Pioneer Resident of County Died Sunday Morning

Funeral for J. D. Jobe Held Monday at 4 o'Clock P. M.

Death came to J. D. Jobe, 90, a pioneer resident of Foard County, on Sunday morning, July 23, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Tom Russell. He had been confined to his bed for only about two weeks. Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Rev. Otis Strickland, pastor of the church, in charge and Rev. R. S. Watkins, pastor of the Methodist Church and Rev. G. O. McMillan, pastor of the Christian Church, assisting. A special song, "Does Jesus Care" was sung by Mrs. C. W. Thompson and Mrs. T. B. Klepper, with Mrs. Strickland playing the accompaniment. Pall bearers were A. B. Wisdom, Walter Long, Allen Shultz, E. V. Cato, Cap Adkins and Will Johnson. Flower bearers were Mrs. Walter Long, Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. H. D. Foyard, Mrs. Hubert Brown, Mrs. Jim Cates, Mrs. Cap Adkins, Mrs. Dave Shultz, Mrs. F. C. Brooks, Mrs. Pete Holcombe and Miss Nora Banister.

Burial was made in the East View Memorial Park at Vernon with the Womack Funeral Home of Crowell in charge. John David Jobe was born in Coryell County on August 16, 1853. He moved to this section of the state before the organization of Foard County. He later moved to Callahan County where he resided for thirteen years and then came back to Foard County and had made his home here since that time.

Mr. Jobe was married to Miss Sallie Payne in 1874. She passed away in 1879. To them two children were born; Frank, who died in infancy and Mrs. Ella Long of Crowell. He later married Mrs. Laura Strickland, who preceded him in death 13 years. To them were born five daughters and four sons. One son, D. T., passed away in 1940.

Mr. Jobe joined the Baptist Church when he was a young man in Cherokee County. He has resided until late years on his farm southeast of Thalia and has been an upright, honorable gentleman, a good neighbor, and an esteemed citizen during the years. Since the death of his wife, he had made his home, almost entirely, with his daughter, Mrs. Long, here.

Survivors include the six daughters, Mrs. Long, Crowell; Mrs. Minnie Moore, Vernon; Mrs. Sallie McLarty, Littlefield; Mrs. Carl Davis, Kirkland; Mrs. Tom Russell, Crowell, and Mrs. Maggie French, Woodsboro; three sons, Fred Jobe, Port Arthur; Sam Jobe, Fort Worth, and Luther Jobe, Paducah. All were present for the funeral except Mrs. Long and Mrs. Jobe. There are 29 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren, and one brother, Sam Jobe, also surviving.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends present were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jobe and Mrs. Lorraine Everett and daughter, of Putnam; Sam Kennedy of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leake, Miss Verna Berl Moore, Mrs. Ima McKinley and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Trulove and daughter, and Mrs. Maurine Leake, all of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Kudeil Russell and two daughters, Frankie Lou and Jackie, of Grandfield, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Cone Green and two children, Patsy Grace and Dan, of Levelland. Sgt. James Jobe of San Antonio, and Glendon Russell, MM 3-C, of New Orleans, La.; Mrs. Fred Jobe and daughter, Shirley Ray of Port Arthur; Mrs. Luther Jobe of Paducah and Carl Davis of Kirkland.

Monday, July 31, Is Last Day to Transfer Children

Monday, July 31, 1944, is the last day upon which children may be transferred from one school district to another, according to Judge Leslie Thomas, county school superintendent. Four corners, Riverside and Thalia, have been classified as eighth-grade elementary schools and as such will teach only elementary grades, including the eighth grade, therefore, all children residing in either of such districts who will be in high school. That is, either a freshman, sophomore, junior or senior must be transferred to the proper receiving school prior to August 1, 1944. The Margaret School District will be transferred by contract, so there will be no need for transfers from such district.

All transfers must be made either by the father, mother or guardian of such child or children. Transfer can be made in the office of Judge Thomas in the court house.

As indicated above the safest policy is to secure seed from growers who do not have either of these smuts and to treat all grain sorghum seed planted.

District 4-H Club Camp at Lake Pauline Groups of 4-H Club boys from every county in district three will converge on Lake Pauline near Quanah, July 31 to August 2, in a three-day camp.

These boys will be selected on the basis of progress in 4-H Club work here in the county. Each boy will carry his bedding, and certain other necessary articles.

They will leave here at 9 a. m. Monday, July 31, and will be conveyed to the camp.

