pounds expressed in terms of lint cotton and the receipt marked "loose lint."

After cotton sale certificates have been made available on printed Government forms, it will be necessary for the buyer to execute the Government form for cotton which is sold on and after the (Continued on Page Four)

Five Youths From Foard County Will Enter CCC Service

Five boys from Foard County will go to CCC camps some time next week as the allotment for this county was received Tuesday by H. E. Thomson, head of the local relief office. The boys who will enter this service will be named next week.

The allotment was smaller than was expected but there will probably be another enrollment some time in October. Mr. Thomson stated that he would continue to accept applications at the office in Crowell.

Over 2,200 bales of cotton from the 1937 crop had been ginned by the five gins of the county, according to reports obtained late Wednesday afternoon. This total nearly equals that of the entire production of Foard County last year.

The rush of the cotton season is beginning to get under way and should be in full swing within a short time as the bolls are opening and weather conditions are becoming favorable for gathering, managers of the gins say.

According to authorities, the grade of cotton is steadily improving. Three weeks ago, cotton buyers stated that the grade was very poor. It was learned Wednesday that lint was testing middling and in a few instances even higher.

Last-Minute Preparations Speed Eagerly Awaited Cooking School

Convention of Neighborly Homemakers Will Be Welcomed by The Foard County News Monday, Oct. 4, in Rialto Theatre

"The best things in life are free!" And so is The Foard County News' fascinating and different Cooking School that is just around the corner, opening Monday afternoon, Oct. 4 at 2 p. m., in the Rialto Theatre. Last minute plans are being completed, even as this paper goes to press.

No opening bells will be needed for the eagerly-awaited, three-day school, brimming with novelty, romance and practical appeal, for advance indications point to a capacity convention of homemakers.

Men have their annual conventions, where they listen to lectures from specialists, experts who have devoted years to studying and experimenting along constructive lines. There the crowds of business men get a fresh view on their job, new ideas and enthusiasm to carry back to work.

Now comes this practical rally of homemakers to contribute fresh perspective for the "same old job," the monotonous day-in-and-day-out job, yet the most important business in the world.

The feminine convention delegates may not pound on glass and sing pep songs, but they will get up-to-the-minute news on every phase of household lore, and they will hear from specialists in their own field, who will direct an inventory on simplified methods, routine, products and latest equipment, pointing the easy road to smooth home management.

They may seem like a tall order for one motion picture, but this entertainment is no ordinary film. True, it was cast, directed and filmed in a famed Hollywood studio, but it was assembled thoughtfully and patiently to bring more than passing amusement. Every-day happenings were dramatized in the sound plot. Behind the sparkling humor and suspense that are so necessary to screen stories, was a deliberate plan—an ambitious determination to carry instruction, inspiration and worth-while home news to women in every community.

The camera and the home specialists got together on their vigorous investigation, and The Foard County News was quick to snap up the chance to offer the interesting result.

Never has the camera been more faithful than in this motion picture Cooking School. Never has a model kitchen been portrayed so accurately and in such detail.

The camera took its time and it took its close-ups, so that every person in the Rialto Theatre will have a "large as life, and twice as natural" view of each operation. There will be no "orchestra circle" at this entertainment, since the back row guests of The News will have an equal chance to peer into the busy mixing bowl, watching the deft steps of measuring, creaming, sifting and thorough mixing, not overlooking the final work of baking, roasting, French frying or freezing.

For this is no half-hearted demonstration. Each delicious dish will be completed and shown with such realism that there are sure to be hungry "ohs" and "ahs" (Continued on Page Four.)

Rep. George Moffett Leaves for Austin

Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe left for Austin Sunday night to be present at the convening of a special session of the Texas legislature, which was called to meet at noon, Monday, September 27. Before leaving for Austin, Representative Moffett sent The News the following statement:

"The Governor has called the legislature into special session for the purpose of raising several million dollars in new taxes. I do not think the legislature will levy as many new taxes as the Governor desires, as most of the members are opposed to additional taxation; however, it is my judgment that some more revenue is needed for the old age pension fund, and that the legislature should take care of the two constitutional amendments voted by the people about a month ago, for the vote was very definite on these amendments."

"A strong movement is getting under way headed by Senator Holbrook of Galveston to induce the legislature to pass a very strict law relating to the collection of delinquent property taxes. As West Texas has received very low prices from farm products within the past few years, and as we had several record breaking droughts, I do not favor the bill proposed by Senator Holbrook.

"There is much division of opinion concerning this matter of taxation, and therefore I would welcome an expression from the folks back home on these matters at an early date."

COMMODITIES DISTRIBUTED IN COUNTY DROPS

August Approximately $200 Less Than September

The estimated retail value of surplus food and clothing commodities distributed to relief clients in Foard County during the month of August was approximately $200 less than that of the preceding month. Forrest Burks, commodity clerk, attributes this to the fact the clients have been able to obtain more substantial work during this month.

The total estimated value of the commodities distributed in August was $559.30 as compared with $574.22 total for July. The sum equals $3.46 per family and a cost of 22 cents per family to the county. This is a decrease of $1.24 per family.

Evaporated milk, rice grits and vegetables given totaled $113.56. The value of 454 garments distributed was set at $246.30.

Health Racketeers Should Be Watched

Austin.—In speaking of health racketeers, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said, "There is no meaner method of hitting below the belt than by holding out false promises to incurables. This fact, however, does not in the least deter the unscrupulous who thus heartlessly prey upon thousands of unfortunate who are in a hopeless stage of illness. Thousands of dollars are extracted annually from individuals whose conditions direct their hopes to the promises made by the super-scientific gentry who claim to have beaten the untiring researchers of endowed laboratories to cures for cancer, diabetes, tuberculosis, epilepsy, pellagra, and other serious conditions.

"Unfortunately, it is words rather than deeds that create the miracle. A miracle which, instead of being related to a cure, is entirely associated with the transfer of large sums of money from innocent persons to those whose only interest in health and health matters stops at the cash register.

"It is the sad and killing fact that in addition to the incurables, there are thousands of believing persons who become the victims of this type of racketeer, and thus through self-diagnosis and self-treatment, postpone a real investigation of their ailments until the incurable stage is reached.

"Two main rules should be followed in this connection. The first is to have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient conditions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can frequently be conquered. The second rule is to mistrust all high promising statements of 'amazing discoveries'."

Know Texas

Mr. Average Farmer
Denton.—Any man owning 275 acres of land worth about $18.70 an acre can consider himself an average Texas farmer. The 137,600,000 acres devoted to farming in this state are divided into over 501,000 farms, which range in size from tiny patches to tracts covering thousands of acres. The average farm, valued by the 1935 census at $5,137, is worth almost exactly the same amount as in 1910. Between that time and the present the highest value was in 1920, when Mr. Average Farmer was worth $8,486.

Texas Middletowns
Although Texas has not worked out a sociological Middletown, it has several geographical ones. Fort Worth is located almost exactly midway between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The actual center of Texas is slightly northeast of Brady, and the center of gravity of population is about four counties east of there near McGregor.

Earrings to Spare
Texas beauties could deck themselves very sumptuously with precious gems even if all imports of jewelry into the state were suddenly discontinued. Although only 20 per cent of the known metals in Texas are commercially exploited, jewels and ornamental stones, which are available include agate, amethyst, onyx, jasper, serpentine, topaz and turquoise. Pearls have also been discovered in the San Saba River. These raw materials, combined with the 376 jewelry factories now operating in Texas and valued at nearly twelve million dollars, could be turned into a considerable supply all on their own.

Word "Myriad" From Greek
The word "myriad" is from the Greek "myrioi," meaning ten thousand. As ordinarily used, however, it signifies a great but indefinite number.

Crop Control Legislation

There is considerable agitation appearing daily in the press and over the radio against further crop control legislation. Naturally those who profit most by the production of large crops of cotton, such as the railroads, the cotton compresses, spinners, etc., are all busy fighting any further control of cotton production. The real friends of the farmer who know how he has been annually robbed in the price he has received for his cotton year after year and know how he has been forced to produce his crops annually at far less than the cost of production, realize that the same sound business principles adopted by big business which through organization has permitted them to control and produce to fit the demand at a fixed price are entirely convinced that the same business methods adopted for the farmer will pull him out of the depths and place him on the high road to prosperity.

The farmer and his friends are determined that a suitable substitute for the AAA legislation must be enacted at the next session of Congress in order to permit them to properly control the production of their basic crops. The farmer and his friends know that the politician, who in one breath tells them that he favors such legislation and in the next breath tells them that he is opposed to any change in the Supreme Court that has nullified such legislation is blowing hot and cold and is not fooling them at all. The farmers are beginning to realize more than ever who their friends really are and they fully realize unless and until the personnel of the Supreme Court is changed to permit the enactment of compulsory control legislation that they can not hope to receive a parity price for their products. The parity price for cotton today is 17c per pound based upon what the farmer has to pay for the products he buys.

Cotton Classification

It is imperative that the Government have competent cotton classifiers to grade the farmers' cotton at the time they apply for a loan. It is unfair to the farmer to have his cotton graded by a private classifier and later be forced to pay a considerable sum to the Government due to an erroneous classification. The many farmers with whom I have recently talked believe that the Government should classify all cotton at the time the application is filed and that all parties concerned be bound by this classification for the future.

