The "Flame of Friendship," presented to the New York World as a symbol of the friendship between Japan and the United States, was brought from the Ise Grand Shrine, where, according to Japanese mythology, the flame has been burning for more than 1,300 years. The flame was carried to New York by Miss Aiko Tsukimoto.

FARMERS PAID $2,717.00 FOR WHEAT LOSSES

Unavoidable Damages Reported on 1,127 Acres of Wheat

Payments for losses on the 1939 crop received to date by farmers of Foard County from the State Crop Insurance Corporation total $2,717.48, according to reports from Weldon P. Herman, secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Committee and Jess D. Miller, supervisor of the State Crop Insurance Corporation.

Of the 200 farmers in the county whose 1939 crops were covered by federal wheat crop insurance, 20 have reported unavoidable damage on a total of 1,127 acres.

When farmers of the county have collected indemnity amounting to 4,887 bushels in payment of drought and damage losses.

These losses are figured in terms of bushels, most of the farmers have preferred to be paid cash equivalent of the wheat that was due them, Mr. Miller said.

Boosters Visit In Interest of Spur Rodeo, June 16-17

A delegation of Spur boosters, including the Spur Rodeo and Roundup to be held in that city Friday and Saturday, June 16-17, visited in Crowell Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

Several numbers were broadcast over the delegation's portable radio address system and a well-attended rodeo was extended to the benefit of this county.

The rodeo will be held in the 1000 Charles Jones stadium. $2,500 will be given in prize money. Officials of the rodeo are setting an Army air fleet to be on June 16-17 to thrill spectators with formation flying.

Other highlights of the two-day program will be the appearance of the Pony Express race team from Nocona to San Francisco, his two famous ponies, and his two famous ponies, and his two famous ponies.

Dick Todd Listed In "Who's Who," Given B. S. Degree at A&M

Dick Todd was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree at the commencement exercises of Texas A. & M. College in College Station last Friday night.

He arrived in Crowell Saturday for a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Todd, before leaving for East Texas, where he will work until leaving to join the Washington Redskins, with whom he will play professional football next fall.

The name and biography of Dick Todd of Crowell appeared in the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," after being chosen as one of the outstanding students of America by an unprejudiced committee. Todd was chosen as an All-Southwestern Conference backfield man for two years and was the most feared runner on the football gridiron in the three years he was a regular in the line-up of the Texas A. & M. Aggies.

While in Crowell High School, Todd set what was probably still is a scoring record in football. During his four years of high school football, he ran up a total of 664 points, 318 of which were made in his last year here. His touchdown runs during his past two years with the Crowell Wildcats averaged better than 25 yards each. In Texas A. & M. College, Todd became recognized as one of the most outstanding football players of the nation.

College, and will spend the summer vacation in their homes here. Sam Crews went from College Station to Galveston where he will remain in an artillery camp for six weeks. Tom Ray Roberts accompanied his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Roberts, from Austin, where he recently completed his junior year in the University of Texas, and will remain at home during the summer.

Glen Don Reeder, student in Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth, returned to Crowell Tuesday and will spend the summer at his home here.

An extensive campaign is now being launched by the City Council to make collections on delinquent taxes due the City, according to an ad placed in this issue of The News. The City, heretofore, has not pressed delinquents to any great extent, but a vital necessity now exists for collection of delinquent taxes.

Penalty, interest and costs will not be added until after August 16 of this year, thereby allowing all taxpayers the opportunity to make payment prior to incurring this additional expense.

Taxation is the major sustenance of a city. Without this source of revenue, a city cannot exist. The City Council in all earnestness requests that every individual make payment before August 16, for, despite rumors to the contrary, penalty, interest and costs will be added at that time and will remain just as much a part of the taxes as the original, according to city officials.

Under present circumstances, the City is unable to meet all of its financial obligations with the promptness that a city must, if it is to maintain its dignity and take advantage of opportunities presented it for improvement and development. The preservation of the city and its growth commensurate with other cities of its size depends entirely on the collection of delinquent taxes to finance such a program.

It is hoped that the citizenship of the town will join the City Council in this campaign and eliminate the necessity of any other action having to be taken by the Council in collection of delinquent taxes.

Drive Started Here For Softball Lights

A drive for a lighted softball field for Crowell was started this week by the two softball teams of Crowell and the movement has been endorsed by several Crowell business men.

Those who are leading the movement feel that a lighted softball diamond will be beneficial to those in Crowell, especially business men, who enjoy playing softball, but never have the time to enjoy the sport in the afternoons or on Sundays.