This will be a most interesting camp, as the boys will have their meals furnished and will engage in contests, games, rifle shooting, swimming and will be entertained with moving pictures.

Any boy who is selected to make this trip should have every possible encouragement by his parents as he is fortunate to have this opportunity.

The boys will be divided into small groups with an adult leader to forestall accidents. Life guards will be present when the boys are swimming and boys who cannot swim will be adequately safeguarded.

We are sorry we have to restrict the number who go, but only about 200 can be properly cared for in the camp.

Food will be prepared and served in camp and a building is available should it rain. A small fee of $1.00 each will be charged to cover cost of ammunition used and other incidental expenses.

When the French leader De-Gaulle visited General Pershing in Walter Reed hospital recently, General Pershing remarked to the French visitors that if he had been permitted to march to Berlin in World War 1, World War 2 would not have been necessary. It is sincerely hoped that in the eagerness for peace the hard won gains of this world war will not be thrown away as were those of the last war. The propaganda used in the last war to bring about a premature peace was that the sooner the war could be stopped the less American lives would be lost. The Allies who had already paid a big price left the job half finished and have since paid a thousand times over for their lack of sound judgment.

All Persons Should Be Immunized Against Typhoid Fever

Austin.—"Vacation time is likely to be typhoid fever time," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "The summer months, when swimming, camping, and picnics are at their height, are usually accompanied by the year's highest incidence of this disease."

Dr. Cox strongly recommended immunization against typhoid fever for persons of all ages who want to enjoy warm weather activities secure from the threat of this disease. Protection is achieved by three inoculations, usually one week apart. The treatment should be repeated every third year, because the immunity conferred does not ordinarily last longer than three years. If you have not been vaccinated against this disease since 1941, inoculations are, therefore, in order.

"Improved sanitation, it is true, has gone far to lower the incidence of typhoid fever in recent years," Dr. Cox said. "It is known that every case develops as a result of consuming milk, food, or water contaminated with human excreta containing the disease-producing germs. Sometimes such discharges come from a patient ill with typhoid fever and sometimes from a carrier, and apparently healthy person who has had the disease and, after recovery, continues to discharge its germs."

"In spite of these community safeguards, personal immunization should not be neglected," Dr. Cox warned. "However careful you and the health authorities may try to be, there is the possibility of infection from some unsuspected source, particularly during the summer when people are often lured into remote places, away from approved water supplies, pasteurized milk, and safe raw foods. By all means, go to your doctor for vaccination against typhoid fever."

ness for peace the hard won gains of this world war will not be thrown away as were those of the last war. The propaganda used in the last war to bring about a premature peace was that the sooner the war could be stopped the less American lives would be lost. The Allies who had already paid a big price left the job half finished and have since paid a thousand times over for their lack of sound judgment.

AMERICAN HEROES

When his platoon in New Guinea was pinned down by heavy enemy machine gun and rifle fire, Private Maurice L. Levy, of Chicago, set for his life in the crutch of two big trees. He stopped six of the enemy during the night, and 19 more with the coming of daylight. Wounded four times and weak from loss of blood, he crawled down to safety. Back his bravery with another War Bond. The Christmas present with a future.

SAFETY SLOGANS

Don't go off and leave a trash fire burning. A spark from it may destroy your neighbor's home.

It is foolish to try to save seconds and hazard lives. Most people by starting a few minutes earlier could reduce their driving to a safe speed.

It is dangerous, highly dangerous, to clean clothing in gasoline. Silk or wool fabric will generate a sufficient spark to ignite the gasoline. Remember it requires but one careless act to receive a burn that may mar one for life.

When the French leader De-Gaulle visited General Pershing in Walter Reed hospital recently, General Pershing remarked to the French visitors that if he had been permitted to march to Berlin in World War 1, World War 2 would not have been necessary. It is sincerely hoped that in the eager-

THANKS!

Words are inadequate to express my sincere appreciation for the large vote of confidence extended me in the Primary election on July 22nd.

Such a vote of confidence assuredly merits the best and highest service possible to be rendered and I, again, assure you that my total efforts will continue to be directed toward the goal of rendering to the people of the entire county, a sound, sane and impartial administration.

Red Cross Doughnuts

In this time of death and destruction, doughnuts may seem trivial for editorial comment. But because this is a time of suffering, the American doughnut becomes an item of increasing significance.

A dispatch shortly after D-Day said that Red Cross girls had landed in Normandy to comfort the wounded. They took doughnuts, cigarettes, gum, candy and matches, plus a large quantity of American friendliness.