Farm Meetings

Last Friday night we had a farm meeting in the main auditorium of the Wichita County Fair at Lown Park for the purpose of getting the sentiment of those present on a cotton control program. The writer fully discussed the Supreme Court issue and its direct relationship to the present plight of the farmer and laboring man. At the close of the meeting the vote was unanimous in favor of rigid crop control legislation. The writer expects to hold similar meetings throughout the district.

WHAT, NO TEA?

Employees Clamor For Daily Cup When It's Taken Away
As an experiment, Thos. J. Lipton, Inc., tried serving a cup of tea to all employees in their Hoboken plant every afternoon at 3 o'clock. At first some, particularly the men, were inclined to scoff at the idea. Gradually, however, the daily cup of tea came to be taken as a matter of course. Its popularity was graphically proved one day when something went wrong and no tea was forthcoming at the usual hour. The employees were so upset that they finally commissioned one of their number to go to the general manager's office to find out what had happened to their accustomed mid-afternoon refreshment. The management straightened things out the tea was served, and work went on once more.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY (C. I. A.)

ment, and are furnished as a part of the Government's educational program.

Soil Conservation Payments

The 1936 and 1937 soil conservation payments should be paid as soon as the Agriculture Department could possibly arrange to make such payments. Due to the large percent of the cotton farmers of Texas, who, because of short-crop, etc., cannot qualify for loan, and because of the low price received for this cotton the Soil Conservation payments are badly needed at this time. Early payment of these checks would place in the hands of farmers alone more than $35,000,000 badly needed buying power.

"10-DAY TEST" THRILLS BRIDES

Correct Method Makes Dishwashing Easy

Correct method for "tests" extends even to dishwashing. A number of young brides have recently been making a "10-day test," using Lux for their regular method instead of their regular method. They are tremendously enthusiastic. At the end of ten days, they found their hands didn't show a "dishpan" drudgery. They found that the dishes were finished much sooner.

Washing dishes needn't be a messy, disagreeable job. "Wash as you go" is the most satisfactory rule for pots and pans. If you can't wash them immediately, put them to soak.

Make rich suds by shaking the dishes in first, then filling your pan full of hot water. With fast-dissolving soap flakes like Lux, no time is wasted in working up suds. By using flakes instead of cake soap, you find that 76% of the sudsing time is saved.

Plunge glasses into the foamy suds horizontally, so as not to crack them. Next wash the silver, then the cups and saucers, then the large pieces of china. Put only a few dishes in the pan at a time.

Mrs. Clifford Stanford, New York bride, made the "10-day test."

Stack dishes in a drainer and pour hot water on them. Polish glasses and silver with a towel. China may be left to air-dry in the drainer. Lux suds rinse off readily and completely—don't leave soap streaks.

Dishwashing is fun when you have quick, frothy suds—and don't end up with dishpan hands! The Lux way is as gentle on your skin as your pet beauty soap. And the cost is less than one cent a day!

Tiny Mechanism Does Big Job

To a world accustomed to thinking of greatness in terms of size, a small but powerful refrigerating mechanism designed to operate almost in terms of decades instead of years may seem almost incredible. Yet there is such a mechanism available to every refrigerator buyer. It is called the "meter-miser".

The foundation of the meter-miser's success is simplicity. It is the simplest refrigerating mechanism ever built by man. And it is this simplicity, strangely enough, that provides a dependability that assures years and years of satisfactory, carefree household refrigeration.

The meter-miser is unbelievably fast in freezing ice. It maintains refrigerator temperatures well inside the safety zone for the protection of perishable foods. It does its work quietly, without attention of any kind, not even oiling. In the refrigeration industry, it is considered a standard of comparison.

WICHITA FALLS YOUNGSTER TRACES HIS RECOVERY FROM LIFE AS A CRIPPLE—WELL NOW

Eleven years ago John DeLee, 1653 Lucille, Wichita Falls, was thought to be destined for the life of a hunchback. John was only two years old at the time, and physicians had diagnosed his case as being tubercular spine. Three vertebrae were affected, and the bones were protruding and bending outward.

The boy's parents were financially able to have the best physicians in the world for their son, and the first place where John was taken was to the Carrell-Driver-Girard clinic in Dallas.

Recovery Starts

According to Mrs. DeLee, they spent a large sum of money at the clinic and were well satisfied with the treatment. One of the first things the physicians did was to put the boy in a frame, similar to the torture rack of medieval times. Sun baths, proper diet, proper rest and constant application of the straps on the frame against the affected parts were about all the treatment given the boy.

In the beginning the physicians told the parents that they would have to take good care of the boy, that treatment would last for more than 10 years, and that an almost complete cure could be affected if the directions were followed minutely.

Then the Depression

For several years this treatment went on in the clinic. As in the case of many other people, money was not as plentiful as it had been, and the parents were almost desperate. They asked Dr. Carrell what should be done, and he recommended that John be placed in the Scottish Rite hospital.

The parents could see no alternative, so John was placed in the Scottish Rite hospital.

To their surprise, John was more contented in the new place, although the treatment was not as expensive. The only difference in the two hospitals was the fact that the new home didn't have a swimming pool, but there were more youngsters there and he was better satisfied, because he had more playmates and he couldn't swim anyhow.

Mrs. DeLee in telling of the treatment received in the Scottish Rite home, said it has the same staff of doctors with identical equipment, who devote as much time to one hospital as the other.

Endorse Free Clinic

In telling of the treatments and of the almost miraculous cure of her son, Mrs. DeLee was endorsing the Crippled Children's Clinic to be held in Wichita Falls on Oct. 8. Dr. Carrell, Dr. P. M. Driver and Dr. Jim Girard will all be in Wichita Falls for the occasion, and every crippled child in the territories will be cured so that they will be given a new hope in life—the hope that some day useless limbs will be cured so that they can be used again in work or play.

To be sure, there are few complete cures, and there are only a few cures as nearly complete as John DeLee's, but even partial use of a paralyzed leg or arm is worth all the time and effort.

The clinic will be under the sponsorship of the Wichita Valley Scottish Rite association and Maskat Shrine Temple, but this does not mean that children must be from Masonic parents or have relatives who belong to the Masonic lodge.

No child who is crippled and needs attention will be barred from the clinic. Race, creed or color are not taken into consideration. Just the fact that children need help is enough to qualify them for the first examination and the curable cases will be sent to the Scottish Rite hospital where they will receive treatment from the staff of physicians who charge large fees for their private practice.

Another feature of the clinic will be the fact that all Masonic lodges in the 22 counties that comprise the Wichita Falls territory will furnish free transportation to any child in their county who otherwise is unable to come to Wichita Falls on that date.

In addition to the Dallas physicians, the Wichita County Medical society and the Wichita Falls Graduate Nurses association will assist in the work.

SCIENTISTS CHECK POPULAR TOILET SOAPS FOR MILDNESS

Test skins of all types—dry, oily and medium

Results show one of the well-known soaps over 20% milder than others

In an effort to determine the mildness of many well-known toilet soaps, scientists recently made "patch" tests on the skins of hundreds of women—blondes, red-heads and brunettes. . . . These included all types of skin—dry, oily and medium. This investigation showed that one of the popular toilet soaps was over 20% milder than the others tested. This soap was Lifebuoy. . . .

Tests were also made with popular olive-oil castile soaps, and again, Lifebuoy was found over 20% milder than these soaps so often used on babies' sensitive skins.

Questioned as to the reason for Lifebuoy's super-mildness, one of the scientists replied, "The major reason is that Lifebuoy contains a special purifying ingredient not present in the other popular toilet soaps." He went on to explain that this was the very same purifying ingredient that helps Lifebuoy stop "B.O." (body odor).

"This remarkable ingredient actually increases the soap's mildness. . . . Our tests—and they were exhaustive ones—checked in several laboratories of note—showed Lifebuoy over 20% milder."

In a check-up of soap preferences among women, it was discovered that more of them use Lifebuoy for the bath than any other soap. . . . And that it is equally the favorite of men and children. These facts were revealed when 125,000 women in all parts of the country were questioned by eight leading magazines. . . . Another check-up revealed that many of the women who started the use of this mild soap to stop "B.O." discovered its value to their complexions. . . . Reports show that Lifebuoy's popularity as a complexion soap is fast equaling its popularity as a bath soap.

Complete Recovery

Just 11 years ago John DeLee, above, appeared destined to go through life as a hunchback. Through proper care at the Scottish Rite hospital, however, he has been saved from a future as a cripple. Crippled children found at the free clinic here to be curable will be given treatment at the Scottish Rite hospital.

FREE MEAL EVERY WEEK ASSURED BY TESTS IN HOMES

A free meal a week is possible in every home that has safety zone refrigeration, according to Verna L. Miller, Frigidaire home economics director.

"In our experimental kitchen at the factory," says Miss Miller, "we are constantly testing many different kinds of meal planning suggestions in order to learn how to prepare better meals for less money."

"One of our earliest discoveries was that every family has food left over at the end of a meal, because no matter how careful the housewife, she cannot always accurately estimate her needs."

"With safety zone refrigeration, of course, these unserved portions can be safely kept until wanted. In a few days it is surprising the number that accumulate, and equally surprising what can be done with them."