If the lights are obtained it is believed that several softball teams will be organized in Crowell and an inter-city league formed, thus giving games under the lights several nights each week.

Practically all of the neighboring cities have lighted softball fields and playing the games at night has met the approval of the fans and players. Not only will it allow business men to enjoy playing in the games but will give the people of this vicinity another form of entertainment and those now working on the plans believe that point alone will get the approval of the local business men.

The managers of the teams stated that the players of the two clubs would donate to the lights and arrangements for the remainder of the cost will be made later.

The merchants of Crowell will be contacted within the near future for advice or endorsement by a representative chosen by those heading the drive.

Thanks, Fellows!

Since The News has recently taken up the promotion of the sale of office supplies, business men in Crowell have been very kind in giving us a chance at this business which we greatly appreciate. The orders we have received have gradually increased until we are highly pleased with the addition of office supplies to our regular newspaper business.

Securing of office supplies through a home institution not only helps that particular institution, but it helps the town, for the profits from these transactions are kept at home. When they are ordered from an out-of-town salesman they go to help build up some other community, and the buyer pays as much and in some cases perhaps more, than if they were purchased through a home agent.

We are making every effort possible to be in position to secure any item that is needed and to be familiar with prices and quality so that we can give the very best service. We are now able to give quick service on most items and as the business grows we expect to stock some of the fastest sellers if that is necessary to give our customers better service.

Again, we say, thank you, and earnestly solicit your office supply business.

Schindler, county beautification chairman of the State Highway Department of Foard County, and Curtis Ribble, State Highway foreman. The picture was furnished The News by the Highway Department. This display consisted of 107 kinds of wild flowers and shrubs native to Foard County.

1939 Wheat Harvest Began Last Week; Over 106,000 Bushels of Foard Wheat Cut

Over 100 Acres of Potatoes Put Out at Rayland

A good rain would be an advantage to most crops in the Rayland community in the northeast sandy section of Foard County, according to a report from our correspondent, J. C. Davis, which was sent in Monday.

Mr. Davis says the sweet potato growers have completed the setting out of plants and most of the farmers are very well up with their work. The harvest of a fairly good onion crop will start next week.

More than one hundred acres of sweet potato plants have been put out by the farmers of that community and the approximate acreage of each individual grower is as follows:

- H. T. Faughn ..... 20 acres
  - A. T. Beazley ..... 10 acres
  - Tom Lawson ..... 6 acres
  - A. C. Light ..... 15 acres
  - John Neal ..... 8 acres
  - Wiley Hunt ..... 12 acres
  - Shirley McLarty ..... 18 acres
  - Jornie Gamble ..... 17 acres
- Several smaller crops are being planted, according to Mr. Davis.

GOES TO CALIFORNIA

Alexander Sokoloff, who graduated from the Crowell High School with the 1939 class, left last week for Pasadena, Calif., to join his mother and sisters. Alexander, whose home is Mexico City, had spent two years in the High School here to specialize in English and lived in the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Yeats. He expects to study medicine and will enter a college in California in the fall for that purpose.

Former Crowell Man Drowns Near Las Vegas, Nev.

W. A. (Bill) Bratcher, former resident of Crowell, fell from a boat while fishing and drowned in a lake in Nevada the third week in May. The body was recovered on Friday, May 19, and burial was made in Las Vegas, Nevada, on May 21, according to a letter received in Crowell by his brother, Roy Bratcher.

Mr. Bratcher lived in Crowell for many years during his boyhood days and when he reached maturity was married to Miss Shirley Thomson who survives along with three children. The family left here more than thirty years ago.

AWARDED DEGREE

Miss Bernice Poland, who has returned to her home in Crowell, was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree from Mary Hardin-Baylor at Belton at the commencement exercises Monday, May 29.

ATTEND AAA MEET

Weldon P. Herman, Jesse Miller and J. M. Crowell attended a meeting of AAA workers of this section in Wichita Falls Thursday for the purpose of getting further information on 1940 wheat allotments, 1940 government wheat insurance and wheat loans.

TO VISIT IN OREGON

Mrs. A. F. Cannon will leave this week for Woodburn, Ore., to spend the summer with her son, Boyce Cannon, and family. Mrs. Cannon had recently returned from Fort Worth where she spent several months visiting relatives.

Zog—Another King Without a Country

Yields, Tests Running Higher Than Expected

Harvest Will Be In Full Sway in County Next Week

During the first week of the 1939 wheat harvest season, approximately 106,000 bushels have been delivered to elevators in Foard County, according to reports received Wednesday afternoon. With the exception of a slight shower Monday morning, weather conditions have been ideal for harvesting.