There, on the beachhead and on hospital ships carrying the wounded to England, these girls went, dispensing supplies and encouragement.

"The men were magnificent and so terribly appreciative," said one of the girls.

In Normandy, or Italy, or on an isolated airfield in North Africa, a doughnut is more than a tire-shaped confection with sugar. It's a symbol of home—rendered doubly significant because it's presented by an American girl.

Today, Red Cross girls travel regularly on the hospital ships between Normandy and England. Red Cross field directors are at the side of the invasion forces to offer personal services and help.

The girls are lighting cigarettes for men who have no hands—comforting men whose sight is gone—being mothers, sisters, aunts and friends in time of great need.

Each represents the folks back home. Her badge of service is a Red Cross. Her gift is a doughnut, a stick of gum and a smile. "The gift from home" is small—but meaningful beyond words to beachhead heroes.

Westbrook Pegler comes in for a lot of sharp criticism from certain sources because of the frankness with which he discusses the sins of labor organizations. Labor leaders instead of snending their time exhorting Pegler should clean up the dirt under the rug that Pegler uncovers. Merely denying a fault doesn't correct it.

The Roosevelt administration had not done anything else, a loan account to give us insured bank deposits it has made a real contribution to the people.

It can truthfully be said these days that the harvest is great and the laborers are few. Every day with any ability these days get more than he can do.

This What You Wanted, Sergeant?

The answer will doubtless be "Yes," because Pfc. Lyle D. ... Lake City, Utah, was an auto parts clerk but consequently had a skill the Army could use. Army teaches recruits whatever they need to know.

In the opinion of the American Automobile Association most motorists appear to have no conception of the necessity of conserving their tires. They never stop to think of driving less to save tires. Many of them have not given up a single mile of driving because of the war.

The Automobile Association finds no basis for the rosy statements emanating from Washington to the effect that there will soon be plenty of tires. Although much progress has been made in the production of synthetic rubber the country's actual requirements are 1,050,000 tons a year with a production of 850,000 tons or 200,000 tons short of actual requirements.

This country formerly used about forty-five million tires a year. But for 18 months, tire production stopped entirely. Under present production schedules, even though they are being met, it will be impossible to catch up. Recapping and tire conservation by means of less and less driving will be the only solution to the problem as American Automobile Association officials see it.

The Labor Union leaders have originated what is known as a "Political Action Committee." The function of the committee is to collect and use C. I. O. funds in elections. One of the plans of the committee is to work for the defeat of all congressmen who vote against any labor measure.

Industry has the same sort of a committee. The coming battle, it appears, will be a battle by two pressure groups both of whom will be amply financed, with Mr. Average Citizen and Mr. Average Taxpayer ground between the upper and lower millstone.

Editorial writers have their off days. On such days after several hours work they find they have a dozen or so sheets of copy on the copy hook and a waste basket running over with rejected paragraphs.

It can truthfully be said these days that the harvest is great and the laborers are few. Every day with any ability these days get more than he can do.

Temptation is the only thing that some folks seem to yield to.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

In many respects this thing of community planning that is glibly referred to as community post-war planning is like the weather of which it has been said that everyone talks about it, but that nothing is ever done about it.

I have attended a number of meetings called for the purpose of discussing community post-war plans. Some have been addressed by so called experts and others have been conducted by local talent. In each instance many plans were discussed. Some of them were practical, but most of them were not. I felt as I listened to the talks by the various speakers that the plans were merely being mentioned to be forgotten after the meeting adjourned.

Considering the nature of many of the plans I think it just as well that they should be forgotten. They would accomplish no real good. Most of them were advanced by persons who had been called upon to talk and who felt that it was necessary that they say something.

With some exceptions I think this is pretty generally true, the country over. Much is being said about community post-war plans, but little is really being done.

Fortunately for the post-war world this condition is not true in the case of the average individual. It is the individual who is doing the post-war planning that is going to fill in the gap between the close of the war and the time when the country resumes normal functioning.

Talk with any individual and he will tell you of the plans he has "when the war is over." I have talked with a good many along this line and the person who does not have such plans is the exception.

Each expansion in itself is not going to mean a great deal in meeting the post-war demand, but the sum total of all of these expansions, improvements, and new housing is going to mean a great deal. It will tax the production facilities of this nation.

