Mrs. Hubert Smith has received word from her husband, Pfc.

There will be 120 V neck Army sweaters, 60 pairs of gloves, 48 helmets, 110 mufflers and 40 T neck Navy sweaters, and 40 Navy scarfs, a total of 418 garments. Then, in addition to that number, there are yet 4 Navy sweaters, 6 Navy helmets and 5 Army helmets to be made from the last quota.

In spite of the coming hot weather, the knitters will go ahead with the knitting, for, after all, the men in service do not stop for any kind of weather. A plea is made to all who will, to begin the work at once.

There was fine thread sent in the last quota for Navy scarfs. It was impossible to find enough knitters for them so 25 pounds of thread was sent to Claude for use there. There is an issue of the same kind of thread in the present shipment and if there is anyone who desires to knit those scarfs, they will be given the thread. Mrs. J. A. Stovall, county knitting chairman, has the thread at her home and will be glad to give it out for knitting as the knitters call for it.

Mrs. H. Schindler, War Production chairman for the county, states that the knitted garments are not for issue in the United States but are sent overseas and are distributed by the Red Cross without cost to the men in need of them in the various countries. They are not government property at all.

Knitters are urged to continue their splendid efforts so that the quota may be reached in a reasonable length of time. The mufflers are very simple to make and experienced knitters are asked not to take the yarn for them because new knitters, even children, can help in getting them made and the experienced knitters are needed for the more complicated garments.

On to Tokyo

"Here we come, Tokyo," says a sign somewhere in New Guinea, leaving no doubt whatever about the sentiments of those who erected it. Since the execution of the American flyers captured after the bombing of Tokyo the "coming" is likely to be speeded up considerably.

All Dogs Must be Penned or Muzzled

During the past several days, reports have been prevalent of children being bitten by dogs. In order to prevent any serious results, Mayor C. T. Schlagel issued a proclamation to the effect that all dogs must be kept up or muzzled from the 15th of May for three weeks. He states any dog found during that period of time without a muzzle will be killed. The health and safety of the citizens must be protected at all costs, and the authorities are urgent about the dog situation. It is not the desire of the city officials to kill a pet dog so the owners are asked to co-operate with the request that they be penned or muzzled.

A service banner for men in the U. S. service who are connected with the Methodist Church will be unveiled at the church Sunday evening, May 9, at 8:30 o'clock with appropriate ceremonies.

Candles will be lighted for about one hundred persons who have close relatives in the congregation, or who are members of the church. Judge C. Y. Welch of Quanah will be the speaker for the occasion.

The public is urgently invited to attend and also to take part in the singing. The service is planned to reflect the interest of the church for the enlisted men and women. Any assistance in securing a complete list will be appreciated. Stars will be added to the banner as persons are called into the service.

The following program will be presented: "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" sung by choir and congregation; Prayer: "America the Beautiful"; "Star Spangled Banner"; "Address," Judge Welch; Unveiling Ceremony; Candle Lighting Procession; Prayer Song; "Prayer for Peace."

Crowell One-Act Play Cast Goes to Austin

Crowell High School One-Act play cast, who won in the regional tournament at Canyon last week, has gone to Austin where they will compete in the state finals today. They will present "The Severed Cord" with the following students taking part: Evelyn Scales, Roy Joe Gates and Bill Bruce. They were accompanied by Supt. and Mrs. I. T. Graves.

Mrs. Claribel B. Baird, actress, producer, teacher, will serve as critic judge for the State One-Act Play Tournament at the University of Texas Sat., May 8, Roy Bedichek, Interscholastic League director, has announced. Mrs. Baird's background includes work in children's, high school, college and the professional theatre. She is currently professor of speech at Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha, Okla., but serves during the summers with the Michigan Repertory Players at the University of Michigan as visiting director and assistant professor.

Mrs. Baird says that the possibilities of drama as an educational medium, as well as an important factor in promoting and maintaining a democratic way of life, are only beginning to be appreciated.

CANNING SUGAR

The date for the securing of canning sugar has not been set and it will be announced at a later date and publicity given to that effect. Jack Seale, chairman of the local rationing board, states that the amount per person will probably be ten pounds. A release from the office of Price Administration says that if the available supply of sugar is to be adequate, the average per person allocation must not exceed ten pounds.

