Over 23 Rattlesnakes Killed from Big Den Found East of City

A large den of rattlesnakes has been found in the pasture land owned by Henry Campbell about 7 miles east of Crowell by A. D. Campbell and Fred Bell, who have killed 23 of the snakes during the past few weeks.

Mr. Campbell stated that he had noticed the holes in the ground a number of times and had often walked over and around them until one day he saw a rattler sunning himself. He rushed back to his car for a gun and killed the snake. This was the first one to be killed from the den and was also the largest. It was six feet in length and had 13 rattlers.

Mr. Bell discovered the den the next day and since then the two men have been visiting it every time the day is warm, and have killed 23 snakes. They believe that the numerous "sink" holes in the ground are connected and believe that it is the breeding place for snakes in that vicinity. Mr. Bell stated that he looked down into one of the holes one warm day and it "was working alive" with the rattlers.

Funds for Building and Furnishing Foard County Hospital Exhausted; Structure Is Yet to Be Completed

Foard ACA Will Meet in Crowell on First Monday Each Month

The regular meeting date of the committeemen of the Foard County Agriculture Conservation Association is the first Monday of every month, according to information released by A. V. Shepard, administrative officer.

The committee meets in the county AAA office in the court house on those days and anyone desiring to meet with the committee to make any appeal, or just wishing to be present when the committeemen gather, are invited to do so.

By Bob and James Harry Brock, all of Lawton, Okla.

With the nearing of the completion of the Foard County Hospital, now under construction as a county-sponsored WPA project, many are wondering just how long it will be before the hospital will be opened.

The building is slated to be completed within the next week or two, but on the heels of this comes the news that it might be some time before the building can be completed and furnished.

In a check up by Judge Leslie Thomas since assuming his duties as County Judge on January 1st, he reports that the hospital funds have been practically exhausted, there remaining a balance of approximately $500.00 in the fund with which to complete the building, all W. P. A. funds having been heretofore totally exhausted, with about $1,000.00 needed for completion of the building in addition to two thousand dollars' worth of warrants which were issued for its ultimate completion before January 1st. When the building was first started back in April, 1940, it was thought that there would be a sufficiency with the bonds which were voted to complete the building and have approximately $4,000.00 left, with which to equip it with the necessities thereof, but now it is revealed that the $4,000.00 has been spent and that $2,000.00 worth of warrants have been issued in addition thereto and that there is now no money with which to equip the hospital, the equipment needed estimated to cost around $6,000.00.

Judge Thomas and the Commissioners are now hard at work seeking a solution for the completion and equipping of the hospital, but with such conditions it will be difficult to work out a feasible plan for same, without heavy increased taxation.

Judge Thomas states that this report is made purely for the purpose of informing the people of the county of the conditions existing, to the end that all may work towards a successful culmination of the hospital project.

Foard County Soaked with Slow 1.6 Inches of Rain to Give Brightest Crop Prospects in Many Seasons

Foard County received 1.6 inches of slow rain this week to give this area the best crop prospects it has had in several years. Rain started falling Sunday night and fell at various periods during Monday and Tuesday. Heavy fogs rolled over the county Monday and Tuesday nights.

The county had already received an excellent underground season during the past few months and this rain assures crops of enough moisture to carry them far into the spring, according to the observations made by farmers, who stated crop conditions are better at this time of the year than they have been in eight or ten seasons.

Senator Geo. Moffett Will Leave This Week for Austin

The Texas Legislature will convene at Austin next Tuesday noon. It will have somewhat more than the average number of knotty problems to solve, and this paper does not envy the members their task.

Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, who represents this District in the Senate, has sent us the following statement:

"In Texas the State law-making body meets in regular session once every two years. The sessions ordinarily last between four and five months, and the members receive pay only while the Legislature is in session. The session which will convene in a few days is faced with serious problems. The shadow of war hangs over us, and the cost of National Defense is going up like a skyrocket, which undoubtedly will mean that the National law-making body will increase Federal taxes to a point never known before, thus leaving the State with only limited opportunity to raise revenue to meet the current $25,000,000 deficit in the general fund. And there is strong sentiment for increased revenue for old age pensions, aid to the blind, aid to dependent children, and for teacher retirement.

"This sentiment is shared by a considerable majority of the members of the Legislature, and the Governor. Yet the all-important question is, 'Where is the money coming from?' And it is not an easy one to answer.

