Deadline for Making Applications For Mattresses Set for Tuesday, April 1; Center To Close in April

Tuesday, March 1, is the deadline for accepting applications for cotton mattresses now being made in Foard County by the Extension Service in co-operation with the Surplus Commodity Association, according to A. V. Sheppard, administrative AAA officer.

As of Saturday, March 22, there was still enough material from which to make 375 mattresses left for this county, and unless it is used it will be turned back to the Surplus Commodity Association.

Any low income family in Foard County that has not put in an application for a mattress, to date, must do so before next Monday. Any family that has made application and has not yet received a card giving notice of the date to appear at the mattress center in Crowell, should check at the office of the home demonstration agent to learn what day to report at the center.

Any family who has gotten a card, but did not make the mattress on that date, is asked to call the county agent's office in order to be re-scheduled.

Any application taken later than March 19 will be accepted or rejected on April 1, and those accepted will be scheduled some time during the week of April 7-11.

Applicants have been scheduled through April 5 to make mattresses. Plans made now call for the closing of the mattress center on Friday, April 11.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

- 1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines. 2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings. 3 Army reconnaissance cars — military vehicles of an entirely new type — are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks. 4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airplane assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if it be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

What We Think
 (By Frank Dixon)

I received the past week a letter from a friend who is opposed to the lease-land bill and opposed to any form of aid to Great Britain.

The basis for this party's opposition to the lease-land bill, the giving of any aid to Britain and even the defense of this country is that these things might involve us in the war, that it might lead to the United States being drawn into the war.

In the same letter my friend avowed an interest in our form of government and even went so far as to say that in his opinion, though imperfect, it was the best government in the world today.

I have tried since reading the letter, which consisted of two closely written pages, to analyze the thinking of one, who believing our form of government the best under which to live, is opposed to an effort to protect and defend it, and would rather sacrifice it than engage in armed conflict to defend it.

This party is obsessed with the idea that, first, it is of no consequence to the United States whether Hitler wins the war or England wins the war, that our interests will not be advanced if Britain wins and will not suffer if Hitler wins. He assumes that our foreign trade will not be disturbed, our trade relations will not be disturbed or that the continuing peace of the world will not be jeopardized by a Hitler victory—and even though they are—even though our foreign trade is demoralized and international relations put upon an unendurable basis, and we be placed in a position internationally where we would be forced to obey the mandate of the dictators, even if all this were certain to come to pass, still we should not oppose it or resist it, if opposing it or resisting it, might lead us into war.

Second, this party is obsessed with the idea that a war—even to defend a principle and an ideal of government will destroy all the gain civilization has made. It is not my purpose in the brief space allotted here to attempt to argue with my friend the merit of his position. I cannot conceive how the isolationist view can be held in view of existing facts in the world today and I cannot yield to the theory that our liberty and our democracy and our ideology of government is not worth fighting for, and defending with our treasure, and if need be, our lives. I have more faith in our civilization than to believe that it is going to crumble because of the fact that we may be drawn into a war to defend the very principles upon which the civilization and the institutions of this nation have been built.

The ideology of human government represented by Hitler is diametrically opposed to our form of government. It is the open and avowed enemy of democracy. Hitler's ambition and aim, as he has often stated it, is to conquer Europe first and then the world. Everything he has done has been a logical step toward this end.

In face of such indisputable evidence it is my sincere and firm conviction that to view the situation as my friend views it, is to refuse to face the facts of today realistically—to bury our heads in the sands of wishful thinking.

Corp. Cowboy Kim Writes Letter from Camp Bowie

Thirty-Sixth Division, Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Texas, Sunday, March 23, 1941. (Special to The News).—A fine day here, but a bit lonesome. Just thought I'd drop you a line of news from Camp Bowie—to pass the time away in a good way.

I have seen "Moco" Cogdell, W. H. Adams and N. J. Roberts Jr., recently and they are fine. Haven't seen Capt. Roy Sloan, but expect to do so soon. Visited with Joe Spencer up in 11th Engineers a few days ago. Both he and Adams are band boys and doing O. K. Crowell is well represented here. I still claim Crowell as home, along with Stamford, Big Lake and Texon.