The letter further says that if the program is abused the national supply of sugar will fall and no doubt quick steps would be taken to prevent this condition should it occur. The twenty-five pound maximum was set merely to give boards sufficient latitude in preventing waste of fruit due to the lack of canning sugar but by no means should the public feel that twenty-five pounds is to be a universal allocation.

Further information will be given from time to time.

Faith will not die as long as seed catalogues are printed.

District Court in Session This Week; Docket Very Light

The May term of District Court was opened Monday morning with Judge C. Y. Welch of Quanah, presiding, and District Attorney Jean Rodgers of Vernon also here for the session. The docket for this term of court was light and it will take very little time to dispose of the cases to be tried.

Grand Jury Report

To the Honorable C. Y. Welch, Judge of Said Court:
We, your grand jury, in and for the May term of the District Court of Foard County, Texas, met in regular session on the 3rd day of May, A. D. 1943. We find that there is very little violation of the laws and that no cases have been filed on the examining dockets of the county for the grand jury's investigation. There being no matters presented or called to our attention, which require our investigation or indictment, we herewith submit the report that we have returned no true bills, no cases have been mobilized, and there are no cases that have been passed for further investigation. We commend the people of this county upon their good behavior and trust that this conduct continues.

There being nothing further for our investigation and, having completed our labors, we respectfully pray that we be dismissed for this term.

I. S. Haney, Foreman.

Farmers Urged to Plant to Limit for Critical War Crops

War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis is anxious for farmers and ranchers throughout the United States to hear about the following message sent out by him April 28:

"This is the most important planting season in American farm history. We can still increase the number of acres we plant. In a very few days it will be too late. The War Food Administration is asking the farmers to plant to the limit for critical war crops, food crops and feed for livestock. In the drive that has been made to increase the acreage of beans, potatoes and oil crops there was no intention to minimize the importance of other essential crops. Expanded production also of feed grains and hay is vitally necessary if we are to continue our record heavy production of livestock products."

"The War Food Administration is organizing the country's latent labor resources to help with the harvest this year. Acting with manufacturers and with other agencies of government, we will do our best to see that more harvesting machinery is ready by the time it is needed. We will work for continuing price supports at fair levels in order to minimize risks in the market place."

"We ask farmers, on their part in the days that remain of spring planting, to take an extra degree of chance this year for their country—to plant in full the acreage they can expect to handle under the most favorable circumstances."

SAFETY SLOGANS

If a sign says stop. Stop. For your safety's sake drive carefully. There isn't much sense in hoping for the best if your brakes don't work. Do not touch light fixtures while standing in a bath tub or on a wet bath room floor. Many persons are electrocuted every year in just this way.

AGRICULTURE

(D. F. Eaton, County Agent.)

More Truck Parts For Farmers

Farmers who have not been able to get parts for repairing their trucks can probably obtain them in the near future, says M. R. Bentley of the A. & M. College Extension Service staff. He's the agricultural engineer.

Meanwhile, information comes from the U. S. Department of Agriculture that steps have been taken to bring about a more equal distribution of parts now on hand. County war boards are working with the Office of Defense Transportation to get parts into localities where there is a shortage from areas which have fairly good stocks.

It is likely that it will take a month or more before the new parts now being made actually get into the farm country, Bentley explains. But the action taken to share stocks available in some communities with those not so well off is expected to give farmers faster service on repair parts than they have been getting.

County Agricultural agents are members of war boards, and if you are having parts trouble talk to him. He might be able to help you.

Pink Eye Prevalent Among Cattle

This disease is contagious, therefore it is better to segregate the affected animals and if practical they should be kept in a shed out of direct sunshine, otherwise it will take longer to clear up the disease.

There are several remedies available for treating the disease. However, it seems the disease has a well rounded-out course to follow, and the application of remedies only hasten the recovery of the animal from the disease and to considerable extent relieves the pain the animal suffers.

Table salt should not be used unless diluted with water. The use of Boric Acid powder, three parts and Calomel one part well mixed is an effective remedy. This is put in the eye two or three times daily by some convenient method. It can be put in with a straw or quill by blowing the mixture into the eye or by using a folded piece of paper.

Another remedy found quite effective is the use of a five per cent solution of Argyle put in the eye twice daily. This may be followed by the use of yellow Mercuric Oxide Ointment obtained in tube form.