I have no patience with the individual who predicts a gloomy period of depression after the war. I feel that the very opposite will be the one. I feel that the country will face the greatest period of prosperity, expansion and development that it has ever seen.

The end of the war is not only going to bring about a new world in the world, but is going to bring a new world to the nation. We are going to emerge from a cocoon of frozen inactivity and static immobility to a new life. We are headed for a new advance in the physical accoutrements of our individual lives.

I think we are in far more of overdoing our expansion after the war and then slipping into a depression because of too much and too rapid expansion than we are of encountering a period of depression when the war is over.

As I read the signs everything points to a mighty revival of business and activity. Energies that have lain dormant the past several years are already chafing at their restraint and tugging at the leashes, impatient for the "Go" sign. Now is the time of all times to plan and get ready for the big things that are on the way.

HISTORY

The "Constitution's" Great Victory—August 19: August 19 is the anniversary of the battle between the American ship the "Constitution" and the British the "Guerriere." The battle occurred off the east coast of Nova Scotia. The English press had spoken on a number of occasions in a scornful manner of the American Navy and had confidently promised complete destruction of the Constitution should the British Navy ever be permitted to engage in combat with it.

Captain Isaac Hull in command of the Constitution sailed from Boston on August 12 and began a search for the British Navy. On the afternoon of August 19, he met the English ship the "Guerriere." The English ship began firing on the Constitution at long range. Captain Hull ordered his men to hold fire until they had approached close to the Guerriere. The first broadside from the Constitution shot away the mast of the English ship besides otherwise seriously crippling it.

The battle lasted for thirty minutes at the end of which time the English Captain surrendered. The British sustained the loss of three hundred killed and wounded and the Americans 34. The English survivors were taken aboard the Constitution and the Guerriere set afire and sunk. The engagement was hailed as a great achievement and a vindication of the American Navy over the superior British Navy. A dinner was given in Boston and the authorities of New York gave equal recognition to the American captain and his crew. Congress voted Captain Hull a gold medal and appropriated $50,000 to be distributed among the officers and crew.

"The Hour Before the Dawn" at Rialto

More cold-blooded than Leslie in "The Letter," more cruel than Mildred in "Of Human Bondage" and more evil than Sadie Thompson in "Rain" is Veronica Lake in "The Hour Before the Dawn" showing at the Rialto Theatre Sunday and Monday. Costarring with Franchot Tone, Miss Lake brings to the screen a thrilling portrayal of W. Somerset Maugham's most dangerous woman. She sells out her father, her husband, and even herself in her mad race for power.

Friendly Invaders from the U.S. Swell Edmonton's Population

FOR a decade Edmonton had participated in the normal growth of Western Canadian cities, but now as a result of its place as a "jumping-off" centre for wartime development of the Alaskan Highway and the Dominion's great Northwest Territories, the population has zoomed up. During the winter of 1942-3 the census figures increased by 25,000, boosting the city's resident population to 130,000. In addition a transient percentage, mainly U. S. workmen headed North, ran the total even higher. Edmontonians watched their housing problems already acute, increase tenfold. They worried as stocks in dry goods stores were depleted rapidly. They became without exception, the Dominion's most habitual "standers-in-line." They stood in long queues for meals, for theatres, for transportation, for liquor. They didn't know whether to laugh or blow up when their city was dubbed "Edmonton, U.S.A." They do now. They laugh. Ed-monton's population will stand in lines with Uncle Sam's friendly invaders, but the grumbling, if any, is mild. The housing situation is still alarming but this, it is realized, is due in the main to normal wartime expansion. The city has experienced an influx of Canadian war workers along with the Americans. Moreover, the fact remains that many U. S. companies, with an eye to the good-neighbour policy, have provided accommodations for their own staffs.

The kid who trapped a college education

TOMMY is ten. He lives in Mountain Lakes, New Jersey. There's a lake in back of the house, and a lake in front of the house, and between them runs a gay little brook. Some time ago, when Tommy's book of War Savings Stamps wasn't filling up fast enough, he hit upon the idea of getting help from some rats he knew. So he bought some traps, and set them in the brook for muskrats. So far he's caught a number of the rats, and even a mink. And he has, earned by himself and in his own name, $200 worth of War Bonds!

Tommy puts 100% of all he earns into War Bonds. He's going to hang onto them, to assure himself of a college education and other benefits in the years that lie ahead. We think that a lot of his elders could learn from him.