"For example, at Frigidaire, we saved the unserved portions that remained after Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday dinners and by transforming them had the most enjoyable free meal on Thursday that could be imagined."

"This is how our free meal was prepared. First we took the celery left over from Sunday dinner and made creamy celery soup. Then, with the beef and ham left over from Sunday and Monday, we made a delicious meat pie, topping it with mashed potatoes left from Sunday."

"A combination vegetable salad was then made from green beans left from Sunday; lima beans from Tuesday; corn and tomatoes from Wednesday and lettuce leaves from Monday."

"Sliced pineapple, left over from Sunday completed our 'free' meal."

"Many women will not save their unused portions until they have enough for a meal, but our tests proved conclusively that 'free' meals, or their equivalent, are possible in homes where safety zone refrigeration is used for food protection."

BIRTHDAY CAKE SYMBOLIZES MUCH

Cake, gay with candles, adds joy to Natal Day

Every day is a birthday for someone. Perhaps it's a member of the family, or someone within the immediate circle of friends—and, naturally, the home maker who is to bake the birthday cake wants to produce one which is very much more than an "average" cake.

Birthday cakes symbolize so much in our modern, hurried life. Father may be rushed with his business; sister or brother may have any number of things engaging their attentions; but a gay birthday draws the family closer together. Just a cake, it's true, but a beautiful cake with lighted candles means much to the person in whose honor it is served.

Perfect Cakes Assured

There is one way, as many home makers have discovered, of assuring cake perfection every time. That is by using Pillsbury's Sno Sheen Cake Flour, in time-honored family recipes or in the recipes printed on the gay blue and yellow Sno Sheen box.

This fine flour is milled from choice, specially selected, soft wheats. Pillsbury knows from long experience in the milling business that these fine, soft wheats are especially adapted to producing tender, velvety-textured cakes.

Every Recipe Proved

The millers of Sno Sheen go even further than simply milling a fine flour. A complete Cooking Service, directed by Mary Ellis Ames, is maintained, in which new recipes are constantly being developed and proved. It is only when a recipe has been made as nearly failure-proof as possible that it is released to the public.

Thus it is the combination of a fine cake flour, Sno Sheen, which is used exclusively in the Motion Picture Cooking School, and the careful recipe supervision by Mrs. Ames, which assures the housewife of cake perfection either in birthday cakes or in "everyday" cakes.

MODERN CAKE BAKING CAN BE TRACED TO ONE OF THE WORLD'S OLDEST RITES

Once a religious ceremony, now a home necessity

Cake Baking is one of the oldest rites known to the race. Since time began, women have been proud of their cake-baking prowess.

The Hebrew women, many centuries ago, made little cakes in honor of Venus. This goddess represented feminine beauty and virtues, so women baked cakes in her image with the belief that those who partook of them would acquire her nature in some degree.

Mentioned by Prophet

The old prophet, Jeremiah, was disturbed by this practise, for he wrote: "The children gather wood and the fathers kindle fire and the women knead their dough to make cakes to the queen of heaven."

Nowadays, women bake cakes to please their families, and not in the image of a goddess. Naturally, every woman wants her cakes to be the velvety-light, so wise home makers choose Pillsbury's Sno Sheen Cake Flour.

In ancient times flour was it flour and that's all there was to it. If a woman achieved an especially fine cake, she thought she had had "good luck." It never occurred to her that the whole reason might be in the flour.

Many Kinds of Wheat

There are several hundred kinds of wheat, of which a certain few, specially milled, produce an extraordinary cake. This fact, discovered as a result of long experimentation by the Pillsbury technicians, led to the marketing of Sno Sheen Cake Flour.

Today the housewife who prides herself on her ability to bake fine cakes demands Sno Sheen. She knows its unfailing quality. She has found that, either in time-honored family recipes or in the appetizing new recipes packed in the gay blue and yellow Sno Sheen box, this finer cake flour will produce a delicate, feather-light cake of which she can be proud.

Home makers attending the Motion Picture Cooking School will find that Sno Sheen has been selected for use by the home economics experts who prepared the film.

HEAT-CONTROLLED OVENS HELP OFFSET RISING FOOD COSTS

Make Oven Canning Easier, Surer

"Yes ma'am" says your favorite butcher a little sadly, "beef's gone up another penny today." "Yes ma'am," he agrees sympathetically, "it went up last week, too." Butchers and grocers and buyers all agree that the trend of the times is inclined to be onward for foods. But to every problem there is usually a solution, provided we look around us. And to solve the problem of mounting food costs, we can look (of all places) to the manufacturers of the new gas ranges. These manufacturers have made such marvelous improvements in ovens that all sorts of new flavors are cooked from meats. And therein lies one happy solution to the problem of rising costs.

New Flavors From Low-Cost Meats

Time was that the cheaper meats met with a sad reception at meal-time and mother was accused of holding out on a food-loving family. But the blame really belonged to the old-fashioned ranges of the day. Modern ovens are so constructed that new and delicious flavors are to be found in inexpensive meats. The modern method of automatic heat control maintains an even, unvaried temperature which gives every woman a wizardry at bringing out hidden flavors. The whole secret, of course, lies in the fact that oven-heat control helps you to cook to absolute perfection, and when a food is perfectly cooked, its flavors have had a chance to show themselves.

Consequently lower-cost cuts of beef and shoulder roasts can be made into the most tempting dishes you have ever eaten. And what a difference you will notice in the health of your pocketbook.

Controlled Shrinkage Saves Money Too

Of course, you know how heat control works in the modern ovens, but just in case—here's a quick explanation.

We'll say that the modern recipe you have calls for an oven heat of 350° for one hour. With heat control, you just set the dial to 350° and light the oven burner. Now—when the heat inside the oven reaches 350°, the oven burner automatically "cuts down" as they call it, and burns only enough gas to keep that 350° at a steady mark.

Even that remarkable accuracy has been improved upon.

Just recently Robertshaw, makers of oven-heat-controls, has added what's called a "Thermal Eye." This is a window set in the face of the control panel and the instant the oven reaches the temperature dialed, a red signal jumps into view.

So nowadays women have not only a mechanical hand that "levels off" her heat when the foods go in the oven, but she also has a mechanical signal that tells her when to put those foods in.

Such complete control over the oven temperature has far-reaching advantages, such as control over meat shrinkage. How many times have you placed a big luscious roast in the oven and brought it out considerably smaller in size? That's shrinkage, a great waster of meat. It is caused by roasting at too high a temperature. Modern Home Economists, in exhaustive tests, have demonstrated that this shrinkage can be reduced to a great degree by roasting meats at low temperatures over long periods of time. This can easily be done in ovens equipped with Robertshaw oven heat control. Roasts cooked this low-temperature way are tender and palatable—and important, too, this method reduces shrinkage to such an extent that many extra servings can be made that were heretofore wasted, making your roasts go farther and keeping your meat bills under better control.

New Accuracy Makes Canning Easier

Perfect control over oven operation has made oven canning the accepted modern way to put up foods. The method is much more convenient than the old way and the results give better taste and better appearance.

Authorities recommend oven temperatures around 250°, and the modern recipe books tell how long each fruit or vegetable should stay in. After preparing the foods and the jars, it is only necessary to fill the jars to within one inch of top; place them directly on the oven racks; regulate the heat according to the recipes; then just shut the oven door on all your old canning troubles.

Oven canning cuts food costs too, and this economy, together with the new economy made possible with lower-cost meats combine to make the purchase of a modern gas range a worthwhile investment which will pay steady dividends in food-savings.

ORDEAL BEAN IS USED TO PROVE GUILTY, INNOCENCE

The Calabar bean is sometimes known as the Ordeal bean, because it is administered to suspected criminals in West Africa in the form of a brew. These large, scabrous, chocolate-colored beans are boiled, and accused parties are made to drink the concoction. If the accused is unable to retain the drink he is considered innocent. If the concoction has a deadly effect and he is poisoned, the witch doctor judges him guilty.

Scientists have found that there is a reason for both these effects, states a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine. Ordeal beans contain an active substance known as "Physo-stigmine," or "Eserine," which when used in the eyes contracts the pupils. When taken as a drug it has a strong stimulating effect upon the bladder and intestinal tract.

If an accused man has a sensitive digestive tract, marked irritation is produced and he becomes violently ill. If, on the other hand, he is extraordinarily robust and has a digestion like a horse, he retains the drink, is poisoned rapidly and even in the event of recovery is a doomed man.

When driving keep your eyes on the road, your hands on the steering wheel, and your mind on your driving.

WEST POINT KEY POSITION WHEN HELD BY WASHINGTON

West Point was held by Washington as a key position. If it had been captured by the British, New England would have been cut off from the Colonies to the south-west, such as Pennsylvania, New Jersey and part of New York. It served also as a repository of war supplies—gunpowder, cannon, ammunition and other stores, according to a writer in the Washington Star.

The inventories and similar documents taken from Major Andre when he was returning from the trust of treason with Benedict Arnold are revealing along both lines. The Point had been fortified from plans of French engineers and the Polish Thaddeus Kosciuszko, who was principally responsible for actual construction of the works. There were groups of batteries and forts bristling with artillery. Only the most cunning treachery would have made it possible to seize the stronghold. Arnold had arranged for all that, even to the extent of having one of the links of the great chain removed on the pretext of getting it repaired.