Still another remedy is the use of powder Sulfamide sprinkled in the eye which has been found effective. Usually few treatments are required. These remedies were suggested by Dr. W. A. Boney, Extension veterinarian.

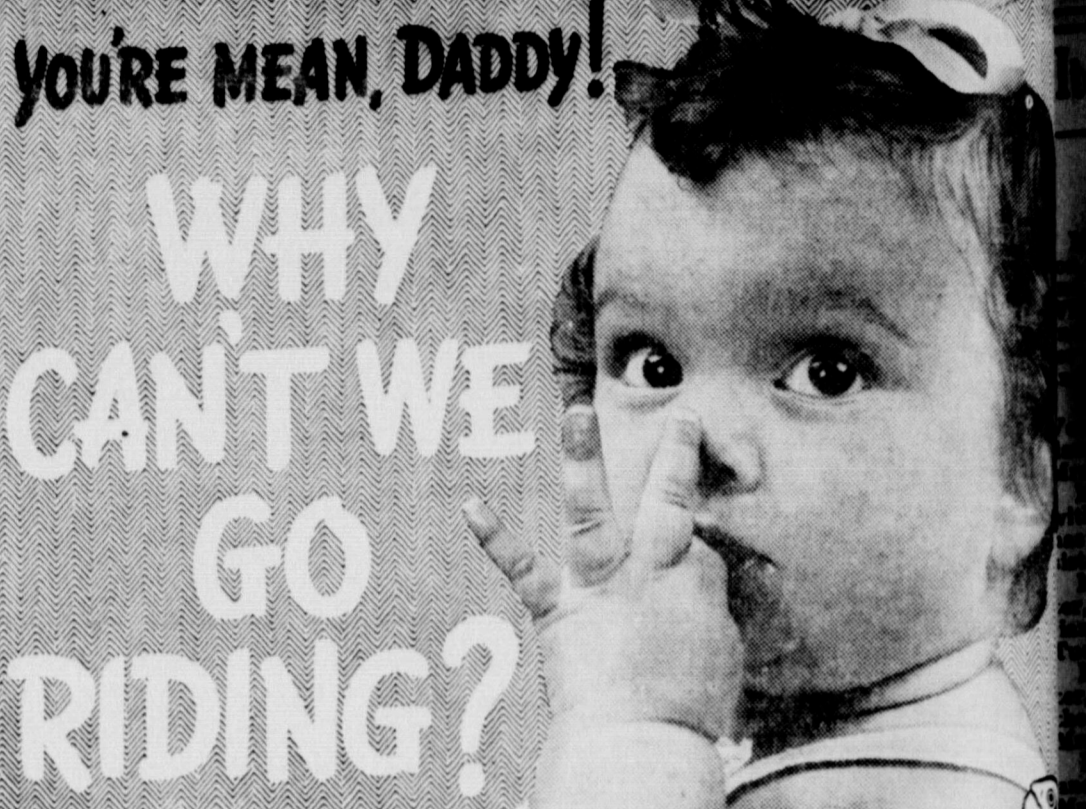

Vaccination has also been found effective; directions are on the package.

Blood Sucking Horn or Stable Fly These flies are the chief tormentors of all cattle in the summer and aside from taking a heavy toll of blood they may transmit certain diseases both to cattle and human beings. The most effective means of controlling this pest is a trap so placed that cows will be compelled to pass through it daily as they go to water, pasture or the barn.

This trap consists of a series of curtains within the framework of a trap which brushes the flies from the animals and they are caught in screen traps along the side. This office will be glad to furnish plans for the construction of the trap.

Where cattle are confined in a pen or shed these flies may be killed by the use of a spray containing Pyrethrum extract and Koroseal. Good results may be obtained by developing a fine mist with a good hand sprayer, around the animal, especially the legs and under the body.

The most practical plan is the elimination of breeding places. Old straw stacks and other accumulations of refuse should be destroyed. R. H. Cooper one mile north of Crowell, has one of these traps and is well pleased with results. He would be glad to have you observe this trap in actual use and its results.

It's Patriotic . . . and it's plain common sense . . . to keep your driving at minimum until victory comes.

