AGRICULTURE

(D. F. Eaton, County Agent.)

Why Not Secure Some Improved Wheat Seed?

From the information we have gained from actual production records, those wheat growers who planted Tenmarq wheat have secured a larger yield than those who planted other varieties this year on the average.

Also those who planted grain on summer fallowed land had a decided increase in yields.

Tenmarq wheat is one of the late developments of the experimental stations. However, they now have a later variety known as Comanche which is an improvement over Tenmarq. This variety has just been put out to growers to test under farm conditions. These growers are well pleased with results.

This new variety has had some of the undesirable qualities bred out and the more favorable qualities bred into it.

Any one who is fortunate enough to get some of this seed will be pleased with the results, we feel sure.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER NEWS Phillips Petroleum Company

Announces the Completion and First Operation of its 90,000,000 Lb. Butadiene Manufacturing Plant For an annual production of rubber equivalent to 11,000,000 tires

A MODERN miracle of petroleum research and chemistry has figuratively transformed a few acres in the Panhandle of Texas into one-third of a million acres of rubber plantation.

Here rubber will be drilled from the depths of the U. S. earth, instead of tapped from East Indian and Malayan trees.

From wells overlying the greatest raw gas field ever discovered, will come the natural gas to be processed into butadiene, the basic and major ingredient in synthetic rubber.

This great plant . . . designed and built by Phillips . . . based on Phillips research . . . using Phillips own patented processes . . . independent of German research . . . will make butadiene for an equivalent of 30,000,000 rubber trees.

This is brought nearer the no-longer distant day of U. S. self-sufficiency in rubber. This is Victory made more certain. And with that great day will come the full peacetime benefits of this outstanding wartime development.

Feeding Beef Cattle

Beef cattle feeding is a system of beef enterprise which is adaptable to the different farming sections of Texas. According to George W. Barnes, animal husbandman for the A. & M. College Extension Service, the cotton, peanut, grain sorghum, wheat, or corn crop areas, or any combination of these, are suitable for carrying it on.

Barnes says that in feeding experiments different grains and grain combinations have been fed with and without protein supplement. But conclusions drawn from experience are that a ration for fattening a steer or calf comprises (1) roughage (hay, silage, hulls, corn fodder, etc.); (2) protein supplement (cottonseed meal or cake in Texas); and (3) grain (corn, milo, barley, kafir, etc.).

These five men, Messrs. Mullins, Mechell, Cook, Norton and Hinkle, co-operated in securing and mixing and scattering the poison, under our supervision. This saved considerable mileage and time.

Since they lived on adjoining farms the poisoning was much more effective.

Reducing Summer Losses in Eggs

Blood rings, or heat damage, to fertile eggs are causing Texas producers substantial loss daily. This was reflected in a series of egg grading schools conducted recently in scattered sections of Texas by George P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

If losses correspond to this sampling prevail throughout the state the supply of one of our important food items is being curtailed, McCarthy says.

Heat sets up germination and renders a fertile egg inedible. But this may be prevented by disposing of all male birds during the summer and thereby producing only infertile eggs. Eggs are highly perishable and cannot be subjected to heat without destroying quality.

When laid, the temperature of an egg is about equal to that of the hen's body—104 to 107 degrees Fahrenheit. Therefore proper cooling is essential. During the summer, eggs should be gathered two or three times daily and placed in a wire basket for cooling.

Producers can use cellars or home-made cooling devices. An inexpensive and serviceable cooler may be made by covering the sides and ends of a frame with coarse burlap soaking, and keeping the cloth moist by putting one end of it in a pan of water placed on top of the frame. The eggs are kept in wire baskets within this frame until cooled, and then placed in a standard egg case which also is kept in the cooler.

Plans for this type of cooler should not be held for more than one week before being marketed. As far as possible they should be turned daily by shifting the position of the case. This prevents the yolk from settling and sticking to the shell membrane.

phur is used at the rate of seven to ten pounds and the calcium arsenate at the rate of 3 to 5 pounds per acre. More will be used as the cotton gets older and the insects become more numerous. Dusting is done at regular intervals of seven to ten days.

