Treachery of Measles Should Be Recognized by All Parents

Commenting on the seasonal rise in the incidence of measles, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today that the treachery of this disease should be recognized by all parents. "Measles is a dangerous, widespread and highly contagious disease, and with various complications results in more than 10,000 deaths every year among very young children," Dr. Cox said. "It is impossible to foretell at the onset of measles just how serious the attack will prove to be."

The first signs of this disease, according to the State Health Officer, are those usually associated with a cold: red, watery eyes, a profuse nasal discharge and a harsh, dry hacking cough. It is most contagious at this point and can be readily spread by droplet infection from coughing or sneezing. About the second day fever is present and often a tender sore throat; on about the fourth day a red splotchy rash appears. Contrary to a widespread belief, it certainly is not "better for a child to have measles early in life and get it over with."

Your Horoscope

April 17, 18, 19.—You are never satisfied with yourself whatever you may do. You are always trying to learn or do something better. You give much love and need much love, and have moods of unhappiness and happiness. It is not advisable for people to come to you for advice during your business hours, as you are likely to treat them curtly, but people find this out and come to you when you can see them and they find you to be very courteous and considerate. If a woman, you are an expert at making over clothes in such a way that you are always well dressed. April 20, 21, 22, 23.—You belong to the class of people who "know it all." You are not apt to see much that is commendable in those you dislike. You make up your mind positively and definitely and if you are not careful, you are likely to make an unhappy marriage. You are generous and like to share your good things with your friends, and will see that those you take an interest in never want for anything as long as you have anything.

HISTORY

Mother's Day: The origin of Mother's Day dates back to May, 1907, when Miss Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia believing that sons and daughters should pay a tribute each year to their mothers, arranged for a special Mother's Day service in one of the Philadelphia churches. The plan appealed to others and the following year services were held in a number of the Philadelphia churches. The second Sunday in May was chosen as the day for the service. By 1911 the practice had extended throughout this country and Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, China, Japan and a number of islands. Leaflets of suggested programs were printed and distributed. In December, 1912, a Mother's Day International Association was incorporated, the purpose of which was to encourage a more widespread observance of the day. In 1914 Congress designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day and requested the President to issue a proclamation directing public officials to display the flag on all public buildings. The first of such proclamations was issued by President Wilson. The practice has been followed each year by his successors. In the beginning it was asked that a white carnation be worn on Mother's Day. This was later changed that a white carnation be worn by the motherless and a red carnation by others. Although numerous efforts had been made to have a memorial postage stamp to Mothers issued, Postmaster General Farley was the first to issue such a stamp. It was a miniature reproduction of Whistler's mother. The practice of making gifts to mothers on the occasion of Mother's Day has grown the last few years. The gifts usually consist of special boxes of candy or flowers.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

Many communities have begun to talk and even lay plans for some sort of suitable local memorial to the men who have gone into the service from the community.

These contemplated memorials are of various types. Some communities are thinking about community buildings to provide a place in which event of the future may be properly housed. Some are talking of a small building in the town park on the walls of which may be displayed the names of those who were enrolled in the country's service in this and other wars with space for the walls for pictures of the various fronts and engagements and those who took part in them.

The other day we heard of a community which plans to raise a memorial fund to its service men, the proceeds of which will be awarded in scholarships each year to the children and grandchildren of the men in service. This would be in the nature of a perpetual memorial and would be awarded each year on the basis of scholarship and other outstanding qualities.

All of these are splendid projects no doubt if entered into by a community would make a worthy memorial to the memory of the men who went from the community at the call of their country. All of them express the communities' desire to give recognition to their heroes. They may, and perhaps is, many other plans under consideration by communities throughout the country.

The best type of memorial in our opinion is the one that would give to its soldiers who have fought to rescue the liberty of mankind from the aggressor cannot be expressed in brick, and mortar, and stone, and steel, and endowment funds. We have in mind a memorial, which if sincerely conceived and faithfully carried out, would mean more to the men who have fought on the battle fronts of the world than can be expressed in these material gifts, given though they might be, by a grateful people.