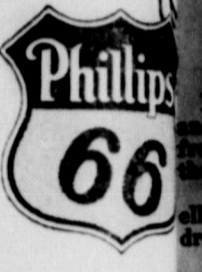

Rubber, which can be used against the enemy in every battle area, is too precious to be used for anything but essential driving . . . for going to work . . . for necessary shopping . . . for travel to and from places without other transportation facilities.

Remember, the rubber-saving, gasoline-saving, legal speed-limit is 35 miles an hour. Remember, too, that a tire worn beyond the danger point cannot be re-capped.

So be sure to get the help of the Phillips 66 Service Man.

See him at least once a week. He will check the air pressure in your tires, inspect them for cuts and bruises, criss-cross them with the spare every 3000 miles, tell you when re-capping is advisable. He will check your radiator, battery, and air filter. Will lubricate your car from fan-drive to stop-light. Then, with Phillips 66 Poly Gas and Phillips 66 Motor Oil . . . your money, your car, and your tires will all go farther.

Millions of drivers know from experience that Phillips 66 Poly Gas is famous for pep and mileage. So next time you are ready to use a coupon or two, stop at the Orange and Black 66 Shield, and find out just how good today's Phillips 66 Poly Gas is.

Developing An Extension Program

Since we are new in the county it has fallen to our lot to develop an Extension program which will extend through the county in co-operation with the home demonstration agent.

We feel that we could rely on the elected victory community and neighborhood council leaders to assist in the development of this program.

Here are the results from contacting the leaders in the Margaret community. We found they already had a live women's Home Demonstration and Girls 4-H clubs, so steps were taken to enlarge these groups.

An active Boys 4-H Club was set up and the local group recommended a leader for the boys.

A whole farm demonstration was selected.

A whole flock demonstration was selected.

A Boys' 4-H club of fifteen members was organized.

A community meeting in co-operation with the school was planned. This meeting to be furnished by the school children and the Extension Service.

Five community and neighborhood leaders participated in the meeting which was attended by the County and Home Demonstration agents.

Perhaps the most important phase of the meeting was the enthusiastic interest shown and the realization of the Extensive phases of the Extension program.

They were also thrilled to have a part in establishing such a program in their community.

They felt that if we could have a wider application of Extension methods it would help materially in the war production program. Similar meetings have been held in other counties in Foard County.

For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.—1 Peter 3:17.

I spend hours of valuable time, a local farm woman said, running from store to store trying to find what I want. I wish all merchants would advertise their wares so that busy people could sit down in leisure moments and read their ads, and tell what they have for sale and where the buyer could get it.

Even more interesting than the closing games of the World Series is going to be the reports of the bombing of Tokyo as wave after wave of heavy four-motored American bombers drop four ton block busters on the Nips and bring Pearl Harbor de luxe to their door.

No truer statement has appeared regarding the political situation than the comment recently made by Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo, Texas, Globe. Editor Howe says: "When the Democrats are beat, they will have beaten themselves. The Republicans will not have done it."

This is no time to complain about the things of which we are being deprived. Rather this is a time to appreciate and rejoice over the things we have and the blessings we retain. No one in the country is really hurt yet.

What Germany plans for and hopes for now is a profitable peace so that she can prepare for the next war. This will be the purpose back of the negotiated peace which many observers believe will be forth coming.

Since the creation of the WAAC's and the SPAR's and the other feminine uniformed branches of the service the men can now better understand why women fall for a snappy uniform.

If anything was ever appropriately named it is the phrase "running expense." The speed with which they mount up is something bewildering.

HISTORY

Mother's Day: The origin of Mother's Day is credited to Miss Anna M. Jarvis, of Philadelphia. It dates from May, 1907. Miss Jarvis conceived the idea that once a year sons and daughters should pay a tribute to their mother. She accordingly arranged for a special Mother's Day service at one of the Philadelphia churches and asked that white carnations be worn by all those attending the service. The idea appealed to others and spread rapidly. The next year similar services were held in a number of churches. It was agreed that the second Sunday in May should be observed as Mother's Day. Within four years the idea had spread throughout the nation and there was not a church in which special services were not held. The day was also observed in Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, China, Japan and several islands of the sea. A committee prepared leaflets with suggested programs and their wide distribution. In December, 1912, a Mother's Day International Association was incorporated to encourage a more general observance of the day. In 1914 Congress designated the day as Mother's Day and requested the President to issue a proclamation calling upon government officials to display the flag on all public buildings. The custom of wearing a white carnation was modified so that white flowers were worn by the motherless and red flowers by the others. The day became the occasion when many sons and daughters made gifts to their mothers. Postmaster General Forley ordered issued a 3-cent Mother's Day stamp containing an engraving of a reproduction of the Whistler painting of his mother.