The newly formed federal government in 1790 bought 2,100 acres in the neighborhood of the post for a reservation. More has been acquired since. Because of the presence of many foreign military engineers at the Point, a school for young officers in engineering was established during the Revolution. Washington had favored such an institution even before the recommendation made by General Worthington.

West Point did not develop until 1817, when it was taken in charge by Col. Sylvanus Thayer, popularly known as "The Father of West Point." The formal founding of the academy dates to 1802.

National Contest Sponsored by Local Utilities Company

Believing that West Texans have an opportunity to "cash in" on a national contest, the West Texas Utilities company last week invited all of Crowell citizens to participate in a $40,000 contest on the "electrical standard of living."

The company will co-operate with a national firm in distribution of two grand prizes and 10 prizes each worth $200 each week for 10 weeks. Jack Seale, local manager, announced. Entry blanks may be secured at the local office, he said.

"All you have to do is write 100 words on why the electrical way of living appeals to you," he said. "Although similar to our recent contest for a new name for women, in which Neocleatress was chosen as a substitute for housewife, there is no connection."

"In this new contest, the grand prize will be a $12,000 all-electric home. Second prize is an $8,000 home. Winners of these two prizes will be chosen from winners of weekly prizes. The contest will last 10 weeks, beginning at once. Both men and women may enter, sending in entries each week."

Entries must be made on the official entry blank, he said, which gives all details and instructions. The entry blank may be obtained by request at the office here.

Earthquake Weather

The expression, earthquake weather, is not generally recognized by meteorologists. The so-called earthquake weather is described as still, sultry and humid, conditions which are generally related to high air pressures. Some authorities believe that they may be some relation between changes in pressure and earthquakes, although this is a matter which has not been definitely proved.

Helpful Hints About Frozen Desserts

Coffee cream may be used in place of whipping cream in many frozen desserts by the following method. Substitute an equal amount of coffee cream for the combined quantities of whipping and coffee creams indicated in the recipe. After the first mixture of ingredients has been chilled, add the coffee cream to the place in Frigidaire freezing tray until firmly frozen. Then remove the contents of the tray to a very cold mixing bowl and whip with an electric or hand beater until the mixture becomes light and creamy. Return to freezing tray and allow to finish freezing without further agitation.

Coffee cream usually contains 18 or 20 per cent butterfat. It can be used in place of whipping cream for garnishing desserts by first pouring into the freezing tray and allowing it to freeze partially before whipping. After whipping, place in the freezing tray for additional freezing in order to hold it in proper consistency until serving time.

Individual Salad Servings
Housewives who have had difficulty when trying to cut even-portioned garnishing desserts by first pouring in the Frigidaire's new instant cube release. Now, the salad mix is placed in the ice tray and the cube-release grid added. When the mix has frozen and is ready for serving, a lift of a little lever releases individual servings instantly. Unserved portions can be kept in readiness until some later date.

Sherbets and Ices
Sherbets are distinguished from ices in that they contain fruit juices with the addition of milk or cream while ices contain mainly fruit juices and water. Sherbets and ices are very economical and easily prepared. Best results are obtained when ices and sherbets are frozen quickly. The lower shelf in your Frigidaire freezing compartment will provide this extra fast freezing. Then, only one stirring during the freezing time is necessary. When frozen solid enough they can be stirred with a wooden fork in the tray or if allowed to freeze a little more firmly can be removed to a mixing bowl and whipped with an electric mixer. Care should be taken that the mix is not allowed to melt back to a liquid or the main purpose of whipping is lost. In other words, whipping is done for the purpose of incorporating air and this will be retained if the mix is returned as soon as possible to a very cold temperature and allowed to finish freezing.

WHAT MAKES FOLKS BUY THOSE CARS?

Autos Now Bought Like Household Staples

One of the important changes that have taken place in the automobile business within recent years is the change in the buying habits of the public, pointed out by Forest H. Akers, director of sales of the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation.

"In other days when the motorist bought a car, likely his first one, it took persuasion and salesmanship to bring about the purchase," says Mr. Akers. "Since then a good deal of water has flowed down the automotive stream and we see an entirely different situation which incidentally proves that it only takes general acceptance to convert a luxury such as the automobile into the everyday necessity which the car now is."

"Passenger car buyers alone, of which there were but a scant 8,000 in the year 1900, have multiplied until they numbered more than twenty-four millions at the close of 1936. Of a total of 3,767,000 cars that were bought in 1936, less than 20 per cent went to first-time owners; the other 3,013,000 went to motorists who were buying new cars to replace older ones.

"The very logic which forms the background of the present-day automobile purchase differs from the one according to which other commodities are bought. The man to whom an agent tries to sell insurance must be convinced that insurance is good for him and for his family and that it is his duty to set aside certain sums for his purchase. The automobile prospect—and there is hardly a person who is not an automobile prospect—need not be subjected to such basic missionary effort. He knows the automobile is a good thing for him and for his family; he wants it and buys it as soon as circumstances permit."

DODGE IGNITION TIMED TO 1-18,000 SECOND

The Dodge people, who make a good deal of the economy with which their cars are equipped, mention an interesting point in connection with their 1937 ignition system.

The new Dodge cars come equipped with two-fold automatic spark regulation; one is by means of a centrifugal governor revolving within the ignition distributor housing, the other is by engine vacuum.

Although the distributor meters and delivers to the spark plugs 100 sparks per second at a road speed of 40 miles per hour, the sparks are said to be so precisely placed in relation to piston travel that variations in the time interval are never more than one eighteen-thousandth part of a second.

A HOME FOR THE BRIDE

It doesn't take the average bride long to wake up to the fact that with the money she's spending for rent she could be paying for a home of her own—a home planned to suit her individual taste and desire.

We urge all brides, brides-to-be, and brides of yesterday to think this over. Why pay rent when you can take the same money and pay for your own home in a few short years?

The Cicero-Smith Lumber Co. is always glad to co-operate in providing free estimates and plans and to help with your building and repair problems.

We urge you to go and see "The Bride Wakes Up"

"KIM" SELLS BIG BEND PARK TO CONNECTICUT LADY

Las Vegas Kim, cowboy artist of Texas, is giving a dollar picture free to those buying an acre of Big Bend Park land from him. He has collected nineteen dollars to date, but says he has not started yet. The first acre sold was purchased by Catherine Kanel of Stamford, Conn.

"Kim" thinks he goes further than anyone for the money. He has received one dollar from Crowell, Texas, and expects more from that place which is his former home.

He was appointed to sell the acreage and collects and gives the regular official receipt, every cent to buying land and the picture is a free gift which he hopes will be some inducement to buying. The pictures are the kind he has sold for more than a year at a dollar each.

Kim is a strong believer in the park. Possibly the proper way would have been for the state to have bought and paid for the land but since it is being bought by subscription the only thing to do is to get right in there and make up the million that way as soon as possible and start the benefits which should be great. It is going to go over alright and will be worth more to Texas than many of us realize. It will benefit every person in Texas. It will be the best thing ever happened to West Texas and most of the money should come from West Texas where the biggest benefit will go.—Big Lake Wildcat.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ONCE SOLD A POUND OF HIS TEA FOR $190!

When Sir Thomas Lipton entered the tea trade he immediately incurred the opposition of the tea brokers in London's famous Mincing Lane. He ran his own plantations and sold direct to the consumer at a very low price, eliminating the brokers entirely. In retaliation the brokers tried to belittle Sir Thomas' "cheap tea" by offering fancy, extra fine packages of tea at prices as high as $25 and $50 a pound. Sir Thomas knew that the tea grown on his Ceylon estates was as fine as could be grown so he cabled his manager to send him a pound of his very best gold-tipped tea. When it arrived it was put up at auction in Mincing Lane and sold for $190—an all-time record price for a pound of tea.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS
 BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—An omnibus bill, carrying moderate increases in taxes on natural resources, with oil, sulphur and natural gas as the chief contributors, appeared to be the best bet to emerge from the taxation muddle as the 45th legislature began its special tax session this week. There was no assurance that any new taxes would be voted, but the omnibus method, rather than single-shot tax legislation, apparently was the early choice of the majority of those members who feel that some new revenue is essential. The strong senate bloc which denies the need of new funds at this time may be able to block all tax increases. But it will take a couple of weeks, at least, for the oratorical and political fireworks to be disposed of, and the House, where tax bills must originate, to pass some bills over the Senate, before a definite line on actual accomplishments of the legislature will be available.

Leaders Furnish Drama
 Dramatizing the two schools of thought on the tax controversy are Gov. James V. Allred, fiery, dynamic and 100 per cent sold on the need of $15,000,000 new revenue, and the senate veteran Tom Holbrook, of Galveston, who is equally convinced that no new tax burden need be imposed on Texas citizens. Holbrook, conservative, eloquent and studious, is an old-school statesman who believes the modern trend toward expansion of governmental activity and particularly the social security program are a menace to democratic institutions. He has been consistent in his political beliefs, and has advocated them as strongly when he was in the hopeless minority as he does today, when he apparently comes much nearer to having a majority of opinion with him. Holbrook, serving his 17th year in the senate, has never given the slightest regard to the public popularity of any cause he advocates or opposes. The people of his district apparently respect his habit of bluntly stating his convictions, regardless of their popularity, and they regularly send him back to represent them in the senate.

