Food, Home Notes

(By Miss Elizabeth Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent.)

Home-Made Hospital Helps
More and more families these days are trying to combine the resourcefulness of grandmother with the science of modern medicine to care for the sick. Of course, that's because of the shortage of doctors and nurses.

If there's sickness in your home, here are some things that may lighten your job, and at the same time make your patient more comfortable. Should the patient need a back-rest, try using a straight-backed chair bottom-side up. Brace the legs against the side of the bed so that the back will be at an angle, then cover the support with pillows. A washboard, card table, or board often can serve the same purpose.

For an ice bag you can tie the ends of a piece of old inner tube securely. Or you might sew up the sleeves of an old raincoat. And if you haven't a feeding tube for invalids, a teapot, gravy boat or cream pitcher is easier to drink from than a glass. A door silencer is also a good item for a sick room. You might tie a sponge, cloth or piece of rubber between the two handles of a door knob.

The average bed in a home is so low it's hard to tend a sick person in it without straining your back. You can raise the bed to a comfortable height with some homemade blocks. If you use these, it's a good idea to remove the castors.

Boiled Linseed Oil
It's a good idea to use this homemade mixture at least twice a year on varnished or oiled furniture. Apply it with a soft cloth, then wipe the excess off with a clean cloth. Finally, rub the surface until the wood is entirely dry and your fingers won't leave a mark. If the wood is badly soiled, it may require something more than just polishing. You might wash it, but certainly not with soap and water. Make another solution of three tablespoons of turpentine and one quart of hot water. Be careful with that turpentine, too. Remember, it's highly inflammable.

Finally, here's another interesting tip. You can concealy small scratches on a piece of furniture by rubbing each one with a nut meat. Pecans or walnuts work very well.

Canning Fruit Juices
Fruit juices may be canned safely without the use of sugar, however, adding it helps hold the color and flavor of the juice.

The juice may be canned in glass fruit jars or in bottles with crown caps. If it is put up in bottles, a capper must be used. Sealing bottles with corks dipped in wax or paraffin is to be avoided because this type of seal will not withstand processing.

Bottles and jars should be smooth, free from nicks and cracks. After washing, they should be heated in water until it boils. Crown caps for the bottles should be wiped clean with a damp cloth but should not be washed. Just before the caps are used they should be dipped in boiling water.

Handle only small batches of ripe, firm fruit at a time. The secret of keeping the fine natural flavor and color of the fruit lies in heating just enough to sterilize but not so much that the color and flavor change.

Berries, red cherries and plums are prepared for juice by removing the pits, crushing, and heating to simmering. Then they are strained through a cloth bag. Add sugar as desired, about a half to a cup of sugar for each gallon of juice, depending on the sweetness of the fruit. After the sugar is added, heat the juice again to simmering and pour into the hot jars or bottles. Fill jars to one-fourth inch of the top and bottles to one-half inch of the top. Adjust the lids of jars or seal caps on bottles. Process either pint or quart jars or bottles in a boiling water bath for 15 to 20 minutes.

News On the Clothing Front

The news about fall clothing is mostly good.

There'll be more clothing for infants and children in the stores, for one thing. And there'll be an increase in the amount of boys' and men's knit union suits and boys' overalls. However, we can not expect the quality of the material to be as good as pre-war fabrics.

So far, the War Production Board has given assurance that there will be only enough clothing for essential needs, certainly not enough for indiscriminate buying or hoarding. And even though the situation is better than it was six months ago, we are still honor bound to make our clothes last.

Along with the announcement about more clothing for men and boys, OPA has announced dollars and cents ceiling prices for most clothing made according to WPB specifications. These ceilings will apply to low cost house dresses, women's cotton slips, and men's shirts and shorts, so keep this in mind when you shop.

On some cottons, though, you can expect an increase in price.

Now what is your part in this program. Here are three ways every homemaker can help. You can keep your family's clothing in good condition by careful laundering and mending. You can make over and re-style your clothes instead of buying new ones. And finally you can reinforce the sewing on the new garments you buy. That should make your clothing wear as long as possible.

Care of Wood Furniture

Today's household news is about taking care of your wood furniture. We mean your valuable antiques, your pre-war purchases, or even your duration furnishings.

No matter how old wood may be, whether it's veneer or solid, it tends to dry out. And when wood furniture loses much of its moisture, it becomes loose-jointed. Or it may crack and warp and the veneer may loosen.

Wood furniture needs oil to keep it in condition. If you keep the surfaces sealed with oil or polish, your pieces will look better and last longer. You can buy good furniture polishes or you can make a good and inexpensive polish yourself. It's easy. Just mix one part turpentine with two parts

NOTICE!