They Met in Petticoat Lane

THIS pretty young lady of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service will never forget the trip she made along Petticoat Lane in London, England, where they say you can buy anything from a packet of needles to a grand piano. And this Wren believes it for the naval photographer who took the picture had three bids on his camera and apparatus before he had gone a hundred yards. But all Wren Eve Kerr of Fox River, Nova Scotia, is interested in is a game of darts with two American soldiers. Here she is shown discussing the situation with Private (First Class) C. V. Moore of Petersburg, Virginia, and Corp. Robert Pittman of Chicago, Illinois.

In addition to serving in Britain, Canadian Wrens are stationed at nearly every naval establishment in Canada, and there are more than 1,000 at one eastern port. They also serve in Newfoundland, Washington and New York.

FSA Loans Assist Veterans
Farm operating loans have been made to several hundred honorably discharged service men who had no other source of credit to finance food production, the Department of Agriculture announces. These Federal Security Administration Loans are enabling Veterans of the present war to lease or buy farm land and to obtain all the necessary equipment and facilities needed to start their farm operations.

Food Allotments For Farm Help
Farms, Ranches and other non-institutional employers of seasonal workers may now apply for allotments of rationed foods to feed workers hired for 60 days or less, the Office of Price Administration announces. Previously, allotments were granted for 30 days or less. Farm workers employed for more than 60 days must continue to turn in their ration points to their employer for food served that required points.

United States War Expenditures
For the Fiscal Year, 1944, United States War Expenditures were $89,900,000,000, as compared with $75,100,000,000 for 1943—an increase of almost 20 per cent—the War Production Board announces. U. S. War Expenditures amounted to $192,900,000,000 from July 1, 1940, through June 30, 1944.

Many State Roads Need Repairs
Many state highways will be in need of repairs and rebuilding by the end of the war, according to an office of War Information report, based on data from the public roads administration and state and private agencies. At present, the most impressive immediate program calls for improving 34,000 miles of rural and urban highways as recommended by the National Interregional Highway Committee. Final action by congress is pending.

Electric Irons Coming In Fall
Of the 2,027,838 electric irons already authorized for civilian production, about 99 per cent will be household models, mostly automatic, and the remainder, commercial models, WFB says. The irons will not be rationed and some of them are expected to be available in the fall.

Handlers Are Burning Used Boxes
Large numbers of used containers are being destroyed because there have been no requests for them, the War Food Administration warns. Handlers of used orange boxes, for example, are burning them up by the thousands because many farmers have not as yet accepted these usable boxes as substitutes to pack their particular crops. Orange boxes are adequate and suitable to send many different kinds of crops to market, and farmers are being urged to ask their suppliers for as many of these used containers as they may need. Farmers should get their orders in immediately since handlers of used baskets and boxes are saving only those they are asked to save, WFA says.

OPA Reduces Oats Ceilings
An average reduction of five cents a bushel in the ceiling prices of oats has been announced by OPA. New base prices at terminal base points range from 71 cents at Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., to 83½ cents at Philadelphia, Pa. OPA says the new prices will reflect parity to producing farmers during the current crop year.

New Non-Highway Gas Coupons
New, non-highway, serially numbered gasoline coupons, E-2 and R-2, are now being issued in strips to farmers and other non-highway users, OPA has announced. The new coupons will be good concurrently with the E-1 and R-1 coupons now in circulation. The five-gallon R-2 coupons are printed in blue ink, and the one-gallon E-2 coupons, in black ink. While neither of the new coupons is good for highway use, the E-2 specifically carries the legend: "Not good for obtaining gasoline to propel registered vehicle."

Round-Up

Under the "Corn-For-War" Program, war food administrator Marvin Jones said, "Farmers have fought the war as truly as though on the battle front," by providing almost 68 million bushels of corn for the manufacture of essential war materials. . . . The 63,637 Mexicans now working on farms largest number employed at any time since the program to use Mexican workers was started in September, 1942, WFA reports.

The first counterfeit among the serially numbered gasoline coupons, A, B-33 has been picked up by an OPA investigator in western Pennsylvania, and OPA has warned the trade to check coupon endorsements against license numbers. . . . Persons who lose their war ration books no longer are required to advertise the loss before replacements are made, OPA says.

Department of Agriculture scientists have discovered in bright or fine-cured tobacco a valuable glucoside, rutin, that is effective in treating conditions arising from high blood pressure. . . . Chicks produced by commercial hatcheries during the first six months of 1944 totaled 1,935,471,000 compared to 1,299,316,000 for the same period last year—a decrease of 19.8 per cent—USDA reports, of the approximately 11,355,000 workers on farms in the United States, July 1, those who received wages were paid at the highest rates on record, USDA says.