Diversion Unpopular
 Rep. H. L. McKee, of Port Arthur, got a quick and unfavorable reaction to his proposal to divert into the general fund $3,000,000 of gasoline tax money from the fund to retire county road bonds. Highway enthusiasts registered such a storm of protest when Gov. Allred recommended a similar diversion from road funds last year that the legislature quickly dropped the proposal. Even Gov. Allred pook-pooed McKee's suggestion. A dozen influential house members, including George Davison of Eastland and Joe Keith of Sherman, immediately registered opposition to McKee's suggestion.

New Laredo Bridge
 Plans for a new free international bridge to replace the present toll-bridge at Laredo, on the Mexico City highway, were advanced at a conference here between Texas highway officials and a delegation of Mexican highway officials, headed by Undersecretary Herrera of public works. Chairman R. L. Bobbitt, of the highway commission, fully recovered from his recent auto accident injuries, gave a dinner for the visitors, at which speakers included Gov. Allred, Col. Ernest O. Thompson, judges of the high Texas courts and other state dignitaries.

Names and News
 Charley Green, editorial executive of the Austin American-Statesman newspapers, authored the best wisecrack of the week when he remarked at a dinner where discussion of President Roosevelt's western tour was under way. Green said: "Yes, it looks like everybody in the country has quit Franklin Roosevelt, except the people." John Wood, once secretary to Gov. Miriam Ferguson, and the last remaining Ferguson influence on the state highway commission, sought to do a little political fence-building this week, but it backfired. Wood, who is "thinking about" running for railroad commissioner against Chairman C. V. Terrell, disclosed to the senate investigating committee that the highway commission had asked bids on an airplane, and inferred the plane was for Chairman R. L. Bobbitt's personal use, adding that he was going to vote against the purchase. Later investigation developed the plane purchase was asked by the engineering department, for use in making aerial surveys of road locations, as half a dozen other state highway departments do. . . . Rep. A. G. Skaggs, of Deport, can't keep out of trouble with the Austin traffic cops. His car was impounded for parking in front of a parking meter without depositing a nickel, and then the police discovered they had a total of six traffic tickets issued against Skaggs' car for illegal parking all over town. . . . State Auditor Tom King, who estimated the general fund would be nearly $25,000,000 in the "red" by the end of the current biennium, had a rather unhappy session with the senate investigating committee when Senators Holbrook and Stone asked him to explain in detail some of his estimates of tax income. They took particular exception to King's methods of computing probable income from oil and sulphur taxes, pointing out that proper regard apparently had not been given to expected increase in production of both commodities, based on current production figures. . . . Sen. Harold Beck, personable young solon from Texarkana, becomes the senate's "odd man" with announcement of approaching marriage of Sen. Allen Shivers, of Port Arthur. Beck remains the senate's only bachelor member. . . . O. B. Kurcher, engineer for the federal bureau of roads, declined an invitation to speak in Austin the other day, and when pressed for a reason all the engineering students always took because nobody ever flunked it. It was public speaking. Nobody ever failed in it until I said: "When I went to college there was one snap course which took it." . . . Dallas got all of the plums when Gov. Allred promoted Associate Justice Joel Bond to be chief justice of the fifth court of civil appeals, named Dist. Judge Towne Young to Bond's place, and W. L. Thornton, brother of the Dallas banker, to Young's district judgeship. Sen. Claude Westerfield was ignored as usual, by Allred in making the appointments, but announced he would not oppose senate confirmation.

 Troubled by left-overs? Haunted by never-ending jobs? Tired of housework that seems like drudgery?

The cure? New wrinkles will smooth the brow of the weary housekeeper; that is, new house-keeping wrinkles, leading to economy in time, effort and dollars. . . . Not only does this picture school show new dishes, styled and interesting ways to serve every-day meals and party feasts, but it demonstrates how to make intelligent use of the ingenious mechanical servants that take the guess work out of housework.

To the fun of watching an expert cook at work in a model kitchen is added the real joy of studying the practical possibilities of such fulltime servants as an electric refrigerator, a smartly-styled range, and other cooking accessories and convenient laundry equipment, designed to take the gloom out of Monday.

There is nothing formal and "up-stage" about this screen Cooking School. Informality, hospitality and neighborly welcome are joined in the picture, meaning that a good time will be had by all, as the saying goes.

 date on which such forms become available.

Producers should file buyer's receipts, or the Government form when it is available, in the chronological order with respect to every sale from the 1937 cotton crop which is made prior to July 1, 1938. This is necessary in order that evidence of sale may be available on cotton in excess of 65 per cent of the producer's base production if it develops that funds are available to make payment on a percentage of such excess.

When buyer's receipts or cotton sale certificates are turned in to the county office, the date of the filing will be stamped on the back of each form. Buyer's receipts or cotton sale certificates for cotton which was produced on the same farm in 1937 should then be filed together in the county office and separated from buyer's receipts or cotton sale certificates with respect to cotton sold from other farms.

Detailed instructions covering other phases of the 1937 Cotton Price Adjustment Payment Plan and forms will be released just as soon as the information has been made available.

Crowell Wins—

 quarterback but John Lee Orr called the plays. Franklin Evans moved over from his guard position to center and W. F. Statter took over guard duties.

Frequent penalties and fumbles slowed the game considerably. Crowell was penalized eight times for 75 yards and fumbled the ball six times, losing four. Archer City drew 6 penalties for fifty yards and fumbled once, losing the oval.

Crowell registered 18 first downs and 283 yards from scrimmage. Archer City was held to a lone first down and to 52 yards from scrimmage.

Orr Stars

John Lee Orr, Wildcat left half-back, was easily the star of the game with his sensational broken field running and blocking. This was the first game in which Orr called plays and he did a nice job. He scored 4 touchdowns on runs of ten, twenty, twenty-two and sixty-two yards. His long run was the most sensational that has been seen on the Crowell field this year. He left his interference at the line and squirmed through the Archer City secondary defense in a play that brought fans to their feet.

Charles Branch gave a good account of himself at quarterback, doing the biggest part of the ball totting during the first half and picking up many yards through the line.

Que Meason did such a fine job in the safety slot that fans rest assured that he can handle this important position with ease. He picked up many yards on his punt returns and intercepted several of the rival Wildcat's passes. One of the Crowell counters was pushed over from the five-yard line by Meason.

William Simmons was partly responsible for the gains with his blocking. He completed several passes also.

Fitzgerald Scores

Bernice Fitzgerald, Crowell left end, made two touchdowns from the 18 and 27-yard lines on end around plays. He tossed many passes of which the majority were completed. His place-kicking for extra points was one of the features of the game. He booted four out of seven tries squarely between the uprights. His defensive work as a line backer was largely responsible for the low yardage the visitors registered.

First Safety
 The first safety to be witnessed by Crowell fans this year and probably since the new gridiron has been in use, was made early in the second quarter. Branch fumbled and lost the ball on the Archer City one-yard line. On the following play, Smith's punt was blocked and knocked across the end zone for an automatic safety.

Crowell players gave the fans a show of blocking that they very seldom see. The largest portion of blocking takes place in the line, but on several different occasions splendid field blocking was displayed.

Officials
 Joe Forrester, (N. T. S. T. C.), referee; John Smith, (McMurry), umpire; Jack Wetzel, (T. C. U.), head linesman.

Paducah Game—

 know that they have met a good team as the Wildcats will again be at full strength for the tilt. Raymond Joy, 131-pound quarterback, who was missing from the line-up last week due to a cold, has recovered and after three days of workouts is again ready for service.

John Lee Orr and Co-captain Que Meason will be in their half-back positions and William Simmons at fullback.

Bernice Fitzgerald, who is fast making a name for himself, will be in the starting line-up at left end. He has made several long runs for touchdowns on end-around plays and is one of the Wildcat's best passers. Fitzgerald backs up the line on defense and is a power at that position and does the place-kicking. The majority of his tries for extra points have been successful and on kick offs he puts the ball to the 10-yard line consistently. Wayne Canup, most gifted pass receiver of the team, will be the right end. His offensive and defensive work is a mainstay to the local club.

Marvin McKown and W. F. Statter will be the starting tackles. Oran Johnson, who has done splendid work as a tackle, will be held in reserve. These three boys are powerhouses and will make it hard for any team they play against this season.

Co-captain Vernon Gibson and Franklin Evans, veterans, will fill the guard slots. By the close of the season, these two boys will be remembered by every coach of this district for their strong defensive play and offensive blocking.

Gibson and Evans have made possible many of the spectacular runs made by Crowell backs. Charles Branch will be shifted back to his old position at center from the quarterback post where he played last week in the absence of Joy. Branch is a defensive back and has proven beyond doubt that he is equally capable in either the line or backfield. This is his first year on the Wildcat squad and he has a bright future.

McCORMICK-DEERING Farmall Tractors

WHEN the spring season is in full swing, the horse farmer is at his wits' end for time. Long hours in the field behind slow-moving teams bring him to the end of the day thoroughly tired . . . and then the round of horse chores begins.

Farmall Tractor owners will tell you that this drudgery is needless. They do more work in the field each day with their up-to-the-minute power, and when night comes, they snap the switch and call it a day.