We found several farmers who dusted last year with excellent results and who have their machines and material all ready for treating this year. Remember, this is important if you wish to control these pests, if you have material and machine available and begin as soon as possible as the insects begin operating, you have a fair chance of saving your cotton crop.

You will find that not all fields are infested and that only parts of the field where the insects are found may be infested. So it is important that you check carefully your entire crop at regular intervals of a few days.

Remember these dusting and spray materials will be difficult to get, so you will be acting wise if you lay in a supply of sulphur and calcium arsenate now.

After the infestation becomes heavy it will be too late if you are delayed in obtaining your supply. By the time you secure your supply you will have lost far more than the poison and the expense of applying it, would cost.

If you are not familiar with these insects, we will be glad to check your cotton with you to determine whether you have any of these pests, and if you have, the extent of the infestation and explain control measures to you. Our cotton and cotton seed are too important to lose if we can prevent the loss, besides the financial returns that may come from the sale of the crop itself. Besides it takes labor and expense to produce it, so we are entitled to all we can get for the crop.

Adversity has ever been considered the state in which a man most easily becomes acquainted with himself, then, especially, being free from flatterers.—Samuel Johnson.

Brief Notes about Phillips as Trail Blazer in the Synthetic Rubber Field Tires containing rubber produced from Phillips butadiene have been on the nation's highways for more than two years. In 1941 Phillips produced, for commercial rubber use, more than four times as much butadiene as any other oil company. Phillips has freely supplied technical data on butadiene, styrene, and other related processes, to the petroleum and other industries participating in the Government rubber program. As a matter of company policy, Phillips advocated the production of butadiene by all dependable sources, from all possible raw materials, including products of the farm.

For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Romans 8:14.

We pin our faith for recovery after the war on men like Henry Kaiser, Henry Ford and a half a hundred other industrialists whom we might name. It has become the policy of this country to persecute its industries and to hold them up as pariahs and burden them with ceaseless government regulations and smother progress.

We never read of the conquests of air power in this war but that we think how Billy Mitchell was court martialed by Navy brass hats for advocating air power and airplanes as a supporting arm of the Navy.

A man shouldn't try to kid himself too much, both he and his car are a year older than they were last year—and both show it a little.

The New York Times sees in the labor strike some peace time chickens coming home to roost. The strikes in war industry which in the words of the President are no less crippling to our armed forces than a defeat in battle, is in the opinion of the Times, no small part the logical result of an Administration policy which has been at all times deliberately one sided in its treatment of labor questions, always encouraging the growth of union power, but never demanding an increase of union responsibility, always quick to punish employers for any failure but never at any time during Mr. Roosevelt's whole ten years in office, willing to enact, a single statute to restrain the abuses of union labor.

Twelve hundred Japanese from the internment camps of this country have been given jobs at which they are being paid regular wages. This is another difference between Japan and this country. The same thing will be true when they were Americans interned in Japan they would be imprisoned, starved and mistreated. Some one asked one of the Japs how he felt about Pearl Harbor. He replied, "I am an American. I feel the same as you do."

When the American and British soldiers marched into North Africa they were met by cheering crowds of the native population many of whom were in tears. The same thing will be true when they march into other countries that have been invaded by the Nazi hordes. There will be tears of joy in France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, and even in Germany when the people experience delivery from their self-styled "protector."

Wendell Willkie's book "One World" has outsold all the best sellers in recent years. Its sales approach 700,000 copies. Incidentally Mr. Willkie has turned over all the profits from the sale of his book to the American Red Cross, United China Relief, British War Relief, and Russian War Relief. The book was written by Mr. Willkie himself and is not the work of a ghost writer.