"There will be more new members in this Legislature than ever known before, and a very large number of them are under thirty years old. There is only a sprinkling of them over thirty years old. (Continued from Page Four)

One's Physical Assets
Need Checking, State
Health Officer Says

Austin.—At the close of the old year, and looking forward to 1941, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reminds Texans that it is quite as important to "take stock" of one's physical assets and liabilities as it is of one's financial resources.

"We would not think of running our automobiles without having them thoroughly gone over, every now and then. But we neglect to have this very important thing done to the wonderful human mechanism we carry around with us in our bodies."

"One of the best ways to do this is for each person to go to his or her doctor at regular intervals for a thorough medical inspection of the human machine. If a weak spot has developed in some part of the system, very often the doctor can advise as to ways by which the encroaching weakness or disease can be checked. This will help in prolonging life and prolonging it for healthy usefulness."

"The boys and girls who are growing up today are getting accustomed to these periodical examinations through the regular inspections they have in school. And every young mother knows that the best way to keep her baby and her other young children well is by having them under regular medical supervision. So, it is the grown-ups who need this advice, and I urge each individual who has not had an examination recently to begin the New Year by following the custom of the wide-awake motorist. Have your physician check up on all parts of the machine. Then do as he tells you to do."

IN THE NEWS...

41 Years Ago

The following items were taken from the issue of The News of Nov. 10, 1899, when the paper was owned and edited by H. W. Norwood:

J. C. Eubank, who recently sold his place near Crowell, was in our office Monday. He has purchased a much larger tract of land between the Wichitas near Truscott where he will move in a few days. He has secured more grass for his rapidly increasing bunch of cattle by this move. He tells us that his family can't do without The News, and he has it to follow him to his new home. J. C. will continue to make Crowell his trading point and we extend to him a cordial invitation to drop in and see us when in town.

J. T. Fleming of Rayland called in and visited the old reliable weekly last week. He brought a dollar of the realm with him—a great big, fat, silver dollar with an American eagle on it. Fleming knows a good thing when he sees it. He could not eat his meals unless he read our paper. Thanks, Mr. Fleming; call again. We are always glad to see you. It does our old eyes good to look upon your manly form—and that dollar.

Davis Evans Decker, our representative, is practicing law in our courts at this term. He will want to go to Austin next election.

On account of the crowded condition of our columns we failed recently to make mention of the battle between Dr. Adams and a black spider. For a few moments it was a lively skirmish, but as soon as this spider had bitten the doctor, it gave up the ghost and died.

Married—Last Tuesday evening Mr. James M. Loyd and Miss Ora Harrison were happily united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. J. C. Roberts officiating. The groom is an estimable young gentleman from Jack County where he will take his bride and make their future home. The bride is the charming daughter of our neighbor, J. C. Harrison, who resides some nine miles south of Crowell in the thriving community of Harrisonville. The young couple have our hearty congratulations and wishes for a long life of usefulness and happiness.

People of all trades and occupations in Foard County are greatly enlivened since the abundant rainfall. Many are marketing their feed stuff and cotton crop. Wheat planting is going merrily on. Young Men in Better
Physical Condition
Than 23 Years Ago

Austin.—"The results of the examination in connection with the World War draft disclosed that a general average of thirty-two per cent of the young men of this country at that time were either temporarily or permanently unfit for active service."

"While those being called before medical boards under the present selective service law include a greater proportion of acceptances than was the case twenty-three years ago, the percentage of rejects so far reported, despite the small sample from which figures to date have been obtainable, indicates that an approved physical condition is lacking in too great a proportion of the young men called," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"If this age group, in the age bracket where the physical condition normally should be at its very best, indicates a certain amount of physical inefficiency, the question naturally arises: what is the physical status of the older men and women in America? In the present preparedness program, this query is important," Dr. Cox points out.

While there is no desire to imply that the general health of either adult America or adult Texas is unsatisfactory, there is reason to believe that, good as it may be on the average, there is room for improvement. Of course, it is not expected that physical qualifications for military service could be met by the majority of these of middle-age and beyond; nevertheless, it is not too much to ask that the best physical condition corresponding to age be attained by every one.

Barring fundamental defects and chronic conditions, the vast majority of middle-age men and women can achieve top-notch vigor, if lacking it. Moreover, it would be wise to maintain robust health not only for the zest that will be experienced, but for any eventuality that the future may bring.

