Capture of Saipan Opens Japan

This map shows why Japan's empire is no longer safe, with the capture of Saipan, now that the Yank's amphibious and 20th air force in operation. Saipan, Guam and China will prove effective bases from which attacks can be launched against Tokyo's industries and military bases. Tokyo is less than 1,500 miles from Saipan.

Deeper Daylight Bombing Against Axis

With U. S. engineers adding greater flying range to our pursuit planes, there will be more effective bombing of enemy soil. For, while our fighters parry the blows of Nazi rocket planes, our bombers can move to their targets unhampered. Our Eighth air force in England will the upper hand in daylight precision bombing until new Nazi fighters resulted in heavy losses, pushing back our daylight bombing to a point only 400 miles from England, as shown by the arrow. This was the range of our escort planes. The British, whose specialty is night bombing, have been able to make deeper penetrations into the blackened area because of the protection of moonless nights.

Enlarges Airport for B-29s

Somewhere in India, B-29s, America's most powerful bombers, were landed up at this base and started from there on the mission to bomb the steel center of Japan. This photo shows the native women, used to enlarge the airport to enable the mammoth ships to take off, in the background, as the plane is worked on in the foreground.

C. G. Graves Assumes Duties As Superintendent of Crowell Schools This Week; Teaching Staff Elected

On July 1, Grady Graves became superintendent of the Crowell School system. He was made superintendent following the resignation of his brother, I. T. Graves, who had served as superintendent for the past seventeen years, and who resigned to become superintendent of the Floydada school system. Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Graves and their daughter, Larue, left Monday to take up their residence in Floydada.

Overseas Soldier Writes of Service

Pfc. Hubert Smith, who has been overseas for the past fifteen months and who is now stationed in Italy, writes home about a few of the things he has experienced since he entered combat. "There are some funny things. I will tell you folks back home that these American soldiers are the sweetest guys in the world, more guts than any nationality in the world, too. Being one of them on the battlefield makes you darn proud to be one of them. I'll hand it to the British soldiers, too, for they are great guys and great soldiers. They are a real help to us."

"I have participated in all the battles in Italy and, among them, the battle of Salerno is the worst. I don't like to discuss it even if it was the battle that gave me the Silver Star. The Silver Star doesn't mean anything to us men over here, all that matters is a complete victory and the quickest ride home."

"This is how I won the Silver Star. From Sept. 12 until Oct. 1, I carried all our wounded men to the hospital which was eleven miles from the front line and the road I had to go was under constant shell fire. I made from 1 to 12 trips every 24 hours and alone most of the time. In October I was recommended for the Silver Star by our commanding officer."

"I've never been scratched in any way while participating in any of these battles and I believe that God's help has carried me through. I believe with all my heart, that with God's help, I will return home as good as when I left, except older. All of us guys over here really mean and we're fighting for those homes and for those loved ones. The quickest road to victory is too slow, but we will make it some happy day. It will just take time, a lot of praying, work and patience."

"The Heavenly Body" Coming to Rialto

When William Powell and wife, Hedy Lamarr find themselves involved with a third man, James Craig, the screwy and wacky plot of "The Heavenly Body," showing at the Rialto Theatre Sunday and Monday, really unfolds in about the fastest-paced comedy drama the movie fan has seen in years. When astrology clashes with astronomy and tele-scopes, the fun begins. Powell, the hubby who suddenly finds himself in love with his wife, really does his role justice in trying to eliminate the affection of Craig for Lamarr. It is one of the best pictures of the trio to date.

ROTARY CLUB

Judge Leslie Thomas, vice president of the Crowell Rotary Club, presided at the meeting Wednesday at noon at the DeLuxe Cafe, in the absence of the new president, Herbert Edwards, who was out of town. Judge Thomas made an inspirational talk on Rotary and its influence since its organization many years ago. Visitors at the meeting were Lieut. H. C. Brown and Miss Nancy Anderson, niece of Mrs. J. R. Beverly.