HISTORY

Birthday of John Paul Jones—July 18: John Paul Jones was born in Scotland on July 18, 1747. (July 6, Old Style Calendar). At the age of 12 years, young Jones entered the service of a ship owner as an apprentice. His first voyage took him to Fredericksburg, Virginia. While captain of the merchant ship "John of Dumfries," he forged a member of his crew to death and killed a member of a mutineer crew. To escape prosecution he fled to Fredericksburg, Virginia. Here he changed his name from John Paul, the family name, to John Paul Jones. He offered his services to the Continental Congress and was commissioned lieutenant and put in command of the "Providence." During the next three years he captured many British vessels. The French summoned him to Paris and put him in command of the French ship "Boromme." Jones changed his name to the "Bonhomme Richard" in honor of Benjamin Franklin. On September 23 his fleet ships fell in with a fleet of forty-one British merchant ships conveyed by the "Seraps" and the "Countess of Scarborough." Only three of Jones' ships took part in the battle. Jones lashed his ship the "Bonhomme Richard" to the "Seraps" and a hand to hand fight ensued. It was during this fight that the Commander of the "Seraps" called upon Jones to surrender, to which he gave his famous reply, "I have not begun to fight." The "Seraps" finally surrendered. Jones was hailed by France as a hero. He was awarded a gold medal by Congress. He returned to Paris where he died in June, 1790. His body was brought to America in 1905 and deposited at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. Each year memorial exercises are held for Jones at the U. S. Naval Academy and other places. He was regarded as the most brilliant naval general of his time.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

We are witnessing for the first time in many years in this country a change in attitude toward labor. The change of attitude is not directed at the action of the individual worker so much as it is toward labor's leadership. This change has been especially marked since the threatened strike among the coal miners under John Lewis. As this is being written, sweeping anti-strike legislation is before Congress.

The serious threat of a strike in the mines when coal is so critically needed in war industry has done more to arouse people everywhere throughout the nation than anything that has happened since Pearl Harbor.

In the past when a strike was called in this or that industry little attention was paid to it beyond those immediately affected. It just wasn't their problem and American people have a way of thinking a thing isn't their problem unless it takes dollars and cents out of their pockets or unless it affects their own.

This is what the threatened coal strike did—it touched their own pockets. They knew at once it would affect the plants producing weapons and supplies for the soldiers in the armed forces. Since there is scarcely a home from one end of the country to the other that does not have one or more representatives in the armed forces there was scarcely a home that did not have a real and active interest in the coal strike.

The common reaction throughout the length and breadth of the land was one of resentment and anger. People everywhere, without exception, believed that the miners should go on mining coal while the matter was being discussed by labor board officials and labor leaders and mine operators.

The matter was made all the more acute from the fact that there is a feeling throughout the country that the present administration has leaned backwards in its efforts to give labor everything it has asked for since March 4, 1933.

During the depression years, strike down strikes were permitted in which workers took over the plants and the owners had no rights under the law and no friend in court.

This was followed by the NRA which was designed and dictated by labor leaders. When it was turned down by the Supreme Court a new Supreme Court was secured and the National Labor Relations Board set up. The National Labor Relations Board received the blessing and the approval of the new Supreme Court and put into effect everything the NRA was designed to do. As it now is the National Labor Relations Board exercises a far reaching and drastic control over industry shipping its products in interstate commerce.

30 YEARS AGO IN THE NEWS

Items below were taken in whole or in part from the issue of The Foard County News of July 11, 1913:

Clyde Redman, who has charge of the boats, cold drink stands, etc., at the lake, was robbed of something like $115.00 some time Sunday night. The guilty party was captured and a full confession was made.

Last Friday as Mrs. G. W. Thompson and daughter, Mrs. Pearl Carter, were returning from the lake, the horse that they were driving became frightened and ran. Mrs. Thompson was thrown out before the horse had gone very far, yet she sustained serious injuries, but soon regained consciousness. Mrs. Carter was also considerably bruised and her little son, J. T., was also more or less cut and bruised.

M. Johnson, our hustling implement man, has rented the Thacker building between the Allison grocery store and the Elliott grocery on the north side, and will open an office and sales rooms, the large building heretofore occupied will be in the future used as a warehouse.