Of the wheat already gathered in the county, 85,500 bushels have been delivered to the elevators in Crowell. The elevators at Foard County have handled about 19,000 bushels of 1939 wheat and the elevator at Margaret has received 2,000 bushels.

About 36 cars of new wheat have been shipped from the county during the first few days of the harvest season, according to the reports. Twenty-two of the cars have been shipped from Crowell elevators, while 14 have been sent from Foard City.

Wheat Testing High

Shortly before harvest started, it was believed that wheat yields would range around ten bushels per acre, but since the first load was received in Crowell last week yields as high as 34 bushels per acre have been reported and all of the wheat now being gathered appears to be averaging between 15 and 20 bushels per acre. Wheat men of the county are surprised at the unexpected high yield of the early wheat being cut, but it is believed that the later wheat will not yield as high.

Weather conditions for the wheat this season are nearly in direct contrast from those experienced last season. Last year wheat was damaged by a snow and freeze early in April, and numerous hail storms and driving rains, while this year wheat has only suffered from want of moisture which came in time to give Foard County a good wheat yield.

Getting Started
Practically all of the wheat that has been gathered during the past week was early wheat and the harvest season for the county is now ready to swing into full sway. There are a number of farmers who already have their wheat out of the field, but the larger portion of the 560 wheat farmers of the county are just getting started or getting ready to start harvest.

A large number of combines and trucks have come into the county.

Old Mule Returns

R. T. Haynie of Antelope Flat once sold a gray mule seven years ago to a man at Munday. The animal was then 20 years of age. Since the mule was sold to the Munday man it had become the property of several other men, the ownership having been traced and finally lost. About a month ago the mule returned to Mr. Haynie's pasture and jumped the fence and has since made itself at home where earlier days were spent.

He that is void of wisdom despiseth his neighbor; but a man of understanding holdeth his peace.—Proverbs 11:13.

One of the best community builders is the merchant who runs an up-to-date store, clean, well lighted, with a stock ample to meet the needs of the community in which he is located, well merchandised, well displayed and liberally advertised. A town may have fine streets and good homes, well kept and well cared for but it is the live, progressive up-to-date merchant that brings the business into the town. The automobile has made it possible for people to get about more than they used to and as a result they have become more discriminating buyers than they once were. They are no longer satisfied with a dingy, poorly lighted, ill kept store, with shopworn merchandise poorly displayed. They have come to know the more modern up-to-date merchandising, and the old type has lost its attraction and appeal. One good, live, up-to-date merchant in a town, who advertises liberally and intelligently and persistently will bring more trade to the town than any other single thing, and incidentally a group of such merchants will build a modern city out of a cross roads village because trade from far and near will seek the thing and the service it desires wherever it is to be found.

Some one has figured it out that there are fifty-seven ways to cause others to dislike you. It is difficult to understand why some folks seem to insist on employing them all.

ADVICE TO TRAVELERS—TAKE A PURPOSE WITH YOU

"Don't be a tourist, be a traveler," advises J. P. McEvoy, author and traveler. He makes the difference clear in an article in the current Rotarian Magazine, pointing out that it's largely a matter of having a definite purpose in your journeyings that make them worth while.

Pursue your interest, he urges. "Whether it is child welfare or rock gardens, whether your passion is architecture or orchids, fishing or folk dancing, butterflies or bridge, you'll find devotees everywhere.

"You can always call with profit and the assurance of a welcome on those of your own profession in whatever land you are," he adds. "Do you sell? Do you buy? Your rivals and allies are everywhere. Whether you make bricks or lay them or throw them, the sun never sets on your co-workers, collaborators, or conspirators."

By the will of the late Mrs. Cecilia Hill of Hamilton, Can., $50 was ordered set aside from her estate to pay the traveling expenses of a friend, Mrs. Margaret Farrell of Chicago, to and from the funeral.

What We Think
 (By Frank Dixon)

A reader of this column wrote me last week charging me with being unfriendly to, and prejudiced against, the administration at Washington because on several occasions I have stated in this column that it is my belief that the legislation unfriendly to business passed the past few years, and the general attitude toward business is retarding, rather than aiding recovery.

My correspondent, in a lengthy statement, charges me with partisanship and an unfriendly attitude toward the administration because I have stated in this column that I am in favor of liberal amendments to the Wagner Act, the abolishment of the Wage-Hour law, a let up in the too friendly attitude of the administration toward radical labor leaders, a lightening in certain taxes that another initiative in business, and especially the constant threat of legislation that may yet be passed against business.