In all probability minor adjustments only will be necessary to change fairly good health into the most satisfying type. Intelligent attention to the quantity and quality of the food intake, the daily walk, or other exercise in the outdoors, moderation in the use of any or all kinds of stimulants, and obtaining the amount of sleep required nightly should go a long way toward realizing the maximum health goal. It is disregard of one or more of these basic requirements that often represents the difference between superior well-being and slow-gear vitality. Consequently, if upon reflection of one's daily habits, a barrier to good health is spotted, it not only will be patriotic, but will be to the greatest personal advantage to remove it.

Our Weekly Sermon

By Max I. Reich, D. D., Director of Jewish Missions Course, The Meody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Our Weekly Sermon

"I" is the shortest word in our language. We repeat it without thought in numberless connections every day. But perhaps no other, except the word "God," has a bigger content.

When we say "I" we express our feeling that we are more than flesh and blood, nerves and muscles and sinews, brain and heart and lungs, hands and feet; that the real self lives inside the body and expresses itself by these means.

How much bigger is the invisible man inside the visible than his external appearance? A man climbing a mountain looks small enough, but in every sense he is greater than the mountain. One can find out all about the mountain, but who can fathom the depths of a man?

Observe three things about this mysterious something which you call "I."

1. It is something that will go on forever and ever.

When Socrates had drunk the poison cup, his weeping disciples asked him, "Where shall we bury thee, Socrates?" He answered, "Bury me where you like, if you can catch me." The body mingles with the dust, but the man inside the body belongs to the spiritual world. When you blazing sun has flickered out into darkness, I will still go on, either in heaven or in the place of everlasting torment.

Nothing can compare in value with the human soul. "What shall it profit a man," said our Lord, if he gain the greatest care of it? Be careful of the food you give it, for it too craves nourishment. Can literary trash satisfy it? It will not thrive on swines' husks. It hungers for the bread that cometh down from heaven. It is meant for fellowship with God, who is its origin. Sin is poison to it. The garbage of the world is no substitute for the heavenly nourishment which Christ imparts.

Society will be changed quickly when we banish the spirit of greed, cruelty, injustice, war, lust, out of our own hearts, and realize the worth and value of the personality of our neighbor. I must not only respect the soul which I call "I," the soul of my neighbor must also be to me an object of tender solicitude.

In The News 25 YEARS AGO

The following items were taken in whole or in part from the issues of The Foard County News of January 14, 1916:

Mr. Vernon Pyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Pyle of near Crowell, and Miss Loneya Meadors, daughter of M. F. Meadors, were married at the home of J. W. Allison of this city last Wednesday, the Rev. A. C. Gettys, officiating.

James Cates, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cates, was seriously wounded at the rabbit drive on the Hamp Carter place Monday. One of the hunters had turned to reload his gun when it accidentally went off and the load struck young Cates in the fleshy part of the legs.

On the afternoon of Dec. 29, at the residence of Mrs. T. A. Blair in Waco, Miss Anne Cammack became the bride of Charles R. Ferguson of Crowell.

The first attempt to incorporate the schools of Foard County in the University Interscholastic League will be made Feb. 12, 1916, when the first track and field meet of the Foard County division will be held at Margaret. Another meet will be held with some other school in the county on March 11, and the final meet will be held in Crowell on March 25.

Dr. Hill and family are fully domiciled in their handsome new bungalow just completed on Main Street.

Workmen have been busy during the past few days putting the rest of the curbing around the court house.

Cotton is still coming to Crowell. There were something like fifty loads of bolls brought here Tuesday and the cotton from them sold for a good price, about 10 1/2 cents.

Not only have rabbit drives again become popular, but the four drives the past few days have been very successful, there being about 2,000 killed during the drives.