Fifth War Loan Bond Sales in County Reach $114,335.55 Up to Saturday Night; 'E' Bond Quota Exceeded by 17 Per Cent

A tabulation of Fifth War Bond sales in Foard County up to Saturday night, June 30, reveals the fact that Foard County had purchased $114,335.55 in bonds. Of this amount, $93,505.00 was of Series "E." This is more than the quota set for "E" bonds, by 17 per cent. $20,830.00 of the other series have been purchased, which is 80 per cent of the quota. Foard County still lacks $30,664.95 of purchasing its bond quota of $145,000.00. There is very little time left and in order to attain the goal set for the county, each person who has not purchased, should do so, at once, states Foard County chairman, George D. Self. The Rayland-Riverside community went over the top last week, with sales amounting to $12,967.50 and with a quota of $12,000.00. The committee for that section, J. H. Roberson, chairman, and Monroe Karcher and Travis Davis have done a good job and are to be congratulated. This is a small community and one principally a row crop farming section.

The communities which have now exceeded their quotas are Margaret, Black, Rayland-Riverside, Crowell, Thalia and Vivian are almost over, while the remaining communities have a good start but in most instances lack considerable sales to make their goals.

Foard County has put over four War Bond drives in a big way and it will not fail in the Fifth Drive, when the need is greater than ever before and when there is more money on deposit than there ever was in the history of the county.

The drive comes to a close on July 8 and the full quota is expected to be reached and more than that.

Bank Deposits Show Big Increase Since Last Report

Deposits in the Crowell State Bank have made a gain of $735,862.10 since the last statement was published on April 13, reaching a total of $1,969,832.97 at the close of business on June 30, 1944. This amount lacks only $33,307.07 of being $2,000,000.00. Lee Black, cashier, said Wednesday that the deposits amounted to $2,000,000.00 during the peak of the harvest season. Total assets of the local bank are $2,053,152.03, according to the statement printed on page four of this issue. The amount of money on deposit in the bank at the present time far exceeds the deposits at any time during the history of banking in Crowell and probably doubles any peak ever reached before.

Second Water Well For Crowell Making Good Showing

A depth of 24 feet was reached in the second water well for the City of Crowell in the Margaret community and the well stood ten feet in water when the crew quit work Wednesday afternoon. It is believed that this well is as strong as No. 1, which was finished last week and given a thorough test Saturday afternoon when it was estimated that the pump drew 250 gallons of water per minute from it.

AGRICULTURE

(D. F. Eaton, County Agent.)

Holding Up Summer Milk Production

Milk production usually declines in summer. The principal causes are dry or insufficient grass and other roughages; insufficient or undesirable drinking water; lack of minerals; lack of protection from heat and hornflies. Correction of these defects is the first step toward maintaining full production.

Tender, green spring grass is high in protein and minerals, and both are essential to milk production. As grass matures or dries it loses these elements. If they are not replaced the cow's production has to go down. This may be done by increasing the protein and mineral content of the grain mixture, or concentrates—namely: adding more cottonseed, soybean or peanut meal. In effect, the protein in the grain mixture must be kept in balance with that in the roughage (grass, silage and hay). Extension bulletin B-69 gives information upon the protein content of roughage. It may be obtained here in the office.

Dairy cows must have all of the roughage they can eat for maximum milk yield. They should have opportunity to fill on grass, sudan, pasture or other roughage at least twice daily. If grass is short and sparse, they should be given hay or silage, or both under good shade. The better the hay and silage the more likely cows are to eat the required amount of roughage. The more roughage eaten the less grain mixture will be required.

An average size Jersey on tender, green grass obtains about 85 pounds of water daily while grazing. But when the grass matures or dries its water content decreases. Accordingly, a cow must drink more water to maintain her production. To persuade her to drink enough, the water should be clean, cool, and accessible so she can get all she needs as often as she wants it. A cow should and will drink at least three times daily if the water is palatable and near by. It may be necessary to build a shade over the trough to keep the water cool. A dairy cow needs shade. A tree is fine, but a brush arbor will serve well. To be cool the shade should be at least eight feet high.

5TH WAR LOAN

oral days after feeding on infected fowl. Its spread among turkeys is increased by fighting. Birds may be affected by one form of the other alone, or a combination of both.

An outbreak in a laying flock should be guarded against especially. The hens usually cease production and it may be two or three months before they resume. Some will die and others be blinded. The mouth, or canker, type often causes death by starvation or strangulation.

Prevention by vaccinating the chickens which are to be kept when they are between six and 12 weeks old, or when they are separated from the cockerels, is the safest and most economical method.