I want to make my position clear, not only to my correspondent, but to all others who may feel as he does that I am prejudiced or biased by partisanship. This is not true. My interest in the matter concerns recovery and not the interest of any political party, faction or organization. I believe that the interests of recovery are above those of any political party, faction or organization. I believe that when and if recovery comes it will come because business steps into the arena with a program of expansion, development and selling. When this takes place employment will begin and money will come out of low interest bearing bonds, out of banks and out of hiding, and circulate in the channels of trade. Until this comes to pass it is my firm conviction that recovery will lag whatever political party, group or organization may be in power.

I concede that industry, big and little, the country over, in the past fifty years has accumulated many faults that need correcting. There have grown up many practices that should be corrected that no longer fit into our present day scheme of living, but I do not believe that it is wise to attempt to correct all of these things while the nation is flat on its back in the midst of its greatest depression.

It reminds me of the story in scripture of the wheat and the tares. It was recommended in that instance that the tares not be dug up until after harvest, lest to do so might injure the wheat. I believe that all efforts should be centered on recovery, that instead of hampering and discouraging business, it should be encouraged, and when men are again employed, set about to correct the systematic disorders that infest our economic order.

That there is need of this I am a firm believer. I believe as firmly in this as does the most ardent supporter of the present program. I believe that many of the things now being attempted are right and their coming is inevitable and has already been too long delayed. We as a people, cannot escape the blame for our laxity in seeking their correction. But as firmly as I believe this, I believe that the present is not the opportune time to correct them and that continued efforts in this direction will only result in delayed recovery and mounting federal deficits.

For a sick economic order we are undertaking too much at one time.

TEXAS EGG SHIPMENTS

Austin, June 5.—Egg shipments from Texas poultry farms during April nearly doubled those of April last year, University of Texas business research officials said today.

Interstate egg shipments totaled 79 cars last month, against 41 a year ago. Receipts of eggs from other states numbered 9 cars against 16 in April, 1938. University Bureau of Business Research reports show. Chicken shipments totaled 51 cars, against 47 in April last year, an increase of 8.5 per cent, while turkey shipments became negligible, only two cars moving, compared with 13 cars a year ago.

Anything But That!

(An editorial from the Rotarian Magazine.)

Cherished among the many legends of the Spanish-American people of New Mexico is the story of San Ysidro.

It seems that San Ysidro was plowing his garden one spring day, when an angel appeared and said to him, "The Lord wants to see you, Ysidro. Come with me."

Ysidro plowed on. "I can't go now," he answered. "You tell the Lord that I'm late in getting my corn planted and that I'll see Him later when I've finished."

The angel nodded and disappeared.

Soon another messenger hovered about San Ysidro's plow. "The Lord wants to see you right now," he said. "And if you don't come at once, the Lord says He'll send hot winds and drought to wither your corn."

Ysidro paused only long enough to wipe the sweat from his brow. "I've had hot winds and droughts before, and they don't bother me," he said. "I can carry water from the river. Tell the Lord I can't come now, but will see Him when I have my corn planted."

Baffled, that angel, too, vanished.

A few moments later a third angel, larger and sterner than the other two, tapped Ysidro on the shoulder. "The Lord doesn't like your attitude," the heavenly courier said. "He says if you don't come with me right now He'll send a plague of locusts to devour your corn from the top and a plague of cutworms to eat its roots."

"That doesn't frighten me," answered Ysidro, turning his plow and starting back. "I've had plagues before, and with fires and hoeing and hard work, I have saved my corn. You tell the Lord I'll see Him tomorrow."

And so the third angel flew away.

San Ysidro had plowed several furrows before the fourth messenger glided to earth.

"The Lord isn't going to argue any more," the angel announced, flapping his wings hard to keep up with the stubborn plowman. "He simply said that if you don't come with me right away, He'll send you a bad neighbor."

Instantly San Ysidro stopped his mule and wrapped the reins around the plow handle. For the first time there was fear in his eyes.

"A bad neighbor!" he shouted. "No, no. I can stand hot winds and droughts, locusts and cutworms—I can stand anything but a bad neighbor. I'll go with you right now."

Declining Birth Rate in Texas Is Reported by Dr. Cox

Austin.—That Texas is headed for an era of quieter, more mature living, is the prediction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The basis of this prediction is the declining birth rate and the increasing life span of the average Texas.

While the population may continue to increase until 1955, as Government census experts predict, the percentage of youth is decreasing. By 1975 today's total American population over 65 years will have trebled their number from seven and a half million to twenty-two and a half million.