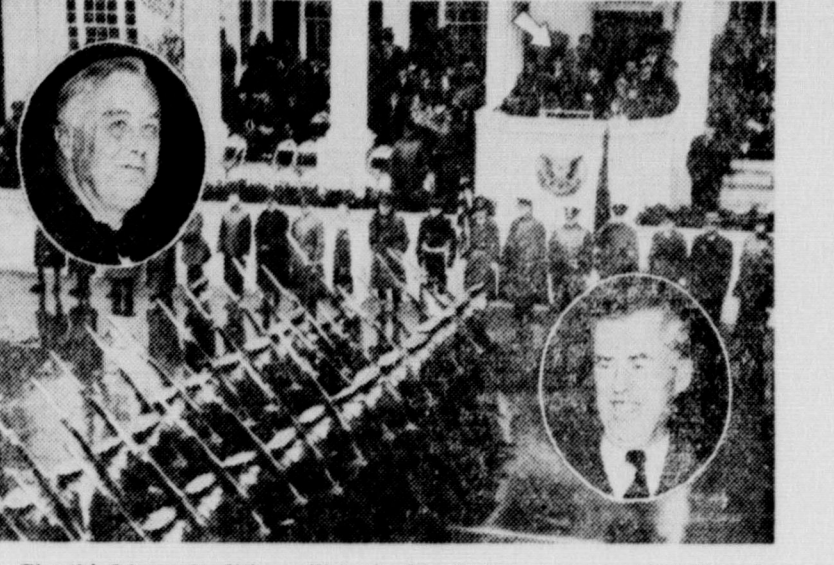

Your Horoscope

January 5, 6, 7, 8.—You are obstinate and have a trait of wanting to get even. You are affectionate and are mechanically inclined and delight in giving advice to others. Selfishness is one of your major faults and there is just a trace of unreliability. You very carefully watch your own interests and are a good financier. January 9, 10, 11.—Your greatest aim in life seems to be making money. You are shrewd and can drive a sharp, close bargain. In spite of a sharp tongue and fiery temper you have a wide circle of friends. You prefer to own your own business, disdaining a partner. You are careful, systematic and look well to the future. You have a natural tendency to doubt and distrust. A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

Draw nigh unto God, and he will draw nigh unto you.—James 4:8.

Every time we read of a strike in one of the defense industries in which an already highly paid worker is willing to tie up the defense program in an effort to increase an already liberal wage, we think of the soldier boys who are also entering the defense program for $30 a month. It suggests that when the country embarks upon a defense program of this type that everything should go in, man power, labor, industry and capital. It should be every one's responsibility, not the responsibility of the boys and young men whom chance has put into the army.

The spirit of accomplishment and victories, purposeful living isn't a thing that comes to an individual from the outside. It is an inner force that determines the attitude and the manner in which the individual will meet all hardships and reverses. It is difficult to defeat such a man. The fortune of many years work may be taken from him by reverses but within he is still the same courageous being. His courage and his faith is not built on material possessions. It is the thing that has made his possessions possible.

Considerable is being printed and said to the effect that this country is more or less muddling and blundering along in the matter of defense program. Muddling and blundering is typical of a democracy. It seems to be the democracy's way of doing things. Somehow, though, this democracy always manages to get things done in a big way.

Just 37 years ago the first airplane in the United States stayed up twelve seconds and flew 120 feet. There will be completed some time the coming month an air bomber 42 feet high and 212 feet wide, capable of carrying 36,000 pounds of bombs and 11,000 gallons of gasoline. This giant airplane weighs 140,000 pounds, is powered with 8,000 horsepower, flies at a speed of 210 miles an hour and can fly for 7,500 miles without a stop. Army engineers are already planning on a plane beside which this big ship will look like a toy. This is America and the spirit of America.