WFB announces—Wide, new uses of aluminum for essential products are now permitted. . . . Unlimited use of glass containers for the packing of most foods, drugs and health supplies is now permitted.

Food, Home Notes

(By Miss Elizabeth Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent.)

Safe Picnic Food

Keep picnic meats, eggs, sandwiches, salads and cooked desserts in the refrigerator until just before serving for outdoor and community meals this summer. Sandwiches of cooked ham, tongue, egg or mayonnaise, made up ahead of the meal, must be kept in a cool place to be safe for eating of other moist foods, such as salads of chicken, egg or potato, salad dressings, cream sauce, cream puffs, custard pie, custard-filled cake or other soft moist cakes.

These foods frequently are the cause of food poisoning in hot weather simply because many people do not realize the need for keeping them cold after cooking. When prepared in large quantity for serving a crowd, cooked food is too often left standing in a warm kitchen. Many people do not understand that the lightly cured, precooked, ready-to-serve ham now on the market must be kept refrigerated. A common kind of bacteria causing food poisoning when such foods are not kept cold does not show up in the taste or odor of food.

Meat Keeping

A good refrigerator is not the complete answer to the keeping of meat in summer. If not given the right care in the refrigerator, meat may dry out, mold, acquire an unpleasant taste, or even spoil. Never wash or even wipe meat with a damp cloth until just before cooking. Usually washing is unnecessary and wastes good juice and flavor. Remove meat from the market paper as soon as it reaches the kitchen, lay on a plate, cover lightly with waxed paper, and put in the meat compartment of the refrigerator, just under the freezing unit. Do not cut or chop meat until just before using because cut and chopped meat spoils faster than whole pieces.

Large Cuts.—Steaks, chops and roasts generally keep best of all cuts, so may be safely held 2 or 3 days in a refrigerator with a temperature of 45 degrees F. or colder.

Ground Meat and Variety Cuts.—Cook ground meat within 24 hours after purchasing, or freeze in freezing unit. Before freezing add seasoning and form into cooking portions, then wrap tightly in waxed paper to keep from drying out. The same rule holds for variety meats like liver, kidneys, and heart.

Cured Meat.—Ham and other smoked meats, if mildly cured, need refrigeration but will keep in the refrigerator as long as two weeks. To prevent mold they can be wrapped in clean cloth wrung out of vinegar and then in waxed paper.

Cooked Meat.—Leftover cooked meat keeps best in a covered dish or wrapped in waxed paper to prevent drying out. Handle as little as possible.

Poultry.—Chicken and other poultry is the exception to the rule of not washing or wiping until just before using. Clean and wipe poultry with a damp cloth before putting it in the refrigerator. Leave bird whole until just before using. Chicken will keep longer whole than in pieces.

Sugar and Shape

Whatever its effect on the human form may be, sugar does help hold the shape of cooked fruit by making the tissues more firm—a point to remember in home canning as well as in making jams and preserves this summer. In making fruit preserves, for example, the soft more tender fruits like berries, cherries and peaches hold their shape better if they stand overnight in sugar before being cooked. Though the fruit loses juice and shrinks somewhat as it stands in sugar, it becomes more firm and is less likely to cook to pieces. Another way of holding the shape of fruit in preserves is to cook it in thick sugar sirup. Fruits that are naturally very firm, like Keiffer pears may be made hard and tough by the action of sugar. So when these fruits are made into preserves, they are steamed or cooked in water before the sugar is added or they are cooked in thin sirup.

The toughening or hardening effect of sugar on seeds and skins must also affect the making of jams and marmalades. In making plum jam, the fruit is cooked in a little water until the skins are tender before the sugar is added. Blackberries are crushed and brought slowly to boiling before adding the sugar to help keep the seeds from hardening, or the fruit is cooked a few minutes and then the seeds are sieved out.

Fruit canned without sugar will keep from spoilage, but does not hold its shape well.

Hot Rinse For Rice

Rinse rice with hot rather than cold water both before and after boiling. Before cooking, wash rice in hot water and drain to remove powdery material on the surface of the polished grains. After boiling tender in salted water, drain rice in a colander or sieve and pour hot water through it to remove loose starch and separate grains. Hot water does the job more thoroughly and also keeps the rice hot.