Two reasons for this change in the age ratio are smaller families and stricter immigration laws.

Third and most important reason is the longer average life expectancy due to increasingly wide-spread use of medical and public health knowledge, which reduces mortality, particularly in childhood and allows the average person to live a longer span of life. For instance, a baby born in 1789 lived on the average until he was 35 years old. A baby born in 1900 had a life expectancy of 48 years. A baby born in 1935 could normally expect to be 61 years old.

Repercussions to this change in our population from youth to middle age will be gradual. Both young and old will do less productive labor, while the middle aged do more. Fewer schools will be needed. Golf and other mild games will gain favor. Travel will be more popular as more people will have leisure. The jitterbug era of dancing will fade. The population will tend to decentralize as older people move to quiet suburbs or the country.

In the long run, America and Texas will undoubtedly benefit in the advent of experience and seasoned judgments in government and business.

When our population becomes more or less static, our scale of living will automatically rise, and the science of medicine and public health will have much to do with this change toward a longer and better life for more and more people.

British Economist Cites Big Need for Business Planning

"Is it possible for the leaders of business to do anything themselves to prevent or mitigate trade depression?" asks Sir Arthur Salter, distinguished British economist, writing in the current Rotarian Magazine.

He proceeds to answer his question with an emphatic "Yes," after pointing out that even more distress may lie ahead unless positive, forward-looking action is taken by those industrial leaders who individually exert great power over business trends.

"A relatively restricted number of leaders," he says, "have the power either to impede or to assist the adjustments that all forms of economic change are constantly requiring." In view of this, what is needed, he asserts, is closer co-ordination between business leaders and Government, especially in the field of broad planning.

Governments have great responsibilities during times of economic stress, but, he points out, "while there are some things which they can usefully do, there are others which offer, or seem to offer, some relief for the moment, but which will involve immensely serious consequences later. One thing is certain. If the leaders of business make no contribution themselves, and if they are not co-operating with the Government and are suspicious of and hostile to what it is doing, no governmental measures can substantially relieve the situation."

Business should take a long time view, he states, and deliberately plan for the inevitable depressions during times of prosperity. "Public utilities and railways, for example, could to a considerable extent," he believes, "restrict capital expenditure during booms and expand it during depressions."

Modification of the installment buying system might also be made as business volume changes, he continues. "Would it not be possible, for certain classes of important industrialists—for example, the manufacturers of motor cars—to agree at a time of boom expansion to suspend the facilities of installment purchase, or to make the conditions more onerous, and equally to relax the conditions when depression comes?"

Some such co-ordinated action is needed, Sir Arthur believes, if the present economic system is to function smoothly.

Wheat—

(Continued from Page One) county for the harvest run, but the number is not as great as it was at this time last year, however, there appears to be enough combines and trucks now in the county to handle the wheat.

Heaviest Yield The heaviest wheat yield for 1939 to be reported at this early stage of the season is that recorded on the Raymond Grimm farm at Thalia. Mr. Grimm was also the second man to bring a load of 1939 wheat to Crowell.

According to reports, Mr. Grimm had an average of 34 bushels per acre from 34 acres. This is a very high yield for any year, and might be the highest yield for Foard County for this season.

The high yielding wheat, was early black hull and was planted between October 1 and 10 of last year. Conservative estimates at present are that the average for the county will be between 12 and 14 bushels per acre. The acreage planted to wheat in the county this year is believed to be near the 45,000 acre mark, several thousand acres less than last year.

House, and the issue may possibly be decided finally before the session is in print. If it should pass, the sales tax which has figured in the last three gubernatorial campaigns, will overnight become the hottest political issue in Texas and participants in the 1940 primary campaigns will begin outlining their artillery on either side of the issue. If it should be adopted by the people, it will, of course, in many months before the bill brings in any pension revenue.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPEES JR.

Austin.—Having played every card in his hand in an effort to jam through the House of Representatives, his constitutional amendment for a sales tax, and four times having been defeated, Gov. O'Daniel and the sales tax forces aiding in his fight prepared at the week-end for a fifth and final effort.

The Governor played his hole-card last Friday, when he signed the bill liberalizing the pension rolls. In his Sunday morning broadcast, he placed the laurel wreath of victory upon his own brow, and celebrated a triumph he seemed to regard as already won.