We desire to submit as our contribution to the thinking along this line a living and an enduring memorial of lasting world peace. Such a memorial would consist of a high determination consistently and persistently adhered to by the people of this nation and the people of the Allied nations that the peace so dearly won shall endure. It would insure that within a few years we shall not permit the bitter experience to be forgotten and a cruel aggressor be permitted to build up his strength and go on the loose again throughout the world.

I have no starry-eyed illusions about the plan. I do not believe that no matter how well laid it is going to work itself. It is going to require the continued vigilance and co-operation of all Items below were taken in whole or in part from the issue of The News of April 17, 1914.

W. P. Banta, the famous prophet, says that we will have rain 17-21 and 24-28. He also says that the cold weather is over, and that we will be blest with fine growing weather from now on.

Percy Ferguson went to Chillicothe on last Thursday, returning on the night train.

C. T. Handy returned Tuesday from a trip to Arkansas. Mr. Handy was not at all pleased with the part of Arkansas that he visited.

The liberty loving people of the world. If when the last peace treaty is signed we sigh and say, "Thank God that is all over," and then proceed to forget it until the bugle calls the armies of freedom together twenty-five years hence to quell another conflagration, it will all have been in vain.

This or any plan will only succeed as long as we remain vigilant and alert and ready to act. This in my opinion is the thing that will make it a living memorial to our soldier heroes, both those who are privileged to return home and those who sleep on foreign soil.

Such a memorial kept in the hearts of people will be a tribute above any that can be expressed by stone or steel or mortar or enduring bronze.

Don't you know that fool bird cost The News man about fifteen dollars before he found out that it was nothing but a hawk? Well it did. All it has was a lot of feathers, a voracious hankering for fresh meat and a gizzard, craw or stomach—perhaps all three—that must have had the capacity of a salt barrel. We killed the bird and John got by merely because we considered the whole thing a joke at $15 per.

the tune of $8,285,000,000 was fire. These billions would have been sufficient to build the above fighting force.

This country has been prodigally careless with fire. Too few people realize that fires can start without application of flame. Spontaneous ignition is a phenomenon that occurs in oily cloths, mops or waste and paint-stained rags or clothing. Chemical reaction causes the material to heat up until actual fire bursts forth. Common household dusts, both from waste material and food, may explode with terrific force. When either flour or dust from vacuum cleaners is thrown loosely into an incinerator or furnace, so that a cloud forms, a violent explosion may take place as soon as the dust cloud reaches fire.

Another prime cause of fire is the ordinary match. Smokers strike 6,000 matches every second. Too many toss them away carelessly, not realizing that fire

1944 Junior-Senior Banquet for Crowell High School Held Friday Night in Basement of Baptist Church

The banquet hall of the First Baptist Church was the locale for the outstanding social event of the High School year, the annual Junior-Senior banquet, held on Friday evening, April 14. A pastel color scheme was established by the curtains for the windows of white, orchid, pink and blue crepe paper. Tables ran the full length of the hall and were covered with white linens. The banquet was by candle light, furnished by lighted tapers in the same pastel shades, in crystal holders, placed at regular intervals down the tables. Streamers of the colors in festoon designs made a background.

Each chair back was covered with the colorful paper and napkins in colors conforming, were used. Sweet peas, in the same soft shades, were intertwined around the candle holders and down the table length. The place cards also followed the dainty color plan, with the name on the outside of a tiny booklet and the program and menu printed on the inside.

Amid this beautiful setting, the program was presented by Bobby Cooper, president of the Junior class, who served as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Rev. Otis Strickland, pastor of the Baptist Church. Bobby Cooper gave the address of welcome in appropriate words and the response, on behalf of the Senior class, was made by Billy Fred Short, class president. Sharon Sue Haney, president of the Freshman class, sang, "Good Night, Wherever You Are." She was accompanied by Miss Mary Elizabeth Hughton.