The three McCormick-Deering Farmall Tractors—F-12, F-20, and the F-30 shown above—handle planting and cultivating of all row crops as well as the general-purpose work from plowing to belt jobs.

Ask us to bring a Farmall out to your farm for a demonstration.

CHURCHES

Christian Science Church
Sunday School at 10 a. m.
Sunday services at 11 a. m.
Wednesday evening services at 8 o'clock.

Sunday, October 3, 1937. Subject: "Unreality." The public is cordially invited.

Christian Science Services
"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 3.

The Golden Text is: "Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?" (Jeremiah 2:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . . All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made" (John 1:1,3).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make—hence its unreality" (page 525).

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

The Greater Achievement: The other day as I came into the bay of San Francisco and our boat steamed under the new bridge that spans the opening of that beautiful Golden Gate harbor. I was thrilled with the magnitude of that great engineering project. What a tremendous undertaking. What a mass of technical detail and difficulties to be met and overcome in its construction. I thought the same thing as I stood before the Empire State building in New York City, the greatest in all the world. I marveled at its beauty and its magnitude. Always before such examples of man's genius I am impressed with the daring of their concept and the marvel of their execution. But great and wonderful as these are I believe that when it comes to the final analysis of human values there are some things that count far more to the race than these material evidences of its genius. Foremost among these is the rearing in any home of boys and girls endowed with Christian character. In this age in which we live where the influence of the home must come into competition with the highly specialized forces of entertainment, some of them none too elevating, it is an achievement, of which any home may well be proud, to give to the world a family of boys and girls of this kind. While I would not belittle the value of great feats of engineering and discovery, I verily believe that the race will be profited more in its struggle Godward, by Christian character in boys and girls, and men and women, than it will by great bridges that span the seas and earth's chasms, and temples of industry whose tops are lost in the clouds.

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

Laws and constitutions are constantly tending to gravitate. Like locks they must be occasionally cleaned and wound up and set to true time.—Henry Ward Beecher.

A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends; and that the most liberal profession of good will is very far from being the surest marks of it.—George Washington.

Be loving and you will never want for love; be humble and you will never want for guiding.—D. M. Mullock.

SAFETY SLOGANS

One out of twelve persons had an accident last year. Safety habits pay.

More than 111,000 persons were killed in accidents last year, most of which were due to carelessness.

Nearly one-half the persons killed in traffic accidents last year were pedestrians. Walk safely.

The drivers Golden Rule: Drive as you would have others drive.

Sir Malcolm Campbell the English speed king said: "Drive well within your own ability to meet any emergency."

At sixty miles an hour a tire blow-out means a wreck. Drive carefully.

It is the responsibility of every driver to operate a safe car—to not overdrive his lights or brakes.

HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS "CRANKS" ON COSTUMES

Wardrobe Departments Solve Unusual Problems

Behind the scenes in Hollywood is as exciting as the picture you see on the screen. Costumes are tremendously important and the wardrobe departments work day and night. For even the most difficult colors to photograph, but that didn't daunt the wardrobe designers.

In a recent picture, a big dance number started off as a Grecian ball. That called for a background of the Grecian temples, white statues, and white wigs and immaculate dresses. Pure white is one of the most difficult colors to photograph, but that didn't daunt the wardrobe designers.

"Every night the costumes worn by the principals—along with those of the chorus—were laundered in the laundry," says Edith Head, Paramount wardrobe designer. "Each morning they appeared immaculately white. I thought they were washed at least a dozen times before the scene was finished, you can see them now in our wardrobe department looking as lovely as new."

The Tumbler Test for Washability

A simple way to test the washability of a fabric is to squeeze a sample in a glass of lukewarm water for five minutes. If it's safe in water, it's safe in Lux!

Twenty Pairs a Year

For Hollywood's breathlessly sheer stockings, Lux is a favorite, too. William Mondshine ("Willis" to Hollywood), who breathes the handsome legs of many Hollywood stars, says every woman ought to have twenty pairs of stockings!

"But," says "Willis," "they'll last her a full year, if properly cared for. Here's the advice I give motion-picture studios: When you use Lux, you preserve the elasticity of the silk—naturally, stockings fit better and wear longer. Never soak stockings or rub them. Just dip them into cool Lux suds, then rinse in almost cool water. After this, you can roll them in a Turkish towel to take out the moisture. Then shape them a bit, and let dry away from heat. Never dry stockings on a radiator."

And here are some of "Willis'" tips on selecting stockings: "If you're a little on the heavy side, you'll find that stockings with clocks will slenderize wide calves and ankles. If your legs are a bit too thin, get stockings with a very low heel."

"Wafford" Waits His Turn on the Set

Paramount's "Waikiki Wedding," led to design, for the first time in his life, a costume for a pig. Yes, a pig named "Wafford." Being a pig, a grave conference was necessary to determine what the pig's jacket would be. The answer? "White again! So I ordered Lux!"

The ease with which washable costumes can be Luxed, and the economy of it, are only two of the many reasons why leading Hollywood studios specify Lux in their wardrobe departments. Women at home, too, value the way it saves colors, and keeps fabrics new looking longer.

WHAT WE THINK

(By Frank Dixon)

It is all right to talk about the value of standing up for a principle but if you want to get elected to office these days the first thing to do is to find out what the majority of the people want.

Back in Ohio where my folks came from there was a fellow who was what one might call a successful politician. He was successful in the sense that he got elected whenever he ran for office, which in politics constitutes success.

He was often pointed out as a leader in thought and action of his day.

As a matter of fact he never led anything. He had contacts all over the state. Before each election he found out what the voters in each section thought of the questions coming up in the campaign. He would then boldly announce his position giving as his reason for it the reasons his constituents had gathered from over the territory.

He won most every election and was acclaimed as a leader and a forward looking statesman, who held principle above public opinion.

Out in my part of the country the old fashioned fellows who raised a good wheat crop this year used the money they got for it to pay old debts rather than contracting new ones.

The only difference between the men of the stone age and the man of today is the method they employ to get what they want.

In the stone age the man with the greatest physical strength got the most. The question of right or desert never entered in. The only question was physical strength.

In the cave man age the best society of the day put its stamp of approval on the individual who could get the most of what he wanted with his club.

Today, the best society of the day puts its stamp of approval on the individual who can secure for himself a large measure of the good things of the world through his wits.

In a few thousand years he have progressed from muscle to wits. The law today attempts to curb primitive cave man instincts of man to take what he wants whenever he finds it and kill his enemies, but here again the wits step in. The man with the smartest lawyer gets away with it and goes back to his cave the victor.

"Dogger" With Sheep Herds

In the list of strange occupations can be named that of the "dogger," a well paid trapper, a specialist in his way, employed by a sheep station owner. The Australian native dog is a wild, strong, silent, cunning, ferocious beast that kills sheep. Known as the "dingo," he roams the back country and causes much damage to flocks. The dogger sets a circle of baited steel traps around the station boundaries. The double jaws of the trap are bound with cloth sprinkled with strychnine; otherwise the dingo would escape by gnawing its leg off. There is danger in the lonely life of the dogger, for the dingo does not hesitate to attack a man.

"Era of Good Feeling"

The name "era of good feeling" was applied to the period from 1817-23, when the Federalist party having declined, there was little open party feeling. The phrase was Monroe's good-will tour through the North.

Bridges Not Mentioned in Bible

Bridges are not mentioned in the Bible, but according to other records a brick arch was erected across the Euphrates river within the city of Babylon.

DAINTINESS RATED CHIEF FEMININE ASSET BY SOCIETY EDITOR

Madeleine Riordan of the New York Evening Post warns women against personal carelessness

Woman's most glamorous attribute is daintiness of person, according to Madeleine Riordan, Society Editor of the New York Evening Post. Miss Riordan, whose entire life is spent in contact with the social world, warns every woman to cherish this attribute with great care.

"Even great beauty," according to Miss Riordan, "can meet with small social success if one is personally careless."

Miss Riordan stresses especially the need for daintiness during Spring and Summer. "I have seen cases where people who seem truly glamorous outdoors come to social grief indoors because of personal carelessness."

Miss Riordan was one of a number of persons interviewed on the subject of feminine glamour. Hostesses, fliters in exclusive grown shops, newspaper people—all of whom observe and contact people continually—all listed "daintiness" first. One cruise hostess, Miss Mitzi Garner, remarked, "You'd be surprised how many of our best people have body odor and don't know it."

Another observing woman interviewed—a flitter in an exclusive New York gown shop said, "Some of our most exclusively gowned women have body odor—what a needless shame!"

All those interviewed warned women to be careful about their bathing habits, advised the use of a soap that really stops body odor. The soap recommended in most instances was Lifebuoy. It was pointed out that it contains a special purifying ingredient not present in other well-known toilet soaps. Another advantage in using Lifebuoy for bath and especially for complexion is its mildness. Patch tests made on the skins of hundreds of women—on oily, medium and dry skins—prove that Lifebuoy is more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps" and "baby soaps."

That Lifebuoy is appreciated by women was brought out by surveys recently made by eight leading magazines... 120,000 women were questioned as to their soap preferences... The results show that more American women—as well as men and children—use Lifebuoy for the bath than any other soap.