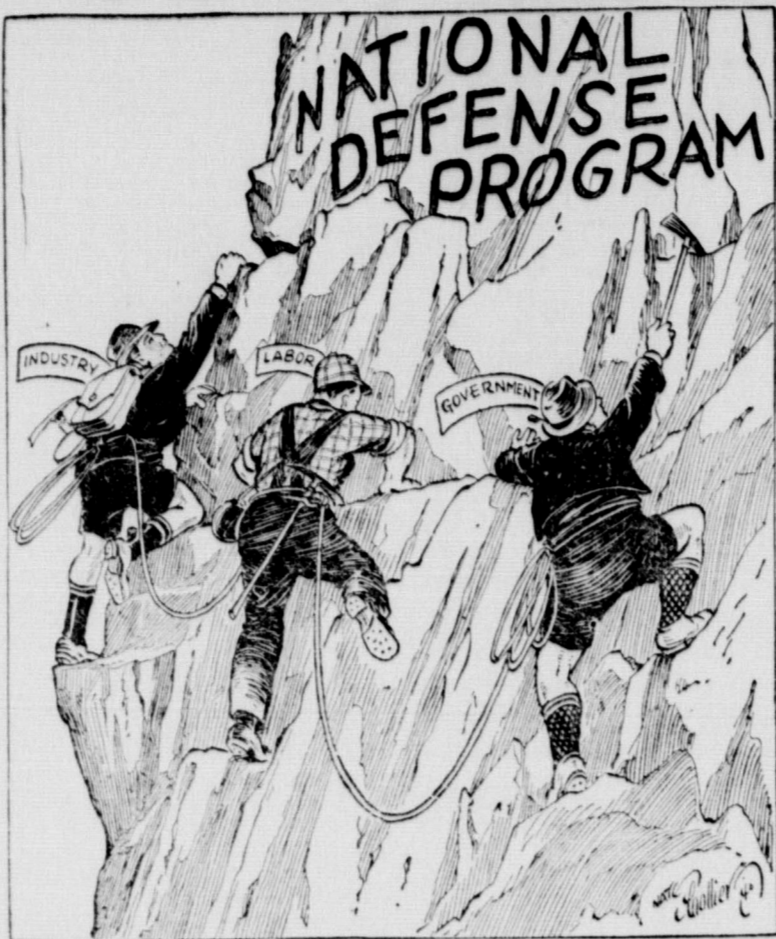

Some one is authority for the statement that problems and difficulties make men strong. If the statement is true there should come out of the depression a lot of strong men. The problems and difficulty of making a business go, or a farm go during times like the present is enough to try the faith and resource of any man. Those who survive the depression are going to be stronger and better business men and farmers than they have been in the past because of the lessons they have learned, the problems they have solved, and the difficulties they have overcome.

After all, it is the taxpayer who keeps the wheels turning, pays all the bills, supports the government, the welfare relief agencies and provides the things that make the wheels go round. Very often he doesn't have much left for his own needs after he pays his taxes, but he buckles in and works night and day, if necessary, to get enough money to pay his taxes. Of all the honored men he deserves recognition most.

It is easy to cry over spilled milk, but it is too bad that the minds of the people of this country could not have seen the necessity of the preparedness program ten years ago. It might have helped us to side step the depression. We might also have been in a position where we could have told other countries with a war complex to tie up their war dogs and forget it.

The most complaining we have heard is done by a person who has the least reason for complaining. Why should one spoil what enjoyment they might have from their circumstances in life by eternally hunting for the short comings. Why not pick out the best things and think of them and magnify them and enjoy them?

"THEY ALL HAVE TO CLIMB TOGETHER"

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

One of the big problems in the preparation for defense programs is the lack of skilled mechanics, tool makers, jig makers, die makers and mechanics used to working with precision tools.

Considering the fact that this is a mechanized age and that we are the greatest industrial nation in the world it seems strange that this important fact should have been overlooked for so long in our educational system.

Under the present system young men and young women are turned out of school with little preparation for taking their place in the complex and intricate mechanized world in which they must make a living. Their educators have said to them: "Prepare yourself in our school and you can go out into the world and earn and demand a fair wage." When they do step out into the world they find that many others have fitted themselves in the same manner with the same hopes and plans, and the places in the markets are already all filled.

If they turn to the field of mechanics and industries that call for trained hands they must start in at the bottom at small wages, if indeed they can get into the plant at all, and spend considerable time as apprentices. There are many reasons why this plan is not always desirable.

Some unions limit the number of apprentices that can be taken into an industry that the supply of skilled workers may be kept even with or below the demand. Another reason is that industries cannot afford to educate all the young men who present themselves. It slows down production by taking the time of skilled workers. The result is many fine potential mechanics, tool makers, inventors and the like never get an opportunity to give expression to their talents.

There is still another feature of it that I think commands attention. Youth between the ages of 16 and 21 constitute one-eighth of the population yet they commit about a fifth of the nation's most serious criminal offenses according to the American Law Institute.

In my opinion much of this loss of man power in crime channels, in many instances at least, is due to the fact that many of these young men reach an age when a wealth of surplus energy demands expression. Since they fit in no place in the complicated scheme of things, their active minds, in moments of idleness often turn to the things that lead to crime.

Why not, instead of merely saying, thou shalt not, to an idle, restless youth, give him the challenge and the challenge of something better as a means for expression of his restless energy?