Farm Folks Have Low Safety Score

Although agriculture employs 16 per cent of the nation's workers, last year agriculture reported 24 per cent of all fatal accidents. That's not a very good record. And it's one of the reasons why National Farm Safety Week will be observed in this country beginning July 23.

Last year two million farmers or members of their families or hired hands were hurt in some kind of farm accident. Were you one of those two million? Enough time was lost as a result of these accidents to have produced half the annual wheat crop of this country. Because of them, four and one-half days' food supply for every person in this country never was produced.

Two-fifths of all these accidents to farm people occur in the homes. Falls are the leading cause of these farm home tragedies. Burns come next. Third in the list are accidents with guns or pistols.

As you'd naturally suspect, most of the outside accidents involve machinery. About a fourth of them, however, were caused by livestock, and one out of 10 was a case of heat prostration.

Today, as you work about your farm or home, keep your eyes open for danger spots. Watch for equipment which needs repair. Check your fire hazards. Promise yourself you won't let a week go by before you make your place a safer farm or home.

Incidentally, don't let a day go by before you get a complete first aid kit, one that is adapted to the needs on a farm.

It is estimated that there are more than 10,000 mineral springs in the United States.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

You will save money by planning a week's menus at once; buying in bulk saves money; future planning saves food and health. A medium-sized dish of raw strawberries will furnish more than a third of a day's allowance of vitamin C. Cook meat at a low temperature to keep essential juices, better flavor and to make the tender meat cuts. Braising, browning and roasting in a small amount of liquid with the lid on, is used for tender meat cuts.

The proudest title in the Army

IT CONSISTS of two simple words. Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it. This title is simply: "Good Soldier." It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title—the proudest in the Army. For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC... "They're soldiers. Good soldiers!"

For the Armies of Invasion

VITAL to an invading army, the production in Canada of military communications equipment jumped from $84 million in 1942 to $180 million in 1943. Total value of this production to date is $320 million, and the production of this equipment continues to be an expanding program of the Department of Munitions and Supply, in which the peak has not yet been reached. Social Security Board Field Office Will Help You

Sometimes young widows, aged parents, and orphans do not know they are eligible for benefits and lose money through delay in filing their claims.

In addition to the monthly old-age benefits payable to the insured worker himself at age 65 or after, the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system provides for monthly benefits to members of his family. Benefits are also payable to his family at his death, whatever his age.

Benefits totaling over 16 million dollars a month were in force at the end of 1943 for almost 900,000 beneficiaries. The sharpest increase in number was in widow's benefits, which rose 82 per cent.

A safe rule is this: When in doubt about your right to old-age and survivors insurance benefits, visit the local office of the Social Security Board. No matter where you work or live, you're probably not very far from a Social Security field office or from one of its part-time service points.

The Social Security Board field office serving this area is located at 412 Federal Building, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Sen. George Moffett Expresses Thanks

The News has received the following statement from State Senator George Moffett:

"The unofficial returns indicate that the present race for Congress is the closest this district has ever had. The official tabulation conceivably could change the result; therefore, I will withhold a final statement until the official returns are made. I want to say now, however, that I have never had any connection with the CIO. I most earnestly desire to thank those who voted for and helped me in the contest just closed, and am glad the campaign was free from personalities. Meanwhile, we should get on with winning the war so that the boys can come home."

Red Cross sewing services are taken right to the servicemen near the St. Paul, Minn., chapter by means of the mobile sewing unit. In the last six months 248 volunteers worked on 2,671 garments for navy men stationed on the mobile unit's route. One of the most faithful volunteers at the Ft. Worth, Okla., chapter canteen is a railroad conductor who issues an invitation to all servicemen on his train to visit the canteen during the 20-minute stop. In addition, he serves coffee and doughnuts in the canteen during the rush period, and sees that all the men are back on the train before it pulls out.

FERRY PILOTS

FROM Fleet Aircraft's big plant at Fort Erie, New York, keen-eyed, tanned American girls are piloting trainers to Royal Canadian Air Force bases from the Atlantic to the Pacific. These expert fliers are the "Wasps"—Women's Airforce Service Pilots—who, although they have civilian status, form a mighty important branch of the U. S. Army Air Forces with the air transport and other AAF commands. All of the girls are veterans of hundreds of hours' flying time, are extremely efficient, and according to their commander, are more careful about detail than the average man. Most of them have taken the regular air cadet course with the exception of gunnery and combat tactics. Among the Wasps helping to deliver training ships into the hands of the Dominion's fledgling fliers are girls who come from families wealthy and poor, from all parts of the United States. However, they have this in common: They are on this job because they are crazy about flying, and because they are seriously patriotic.