Senators Are Arrogant

The strategy this week was designed to put the last ultimate ounce of pressure upon the determined House minority which has opposed the constitutional sales tax. The House had sent its omnibus tax bill to the Senate, where the State affairs committee promptly killed it, after hearing only three of a string of 40 witnesses. Motion to kill was offered by Sen. Will Pace, of Tyler, and only three votes—those of Clint Small, Manley Head and Olan Van Zandt—were cast against it. Those voting to kill included Colie, Graves of Dallas; Martin, Moore, Nelson, Pace, Roberts, Shivers, Sotne of Galveston, Stone of Washington, Weinert and Winfield. Van Zandt, the blind senator from Grayson County, administered the death blow to the bill, when he refused to sign a minority report, which would have enabled it to go to the floor. Immediately afterward, on Pace's motion, the same committee killed the House gross receipts tax bill, which has been pigeonholed in the committee for a month. This cut off all possible methods of raising pension revenue at this session except through a constitutional amendment for a sales tax.

The Governor, in his radio talk, referred to it as a "compromise settlement" of the question. Actually, it was the most high-handed and arrogant refusal by nine Senators to accept any compromise that has been seen in the Legislature since the Senate blocked a regular session in refusing to consider the race gambling repeal bill.

Will U. S. Quit Paying Opponents of the sales tax in the House declared, after O'Daniel's blistering radio denunciation of them, that they would stand fast, and refuse again to accept the Senate sales tax plan. If the bloc of 60 House votes does stand pat on the final test this week, it is obvious the session will not pass any tax measure, and early adjournment is expected.

On the other hand, the situation may not develop into the rosy-hued picture which the Governor described with many a chortle of glee to his Sunday radio audience. Instead of having delivered on his No. 1 promise—pensions for everybody of $30 a month—which he long ago abandoned, but now claims is met by the pension liberalizing bill—he may find another and different picture.

The new bill adds about 80,000 to the rolls, which now number close to 118,000, pension officials say. Many informed persons in Austin assert that the Federal government will promptly cut off Federal aid, claiming the liberalized Texas law does not meet Federal requirements of need. If that happens, the pensioners now on the rolls will find themselves immediately confronted with a reduction of 50 per cent in the present average pension payment of $13.55 per month. Then, as soon as the additional 80,000 names can be added to the rolls there will be a further reduction in the amount paid of approximately 40 per cent. So the Texas pensioners may find themselves with an empty victory—with the law on their side but no money to pay off.

Two Minute Sermon

The Magic Sunshine of Happiness: In a group discussion recently the question came up as to how one might go about doing good to those with whom they came in contact. Many persons one meets, it was pointed out, are not in need of any service or thing. How is one to do them good? The answer of one of the group was, "by just being happy yourself." At first thought this may sound like a thoughtless answer, but it is far from it. In fact, I know of no better way that one can do good to those with whom he comes in contact or meets during the day than by just being happy, by radiating happiness and sunshine and optimism. If you have never tried it you do not know how other hearts reach out for that sort of companionship to satisfy the natural hunger of the human heart to be happy. The happy heart accomplishes two things in this world. It helps in many ways its possessor and gives to him or her a keener joy of living. It also helps every one with whom its possessor comes in contact. It is a great power for good. It is a splendid medicine for countless human ills. And so if you want to be known among a wide circle of friends as one who goes about doing good, just be a happy spirit and your presence will be blessed of all who know you, and your circle of friends will reach as far as you are known, for of happiness, and the magic of its warm sunshine, the world has never had enough.

New Christian Science President

GEORGE SHAW COOK Incoming President of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Boston, Mass., June 5.—Thousands of Christian Scientists, meeting in this city today, challenged a troubled world to change its perspective from a material to a spiritual basis in its search for release from pressing economic and political problems.

The occasion for the great influx of the followers of Mary Baker Eddy was the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, which was held at an early hour this afternoon right up to the center balcony under the very dome of the great edifice. Through an entire afternoon's round of addresses and reports from the field, the power of the Christ, Truth, to life individuals above the ills of human sense was acknowledged and this same spiritual power was recommended for the healing of the nations and the establishment of a permanent world peace.

Looking beneath the surface ripples of troubled international relationships apparent in the world today, The Christian Science Board of Directors saw the deep-running currents of spiritual progress—keeping alive the vital realization of spiritual truth which Christian Scientists must always nurture, whether their work be along the specific line of healing or in the important channels connected with home, church, business, and government.

New Officers Announcement of new officers constituted the main business of the meeting. George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., of Brookline, Mass., was named President for the ensuing year to succeed Ralph H. Knapp of Needham. Edward L. Ripley of Marshfield and Ezra W. Palmer of Brookline and Ezra W. Palmer of Marshfield were re-elected Treasurer and Clerk, respectively. The President is elected by The Christian Science Board of Directors for a one-year term, his chief duty being to serve as presiding officer, at the Annual Meeting.