Camp Bowie is still growing and building. We have paved streets, good gravelled sidewalks. We sleep between white sheets which Uncle Sam launders without cost to the soldier, with as sordid ice cream for dessert. We have an abundance of good clothing—fine uniforms. We are given the best of care and attention in every way. We are treated as valuable men, and I believe it is quite possible we may be the finest soldiers and the most valuable men in the world today. It is a privilege and an honor, in my estimation, to be classed as one of these citizen soldiers of America.

On my frequent short visits back into civilian life, I have talked with parents of some of the selective boys here, and always they tell me they feel better after having my message. That message I have is always entirely about the new and improved scheme of our present Army.

I had a brief glimpse into the Army life some several years ago and I find at least one great improvement. Possibly it would be a consolation to all parents at

Wildcats Will Have Practice Scrimmage Friday

The second week of the spring training period for the Crowell High School Wildcats will be climaxed with a scrimmage with a team composed of high school lads who are ineligible for further Interscholastic football competition. The scrimmage will be held about 4 o'clock at the athletic field.

The Wildcats drilled hard Monday, but were given a rest Tuesday because of rain. They got their first taste of mud Wednesday afternoon in a practice session. Coach Grady Graves will give his squadmen a light workout Thursday afternoon before the scrimmage the following day.

Coach Graves is well pleased with the showing made by the squad thus far, especially with the shaping up of players who will fill the guard positions. The boys working at the guard positions are Fred Pierce, Paul Vecera, Joe Hunter, all of whom are doing good blocking.

Bobby Spears and Rudolf Halenack are showing up equally well in their backfield blocking assignments. Albert Bird and Halenack are proving to be the best ball carriers thus far.

Gordon Erwin and Billy Fred Short are making T. L. Owens and Harold Canup work hard to hold their first string tackle positions, while Bill Owens and Pat McDaniel are the best looking rookies in the backfield.

Coach Graves is planning on having one good scrimmage each week from now until the close of the practice period, which will give the 1941 aspirants two more scrimmages following the one which will be held tomorrow afternoon.

home to know the actual conditions and this improvement in the scheme of our prepared America.

In the old military life, drinking and gambling and, of course, fighting and other rough matters, were not considered so very detrimental to a soldier. In fact, many higher officers liked soldiers who played hard and fought hard.

But it is an entirely different matter now. Boys expect to see military service for a year and then return home as citizens to fill places they left. Uncle Sam is seriously attempting to send back home a better boy in every way possible than the recruit he received. The same attention as given to the physical part of the soldier is given to the moral and other matters of his person and personality.

In plain words, drinking, gambling, cavorting and any and all undesirable habits and practices are discouraged, and I mean discouraged. Extreme measures as punishment are not given unless necessary. But light sentences of K. P. or the ditch or pick pile, are given for slight or first offenses, and if the boy is stubborn, then the penalty is more severe. It is made nice and easy for any boy who wants to be a good, clean, Christian citizen soldier, and it gets tougher and tougher, if he is tough and stubborn.

The result is that we have far better conditions, better opportunities and a much better system in the Army than in plain civilian life. After a few months in service down from the bottom of the ranks, taking my medicine with the rest, I am honest and sincere when I say I believe our present peace-time compulsory military training is the finest thing that ever came to America. I do not believe any boy can possibly be injured in any way and I also believe a year in Camp Bowie, or any other camp in America, can and will benefit any and every man or boy who is fortunate enough to get into this service.

So far as the war is concerned, I am not able to make any forecast. Personally, I believe we should worry more about the conditions to follow than that of the war itself. It seems to me only aid England, but I am in favor, at the same time, of keeping America as strong and as prepared as possible.

If Americans could stay at home and build America so strong that we could defy all the world, I think we would do well. We need fewer strikes and more ships and planes and real soldiers. I think our Army camps and our Selective Service is setting a pattern that all America could well and, no doubt, will follow.

At least, I am proud to be a soldier and I should be proud of all her boys in uniform. I think Crowell is.

Sincerely yours,
 Corporal Cowboy Kim,
 of Co. K., Camp Bowie, Texas.

Knickerbocker to Speak in Quannah Tuesday, April 8

When H. R. Knickerbocker's reportorial days are over, when he is done with hob-nobbing with generals, dictators, premiers, kings, the world over, he expects to settle down to the peace of a peccan grove in his native Texas.

This famous war correspondent, who will lecture in Quannah, Tuesday, April 8, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, has been in Western Europe throughout the fiercest of the Nazi blitzkriegs. He witnessed the deadly work of the German "panzer" divisions in Holland, Belgium and Flanders. He saw the Stukas bomb-divers at work over London.