I believe that if these young men had available a course in vocational training that would fit them, in a measure at least, for the type of world in which they are thrown upon leaving school that many of them would break into industry instead of into the penitentiary and the reform school. Obviously it would not cure all the evil but it is worth trying. It is economically more sound to apply preventative measures in the program of man power salvage than it is to punish wrong doing after it has been done.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

January First Is Inventory Time: With the approach of the first of the year there comes to the mind of every one in business the thought of checking up the year's business of invoicing, appraising the results of the year that has passed and of making plans and setting new goals and new quotas for the New Year. Every business man studies the record of the year that is past and plans how it can be improved next year, what things were done that should not be done next year and what changes should be made in practices and policies that next year's business may be better and more profitable. This is not only a desirable thing to do, but it is a necessary thing to do, if the business is going to hold its own and make desirable improvement and advancement. If this annual checkup, appraisal, and planning, is important for a business, how much more important is it for a human life? At the first of the year each individual should make an honest appraisal of the past year. He should pick out his faults and short comings and proceed at once to make the plans to correct them during the coming year. This is the only sure way in which habitual faults and errors can be corrected and their repetition next year avoided. We build better lives by gradually eliminating our faults and weak points, but before we can do this we must recognize them as faults and make a specific endeavor to correct them. We grow by building up our low points and setting ever higher and higher goals.

ling of members above fifty. Texas is one of the hardest states to legislate for because of its immense area and variety of its conditions. In square miles it is larger than Germany was before the current war began. The membership meets in Austin from divergent surroundings; they are strangers to each other and many of them are strangers to the operation of the Government. This makes it difficult to reach an agreement on important and vital matters. Many compromises have to be made, and sometimes the latter are not altogether for the greatest good of the State, which is indeed regrettable, but sometimes cannot be helped. When it is remembered that twelve men from the same county often sit on a jury and hear the same evidence and fail to agree on a verdict, it is easy to understand that 181 men gathered from the five corners of Texas may have an extremely hard time in agreeing on what should be done for the best interests of this State.

"Furthermore, times are changing very fast and what looks best now, in six months may seem to have been a mistake. I always welcome sincere expressions of opinion from the folks back home, as they are excellent guides when I am in doubt about some particular matter, which often occurs."

"The city of Austin usually has about 50,000 invitations to the Governor's inaugural ball printed, and sent out to various people, who may want to attend. I understand this will not be done this year, probably for reasons of economy, but that instead a big barbecue will be given on the Capitol grounds at noon on inauguration day, and that all those who care to attend are invited, and there will also be a street dance that night to which you are welcome."

Quanah—

field goal came with the final whistle but was not enough to keep the Wildcats from leaving the floor with a hard-earned victory.

Quanah opened the scoring quickly and Crowell came right back to take a 6-3 lead but could not ward off the determined Indians who were leading 9-7 at the first rest period. The Crowell boys were not able to overtake their opponents in the second period but did manage to close the gap to be trailing 16-15 at the half time.

Shortly after the opening of the second half, the Wildcats tied the game at 16-16 and took the lead momentarily but could not hold it. The lead changed twice to allow the Quanah lads a 25-20 lead at the end of the third frame. With five and one-half minutes of the fourth period gone and trailing 27-22, the Wildcats launched a furious and desperate attack that netted them four field goals and the lead which they managed to protect until the whistle.

After the smoke of the battle had cleared away it was found that the Wildcats' victory had come through the free toss route. Both clubs scored 13 field goals each, but the Wildcats had sunk six gratis shots to the Indians' four. Crowell received 8 free shots and counted six times, while Quanah received 13 and sunk only 4.

Reserves Win, Too

In the second game of the evening, the Crowell reserves defeated the Quanah reserves, 19-14. Quanah took the lead in the first period and the Wildcats surged ahead for a short time but were trailing at the quarter time. The visitors increased their lead in the second period, but lost ground in the second half to see the Crowell boys win by a 4-point margin.

Only in the past few weeks have the British received any first line fighter planes from the United States. There is yet to be delivered to England the first new Lockheed P-38 interceptor and the Bell Airacobra. These two ships are credited with a speed of 400 miles an hour. Ships delivered to England previous to the past few weeks were older types that did not measure up to the newer fighting planes of Europe. The new planes, such as the Bell Airacobra and the Lockheed P-38 excel anything now being used in the war in Europe.

Whooping Cough Is Dangerous Disease for Children Under Five

Austin—Careful isolation of a child ill with whooping cough is a measure that pays health dividends, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

There is no other communicable disease so dangerous as whooping cough to the very young, and there is no other infection to which there is a more universal susceptibility in infancy and childhood. Over 90 per cent of all deaths from whooping cough occur in children under five years of age. Whooping cough is dangerous, moreover, because there is no natural immunity against it during the first six months of life as there is in measles.