Mr. Cook is a native of Iowa, moving to Chicago at an early age where he received his public school education. Entering the commercial world he became a partner in a firm dealing in investment securities.

Appreciation of Founder As incoming president, Mr. Cook directed attention to the place that Mary Baker Eddy holds in the movement as discoverer and founder of Christian Science.

Why Go To Church? Text—One thing have I desired of the Lord, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple.—Psalm 27:4. In troubled sleep, a dreamer thought he fared forth of a Sunday morning to find a church where he might worship. He moved with increasing concern through the center and other districts of the city, finding nowhere a house of prayer into which he could go for worship with God's people. Instead, he saw hurrying throngs rushing hither and thither, bent on pleasure and business. Every mark of a God-forgetting people was in evidence—profanity, boisterousness, lustful pleasures, avaricious and unscrupulous business. No fear of God was before the eyes of any. No monuments of Christian kindness and charity were to be seen—no hospitals, homes for the aged, orphanages. No church interest. He thanked God it was only a dream!

When we sing, "I love Thy kingdom, Lord, The house of Thine abode; The Church our best Redeemer saved"

With His own precious blood," we are duplicating in a sense the exalted language of David in our text, for this is a portion of a glorious anthem sung as a part of the temple worship.

It is easy to see in what esteem David held the assembly of the saints. There he would sense the beauty and glory of Jehovah. There to the end of his pilgrimage he would be a humble learner in God's school.

Affection for the Church of Christ is more logical than David's affection for his Zion. The Church holds a larger revelation of the redemptive purposes of God. Our Weekly Sermon

By Rev. William M. Runyan, Editor, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Text—One thing have I desired of the Lord, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple.—Psalm 27:4.

In troubled sleep, a dreamer thought he fared forth of a Sunday morning to find a church where he might worship. He moved with increasing concern through the center and other districts of the city, finding nowhere a house of prayer into which he could go for worship with God's people. Instead, he saw hurrying throngs rushing hither and thither, bent on pleasure and business. Every mark of a God-forgetting people was in evidence—profanity, boisterousness, lustful pleasures, avaricious and unscrupulous business. No fear of God was before the eyes of any. No monuments of Christian kindness and charity were to be seen—no hospitals, homes for the aged, orphanages. No church interest. He thanked God it was only a dream!

When we sing, "I love Thy kingdom, Lord, The house of Thine abode; The Church our best Redeemer saved"

With His own precious blood," we are duplicating in a sense the exalted language of David in our text, for this is a portion of a glorious anthem sung as a part of the temple worship.

It is easy to see in what esteem David held the assembly of the saints. There he would sense the beauty and glory of Jehovah. There to the end of his pilgrimage he would be a humble learner in God's school.

Affection for the Church of Christ is more logical than David's affection for his Zion. The Church holds a larger revelation of the redemptive purposes of God. It discourses a deeper and more spiritual message. It exalts a risen and glorified Redeemer in the power of the Holy Spirit. It commands a preview of the coming and kingdom of Christ.

Affection for the Church will grow with an understanding of its mission. Criticism that it harbors any who are hypocrites will yield to admiration that it deals with those who are ailing, weak, ignorant, faltering, and out of weakness seeks to make them strong through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Affection for the Church will grow with a comprehension of its purpose to interpret the compass-sion of Christ in world-wide ministries of mercy. Insofar as the spirit of the Master rules, the Church will not be self-centered and forgetful of the needy and sinning.

Defining the Church, it has been called "the visible body of professed believers," "the friends of Jesus organized for the purpose of worship, and work." This is the historical Church in which the spiritual Church will in most part be found. The visible Church may be thought of as an army—under marching orders; a brotherhood—watchful for the common good; a corporation—engrossed with holy enterprise of world-wide extent; a school—ever learning at the feet of the Master, the Bible, its authoritative textbook; a family—indeed the "household of faith," learning unselfishness and forbearance. No wonder the true believer utters with unctious, "I believe in the communion of saints." There is a gracious and real fellowship between all spiritualized believers in our Lord Jesus Christ.

Two expressed purposes of the text may well be the purpose of every church-goer—"to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple."

"To behold the beauty of the Lord" is achieved in true and spiritual worship. The soul demands worship, and God invites it. Time and again Christ so revealed His nature that grateful souls fell down and worshipped Him. A knowledge of Christ must always eventuate in worship. His beauty of spirit, grace unutterable, kindness unending, infinite compassion—these, and countless other tokens of "the beauty of the Lord," must incite to worship.