The vaccine comes in two types—fowl pox and pigeon pox. The fowl pox vaccine should be used on all young chickens and turkeys not in production. If vaccination is delayed until the fowl begins to lay the pigeon pox vaccine should be used, and the treatment repeated when the birds molt. The fowl pox vaccine, however, usually gives lifetime protection to chickens, but turkeys which are kept for layers should be re-vaccinated in November or December.

Labor Shortage Slows Unloading of Wheat at Terminals

Chicago, Ill., July 1.—Lack of labor at terminal elevators where wheat cars are piling up awaiting unloading is contributing to the already acute boxcar shortage, J. J. Mahoney, Santa Fe Railway Superintendent of Transportation, said today.

Various government agencies are attempting to relieve this labor bottleneck. Efforts are being made to obtain soldiers from camps near the crowded terminals. Permission has already been granted for an increase in wage rates for elevator and mill workers unloading grain, Mahoney explained.

"The fact remains," he continued, "that loaded wheat cars are piling up around the terminals faster than they are being unloaded. At the 15 terminal and sub-terminal points in our big wheat territory we have 1,781 cars loaded with wheat today. Yesterday 488 cars were unloaded and 824 are in transit to those points. On our Oklahoma division, we are holding 358 loaded wheat cars out of the Enid terminal to avoid blocking the yards. On the Panhandle division we are holding out 135 loaded cars. The situation has been developing all week. Monday we had 1,483 loads of wheat in the 15 terminals and only 393 were unloaded. Wednesday we had 1,568 loads of wheat and 499 were unloaded. On the Panhandle and Plains divisions, 78 elevators are closed because of the car shortage. There are 155,000 bushels of wheat piled on the ground on the Panhandle division and 861,690 on the Plains division. Yesterday we had 889 cars available for loading and orders for 2,955 cars."

Grasshopper Infestation Passes Peak

Grasshoppers infesting a large section of Foard County are rapidly reaching the adult stage when they cause little or no damage since they cease feeding at this point in their life cycle, according to Extension entomologists.

Within recent weeks the jumbo and yellow, or differential, species of hoppers have done considerable damage to young cotton, corn, grain sorghums and pastures. The jumbo is found in small numbers and the yellow in large numbers in some areas of the county.

Many farmers have applied for poison bait materials supplied by the Federal government. This bait has been mixed and distributed to farmers during the past two weeks.

It is fortunate that the county has only one generation of these hoppers a year. In this respect they differ from the migratory hoppers which have two generations and are far more destructive since they can travel great distances.

Good results are being obtained by using a poison mixture of four pounds of sodium fluosilicate, 20 pounds of wheat bran and 80 pounds of sawdust, which is sufficient to make a stiff mash.

We are hopeful that we will soon be rid of this pest as we hope it has about run its course.

Should you come for poison bait brink sacks or some container to carry it home in.

Vaccine Controls Fowl Pox

Fowl pox, which causes considerable loss yearly to chicken and turkey flocks in Texas, can be prevented by using a vaccine. The origin of the disease is a virus and can occur in fowl from chick age to advanced years. But it is seen most often in birds a few weeks old and those in their first laying year.

Externally, the disease obtains foothold on the combs or wattles through scratches and cuts, and internally by the mouth, or canker form. Mosquitoes are dangerous carriers, being able to transmit the disease to others sev-

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

With the current issue, the Foard County News is embarking on its 54th year of life. Also, this year marks the 16th year of its existence under the present management and ownership. Many ups-and-downs have been experienced by the operators during the years but it is with greater determination than ever, that we make every effort possible to give our readers a good weekly newspaper. Our boys in the home-land and overseas inspire us to carry on through thick and thin to do our part in a world war touching the hearts and homes of all. May the year bring heartening hope and good cheer to all as it passes away week by week. May we see the ending of the present world struggle and see another year start with the cessation of war and the beginning of world peace.

When the reformer told the drunkard that he would never get anywhere by drinking, the inebriate replied, "Aint it so, I've started home from this corner five times already."

Alcohol is supposed to be one of the greatest preservatives, but just from observation we'd say that it doesn't preserve anything we couldn't get along without.