Whooping cough is usually transmitted by direct contact with the secretion of the mouth or the nose, or with articles freshly soiled with the secretion. Only a short exposure is required to contract the infection. The communicable stage extends from seven days to three weeks after exposure until development of the characteristic whoop.

Among precautionary measures to be considered by parents as protection of their children against whooping cough are the following:

1. A child with what appears to be an ordinary cold should be kept away from others and a physician consulted to determine the true nature of illness.

2. Whooping cough vaccine of the approved type is of value in preventing or lessening the severity of the disease. The vaccine is usually administered during the first year of infancy.

3. If whooping cough develops in a community, young children should be kept at home to escape exposure.

Isolation plays a hardship on a child in that it keeps him from seeing relatives and playmates. On the other hand, isolation exerts a two way, salutary influence in public and individual health. First, isolation of the patient helps to prevent the spread of whooping cough to others who are susceptible. Second, and this is of immediate importance to parents, isolation protects the sick child against possible exposure to severe infection which may be carried by otherwise healthy persons.

INTERESTING FACTS OF THIS AND THAT

In 1932 the sale of pianos in this country dropped to 27,500. It is predicted that the sales this year will total 140,000, the most since 1927.

In 1917 there were on the farms of the United States horses and mules to the number of 26,700,000. The last count showed the total to be 14,900,000. The indications are that the number of work animals will continue to decrease.

Cables made of finely spun glass are now being produced by the Corning Fibreglass Corporation that are stronger than steel cables the same size and weight.

In fifteen years the manufacture of the little peppermint lozenges with the hole in the center known as "life savers" has grown to be a $22,000,000 business.

Physicians believe that the influenza epidemic ravages the country in cycles of about every 25 years. The last flu epidemic was in 1918.

The government owns 60.9 per cent of Utah, the state 17.4 per cent, the railroads 4.5 per cent, leaving only 21.5 per cent privately owned.

Texas Shelterbelts Have Another Good Season in 1940

Wichita Falls, Jan. 6. (Special)—"Survival figures on 250 miles of shelterbelts planted last year in Northwest Texas is well over 75 per cent," reported State Director W. E. Webb of the Prairie States Forestry Project recently. "Although the final figures are not in, encouraging reports from the field men indicate that those green protective belts of trees have put in their best year to date."

Mr. Webb further stated that not only he but his field foresters were pleasantly surprised at the results as they feared that the early summer drought may have caused more than normal losses. "However," he said, "we should have known that having successfully passed through six droughty years that the trees could take it."

All the trees are picked for shelterbelt plantings because of their hardiness. Some are even more hardy than others. Honeylocust, Bois d'Arc, Hackberry, Flowering Willow and many others have survived under the most extreme conditions of soil and lack of water.

The South High Plains counties again led all other counties in survival with 83-7 per cent. Last year this area led nearly 200 counties in six states. The survival in other counties of Texas jumped several points for 1940 plantings, all of which is very encouraging to those interested in the shelterbelt program.

"Considerable credit for the high survival should be given to the hard working farm operators," Mr. Webb stated. "Trees, unlike Topsy, don't just grow. They need several good cultivations annually and a better job was done this year than has ever been done before." Mr. Webb believed that this was due to the fact that the value of the shelterbelts are beginning to show up more as the increasing height of the trees and their dense branches extend their protection farther out into nearby fields.

The Pan-American Airways System recently flew its Yankee Clipper on a nonstop overnight flight from New York to Puerto Rico, a distance of 16,000 miles. The company has made application to the Civil Aeronautics Board for authority to inaugurate this service regularly in the spring.

For the second time in the show's history a girl won the grand championship with her steer at the Chicago International Livestock Show. The winner, a 1,060 pound Hereford, was entered in the show by Evelyn Assay, a 4-H Club girl and a college freshman of Mount Carroll, Illinois. The steer, Sargo, was bought by Leonard K. Firestone, tire company executive, for $3,498, or $3.30 a pound. Mr. Firestone will put Sargo on exhibition over the country.

FOR SERVICE TO HUMANITY

The National Institute of Social Science recently presented the Institute's Gold Medal "for distinguished service to humanity" to the Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America with the following citation:

"Dr. James E. West, Author, editor and lecturer, in recognition of distinctive social service to humanity; has devoted his life to helping build higher character in youth and train them for citizenship through many agencies, and especially through the Boy Scouts of America, which has been developed under his leadership and has enriched the lives of more than nine million persons."