"To inquire in his temple" becomes the inevitable purpose of the worshiper. As Mary gladly sat at the feet of Jesus to learn of Him, all humble and true believers will realize that much is to be learned. Opinionation, self-assurance and self-sufficiency, with every egotistical bent, must disappear when one, like Isaiah, beholds "the Lord, high and lifted up."

How great are the assets of any community furnished with houses of worship and eager congregations, where will be found the spirit of worship and the disposition to search the Scriptures.

Boll Weevil and Flea-Hopper Control

the leaf worm destroys far less cotton than either the flea-hopper or the boll weevil. By the time the leaf worm becomes numerous enough to do real damage the flea-hopper and the boll weevil have already got in most of their deadly work. The fight against cotton insect pests is greatly simplified by the fact that a good dusting machine will handle all four—flea-hoppers, boll weevils, leaf worms, and boll worms—if used properly at the proper time. Dusting sulphur and calcium arsenate are the only insecticides necessary, if the campaign begins on time and is continued at intervals of five to eight days until the insects are under control. If no early dusting is done, heavier dusting, or extra arsenicals in the mixture may be needed to handle a heavy infestation of leaf worms, but it is both less effective and more expensive than a program which begins while the cotton is comparatively small and is followed up at regular intervals.

It is all right to make a count of the pests present if one knows how and wants to do so. The safest, surest, and in the long run, the cheapest, plan is to prevent rather than cure. When the flea-hopper begins to destroy the little fruit buds use sulphur. When the boll weevil come out of hibernation, or begin to sting the squares which have escaped the flea-hopper, a one-two mixture of calcium arsenate and sulphur is best. When leaf worms appear calcium arsenate alone will handle them if properly applied. No wet spray is necessary.

Some of these insects will attack slow-growing, drought-stricken cotton by preference, but may cause considerable damage on any cotton if that is all they find to feed on. What we are trying to say is that when cotton is growing fast it is mighty important to watch for the insects and see that they do not destroy the fruit to such an extent that "weed" is all that is left.

At this stage cotton should rapidly set squares and the squares should be in the early stages of bloom. If rank-growing cotton doesn't look "like a flower bud" every morning there is something the matter. Every cotton grower knows that cotton naturally "throws off" a part of the crop fruit, but natural shedding and insect damage are two different matters. The early mid-season blooms and bolls must be saved from insect damage in order to insure a normal yield.

With the greatly reduced acreage in cotton under the AAA it comes the more important to get good yields from the acreage we have, and controlled insect depredations is one proven way of so doing. Besides, insect control which permits the "weed" to hold all the early fruit it can bring the main crop to maturity earlier in the season and a larger percentage of it is harvested at the first picking, when grades are better than later. A good many people do not get ahead about insect pests until the leaf worm appears, and yet

Your Horoscope

June 3, 4, 5—You are possessed of much caution but sometimes become reckless and go on a rampage. You look well into all your undertakings in order to not be compromised in any way. New undertakings which promise much at the beginning do not always prove so bright in the end. But remember character is developed and strengthened by frustration. Keep the caustic vein in your nature under control. You resent harsh criticism of yourself.

June 6, 7—While you have a clear intelligent mind you are swayed more by impression in your calculation of things than by reasoning. You are wholesome and honest in thought and purpose but often times you fail to reach your ideal and this makes you unhappy. In the business world you are not always a success and you do possess a very sympathetic nature. Be careful of your tendency to leap before you look and do not depend too much on intuition. You have a love for harmony, truth and fair dealings.

June 8, 9, 10—Above all things learn caution. Be sure you are right before you proceed and don't try to force the seemingly impossible. Learn patience. You are an interesting talker but possess limited business ability. It is better for you to be employed by some one instead of owning a business of your own. You are a strong lover.

FIFTY-YEAR LOW FOR COTTON

Austin, June 5.—Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton expert, today predicted a 50-year low for United States cotton exports this year.

Dr. Cox, director of the University Bureau of Business Research, estimated exports this year at less than three and a third million bales, compared with an average predepression total of nearly eight and a half million.

"The big reason why the United States has lost foreign markets for cotton is that it has not been willing to sell at world market prices," he declared.

Why not save the penalty, interest and costs which will be added to your taxes by paying them before the 16th of August, 1939?

The City Council earnestly requests that all owing delinquent taxes make a decided effort to pay them at once. In the event taxes are not paid, the City will be forced to use other means to enforce collection.