Success of 5th War Loan Will Meet Acclaim of Men in Field and Prove Nation Is Backing Our Armed Forces

by Gen. Ike Eisenhower

"In moments of crisis involving the safety of our native land, the American people have invariably rallied against the danger with courage, faith and resolution.

"For the past two years we have been in one of these crises, perhaps the greatest in our history. On the battlefield and on the home front men and women are daily making great sacrifices so the freedom in our way of life may be preserved.

"There is now in progress the 5th War Loan Drive to raise money so as to insure that this conduct will be brought to the speediest possible conclusion and with the least loss in lives.

The complete success in the drive will meet the acclaim of the forces in the field and will be renewed proof that all Americans are one solid phalanx of determination in this great war.

"All of us profoundly trust that soon the world may be restored to a just peace. Until we can, with God's help, bring about that happy realization of our dreams, each of us must seek incessantly for ways and means by which the value of our services to our country may be enhanced. Right now we can do so by buying Bonds. Let's make this particular victory a quick and decisive one."

HISTORY

Frontier Day in Cheyenne—July 25: One of the typical western events that attracts visitors from all sections of the country each year is the Frontier Days celebration in Cheyenne, the capital of Wyoming. The celebration began in 1897, when a group of people of Cheyenne arranged a Frontier Day celebration to keep alive the sports and customs of the early days of the state. The celebration has continued to grow in interest each year until it has become one of the biggest events of its kind in the country. From a one-day celebration it has grown to a four-day celebration. The program is held on the local fair grounds. The events attract each year the most expert talent in the country. The program consists of a big parade about the half mile race track participated in by mounted cowboys, cow girls, Indians in native costume, covered wagons, and other vehicles reminiscent of pioneer days. This is followed by bronco riding, steer roping, calf roping, bull dogging, bareback riding, and relay races as well as all types of out door athletic sports. Complete and detailed rules have been evolved which cover each type of contest by bronco riders, steer bull dogging, calf roping, etc. Each year a queen is chosen to preside over the celebration. She is called Miss Frontier. The event is marked with life and color and vigorous action and is looked upon by many lovers of this type of sport as one of the big typically American shows.

I never knew, a local young woman said yesterday, that a substitute could be as poor as a lot of the candy one buys today. It is getting so poor that even the children do not cry for it any more.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

Now that the invasion has taken place and the Allied armies are firmly established on French soil it is not too premature to begin to think about how Germany, the disturbing element in world peace, should be handled when Hitler's armies find themselves defeated and begin to seek peace.

The general feeling is that as soon as the Allies reach the border of Germany she will sue for peace. The plan that is thought will be used is that Hitler will be de-throned and a new group will take over who will conduct the peace negotiations.

The new group will not be connected, as far as is generally known, with the military party. It will to all appearances be entirely free from any such contamination. It will represent itself as the people's representatives who are and always have been interested in a peaceful Germany and a peaceful world.

This, it appears to me, is the danger that lies ahead. The request made by this group is going to appear so reasonable and so plausible that there will at once arise a wave of sentiment in favor of granting the requests, and for making peace on the terms that will not be unfavorable to Germany. If the German party succeeds in this they will, though they have lost the war, have won the peace. They, after playing for big stakes lost, but will have gained a reprieve in which they can and will prepare for another attempt at world domination.

This fact cannot be ignored when it is known that the junkers party numbering some 20,000 persons in Germany which is dedicated to the conquest and the rule of the world by Germany will still be intact after the war ready to begin plans for another try.

While it is not the purpose of the Allies to completely destroy the eighty million people of Germany and reduce them to a state of pauperism and serfdom it must be obvious that she must be dealt with firmly, definitely and practically. Whatever the investigation into the internal policies of the country dictates should be done, should be the only governing sentiment in connection with arranging the terms of peace.

I, for one, do not believe this can be accomplished by merely signing a treaty. To limit action to such, regardless of its terms, would be equivalent to washing our hands of a responsibility, which in view of the cost of the war in material resource and manpower and human lives, we have no right to do. Such a failure would be as indefensible as was

Red Cross Home Nursing Stressed

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, is genuinely concerned about the health of the nation's 120,000,000 civilians during these war times. To meet this challenge, Dr. Parran places the responsibility where it belongs when he says, "The basic job of keeping America healthy must be done in the home. One good way is to take the Red Cross home nursing course. Every woman not on a full-time job should do this."