An impressive candle lighting service was presided over by Supt. L. T. Graves, in honor of the members of the Senior class who are in the U. S. Service. A large V with candles arranged for nine, was decorated in the patriotic colors. As the names of Kenneth Archer, Bobby Joe Hunter, Bob Gobin, Leighton Adams, J. W. Solis, Martin Jones and H. L. Blevins were called, a candle was lighted by some one representing closed the lovely banquet. Class mothers of the Junior class, hostesses, and responsible for the arrangements and accomplishments of the banquet, include Mrs. D. R. Magee, Mrs. Leo Owens, Mrs. Ben Hogan, Mrs. Gordon Cooper, Mrs. John Carter and Mrs. Fred Mabe.

Fiftieth Anniversary of Wedding Observed by Mr. & Mrs. Kimsey

By coincidence, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kimsey observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Sunday in the same house in which they were married on April 16, 1894. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Bell, who reside in the old home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bell, parents of Mrs. Kimsey and Mr. Bell. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bell were pioneer residents of Foard County.

Mrs. Zeke Bell had prepared a turkey dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Kimsey and their granddaughter, Miss Bette Shaw Kimsey, not knowing that it was the wedding anniversary, until after dinner, when Mrs. Kimsey told her that she had celebrated their wedding day anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimsey were married about three years after they had arrived here from their native state of Georgia. They reside about three or four miles south of the old home where they settled soon after they were wed. They have two living children, Mrs. Joe Brown of Crowell and Lawrence Kimsey of Plainview. They have three grandchildren, Bette Shaw Kimsey, daughter of the late J. E. Kimsey; Larry Kimsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kimsey and Joe Don Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown. Mrs. Lurline Kimsey, wife of the late J. E. Kimsey, resides at Big Lake. The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Kimsey sent them beautiful cut flowers in commemoration of the day.

H. D. Council of Knox County Met Friday, April 7, in Benjamin

The Knox County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met on Friday, April 7, in the district court room in Benjamin, with the chairman presiding and Mrs. J. C. Patterson acting as secretary. Mr. Dunkle spoke to the council on the labor situation as it affects farmers in the country.

House joint resolution was presented to the council by one of its members from an original chart prepared by Miss Lucile King, Knox County Home Demonstration Agent. The chart will be presented at the district meeting in Haskell on April 19, by Mrs. J. E. Stover, county chairman.

Six clubs were represented at the meeting.

Helsinki Haven

Continual bombings by Russian planes have taught Helsinkiers there is no safe place outside the air-raid shelter. Here two young girls who make it a habit to sleep in the shelter are bedded down for the night. They bundle up with every kind of available clothing in order to keep snug.

pineapple would be available after April 15, and every club member and anyone wanting some, should see the market committee and place their order.

D. F. Eaton, County Agricultural Agent, made a talk on poultry diseases, parasites and mixing feeds.

Refreshments were served to seven members and two guests. The next meeting will be held at the school house on April 28, with Mrs. Max Middlebrook as hostess.

OPEN SECRETS

Leaving the oven door ajar is one of the best and easiest ways to keep the oven free of rust. If the oven is open while it cools—steam, some odors and even some volatile oil given off by burning baking can escape, being shut in and left inside. Airing out the oven than cleaning the oven with oil. Not only the oven but the waffle iron, the presser, the electric washing machine, all other equipment which and heat are confined in space kept in better condition left open to air while drying.

The oven of a gas range be left open for two or three minutes after the burner is turned off. Otherwise the moisture forms when the gas condenses on the cool parts of the oven and cause rust.

Crowell Girl Weds Brownfield Man

The marriage of Miss Vertie Jean Bailey, formerly of Crowell, and M. L. Nicholson Jr., took place in Dallas on April 15 at 7:30 in the evening at the home of Rev. Reynolds.

The couple was accompanied by Mrs. Elmer O. Bryant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bailey of Ft. Worth. She was born and reared in Crowell and attended school here.

Mr. Nicholson is the son of S. S. and Mrs. M. L. Nicholson of Brownfield. He attended the Brownfield schools and also Texas Technological College at Lubbock. He is now employed in a war plant in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson are residing in Fort Worth for the present.

VIVIAN H. D. CLUB

At the meeting of the Home Demonstration Club of Vivian which was held at the home of Mrs. T. W. Cooper on Thursday, April 13, D. F.