After graduation from Southern Methodist University at the age of 18 he served as telegrapher with the U. S. Infantry on the Mexican border. Then, after discharge from the Army, he was a stenographer in an Army Supply Depot but he resigned to take over a milk route which he worked up to $45 a week.

He gave up his milkman's job to go to New York to study medicine. After reaching New York he decided that he did not have enough money to take a medical course and decided on a journalism course simply as a means of making enough money to enter medical school. The Newark Morning Ledger gave him a job as a reporter and in two years he was the paper's managing editor.

A succession of other newspaper jobs followed, including positions with the New York Post and the New York Sun. Texas' hold on her red-headed son was strong, however, and he resigned these positions to go back to Southern Methodist to teach. A year there and he decided to go to Europe because living expenses and medical tuition was cheaper abroad than in America in those post-war inflation days.

The man who has been called America's greatest foreign correspondent first sailed for Europe in August of 1923, to study psychiatry. For, perhaps, the only time in his life, H. R. Knickerbocker did not include the march of events in his "reckoning" for it was that fall in Munich, where he began his studies, that Hitler's famous "Beer House Putsch" occurred and the Nazis won their first, if temporary, victory.

Knickerbocker was pressed into service by some of his former newspaper colleagues but resumed his psychiatric studies. The following August, however, International News needed a man in Moscow and the temptation to take a lucrative offer in what was then one of the most interesting news cities of the world was too strong. He decided that he would be a newspaperman after all.

Among the sensational coops he scored in the years that followed included an "expose" of a plot by George Orloff, former councillor of state of the Russian Empire, to implicate Senators Borah and Norris in a scandal over the recognition of the Soviet Union by the United States. He was also the first reporter to reach the Insurgent Army after the outbreak of hostilities in Northern Spain. Exactly four years before "Anchluss," Knickerbocker predicted in a dispatch from Eisenerz that Germany wanted and would get Austria. He was among the first to warn of the deadly potency of the Nazi Military Machine and to urge U. S. assistance to the Allies.

Cotton Order Stamps Will Be Issued Here Sometime in Summer

Cotton order stamps, to be earned by farmers for participating in the Supplementary Cotton Program, will be issued this summer as soon as possible after performance is checked under the 1941 AAA Farm Program, according to Grady Halbert, chairman of the Foard County AAA committee.

This means that in the early cotton-producing counties of Texas, issuance of stamps may begin in late June, with the bulk of the stamps expected to be distributed the latter part of August or September.

Mr. Halbert said this estimate is based on past experience in checking cotton performance during a normal growing season. A late growing season in 1941 would, of course, delay issuance of stamps to farmers in the areas affected.

Cotton stamps will be issued to farmers who make a further voluntary reduction in their cotton acreage in 1941. Stamps can be used to purchase cotton goods in local retail stores.

Farmers may earn stamps at the rate of 10 cents a pound on the normal cotton yield of the acreage reduced. A farmer interested in only one farm may earn a maximum of $25 in cotton stamps, except that an operator with two or more tenants or sharecroppers may earn up to $50. A farmer interested in two or more cotton farms also may earn up to $50, but not more than $25 of this amount can be on any one farm.

Margaret-Thalia Methodist Churches

Dear Friends:
Does time snail by you? The events of Holy Week moved rapidly. On Sunday Jesus entered the city of Jerusalem proclaiming his Messiahship. On Monday he chased the money changers and merchants from the Temple. Tuesday was the day of questioning. On Wednesday Judas agreed to betray Christ. Thursday morning Jesus instructed his disciples to make preparations for the Passover feast. Friday He was crucified. On the third day, Sunday, He arose.

Easter is the second Sunday in April, the 13th. Then we celebrate the triumph of our Savior over death and the grave and sin. Everyone ought to show appreciation of God on that day and publicly worship in some gathering. We have arranged some other opportunities for you.

Rev. H. A. Longino, pastor of Crowell Methodist Church, will lead in special pre-Easter meetings at Thalia. We hope to have a large attendance at Sunday School at both our churches next Sunday morning. Try to be present at 10 a. m. Services will be held at Thalia Methodist Church through Easter. Try to be with us. Remember the church needs you and you need the church. Come, hear one of God's men declare the good news that gives life. And pray for us.
DON CULBERTSON, Pastor.