To assist the American home in meeting this great responsibility, the American Red Cross has embarked upon a long-time plan to train 3,000,000 persons in home nursing as a means of easing the doctor and nurse shortage which is expected to continue for several years. Pearl Harbor and the general impetus of wartime necessity were responsible for a substantial growth in the number of persons attending home nursing classes, but the last few months have shown a tendency for enrollment figures to drop off, which fact, according to Olivia E. Peterson, national director of Red Cross home nursing, is fraught with danger.

Let's take a typical American home as an example. Mrs. Sam James, who might be you, lives in Jonesport, which might be where you live. Married, with a family of three to nurse through the traditional routine of mumps, measles, whooping cough and bumps on the head, she had always had kindly old Dr. Wilber to call upon when there was a temperature to take or a pill to be gulped down. But Dr. Wilber fell ill, and passed away quietly, leaving a community, which thoroughly respected this learning and judgment, without a physician. A young M. D. took over the late Dr. Wilber's practice, and carried on in the same fine manner. But a bomb fell, a boat was sunk, and the youthful doctor was off to war.

Two community losses of trained, reliable medical advisors was just too much for Mrs. Sam James, which accounts for her appearance at the Red Cross chapter in Jonesport to enroll in a home nursing course. Here is what she learned:

Classes in Red Cross home nursing, organized by her local chapter in Jonesport, were held in chapter buildings, schools, churches, industrial plants, and similar places where there were facilities for teaching. She became really enthusiastic when she found trained nurses served as instructors, and that most of what she would learn would be taught through the "learning-by-doing" method which coincided exactly with her views on teaching. Told by her Jonesport Red Cross chapter that classes were organized and conducted according to enrollment and requests for instruction, Mrs. James conducted a one-woman recruitment campaign, encouraging other mothers, wives, young women and girls to enroll. Her best arguments to these and others were based on patriotism and self-interest. But the surprise of surprises was learning that Mr. James would be a welcome member of her home nursing class as dad has a health responsibility to his family as well as mother.

It was a trained and confident Mr. and Mrs. Sam James who earned their "Red Cross Home Nursing Certificate" on satisfactorily completing the course of 24 hours' training. Briefly, Mr. and Mrs. James covered:

Mrs. Sam Thomas of Gary, Okla., and Mrs. Albert Thomas of Oklahoma City, Okla., are here visiting in the home of their brother, Fred Wehba, and family.

John Thomas Rasor and Billy Fred Short, Freshman students at A. & M. College at College Station, spent the week-end here visiting in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rasor and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Short.

A home nursing program in every chapter, a "nurse" in every home is the answer to the ever-growing doctor and nurse shortage. We can't all shoot guns, drop bombs, or storm pill boxes, but we can fight the greatest wartime and peacetime fight of all—to protect good health for ourselves, our homes and our community. County Kitchens Become Tin Mines for War Items

Women of Foard County can "mine" tin sufficient for 169 1/2-ton Army trucks this year. These figures were compiled by J. A. Stewart, vice president of the American Can Company, on the basis of canned foods consumed by civilians in the county during 1943. On the basis of last year's consumption, civilians will open approximately 424,188 cans of food this year, he said. According to a table recently issued by Washington, 2,500 cans provide tin sufficient for one 1 1/2-ton Army truck. Meanwhile, the armed forces consumed approximately three billion cans of food during 1943 and now, for the current year, are expected to rise to three and a quarter billion cans, Mr. Stewart said. He pointed out that with a greatly increased number of the armed forces in overseas duty, more canned foods will be needed because the can has proved the most practical container for the shipment of foods abroad.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

Wounded With Careless Words: I remember as a boy that because of an insistent request for a gun, such as the rest of the boys had, my father gave me a small twenty-two caliber rifle. I was quite delighted with it and became quite an expert shot. One day I quite thoughtlessly shot at a chicken at considerable distance from the house, thinking it one of our own. The shot went true to the mark, and mortally wounded the chicken started for home. It happened that it belonged to our neighbor. I followed its faltering footsteps to our neighbors and told him what I had done and that I thought it was one of our own. I remember that neighbor was very nice about it, and sought to console me by saying that it was an accident and to forget it. I could not help but feel terribly guilty for what I had done. It taught me one thing, however, and that was to be very careful of what I shot at. I have thought a good many times since when I let critical words carelessly fly, that I might be guilty of wounding some one deeply. Careless aimed bullets often find an unintended mark.