Austin Side-Lights

(By George Moffett) Wars bring on lots of work for lots of people. The Legislature is not excepted. The present session will be the shortest in fifteen years, and yet, the volume of work done has been heavy. City councils, commissioners' courts, school boards, etc., usually meet and transact business once each month. But the Texas Legislature meets in regular session only once each two years. And during that biennial session it must make all necessary adjustments and provide all necessary finances for the government of a State containing over six million people. When events are moving as rapidly as they are in the present emergency, it is difficult to foresee just what ought to be done two years ahead. Yet that's what we try to do. Mistakes will be made, and under the circumstances the wonder is that we don't make more than we do.

However, the members at this session have missed fewer roll calls, attended more committee meetings, and public hearings than has been the case in a long time. The writer is chairman of three committees and a member of nine others. Sometimes three or four of them meet at the same time. It is not uncommon for members to be at the Capitol until after eleven o'clock at night. Correspondence takes considerable time, and good help is scarce. Five members of the Senate, and thirteen members of the House, are now in uniform, and their desks are vacant. Other members gladly do the work of the absent ones, some of whom may never be back. One member's son has been killed in the Solomon Islands since we met in January. Another has lost a son-in-law. And a former employee of the Senate was killed in air activity over the British Isles. So, the current world-wide struggle colors most of the things we do, and the members genuinely hope that we reach the right solution to the multiple problems which come before us.

HEY! DON'T CUT THAT ROPE!

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The biggest news on the home front is the executive order issued by the President in an effort to protect the nation's stabilization program. The order known as a hold-the-line order freezes all commodity prices, drastically tightens barriers against wage increases, and forbids anyone taking a new job at higher pay unless the change would aid in the war program. The order also requires that regulatory bodies refuse rate increases to utilities and carriers and even reduce them where possible. The order was issued by the President in an effort to check the rising tide that was headed for inflation.

One factor entering into this was the Bankhead bill. In the background was the demand by John Lewis for an increase of two dollars a day for the coal miners, and still further in the background were other demands for making all of which were but waiting for an opening upon which to base a case for income increases. Even the novice at political economy knows that once the tide of inflation breaks over the wall of restraint, nothing can stop it until it rides to its final, fateful, and destructive end. At the moment the President stands as the nation's only effective bulwark against inflation. The President realizes, as many in this country who should, do not, that inflation is the greatest threat to the home front. The results of the mad orgy that followed the last war, that reached its climax in 1929, and was followed by a devastating depression, is too fresh in the minds of everyone to forget. Those who went through it and lost all their possessions know that inflation has a way of demanding payment in full with interest compounded for every easy, wild dollar it brings in.

There may be some inequalities in the present set up. Some may be receiving more than they should and some may be receiving less than they should. There can be no doubt that this is true, but the matter must be regarded in its total aspect and not in the light of scattered inequalities. The President's order leaves a way open for the orderly adjustment of these inequalities and no doubt they will be taken care of.

Revised Tire Regulations

The rationing regulations have been tightened to prevent bootlegging and violations of tire inspection requirements. Changes ordered by OPA are: (1) Tire inspection record must be kept in the vehicle while it is in operation. (2) Tire inspectors will report serial irregularities to the local rationing board. (3) If an applicant does not have a tire inspection record showing all inspection requirements completed, the local board may grant his application if an inspection was made 60 days before the application was filed. (4) Dealers need not hold tires turned in for 30 days as now required if, before that time elapses, the tires are examined by an OPA representative and their disposal authorized.

Safe Canning Methods

The steam pressure canner is the only method recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for preserving certain types of vegetables. Such vegetables as beans, peas, corn, spinach and asparagus, as well as meats, should be cooked in a steam pressure canner to kill organisms which cause food to spoil. Fruits and tomatoes, rhubarb and pickled beets may be safely canned by the boiling water-bath method. To be safe, these products should be boiled for at least ten minutes before they are eaten or tasted, even though there is no sign of spoilage when the jar is opened.