PREACHING SUNDAY

There will be preaching services held at the East Side Church of Christ Sunday and Sunday night, March 30. J. Fletcher Floyd of Paducah will fill the pulpit.

A cordial invitation is extended to everybody to attend these services.

Christian Science Services
"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 30.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness; come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (Jeremiah 51:10).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead" (Romans 1:20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore then can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause" (page 207).

Possibly Elijah was right after all: (I Kings 9:18), for the world's greatest victories have arisen from the seeming insignificant. The world's greatest powers over material substance are silent, unseen and proclaimed their wonders but silently they go about their task of changing things. Edgar Bergin's friend, Charlie, has a horror because there is a small, soft bodied, insect called "Termites." It is a fear brought about through their ravenous appetite for the substance of his anatomy. His most serious concern should be in the health and articulation of another.

It may be that God is not working out his plans for the world through the struggles in Europe. The blasting of houses and the destruction of ships fail in bringing destruction to the powers that under grid human perseverance. It may even stop his physical existence here on earth, but such men as Churchill, Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek and Madame Mei-

The meeting was called by Geraldine Davis. Minutes read by Doris. Talks were made by Teague, Junior Hennessey, Elizabeth Roberts, and the lesson was "Love Me and He is My Friend." Two Minute Sermon
(By Thomas Hastwell)

The Weedless Garden: Every one who has planted and cared for a garden knows that in order for the garden to grow and do its best and produce the best, the weeds must be kept out of it. If they are permitted to remain they will either destroy the vegetables or the flowers entirely, or, by depriving them of nourishment, choke and starve the plant. How like a garden is a human life. If the weeds of carelessness and indifference, or ingratitude and lack of appreciation and thankfulness, of selfishness and pettiness, and disloyalty, of idleness, intemperance and dishonesty are permitted to grow they will choke out of the life every good and worthwhile thing. No one can produce a good garden if it is filled with weeds, and no one can produce a good life if it is cluttered up with petty sins and wrongs. The life that is lived as Christ asks men to live is free from petty sins and doubts and worries, and, because it is free, it lives positively, affirmatively and creatively for good. It is the only free life man can live.

LEST WE FORGET

(Hecate)
 A few more weary weeks shall slip by, and we venerable seniors will suddenly find ourselves—a diploma in our hands, ambition in our hearts, and memories in our minds.
 Graduation: a thing long strived for, hoped for, and dreamed of, will be at long last in actuality. It will be a simultaneous both of the past occurrence, and we shall experience simultaneously both the pride and vague feeling of terror at finding ourselves cast abruptly men and women in a world of adults.
 The future is a veil of uncertainty; may our ambitions carry us to victory! As we all shall.

roads of existence that Fate has set us upon, carving our monuments to memory with the knife of accomplishment, we shall remember this—our youth. That which we now thoughtlessly take as granted, we shall then remember with reverence. Some of these memories shall be sad, but for the most, happy. The life that has passed shall flicker across the screen of reminiscence fleetingly, in far-fetched sketches incongruous in meaning, unparalleled in thought, but may we not forget!

C. H. S. and the fun we have known within its red walls. Let us remember, when income taxes, back debts, and contemptuous bosses of the future taunt us, the melancholy of youth when our most serious thought concerned tomorrow's test, or the vital decision of what dress to wear on tonight's date.

Let us remember the extraordinary set of faculty members that we have, and let us realize and appreciate the deep influence that their admirable personalities have instilled into our pliable ones.

But all is not serious. Let us too remember: our own freshman year, and our stupid horror upon finding ourselves momentarily locked in a locker; Chemistry smells, and minor explosions wrecking the only good test tube left; The Bird brothers, and how they stuck together; Laura Whitfield and her lov-

A Toast (Fruit Juice) to the West Texas Home

It's a well-deserved toast because the average West Texas home, compared to average homes throughout this country and in war-torn nations abroad, enjoys greater comforts, conveniences, and beauty than do average people in any other part of the world today.

West Texas boasts stylish womenfolk, stylish kitchens, and more leisure time from kitchen drudgery—and it's primarily because the average West Texan uses considerably more electric service, so cheap has it become.

Pictured here are three new styles in women's dresses, given an all-American flavor due to the growing supremacy of American designers who also designed the new 1941 Frigidaires to blend into a beautified kitchen for West Texas homes.