John Thompson, who lives in the Black community, has found the nest of a very large eagle. Mr. Thompson reported that the nest has one eaglet and one egg.

The home of Dr. Hines Clark, one of the best residences in Crowell, burned to the ground Wednesday afternoon. The fire was not discovered until about 5 o'clock. By quick work most of the household effects were saved, but more or less damaged. The loss will reach $3,500 or $4,000 with insurance of only $2,000. The doctor will begin at once to erect a handsome bungalow on the site of the present ruins.

Chas. Prewitt of Dallas and Eugene Prewitt of Ft. Worth, former Crowell residents, are here visiting Judge G. L. Burk, and family.

HORSE SENSE

As a sedative to numb the fear of public debt, the people have been told that no harm could result from the debt because the people merely owed it to themselves.

Harold G. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institution, has knocked the "owe it to yourself" theory into a cocked hat in a booklet entitled, "The New Philosophy of Public Debt." He shows that those who pay taxes to support the debt are not identical with those who receive the interest on the debt or the government bounties which the debt makes possible.

While the people may owe the public debt to themselves, the man who is taxed to pay interest on the debt will soon find that the tax collector will take his shirt if he does not pay his taxes, to pay interest on a debt which he "owes to himself."

Mr. Moulton blasts the idea that public debt can go on growing forever without doing any harm. His remarks shoot close to financial and economic advisors of the government, and to the National Resources Planning Board. He makes it brutally clear that deficit spending and boundless public debt lead either to totalitarianism or to debt repudiation, and that without "a stable system of public finance... in the United States, and also in other countries, the foundation stone for international reconstruction will rest on quicksand." His analysis is just plain horse sense which most everybody understood until they were hypnotized with the suggestion that prosperity could be brought about by priming the pump continuously with public funds. He does not try to prove that government debt is bad, but he does insist that it must be controlled. The time will come when the people are the water and the financial well. Complaints have reached OPA from various parts of the country that farm radio batteries which retailed for $5 to $7, lately—because of scarcity—have been selling for $10 to $14 each.

Corn Stocks Requisitioned

The War Food Administration has requisitioned the corn stocks in 96 midwestern terminal elevators in a further effort to break the distribution jam that has prevented corn processing plants from obtaining supplies with which to produce feed and industrial products essential to the war effort.

Many Schools Burn

More than a million dollars worth of schools are destroyed by fire per month. To replace these buildings will require approximately four million dollars worth of critical materials—materials that could have gone into the manufacture of planes, tanks, battleships and guns.

Clothing Prices Stabilized

Women's, girls', and children's fall dresses, suits, coats, blouses and similar apparel will cost approximately the same as last year, as a result of a revised maximum price regulation for manufacturers issued recently by the OPA.

Civilian Meat Quotas

More pork, lamb, and mutton, and less beef, will be available for civilian consumption during the 3-month period beginning July 1, the War Food Administration has announced.

THE FUSE IS BURNING

During recent years while the pendulum of political strategy was swinging in favor of beneficent labor laws and increased regulation of business, vote-seeking politicians have time and again stepped across the line in their capacity of lawmakers to show open-armed favoritism to certain groups, principally labor.

Rabies Can Be Avoided

Continued outbreaks of rabies are the fault of an indifferent public and those dog owners who fail to protect their own pets, their families, and the public against the disease, said Dr. H. W. Schooning, Chief Animal Pathologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Fewer Drivers Eligible For Used Tires

Beginning July 1, a motorist to be eligible for a used tire must show he used his car for an essential occupational purpose. The applicant must also meet certain other tests, including formation of a ride-sharing club where possible, or establishing the lack of reasonably adequate alternative transportation.

More Farm Goods Set Aside

Batteries for flashlights, radios, telephones, fence controls and for ignition; stockmen's knives; and galvanized pail and tubs have been allocated for farm use by recent WPB directives.