WATER USERS!

Owing to the continued hot and dry weather the water supply of the City of Crowell is being consumed at a rapid rate and the water situation has again become a serious matter. The City Council met Tuesday and passed the following resolutions to relieve the situation as much as possible.

To residential sections, 2,500 gallons is the minimum amount of water allowed. After using in excess of 1,000 gallons over and above the minimum of 2,500 gallons, the person or persons will have his water disconnected.

For restaurants and drug stores the minimum will be 4,000 gallons.

For service stations, the minimum will be 5,000 gallons. The service stations will be asked to discontinue the washing of all cars.

Citizens of Crowell using air cooled water conditioners will be allowed to continue the use of them, but are respectfully asked to use as little water as possible.

These regulations are based on the weather conditions. Should we have a rain supplying sufficient amounts of water, these regulations are null and void.

Everyone is asked to co-operate 100 per cent until we can provide ample water from the new water source.

The rates will remain the same as rates charged last month.

attack on any segment of American life is again emphasized in the recent complaint of a labor spokesman who cried: "We have seen American newspapers, as a class, build prejudice against labor unions, not by seeking out and dealing with the real sins in some of them, but by treating the one-quarter of one per cent of time lost through wildcat strikes as if these microscopic work stoppages represented general sabotage of the war effort."

Generalized attacks on labor are wrong—but then so are generalized attacks against industry, to say nothing of attacking the press as a prejudiced class. Labor is now getting a dose of the same bitter medicine that it helped dish out.

LABOR'S TURN NOW

A few years ago when industrial empires were crumbling in the depression, the ears of management rang with the accusations of extremists who charged in effect that every corporation was out to maul the public. The sensible retort that the misdeeds of a few promoters did not warrant general condemnation of industry, fell on deaf ears. Punitive laws and tax measures were enacted that still handicap many businesses. The stupidity of a generalized

Time For Soil Conservation District Election Approaches

This election concerns every property owner and every citizen of Foard County. In order that you may have an opportunity to learn how these districts operate, we are having two meetings next week as follows: one at Thalia next Friday night, August 4, at the school house at 9 p. m. Another here at Crowell Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the court house.

We will have with us at these two meetings Paul Haynes of the A. & M. Extension Service, who is familiar with this program as it now operates over the state in 110 districts, who will address the groups.

The following week, meetings will be held at Margaret, Tuesday, August 8; Foard City, Wednesday, August 9; and Riverside, Thursday, August 10. All meetings to be held at night at the usual meeting place beginning at 9 p. m. We are asking a representative of the soil conservation service to be with us at these meetings.

Remember, the election to follow on Saturday, August 12. Vote at your nearest and most convenient box. Polls will be open at Crowell, Thalia, Foard City and Rayland.

Any land owner and his wife are eligible to vote if they otherwise qualify under the Texas Election Law. Vote your sentiments.

Grain Sorghum Harvest Begun

Several fields of grain sorghum were harvested last week, and harvest is well under way at present. The yield will vary considerably over the county, depending on whether the particular area has had sufficient rainfall or not. It will be small in some sections and satisfactory in others.

There are sufficient machines. The price is somewhat under last year's average at present. As combines are returning from the out-of-county wheat harvest areas. There will be sufficient machinery here in the county to take care of the harvest as the crop will mature and ripen gradually over the county.

While labor is very scarce yet there will be sufficient available help to take care of the crop. Storage or transportation to market does not seem to offer any difficulties.

There has been an increased acreage of grain sorghum in the county. It is perhaps 25,000 acres.

The quality of the grain as a rule will be standard. There is a lot of smut in the grain sorghum this year.

There is a wider spread of varieties this year with less of the Martin and more of the Plainsman variety.

The Cotton Outlook

The intense heat of the past week which reached its maximum Thursday, August 27, resulting in temperatures of 110° in the shade and 120° in the sun has resulted in some crop damage, especially in the dry areas of the county. It is the first time this season that the cotton plant showed extreme wilt of the leaves of the plant.

The stalk growth has advanced rapidly and the plant was rather tender so extreme heat caused a temporary collapse where moisture was scarce.

There has been only minor insect damage, some an edusting for flea hopper and there is slight boll weevil damage. Cotton bolls in normal summer heat but is injured by intense heat, especially in the dry areas.

The crop as a whole to date is normal or better and with favorable weather should put on and mature a good crop of cotton. The grasshopper scourge has passed and we hope they will not recur again next year. On the whole, the crop has been worked out and is clean of grass

WILL THEY LEARN...