Duties of British Ruler

The duties of the British ruler are largely ceremonial, the actual ruler being the Prime Minister supported by Parliament. He makes numerous public addresses, presides at receptions, inspects troops, visits various exhibitions, etc. He opens Parliament with a speech prepared for him by his ministers.

As Whitaker's Almanac says: "The King has a right to veto bills passed by both Houses of Parliament, but in practice his veto is almost obsolete." His refusal to sign a bill passed by Parliament would lead to a constitutional crisis.

Nicknames From "Eke-Name"

The word "nickname" grew from "eke-name," in which "eke" had the meaning of "also." In course of time "an eke-name" became a nickname. We find "eke" used to denote the piece added to the bottom of a beehive to make it larger, says London Answers Magazine.

DRAMATIC SUDS TEST SHOWS WOMEN LAST STEP IN GREAT DEVELOPMENT OF SOAP

Soap is an indispensable part of civilized life. One of America's most famous doctors has said, "Indeed, the consumption of soap per capita is as good an index as we have of the state of civilization of a community." The latest advance in the art of soap-making was recently made when Rinsol, for years the biggest-selling package soap in America, was so greatly improved that according to reports from women everywhere, the New Rinsol gives from 25 to 50% more suds, by actual test.

A startling test

The picture shown above reveals how the unusual suds test of the New Rinsol was made. Women shook for the same length of time equal quantities of the New and old Rinsol in containers each 1/4 full of water. Then they measured the amount of suds. How thrilled they were to discover how much more suds the New Rinsol gives!

The modern way

Throughout the years, Rinsol has introduced millions of women to a new method of washing clothes—the "soak-and-rinse" way. They have been shown that clothes can be soaked clean without scrubbing and boiling, the two methods of the past. Now all these women find the new improved Rinsol gives whiter, brighter washes, yet is as kind to their hands as ever. That's why home-making experts predict that it will change the washday habits of many more millions of women.

If you haven't small casseroles, use this recipe to make a large apple pie and top individual servings with Snowy Peak Sauce. Your family will love the blend of brown sugar, apples and allspice. For a large deep apple pie, use 6 to 8 large apples, roll your crust 1/4 inch thick and bake about 10 minutes longer than the small pies.

PILLSBURY ALUMINUM COOK BOOK TAKES GUESSWORK OUT OF COOKERY

Have you ever stopped to realize how dependent you are on a recipe when you start to bake a cake, pie, or other delicacy?

In the old days, according to Mary Ellis Ames, director of Pillsbury's Cooking Service, one learned to cook pretty much by the trial-and-error method. To prove this Mrs. Ames points to an old recipe which reads "Take a handful of shortening and some flour." Later the same recipe calls for "enough milk to moisten." Little wonder that most brides of that era approached their first culinary tasks with small joy.

The bride of today, however, has a distinct advantage over those of yesteryear in the matter of recipes.

For example, there is the marvelous Pillsbury Cook Book. This collection of recipes is not "just another cook book." In the first place, all the recipes have been carefully "balanced" by the home economists in the Pillsbury kitchen under the direction of Mrs. Ames. This means that the guesswork in baking is removed. Anyone who carefully follows the easy, step-by-step directions—even a girl who never did more than stir up a batch of fudge before her marriage—can turn out cakes, pies, biscuits, and innumerable other dishes with the same fine results as the woman who has been at the business of home making for many years.

Even the construction of this book sets it apart from all other cook books. The covers are aluminum and when not in use the book closes tightly. When open on the work table, it lies flat. Spilled milk or other ingredients which would ruin an ordinary cover do not affect the aluminum cover of the Pillsbury Cook Book.

The more than three hundred recipes are ingeniously held in place by a ring binder. And no cook who uses this book will make the mistake of adding an ingredient from the recipe either above or below the one she is following, for in the Pillsbury Cook Book only one recipe at a time is in view.

Wise indeed is the friend who gives one of these cook books as a wedding present—and wiser is the girl who, not receiving one with her other gifts, uses the special-price coupon packed in each bag of Pillsbury's Best Flour to get this book for herself.

TWO POPULAR DISHES FEATURED IN PICTURE

You are missing a rare treat if you don't go to see "The Bride Wakes Up"—as delightful a picture as has ever been produced, and amazingly well done. While the central theme is a gay love story built around the problems that beset any young bride, the picture is brimful of household hints, artfully slipped in here and there. Household hints that will be warmly welcomed by any woman, be she single, a bride or a matron. You laugh one minute and your mouth waters the next. Especially mouth-watering is the delicious Lemon Chiffon Pie that climaxes one of the interesting scenes. Your first temptation will be to dash right home and make one just like it. But don't miss the rest of the picture, for here is the recipe... and it can be made in no time:

LEMON CHIFFON PIE

One envelope Knox Sparkling Gelatine, 3/4 cup cold water, 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful grated lemon rind.

Add one-half cup sugar, lemon juice and salt to beaten egg yolks and cook over boiling water until of custard consistency. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add to hot custard and stir until dissolved. Add grated lemon rind. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which the other one-half cup sugar has been added. Fill baked pie shell or graham cracker crust and chill. Just before serving spread over pie a thin layer of whipped cream.

Another handsome dish that caught our eye was Perfection Salad. And after reading the recipe we've decided to pass it on to you as it's an "Open Sesame" to any man's heart:

PERFECTION SALAD

One envelope Knox Sparkling Gelatine, 3/4 cup cold water, 1 cup hot water, 1/4 cup mild vinegar, 1 tablespoonful lemon juice, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 cup cabbage, finely shredded, 1 cup celery, cut in small pieces, 1 pimiento, cut in small pieces, or 2 tablespoonfuls sweet red or green peppers.

Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add sugar, salt and hot water, and stir until dissolved. Add vinegar and lemon juice. Cool, and when mixture begins to stiffen, add remaining ingredients. Turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water and chill. To serve, remove from mold to bed of lettuce leaves or endive, and garnish with mayonnaise dressing. Or cut salad in cubes, and serve in cases made of red or green peppers, or turn into individual molds lined with canned pimientos.

These dishes are all made with a well-known, unflavored gelatine which is one of the products being featured in this cooking-school picture. Noted for its purity and quality this plain, unflavored gelatine has played the stellar role in many famous menus.

Recipe: Receipt

The words, recipe and receipt, are derived from a Latin word meaning "to take or receive." Receipt is almost always used in the sense of acknowledgement for goods or money; recipe as a formula for the preparation of a dish or compound. Receipt: received the sum of three eggs, etc. The R with a stroke through it used at the head of doctors' prescriptions, is short for Recipe, Deo volente. "Take, God willing."

into it like a vice, he was almost shouting. "What'd you mean? Isn't he gone?"

"Oh, no; but Quentin, there's no hope," Vicky said.

"Master say other doctor come now," the amah said in a singsong.

"Yes, come in with me, for God's sake, Hardisty, and see what you think!" Cudworth said, as they all went together to Spencer's door.

"Quentin," the sick man said, clutching at his hand, all personal feeling forgotten in the grips of life and death, "you can do something for me, can't you? For God's sake get me out of this, operate, do anything! That ass there, he whispered, with a flickering glance at that agitated Cudworth, "tells me I'm washed up. There's something you can do?"

Quentin spoke urgently, definitely:

"Vic, get to a telephone and tell Anna to come over right away with that big package that's on my desk; it's from Lengfeld's—she can't miss it. Rush it! And just as soon as you've done that, get the amah to get plenty of hot water, boiling water. I suppose there's a table here, a long table, flat—"

"You think so, Doctor?" faltered the other doctor.

"I know so!" Quentin shouted, suddenly mad with impatience.

"Just lie quiet there, Spencer," he added to the patient, "and we'll get you out of this if we can."

"I've got an even break?" Spencer asked.

"Not quite so good. We won't know quite what chance you've got until we've gone a little further. Ah, here's our nurse. We want a surgical bath here, nurse, as fast as you can manage it; we've no time to waste."

Vicky ran downstairs, ran up stairs for sheets; Serena was not in evidence, and nobody asked for

SENIOR PICNIC
The '38 Seniors of C. H. S. held the first picnic of the year last Thursday evening in the high school building. The picnic was to have been at the south roadside park, but due to rain the students met in the high school building where they feasted.

The group was accompanied by the class mothers, Mrs. H. C. Brown and Mrs. H. K. Edwards and the class sponsor, Henry Black. Guests of the evening were Mrs. I. T. Graves and Larue Graves.

EUGOLOGY
The most frequently heard question that is heard around C. H. S. is: "Have you caught all your bugs?" The biology classes have gone completely "buggy" it seems. They have had to get a collection of twenty-five insects for study. So if you see somebody in your yard running in circles, trampling your flowers, and wildly waving their hat, you may be sure that it is a student of that science.

JUNIOR PICNIC

EX-CHANGE
These rules published in The East Texas we might well apply to the students of CHS:

1. Study. That was your original intention.

2. Don't try sex appeal in the class room. Use brains instead.

3. Go out for two activities.

4. Date somebody substantial if you want a lasting romance; otherwise be impartial.

5. Don't borrow, flatter, show off, brag, use gaudy ornaments if you are a girl, or forget to shave

er. My kids."