The rush back to the land after the war is predicted will be the greatest in history. Fear is anticipated that there will be a harmful boom in land prices.

FROM General Bradley, leading the Invasion ground forces, right through every rank, American men now face a brutal, desperate, able enemy. For this invasion has only begun—before our fighters lies a hard and bloody task, one that demands all their courage, backed by all your faith in their ultimate victory.

That faith will be tested many times in this invasion—in grim struggles, setbacks, possibly even temporary defeats. It will be up to you to remember that early victories usually only mean more savage opposition from a foe made more bitter, more ruthless as the shadow of his doom grows larger—up to you to keep that faith in days and nights of gloom as well as in hours of triumph.

There is little that you can do to show that you realize what they must face, perhaps for many months. But one thing you can do—back the attack with every dollar you can spare! Let the Bonds you buy in this greatest of Drives be the measure of your belief in their ultimate victory!

Help to Cause
Sands of Deaths
S. Each Year

Millions of flies help the illness and death of children and adults in the United States. In the State of Texas this year alone, it is estimated that 100,000 children will die in their first year of life because of flies. The State of Texas this year alone, it is estimated that 100,000 children will die in their first year of life because of flies. The State of Texas this year alone, it is estimated that 100,000 children will die in their first year of life because of flies.

W. Cox, State Health Commissioner, speaking in this connection, said, "Be sure that windows and doors are tight. Flies that stray from the neighborhood will not endanger your family. Be sure that your food is kept away from food and utensils used in the kitchen. Make sure, especially in rural districts, that privy vaults are tightly closed so as not to permit the escape of flies. Infections from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings by contact with food, drink or utensils. Keep all garbage in a container and collect it until collected or buried. Be sure you will be helping your family in its work of controlling communicable diseases by preventing unnecessary illness."

Cox said that the State Department of Health would furnish a pamphlet outlining practical methods recommended for use in fly control.

As a result of the war there has been a migration of negroes from the West coast where they are in sections formerly occupied by Japs. They have also been a number of jobs originally held by Japs. It is estimated that over 100,000 negroes have migrated from the West and in Los Angeles officials estimate they are at the rate of 2000 per day.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth; for the Father seeketh such to worship him" (John 4:23).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity" page 140).

The Need for Bible Study Text: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge."—Hosea 4:6.

God's Book is neglected and opposed today. Its use is forbidden in public schools, and it is given but a secondary place in religious education. Yet ignorance of God and His Word is accountable for the breakdown of moral standards in the world. A study of the Bible is therefore most essential.

No one can lay claim to being well informed who is not acquainted with the Bible.

It contains the highest system of ethics found in the world. It produces the highest type of character in individuals and communities where it is accepted and lived.

The Bible insures safety to life and business where it is believed and lived. The awful racketeering in our country is a result of ignorance and rejection of the light of the Bible.

The Bible insures safety to life and business where it is believed and lived. The awful racketeering in our country is a result of ignorance and rejection of the light of the Bible.

In His Word God has revealed His plan for the world. Those in authority should know the Bible. All rulers should have as advisers men who know God's Word. It is impossible to know the meaning of world movements apart from the Bible. The war was no surprise to those who had a true knowledge of the Scriptures. If the world had been true to the

There would have been no World War. Nor can abiding peace come to the world until the nations recognize and worship the God of the Bible.

The Bible is the final authority in spiritual matters. Neither reason nor church has ever proved adequate. Much is heard of church union, but true Christian union can come only as men gather around the Word of God.

In the Bible, and here only, has God's way of saving grace been made known. The need of salvation, the meaning of salvation, and how it is to be obtained are all clearly set forth in the Scriptures.

Casserole of Chicken with Vegetables

This is a good way to use either a lean young chicken or a well-fatted older bird not suited to roasting.

Ingredients: 4 to 5 pound chicken; salt and pepper; 2 tablespoons butter or other fat; 3 carrots; 1 bunch celery; 1 onion; 1 green pepper; 1 cup hot water; 1 cup milk. How to make: Cut up fowl, season with salt and pepper, sprinkle with flour, and brown in the fat in a frying pan. Remove the browned pieces to a casserole.