(By Thomas Hastwell)

For Every Idle Word: In conversation with a friend the other day he brought up the question of man's accountability for every idle word and every idle deed. "I have never felt," he said, "that a man should be held so strictly accountable. The little errors, the little faults should be overlooked. The fallacy of this theory lies in the fact that it is by the little acts and the little sins of omission and commission that man reveals his true nature. The fact that he does commit them reveals a wrong condition and attitude. Few men or women ever commit murder or steal. They would not go so far. Yet they have other faults that in their cumulative effect are almost as destructive of the perfect inner life and consciousness. Christ in announcing this truth was concerned with what these idle words and deeds might accomplish in the life of the individual. The individual is always Christ's concern, his inner life, his conscience, his attitude of mind, his concepts. Man is called to account for his idle words and deeds because of their effect on his life and not because God desires to punish him for disobedience.

Farm Values Up

Farm real estate values on March 1, 1943, showed an increase of nine per cent over last year. This is the most substantial gain that has occurred since 1920. Land value increases during the past year were widespread, with some advance reported for each of the 48 states.

"Aeroclubs" is the name given American Red Cross rest and recreation huts which are operated at many remote air fields in England to serve American flyers on their return from dangerous bombing missions.

Red Cross home nursing classes offer instruction in pre-natal care of the mother and the care of the infant during the vital first year of life, as well as prevention of illness and proper nursing care in the home.

Because telegraph service is not available between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, the American Red Cross in the Zone is allowed to use Army radio to send and receive emergency messages concerning service men and their families. Such messages average about 400 incoming and 400 outgoing a month.

Christian Science Services 'Adam and Fallen Man' is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 9.

The Golden Text is: 'As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive' (1 Corinthians 15:22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: 'So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them' (Genesis 1:27).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' by Mary Baker Eddy: 'Deity was satisfied with His work. How could He be otherwise, since the spiritual creation was the outgrowth, the emanation, of His infinite self-contained and immortal wisdom?' (page 519).

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Why I Believe in the Bodily Resurrection of Christ

Paul says that if Christ is not risen, our faith is of no value. No question, then, can be more important than this, How may I really know that Jesus rose from the tomb? Let us state seven reasons why I firmly believe in His bodily resurrection.

1. It is recorded as a historical fact in the Bible. By innumerable details in the Gospel, by the very simplicity of their narration; by the fact that the first three Gospels were written within forty years of the death of our Lord; by the fact that the early church which knew Christ personally—by these indisputable facts we are persuaded that the records are trustworthy.

2. The apostles firmly believed in it. Half of Peter's great sermon delivered on the Day of Pentecost was occupied with a discussion of the reality of Christ's resurrection. As we look through the rest of the recorded sermons preached in the early church, we find that the resurrection is set forth more than any other one aspect of Christ's life, and upon it all other truth is made to rest.

3. Great scholars in every age have believed it. Especially the impression is given that only ignorant people believe in the miracles of the Christian faith. Nothing could be far from the truth. The church in every age has been adorned by some of the greatest scholars of the world. 4. Christ's life called for such a termination. His entire career lay straight to an empty tomb. If He did not rise, the rest of His life is a mystery and mockery. He was 'declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead' (Rom. 1:4).

5. No theory has ever satisfactorily explained away the evidences. Multitudes of men have written volumes attempting to deny the reality of this historical event. Scholars of every age have devoted years to this one profoundly significant phenomenon. Now, if a theory has ever been found satisfactorily to explain away what the records clearly indicate, does it not seem that it is impossible for these things to be explained away? Men do not escape the powerful force of this evidence, 'because they cannot!'

6. Its denial involves more problems than its acceptance. How can one account for the fact that these otherwise sincere Gospel writers wrote what was not true when they came to Christ's resurrection? How account for the fact that the whole early church believed it? Indeed, how account for the whole history of the church since? If Jesus did not rise, what happened to His body? If He did not rise, how account for the so-called appearance times? What did He mean when he said He would rise? And if He did not know what was true, then why should God speak His utter approval of Him?