"P. D. B." Useful In Ant Control

In response to numerous queries, the Department of Agriculture advises the use of "P. D. B." as a fumigant for ant colonies in victory gardens or on home grounds.

Prices Set On Wooden Fence Posts

Prices have been set by OPA for all principal grades of wooden fence posts. The new maximums authorized increases up to 35 per cent in the prices of posts made from Southern yellow pine and Western red cedar.

Christian Science Services. "Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ.

The Golden Text is: "We being many are one bread, and one body: for we are all partakers of that one bread" (I Corinthians 10:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (Galatians 3:27).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In proportion to his purity is man perfect, and perfection is the order of celestial being which demonstrates Life in Christ, Life's spiritual ideal" (page 337).

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Honoring Our Parents

The fine obedience of parents to their children has been pointed out as one of the remarkable developments of modern life.

1. The Command of God (Exod. 20:12). What is the mind and will of the Maker of us all regarding this matter? His words are plain—we are to honor our fathers and our mothers.

2. The Example of Jesus (Luke 2:41-52). The fact that Jesus was God manifest in the flesh only enhances the glory of His conduct. He who is divine presented an example of obedience and consideration both as boy and man which we do well to emulate.

The boy Jesus, increasing "in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man," has come to His twelfth year, and with His parents had gone to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover. There moved in His heart the conviction that He must now be about His Father's business—a purpose altogether proper and commendable, but it resulted in separation from His parents. Not only was this physical, but we read that they did not understand Him (v. 50).

3. The Admonition of Paul (Eph. 6:1-4). Apart from commanding their children to do wickedness, every parent has the right to expect obedience. But there is a tremendously important truth on the other side of the picture. Parents are not to provoke their children to anger, to disrespect or disobedience. How much we need God's grace! May God help us who are parents, for our children are our most valuable possession.

The OPA was recently successful in having railroad freight rates reduced, and it was thereby able to announce a "roll back" in coal prices of five cents a ton, a saving of possibly 50 cents a year for the average family.

Now a wage increase of eight cents an hour, which amounts to over $200,000,000 a year for 1,100,000 non-operating railroad employees, is being considered, and coal miners are to receive a pay increase which will add more millions to cost of producing coal.

No matter how meritorious these increases are, they add to the cost of production, while the government is trying to "roll back" prices and "hold the line."

It is impossible to "roll back" retail prices while the cost of production rolls merrily upward. Subsidy proposals to offset the difference between production costs and "rolled back" retail prices would make the people pay through the nose in taxes.

The ax of confusion has fallen on the local merchant and farmer, and thousands of them have gone out of business, to the detriment of the consumer.

Admitting that the present situation is complicated, is it not becoming more complicated by trying to freeze retail prices while allowing production costs to constantly climb?—Industrial News-Review.

Texans may earn as much as five and a half billion dollars during 1943, a University of Texas economist predicted. He estimates non-agricultural payrolls will reach 2.7 billions dollars; farm cash income, 1.3 billion; minerals, nearly one billion; and value added to goods by manufacturing, approximately one-half billion. In 1942 Texas income was 4.2 billion dollars.

Daughter of Former Residents Weds in Clarendon June 20

Miss Naomi Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cap Morris, of Clarendon, former residents of Thalia, was married on Sunday, June 20, to Hardee Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green, also of Clarendon, at the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. J. O. Quattibaum, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends. The bride wore a bridal blue gabled suit with a soft white sheer blouse, and white accessories. Her bouquet was of white rosebuds showered with blue satin ribbon.

A reception at the Morris home followed the marriage, after which the couple left for Grand Prairie where they will make their home.

Mrs. Green was born at Thalia, moved to Clarendon with her parents and graduated from Clarendon High School and attended TSCW at Denton. The groom is a graduate of Clarendon High School and attended Junior College at Clarendon. He is now employed at North American Air Craft in Grand Prairie.