Chop the vegetables, and pour them into the frying pan to let them absorb the browned fat. Then transfer them to the casserole with the chicken, add a cup of hot water, and cover.

Cook in a slow oven (275 degrees F.), for 3 to 4 hours, or until the bird is tender. Add more water from time to time, if necessary.

Just before serving, remove the pieces of fowl, and skim off excess fat from the mixture of broth and vegetables. Mix 2 tablespoons of flour and add with the milk to the contents of the casserole. Cook for 10 minutes longer, season to taste, and pour vegetable sauce over the fowl, or replace the pieces of meat in the sauce and serve from the casserole.

Little Crystals

Though whipping cream is still war short, homemade ice cream and similar frozen desserts may be features of family meals this summer if the cook knows how to use thin cream or milk in mixtures they will freeze successfully. Such frozen desserts may not be so rich or quite so smooth as those of prewar days, made largely of whipping cream, but they can be refreshing and delicious.

The important secret of smoothness in a frozen dessert is keeping the ice crystals small. The larger crystals, the rougher and icier the product. The water in the mixture is what freezes and forms the crystals, so smoothness depends on distributing the water in separate fine particles. Air bubbles whipped in help to do this, as does the fat in the cream and thickeners like gelatin, eggs, flour or cornstarch. Frozen custard is a good choice this summer when eggs are plentiful. The egg yolks help thicken the mixture and the stiffly beaten whites add air bubbles just as whipped cream does.

When more thin cream is used, more thickeners are needed. To keep crystals small the mixture may be taken from the refrigerator when partly frozen, whipped, and then returned for final freezing.

Rapid freezing also helps keep the mixture smooth, so the refrigerator compartment of the refrigerator should have as little frost on it as possible and the gauge should be set for a low temperature.

Most housewives have discovered that the cream at the very top of the bottle of milk is thick enough to whip. Just one cup of this thick cream is enough for a vanilla ice cream mixture to serve 6 or 8 people.

Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups milk; 1 cup cream whipped; 1/2 cup sugar; 2 eggs; 1 teaspoon gelatin; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix milk, sugar, egg yolks and gelatin. Cook to custard and cool. Add vanilla. Whip egg whites and mix with custard. Place mixture in freezing tray and freeze to a slush. Remove tray from refrigerator, beat in whipped cream, return to finish freezing.

Prunes Less Plentiful, Apricots More Abundant

Prune and apricot prospects this summer appear to be about the reverse of last year, the latest crop estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate. Last year's prune crop was about average and the apricot crop was very short. This year the prune crop promises to be small, and the apricot crop unusually large. The California prune crop for this season is estimated 21 per cent smaller than last year. California plums are also to be fewer this year.

Store An Extra Dozen

Home refrigerators can solve a national food and storage problem if housewives will put them to that use now, the War Food Administration advises. If every family will buy an extra dozen eggs, and store them in the refrigerator, some 25 million dozen of eggs, for which no commercial cold storage place can be found, will be cared for. Egg production has been running ahead of current needs this spring and cold storage space is crowded to capacity. The emergency is only temporary, however; if the present abundance can be saved, eggs can be handled in the usual way shortly because production is slowing up seasonally. See your County Home Demonstration Agent for freezing directions and other methods of storing fresh eggs.

Dry Cleaning Don'ts

The wartime shortage of dry cleaning and laundering services has caused many a housewife to try to do her own dry cleaning at home. Those who still insist on attempting this work at home should keep six rules in mind: 1. Use only a non-inflammable fluid. (A can of cleaning fluid may be marked "non-explosive" and still be flammable.) 2. Keep the hands out of the fluid by using a suction washer. 3. Do the cleaning outside of

JOHN H. KEEFE

New Officers for Santa Fe Affiliates Elected in Chicago

Chicago, Ill., June 29.—John H. Keefe, president of the Santa Fe Land Improvement Company and other non-carrier affiliates of the Santa Fe Railway Company, was elected vice president of the railway at the regular meeting of the company's board of directors here today.