The West Texas Utilities, where the new Frigidaires are now on display, points out that the trend toward beautification is even more pronounced in 1941 models, and that "style plus service" is a valuable feature this year.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

Mrs. C. R. Ferguson was hostess to members of the Columbian Club on Wednesday, March 19. An art program was led by Mrs. J. S. Ray, and in response to roll call, an historic American painting was named. Mrs. R. L. Kincaid gave some interesting items from the Federation News.
 Mrs. Ray described the collection of Polish-owned art which is kept safely in this country.
 Mrs. A. E. McLaughlin told of the "Old Masters in a New National Gallery." This $15,000,000 marble gallery was opened this month, was built, and endowed by the late Andrew W. Mellon, and in it are housed some of the finest collections of paintings and statuary in the world.
 The hostess served a lovely refreshment plate at the conclusion of the program.

State and District Officers Speak at Federation Meeting

At the meeting of the County Federation last Saturday at the Adelphi club house, Mrs. Julius Waring Walker of Plainview and Mrs. H. F. Godeke of Lubbock were guest speakers. Mrs. Walker is president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Godeke is president of seventh district of the State Federation. This is the first time in the history of the State Federation, that Seventh District has furnished the State president, and the district is proud of the fact and also proud of Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Godeke, first speaker, was introduced by Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, district chairman of public welfare who for a number of years has been associated with Mrs. Godeke. Mrs. Godeke in her talk, followed the theme which Mrs. Walker has chosen for the state during her administration "Education for Democracy's Defense." She gave many instructive suggestions for the clubs to inculcate into their work during the present period of defense. Among the

Crowell B. & P. W. Club Gives Banquet to Bosses Thursday

"Women — Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," was the subject chosen by Mrs. F. A. Davis when she spoke before members of the Business & Professional Women's Club and their guests at a banquet given last Thursday evening at O'Connell's. Introduced by Miss Blanche Hays, who acted as master of ceremonies throughout the evening, Mrs. Davis spoke forcefully and well, interspersing her remarks with enough humor to hold her audience completely. She pointed out the vast difference between women in business a few years ago and at the present time, and forecast the opportunities which the future holds for women who earn their living.

Honor guests for the evening were bosses of the Club members. This bosses' banquet is an annual affair and is looked forward to as the highlight of the club year. With Misses Lottie Russell, Blanche Hays and Mrs. Louise Fisch as hostesses, this year's banquet was an especially enjoyable affair.

The doors to the banquet hall were thrown open and revealed long tables centered with bowls of Japonica and tall white tapers, where places were laid for the thirty-two guests. Miss Joellene Vannoy delivered the welcome address, following which each club member introduced her guest, quoting a clever rhyme about her boss. Miss Mayme Lee Collins read two appropriate poems—"If" and "My Salary." Musical things which she cited for federated clubs to emphasize are: physical health, eradication of illiteracy, public welfare, child preservation, safety and crime control.

Mrs. M. S. Henry who is a member of the state credential and elections committee and is therefore a member of Mrs. Walker's State Board of Directors, introduced the state president, who talked further upon the state theme. She stressed the importance of being informed by reading the literature of the state as well as of the National Federation. She stated that cancer control had grown out of club activities sponsored by the Texas and General Federations.

She urged that each club choose one department and concentrate on that one thing, rather than to try to cover too much ground. She stated that probably the most important thing that club women could be interested in at the present time is home economy.

Mrs. Walker gave an interesting report of the National Board Meeting which she attended in Washington, D. C., in January.

A covered dish luncheon, with the two out-of-town ladies as honor guests, was served at noon.

background for the reading was played by Mrs. Alva Spencer. A contest was enjoyed and the program was brought to a close by a sing-song. M. S. Henry, on behalf of the bosses, thanked the club for a pleasant evening.

Those present were: Miss Gussie Todd, Mrs. Merl Kincaid, Miss Alma Walker, J. E. Acheson; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Archer; Mr. and Mrs. Alva Spencer; Miss Mayme Lee Collins, J. A. Stovall, N. J. Roberts, J. R. Beverly; Miss Gusta Davis; Miss Blanche Hays, M. S. Henry, Mrs. F. A. Davis; Miss Joellene Vannoy, Mrs. S. S. Bell, Mrs. Ura Orr; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Fisch; Miss Lottie Russell, Leslie Thomas, Foster Davis; Mrs. Payton Powers, Henry Black; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Solomon; Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Rascoe; Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Connell.