R. L. Surles, district manager of Social Security, was present as a visitor and made a short talk in regard to the benefits to be derived from the Social Security Act. Other visitors were M. G. Martin and E. L. Knight of Fort Worth.

END OF THE ROAD

The U. S. News, after analyzing the effect of current tax laws on business, concludes that "neither individuals nor corporations can be expected to risk money, increase production and provide jobs until tax rates are lowered. The rewards, in general, are too small for the chances to be taken." It adds, however, that "any plan to reduce taxes bumps up against the hard fact that the Treasury must have revenue—and vast amounts of it—to pay interest on the national debt, to care for veterans, to maintain an army and navy, and, finally, to operate the regular government departments."

For years the trend has been toward higher and higher taxes against productive enterprise. The war has hastened the trend until at last the end of the road has been reached. It is useless to cry for higher taxes against industry. The money isn't there. From now on the bills of the Federal government will be paid by a majority of the people instead of a minority. And that goes for the debt, too. Whatever a politician announces that the government is going to do this or that for the people, he really means that government is going to tax the people to do it. The government is not Santa Claus; it is merely the tax collector, and the people are beginning to realize it.—Industrial News-Review.

It is predicted that aluminum will be one of the first metals released by the War Production Board for the production of civilian goods.

MEDICINE LOOKS AHEAD

The high type of thinking that dominates the ranks of the medical profession is growingly illustrated in the remarks of Dr. Thompson Coberth, President of the Oregon State Medical Society, inaugurating the new publication, The Oregon Physician. He warned that "public discussion of medical practice has risen to torrential force."

"Woven through every editorial, lay or medical, every statement by congressmen, every newspaper account, every letter home from a doctor in service, is the question as to whether or not there is to be socialization of medicine. It is limited to no one area, or class, or interested group; it is talked of everywhere, by everyone.

"This puts behind us forever the time when we can even think about how pleasant it might be to keep things as they were. There are going to be tremendous changes. And if we as physicians have love for the greatness of our profession and pride in its dignity, we shall take the leadership in those changes.

"It is easy to forget that the public knows nothing of us except as it encounters us in illness.

It never sees the years of grinding research, the fatigue of conscientious physicians, the struggles of medical societies with economic problems. It knows only that we can now provide technical aids beyond the quick command of the modest purse. It is conscious only that it needs a way to participate in all these benefits and a way to spread the cost over time and population."

Independent stores face tough post-war competition from chain and mail order houses, according to Franklin J. Bradley, president of an independent merchants buying syndicate. According to the authority, mail order companies are planning new department stores and specialty shops to sell staple goods such as appliances and floor coverings. Big tire companies will invade the department store field while soft goods chains will carry hard lines and price limitations of variety chains will

EXPENSIVE CANDY

Government publicity experts have been doing an impressive job of outlining the vast benefits which the people may expect to derive after the war from the Federal government's hydro-electric power projects. However, before discounting the investor-owned electric industry as archaic junk, the other side of the story should be told.

The steam plants of the private power industry produce most of the electric power in the United States. The industry has found that steam-produced electric power is often cheaper than hydro-electric power. An electric power plant which uses coal costs only about one-third as much to build as a hydro-electric plant having the same capacity. A ton of water would have to drop a mile to generate the same amount of energy as there is in a pound of coal, properly burned. In most parts of the country it is usually more economical to carry coal from the mine to the place where it is needed to make electric power, than it is to transmit equal electric energy from a power dam. These are a few of the reasons why the private electric industry can face the future with confidence.

But there are others. The private power companies can point with pride to their contributions to the maintenance of government. Nearly twenty-five cents out of every dollar of gross income goes to the public treasury in taxes. In war these taxes help to buy planes and guns. In peace, as in war, they help to maintain schools, police and fire protection and other public services. Government power dams are tax exempt.

And finally, the private power companies are not ashamed of the principles they represent and espouse, namely, private ownership of property under constitutional government. Their frankness is in sharp contrast with the evasiveness of government ownership promoters who studiously avoid the word socialism, while holding forth the candy of "cheap" power at the taxpayers' expense.—Industrial News-Review.

be largely eliminated. The independent merchant, Bradley said, must drop complacency, work with other stores in buying goods, use research, planned operations, strong promotion and improvement in quality.