7. Consequences follow such a faith. Strength, hope, opportunities, joy, peace, victory—these precious things are fruits of a belief in the resurrection. If Christ did not rise, then He is not a Savior, the power of death remains unbroken, we have no absolute assurance of a life to come. But since God lives and loves men, and man in God's purpose is supposed to live triumphantly, abundantly and hopefully, I hold, then, to the great truth of Christ's resurrection out of which comes this kind of a life.

'But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name' (John 20:31). Milk and egg dishes are good, but spoil easily. If custards, cream pies, puddings, etc., are not to be eaten at once, cool them quickly, cover, and keep very cold.

The bridegroom with his brother, Decker Magee, of Crowell and the pastor, entered from the vestry, and were met at the altar by the matron of honor, Mrs. Mary Faulkner of Childress, who preceded the bride from the front entry of the church.

The bride was charming in an aqua blue Milgrim Tailleur with a shell pink blouse of mousseline. Her hat was a Carnegie model of black straw faced in shell pink net in narrow rows.

Following the ceremony, a small informal reception was tendered the couple by Mrs. Faulkner at her home which was artistically adorned with roses.

Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis Great Aid to Patient

Austin—Urging the importance of early diagnosis as the surest avenue of recovering from tuberculosis, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, declares that the danger of this disease lies not so much in its virulence as in its stealthy attack.

"If a tuberculosis patient realized his plight in the earliest stages of the disease, immediate treatment could very likely save his life," Dr. Cox said.

"It is the better part of valor, in the presence of such symptoms, to seek the advice of the family physician without delay," Dr. Cox asserted. "Early diagnosis and early treatment are the real foes of tuberculosis. To deprive oneself of their immeasurable advantages results at best in a long period of treatment, and all too frequently in premature death."

Former Crowell Citizen Weds in Childress Sunday

On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, in the presence of a small group of relatives and close friends, Mrs. Marjorie Irwin of Albuquerque, N. M., became the bride of Alfred Grady Magee, formerly of Crowell, but now of Oklahoma City, Okla., in the First Methodist Church of Childress. The impressive double ring ceremony was used, with Rev. Orion Carter officiating. Traditional wedding marches were rendered on the organ by Mrs. James Cooper and Corporal Bob Harper sang, "Because."

The background for the ceremony was beautiful with appointments of white, two tall baskets of white peonies and tall candelabra with flaming tapers flanking either side of the altar. A white satin kneeling bench was at the chancel where the couple knelt during the prayer. Miss Ada Jane Magee, niece of the groom, lighted the candles just before the ceremony.

The bridegroom with his brother, Decker Magee, of Crowell and the pastor, entered from the vestry, and were met at the altar by the matron of honor, Mrs. Mary Faulkner of Childress, who preceded the bride from the front entry of the church. Mrs. Faulkner was attired in a gold colored tailored suit, with accessories in saddle tan and white. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

The bride was charming in an aqua blue Milgrim Tailleur with a shell pink blouse of mousseline. Her hat was a Carnegie model of black straw faced in shell pink net in narrow rows. Her veil was of black with tiny jet stars. She wore a triple strand of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a white prayer book topped with two gardenias with a shower of tiny satin ribbons adorned with white sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a small informal reception was tendered the couple by Mrs. Faulkner at her home which was artistically adorned with roses. The guests were served with punch and the wedding cake, the bride cutting the first slice. Mrs. Decker Magee of Crowell presided at the punch bowl. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Magee left for their future home in Oklahoma City.

Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis Great Aid to Patient

Austin—Urging the importance of early diagnosis as the surest avenue of recovering from tuberculosis, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, declares that the danger of this disease lies not so much in its virulence as in its stealthy attack.

"If a tuberculosis patient realized his plight in the earliest stages of the disease, immediate treatment could very likely save his life," Dr. Cox said.

The victim usually has sufficient warning of the onset of the disease, but all too frequently ignores them.

"The warning signs are usually noticeable enough to attract attention," Dr. Cox said. "A cough that persists, a loss of weight, easy tiring—if any of these symptoms are present, delay in seeking proper medical attention only lessens the chance of arresting the disease."

"It is the better part of valor, in the presence of such symptoms, to seek the advice of the family physician without delay," Dr. Cox asserted. "Early diagnosis and early treatment are the real foes of tuberculosis. To deprive oneself of their immeasurable advantages results at best in a long period of treatment, and all too frequently in premature death."