President Theodore Roosevelt, in paying tribute to Dr. James E. West, now Chief Scout Executive, after he had organized the first White House Conference, said: "But for you there would have been no conference. I have always thought well of you, but now I feel that you are one of those disinterested and patriotic citizens to whom this country stands under a peculiar debt of gratitude."—Boys' Life.

 "Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 13, 1941. The Golden Text is: "The love of the Lord Jesus Christ, and of the Holy Ghost, be with you all" (II Corinthians 13:14).
 Among the citations which will be used in the Lesson-Sermon are: "Keep the feast, not with the malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (I Corinthians 5:8). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook up into "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary B. Eddy: "We worship spiritual, the soul of Christianity" (p. 140).

CAMPUS CHAT

Flash! More "News" for your scandalous ear.

The Adams twins seem to find Quannah more interesting than Crowell. What's the Quannah boys got that Crowell boys don't have?

John Thomas Raso is still going strong although he is keeping out of too much mischief. Come on Johnnie, get busy.

Am I mistaken or have I seen "Shorty" Roark making eyes at Virginia Thomas, and she does not seem to mind, in fact, she is quite responding.

It seems that Doris Campbell is still corresponding with one of her old flames. His nickname is "Texas." Isn't that cute. Why, Doris.

Junior Haseloff seems to think that none of the Crowell girls have just the right technique but when it comes to Quannah girls. Oh, my!

JOKES

Traffic Cop—"Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my hand?"

Old Lady—"I ought to; I was a school teacher for thirty-five years."

On a street car a man gave his seat to a woman. She fainted.

On recovering she thanked him. Then he fainted.

An American sailor, after placing flowers on a grave in a cemetery, noticed an old Chinaman placing a bowl of rice on a nearby grave, and asked: "What time do you expect your friend to come up and eat it?" The old Chinaman replied with a smile: "Same time you friend come up to smell flowers."

Teacher—Junior, I think I'll keep you in after school.

Junior—It's won't do any good. I'm a woman hater.

Teacher—(pointing at a deer in the zoo)—Johnny, what is that?

Johnny—I don't know.

Teacher—What does your mother call your father?

Johnny—Don't tell me that's a louse.

Mother (helping daughter dress for wedding)—"It seems to me, dear, that Harry is most exacting."

Daughter—"Never mind, dear. We must respect his last wishes."

Postoffice Clerk: "Here, your letter is overweight."

McFire: "Over what weight?"

Postoffice Clerk: "It is too heavy; you will have to put another stamp on it."

McFire: "Cut out your fooling. Sure, if I put another stamp on it, won't it be heavier still?"

 Well, last Sunday was the day we were looking forward to so that we could begin to carry out that new resolution, and it rained on the resolution before many people had a chance to try it out. Just hang the thing up by the fire and dry it out, it might work yet.

I have heard that the weather in West Texas had less judgment than in any other part of the

CAMPUS CHAT

Flash! More "News" for your scandalous ear.
The Adams twins seem to find Quannah more interesting than Crowell. What's the Quannah boys got that Crowell boys don't have? John Thomas Raso is still going strong although he is keeping out of too much mischief. Come on Johnnie, get busy.
Am I mistaken or have I seen "Shorty" Roark making eyes at Virginia Thomas, and she does not seem to mind, in fact, she is quite responding.
It seems that Doris Campbell is still corresponding with one of her old flames. His nickname is "Texas." Isn't that cute. Why, Doris.
Junior Haseloff seems to think that none of the Crowell girls have just the right technique but when it comes to Quannah girls. Oh, my!

—o—
Teacher—Junior, I think I'll keep you in after school.
Junior—"It's won't do any good. I'm a woman hater."
—o—
Teacher—(pointing at a deer in the zoo)—Johnny, what is that?
Johnny—I don't know.
Teacher—What does your mother call your father?
Johnny—Don't tell me that's a louse.

Postoffice Clerk—"It is too heavy; you will have to put another stamp on it."

that the Walsh-Healey Act (imposing special wage and hour restrictions on holders of government contracts) continues to be a disturbing factor in the procurement of some lines of government supplies. A case in point is cited in which bids were called for on 2,000 aircraft clocks. The successful bidder stated that he would accept the contract only if exemption were granted from the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Act which provided for a 40 hour week with time and a half for overtime. The government delayed acceptance of the bid for four months while it searched for another contractor. Being unable to secure another bid the contract was finally let with the exemptions asked for.