He went into the sick room, and Vicky waited. There was a big Spanish chair in the upper hall of the Morrison place, and she sat in it and clasped her hands to keep them still and prayed. A Navajo blanket, richly striped with yellow and black and scarlet, had been hanging over the black iron railing of the stairway; she wrapped it about her; the night was bitterly cold.

"I've Got an Even Break?" Spencer Asked.

her. The nurse suggested a rubber sheet, and Anna panting in with the big bundle, was sent flying back to the Hardistys' for one. Presently there was nothing for Vicky to do except sit on a chair in the hall and wait—and think—and wait.

Quentin came out with a nurse's white apron tied on him back to front and asked for soda.

"And you might as well go home, Vic; this'll take it out of you."

"No, I'll wait, Quent, has he a chance?"

"I'm afraid not, but we'll try. They're putting him under now; we'll know in an hour."

"She couldn't!"—Vicky glanced at the closed door of Serena's room—"She wouldn't have done it!" she whispered.

"I don't know. But it's not for him I'm fighting, Vic," Quentin said. "It's for all of us. It's tough go now; if he lives, we live, and if he dies, I may have gotten you into something you'll never get out of, my dear."

"You'll be in it, too!"

"I'll be in it, too. Oh, she could not get me in as an accomplice," Quentin said. "But she could do enough to ruin us all. We'd have to go away, Vic."

"And the story would follow us, and follow the children. That's all I've done to you!" Quentin said. "The woman—the amah—has produced a bottle, half full, that would kill ten men. Our one hope is that it was about a ten-times dose, and in lemonade. Lemon is the only anti-acid that touches it! If anything saves him, that'll save him—that is, if we get to the kid-ened in time."

"You will!" Vicky said, with her faithful eyes on his and her world rocking about her and her lips white.

"You believe in God, don't you?" Quent asked, almost absentmindedly.

"I do."

"Then—while I'm in there, you pray, Vic." He kissed her without smiling, without seeming even to see her; released her from his arms. "My God, you are a tower of strength to me," he said. "You are a rock of help; Pray for everything we've got, while I'm in there—the kids and the home—everything! I always thought—I always thought," Quentin muttered, turning away, "that I'd like my boys to be proud of their father."

CHUCKLES

Mr. Graves: "Where have you been all this period, Joyce?"

Joyce White: "In the typing room with D. C."

Mr. Graves: "Joyce White, if I ever catch you doing such again, I'll write a note to your mother."

The teacher was testing the intelligence of a newcomer to her class.

"Who said, 'I come to bury Caesar?'" she asked.

"P. please, teacher, the undertaker," suggested Clark Brown.

Being told to write an essay on the mule, Roy Lee Weathers turned in to his teacher the following effort: "The mule is a hardier bird than the goose or turkey. It has two legs to walk with, thin two more to kick with, and wears its wings on the side of its head. It is stubbornly backward about going forward."

A Frenchman was learning English. He had mastered varieties presented by such words as "thought, tough, tough," and so on, and thought that he was making good progress.

Walking along the Strand in London, he saw a poster reading, "Cavalade — Pronounced Success." Overwhelmed, the Frenchman burst into tears.

NEW TYPEWRITERS

The Commercial Department of C. H. S. has just received four new standard typewriters. A large enrollment necessitated the increase in number of machines.

A new automatic Ditto machine also has been ordered for the department. Typewriting has proved to be one of the most practical and well-liked courses in the high school.

Highlights of the Archer City Game

Captain Morrison of Archer City said that we had as clean a bunch of players as he had ever played against.

Archer City's offense was rather sluggish, but some of their boys were certainly good tacklers.

Simmons, Evans, Statser, Gibson, Orr and Branch were doing some of the prettiest open field blocking that has been demonstrated by a Crowell team.

Number 27 for Archer City said that Tolly McKown of Burk could be stopped if Johnson and McKown would fight like they did Friday night.

Fitzgerald and Canup were rather flashy with their passing and receiving game against Archer. Crowell completed six out of ten passes tried.

Co-Captain Meason and Simmons don't get to carry the ball often but they are certainly beneficial in paving the way for the other backs.

Orr was showing some of his 1936 ball carrying ability for the first time this year. He was doing some fancy side-stepping on his long runs Friday night.

We should not forget to give some credit to our reserves that have to work hard in practice to offer fodder for the "first string."

Let's not forget that it will be four weeks before the Wildcats are at home again for a game, and Paducah has the best club that we have gone up against this season.

LIBRARY NOTES

Readers who do not know how to make the best of their reading ability should investigate Burton Rascoe's "The Joys of Reading—Life's Greatest Pleasure." Rascoe, a critic, has covered a wide field of literature, and his book does for reading material what "Skin Deep" does for cosmetics. It describes for one the best literature found in modern writing, and gives a list of the best writers of the present day, and their best works.

Rascoe tells how to judge literature, how to exercise one's mind for good health, how to educate one's self through the libraries, and how to read for enjoyment as well as education.

Reading is truly one of life's greatest pleasures, for "wisely chosen, properly used like the food they are, books enrich life and enhance all the values known to life."

ROTARY CLUB

Edwin Bobb, president of the Wichita Falls Rotary Club, delivered an interesting talk to the Crowell Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting Wednesday at noon at O'Connell's Lunch Room, in connection with his visit this summer to the International Convention in Nice, France. Henry Ferguson was in charge of the program.

Rev. C. C. Dooley of Chillicothe was also a visitor. R. D. Oswalt Sr., a former member of the club, renewed his membership this week. Last week his son, Robt. D. Oswalt Jr., was admitted to membership and the Crowell club now has a father and son as members for the first time in its history.

The enrollment of the club now consists of twenty-four members, largest for several years.

Wildcats Will Win

For the first time in history, W. E. will make a prediction on the outcome of a football game. We are a little superstitious along this line because every game W. E. tried to guess at turned out just opposite. However the Wildcats are good and W. E. firmly believes that the C. H. S. team will hang up another victory tomorrow night. The score might be small or it might be large, let's hope for the best. Anyway a large score would scare the boots off of some teams in this district, but W. E. doesn't think it will be too big.

Not the Only One Training—The Wildcats are not the only ones who have been training for the game Friday night. Their most loyal backers, Crowell High School pep squad, has been working hard to perfect formations with which to entertain the spectators. They have been drilling on a plot of ground that is grown up in weeds and thorn bushes. The girls smile and bear the scratched legs and torn stockings. A bunch of backers as loyal as that is an asset to any level.

Off With Good Start

Glen Don Reeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Reeder, has made an excellent start in his work at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, where he enrolled as a freshman a few weeks ago, by earning the privilege of being one of the thirty members of the honor class in English.

Glen Don earned the right of being a member of this class by being among the thirty students making the highest grades recorded in preliminary tests given to determine the membership. He was graduated from Crowell High School in 1936, was president of his class and editor of The High School News, other than making his marks in his studies. Glen Don set a nice scholastic record in high school and it looks as though he is off for one in college.

Home Improvements Made by H.D. Women Outlined by Agent

Many steps saved every day is one result of the improved kitchen at the home of Mrs. C. L. Adelpian, demonstrator for the Riverside Home Demonstration Club.

The cabinet was moved to one wall and a sink installed adjacent to it with a small table on the opposite side. The stove was placed near by on the adjoining wall. The food storage cabinet is on the opposite wall, as near as possible to the cabinet, making it possible to proceed from the storage to the preparation center and on to the cooking unit with a minimum of steps.

For additional work surface a table was added. This table was put on rollers making it possible to pull it up near the cabinet, stove or any other position desired.

The walls of the kitchen were papered and all of the furnishings (finished). A bracket lamp with a reflector was placed near the stove as a permanent source of light there.

Window shades made from rindow, was one attractive addition to the kitchen of Mrs. E. V. Halbert, demonstrator for the Foard City Home Demonstration Club. They were made at home and placed on rollers. The curtains for the windows are made from cream with a small green dot to match the colors used in the kitchen, and are cut diagonally so as to let in as much light as possible.

An added stool and step-ladder make work easier in the kitchen. A storage unit for extra supplies was built in one corner of the kitchen.

The kitchen cabinet, stove, built-in cabinet, and breakfast unit are arranged for maximum convenience.

A screen made of thin board and covered on the outside with paper to match the kitchen walls is placed in front of the stove during the summer. Mrs. Halbert says that this forces the heat up rather than out and makes working at the stove a much cooler job during the summer.

Running water, improved walls, woodwork, and floors, and a new refrigerator are among the improvements made in the kitchen by Mrs. Roscoe Eubank, demonstrator for the West Side Home Demonstration Club.

Ivory and green were used in the room. The walls were covered with ivory colored oil cloth to the splash line and figured paper above that. New linoleum was put on the floor and the woodwork ivory. A cabinet which was extended ivory to the ceiling painted ivory with green short window above the sink added light and ventilation.

Window curtains and a spread for the table added attractive note to the kitchen. Eubank says that she enjoying in her improved kitchen.

An orchid color scheme was in remodeling a bedroom by Rosalie and Bernita Fish Vivian Home Demonstration Club.

A figured paper was used on the walls and the woodwork a pale orchid. Ruffled curtains were used at the window.

The bed received a coat of white and the dresser and rug a clear varnish.

The floor around the rug was refinished with an oil mix.

Other improvements are needed for the home in the future.