Old Age Assistance Grants Payments to Be Cut $2.64 in July

Austin, July 1.—The State Department of Public Welfare announced today that the state lacks $483,695.80 having enough money to pay old age assistance grants in full in July and that in writing checks $2.64 must be deducted from the amount of each certified grant. The cut in June was $2.43. Although 1,824 names appear on the July rolls which were not on the June rolls, 217 being reinstatements of former recipients, the rolls made a net increase of only 56, climbing from 183,154 to 183,220. Some 14,915 reinvestigations were completed in June, 8,764 discovering increased need and resulting in raises, while 1,813 found less need and resulted in lower grants, and 3,446 found no net change. The department found 892 cases to be currently ineligible and removed them from the rolls. Death took an addition 866 off the rolls during June.

month. Thus while the average grant may reflect the actual condition of need and increased living cost in a steady rise from month to month, this will only result in widening the gap between actual payments and individual certified grants. The cut, which represents this gap, is not an average, but is a flat deduction applied uniformly to each grant as a means of reducing the total of checks to the amount on deposit for their payment.

During June 52 cases were added to the blind rolls for July payment. A total of $108,255 will be paid to 4,485 blind persons in an average grant of $24.14. This is the only program not restricted by insufficient funds. During June the Aid to Dependent Children rolls lost 222 families, representing 550 children. Checks averaging $21.29, totaling $253,495, will go out in July to 11,908 families, representing 28,425 children.

Look! Listen! Live!

For want of good brakes, three lives were lost in the grade crossing accident illustrated here.

A dump truck, occupied by the driver and four other men, disregarded the standard railroad crossing warning sign and drove into the path of a passenger train. Three killed and two injured was the final tally.

The two men who survived said the brakes on the truck were faulty. This prevented the driver from stopping, and the truck rolled onto the crossing. The train that hit the truck, and another train which was following, were delayed a total of two hours while the track was being cleared.

The National Safety Council is conducting a special campaign to stop these accidents which every day delay 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a serious drain on the nation's war transportation facilities.

Driver carelessness is the cause of almost all grade crossing accidents, according to the Council. To help win the war—to save yourself and others needless suffering—the Council asks you to be sure the track is clear before you start across.

PLEASURE LAST

Strictly non-essential travel on trains and buses must be eliminated and vacation travel must be rigidly limited. The Office of Defense Transportation directs this earnest warning to everyone, and adds that it is impractical to apply a system of travel priorities. Therefore, it is up to the individual. He can either assert his "privilege" to visit Aunt Hattie and possibly deprive a man of a trip home on furlough—after months of service—or forego the visit in favor of the service man, or the civilian on war business. The same seat cannot render double service. The public must see that the war comes first.

Organized troop movements by rail are proceeding at the rate of over 2,000,000 men a month. They require the constant service of over one-half of all Pullman sleeping cars and of nearly one-fourth (over 3,000) of all day coaches.

Soldiers make an average of eight moves by railroad between induction and embarkation for service overseas. It takes 356 passenger cars, as well as 82 baggage cars and over 900 freight cars, made up in 65 trains, to move an infantry division of 15,000 men and their equipment. Movement of an armored division and its vehicles requires 75 trains of from 28 to 45 cars each. Furlough travel on regularly scheduled passenger trains equals approximately the volume of organized troop travel. Both are to increase substantially during the months immediately ahead. No new railroad passenger cars or locomotives, and no new inter-city buses, are being constructed.

These are a few of the reasons why civilians are being asked to limit their traveling activities. It is no sacrifice to limit your traveling to necessity if it helps your boy get home on furlough or speeds freight on which his very

Fred Wehba Opening New Grocery Store in Gilliland

Fred Wehba, owner and operator of the Wehba's Cash Grocery Store in Crowell, is opening a new store in Gilliland.

The store will be open for business Friday in the building formerly used as a grocery store by Dan Caram. Dan Briscoe of the cell will be manager of the store and will move his family to Gilliland within a short time.

Gilliland has not had a grocery store for several weeks since Caram closed his store there and entered the service of his country.