Keefe, with the Santa Fe for forty-eight years, was born at Raub, Benton County, Indiana, August 29, 1880. After attending St. Mary's University, Galveston, he entered railway service November 1, 1896, as office boy and messenger. He served in various capacities and in 1905 was appointed assistant to the second vice president of the Santa Fe Gulf Lines, at Galveston. In 1911 he was made assistant general manager and served in that position until June, 1918.

During the first six months of 1918, Keefe assisted in the organization of the Division of Operations of the country's railroads, under federal control and also served as assistant director of the Division from July 1, 1918, to February 1, 1919, under leave of absence. He returned to the railway as assistant to the vice president, Chicago, which position he held until 1921 when he became president of the Santa Fe Land Improvement Company.

The board also approved appointment of Gerald E. Duffy as assistant vice president in charge of traffic, with headquarters at the house where all toxic and other vapors will be carried off in the open air.

4. Dry garments outdoors.
5. Keep children and pets away.

6. Never, under any circumstances, use gasoline, or kerosene for garment cleaning purposes. Many housewives have discovered since the war, that they can wash successfully many garments formerly sent out for dry cleaning. In general, use mild soap and lukewarm water for both washing and rinsing. Squeeze instead of rubbing and wringing. Roll in a thick towel to remove excess moisture rapidly. Press with a warm but not hot iron when almost dry.

Selling Home-Processed Food

OPA regulations regarding the sale of home processed foods on the ration list are similar to the 1943 provisions, but many Texas producers and consumers still are unacquainted with their responsibilities. A home processor may sell home-canned foods, but he must observe some limitations, explains Myrtle Murray, home industries specialist for the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. The processor must collect ration points in accordance with OPA's official table of point values, except that the point value of home-processed foods never exceeds 8 points per quart or 4 points per pound. Any farm woman who fails to collect points for home processed foods sold is participating in Black Market operations.

Frozen foods in private or rented lockers are governed by the same regulations, Miss Murray says. She urges home processors to keep accurate records of dates and quantities sold. Points collected must be turned in to the local ration board by the tenth of each month.

It is permissible, the OPA has ruled, for a consumer to buy fresh produce from a farm woman and then to pay the producer by the day for canning the food. But this transaction must be carried out in good faith.

Miss Murray adds that farm families can give away or sell fresh foods for canning, but there is a limitation of 50 quarts to the amount of home-processed foods which can be given to any person or group in any one year without the exchange of point coupons. The food that is given away, however, must come from the supply intended for the household.

Chicago, and Rudolf G. Rydin's appointment as executive representative of the Company at San Francisco, succeeding to the position vacated by Duffy's promotion. E. S. Marsh, chief clerk to the president, was appointed to succeed Rydin as assistant to the president.

Duffy started his railroad career in 1915 on Eastern railroads. He was educated at Case University in Cleveland and later attended George Washington University in Washington, D. C., while working in the office of the U. S. Railway Administration. As secretary to W. L. McMenimen of the U. S. Labor Board, Duffy moved to Chicago. Here he earned a degree from Kent College of Law in 1921. In 1924 he entered Santa Fe service as an attorney. He was made commerce attorney in 1929, shortly thereafter going to San Francisco where he handled the Company's legal affairs until promotion as assistant to president at San Francisco in 1942.

Rydin, succeeding Duffy as personal representative of the Santa Fe's president on the Company's Coast Lines territory, is a native of Chicago. His entire railway service has been in the office of the president at Chicago where he started as pass clerk in November, 1916. He was stenographer from 1917 to 1920 and served as secretary to President W. B. Storey until 1924, when he was appointed general clerk. He held the office of assistant chief clerk and then chief clerk September 1, 1942, when he came assistant to the president. A quarterly dividend of one per share on common stock payable September 1, to stockholders of record at the close of July 28, was also declared by the Board.

A mile of steel rail will cure a little more than one longer in summer than in winter because of expansion caused by summer heat.

The cost of living has gone up like this —

But the price of electricity has come down like this!

NOBODY needs to tell you that the cost of living has been soaring toward high C. But maybe you do need a reminder that the cost of electricity has been sliding down. If yours is an average household, you're getting about twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 15 years ago. And 1944 government figures show that the average price has continued to ease off a little—even since war began. That fact ought to be music to your ears!

Getting prices down and keeping them down is one of the electric industry's greatest achievements. It took a lot of planning, perspiration and practical business management to do this job in wartime. All our people helped.