Many of the changes proposed in the Price Control Act before it was renewed for another year, undoubtedly had a salutary effect on the administrators of the law.

Changes in the Act as passed reduced mandatory fines or damages for inadvertent errors in price ceilings. That colossal failure of two years' standing, the Highest Price Line Limitations order, which prevented many established stores from selling certain of the low-priced women's and children's wearing apparel was definitely eliminated.

As the smoke clears away, there is the definite impression that OPA officials realize that, while the public is behind them on the basic principles of rationing and price control, it is definitely insistent on OPA showing a spirit of tolerance and co-operation, rather than bureaucratic dictation.

It is to be hoped that those in charge of administering the Price Control Act will now be more disposed to co-operate with industry, and that high government officials who determine OPA's policies, may be more willing to make needed adjustments without endless delays that are detrimental to the consuming public as well as producers and retailers.

A possible post-war project will be mechanical refrigeration for freight cars to be used in shipping fruits and vegetables to replace the hand ice cars which have been in use the past 75 years.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

It was announced recently by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, that the August production of alcohol by the distillers of the United States would not have to be turned over to the War Production Board.

At the time the order was issued there was no assurance as to what the coming season's grain crop would be. In many sections stockmen were selling off their stock, at the suggestion of government authorities, because of the prospective and threatened storage of feed grains.

Poultry producers throughout the country were unable to secure the usual feed for their flocks, and the word went out from government agencies to poultry producers to reduce the size of their flocks under that of the past year.

The domestic corn situation was the worst since 1937 and the outlook for barley, the fourth important grain used in making alcohol, was 7 per cent below that of last year.

To insure sufficient wheat for food all the wheat in the principal wheat belt states which was stored under wheat loans and in government sealed bins was frozen until the government buyers announced that they had secured sufficient for government needs.

The order was protested by a long list of official and unofficial agricultural spokesmen from the War Food Administrator, Marvin Jones, down. Congressmen protested vigorously, denouncing the diversion of feed stuffs to whiskey while cows and chickens were being liquidated for lack of grain—cows and chickens that had been produced at the urgent insistence and pleading of federal authorities to insure sufficient food.

The only attempt at defense for the above action is that the production of more whiskey will discourage the black market in whiskey and tend to lower the price of whiskey to whiskey consumers.

In my opinion, with such facts as it has been possible to gain, Mr. Nelson made a mistake. The defense that the release will tend

Telescope in Davis Mountains Praised by Astronomers

Austin.—In five years of service atop Mount Locke in the Davis Mountains of West Texas, the huge 72-inch telescope of the University of Texas' McDonald Observatory has won glowing praise from some of the Western Hemisphere's leading astronomers, officials here have learned.

"All astronomers who have used the telescope agree that it is the finest and most efficient piece of astronomical machinery that they have encountered," Dr. Otto Struve, director of both McDonald Observatory and the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory, recently wrote University authorities.

Several distinguished visiting astronomers have used the 82-inch instrument—second largest in the world—recently, Dr. Struve said. Prof. Frank Edmondson of Indiana University spent six weeks at McDonald in May and June, he said, explaining that Indiana University has been granted permission to use the telescope for ten clear nights each year.

Two Argentine astronomers—Dr. Carlos U. Cesco and Jorge Sahade, from the National Observatory at La Plata, Argentina—spent February and March at McDonald securing photographic materials. Dr. Helen Steel, formerly connected with Harvard University, visited in April.

Arrangements are now being worked out for Dr. Sergei Gaposchkin, former Russian astronomer now at Harvard, to work at McDonald in December.

HELP SAVE A LIFE

The circus fire tragedy at Hartford, Conn., is unusual in only one respect—it caused the death of an unusual number of people in one fire. And yet death was no more definite for each of those victims than it is for the individual who perishes in a farmhouse, or for one or two or three children who meet death in home fires almost every day.

Because some 150 people meet death from a single fire in Hartford, the tragedy is given page headlines across the nation. But when 10,000 people burn up annually by ones and twos, you never see the fact blazoned to the world in large type.

Circus or night club tragedies, and most other fires, could be prevented if each individual appointed himself a committee of one to see that every time he lit a match, smoked a cigarette or had anything to do with any appliance that caused heat, it was out or properly safeguarded, when he left it.

Our 10,000-a-year fire death toll could be largely eliminated if we would all learn a lesson from the Hartford disaster and be individually careful.

To discourage the black market in whiskey is no defense. It is the weakest sort of an attempt at justification.

It is not my purpose to raise the question as to whether one should or should not drink whiskey. That, to be real generous, may be conceded to be a personal matter, but I do contend that at a time when food is a critical need and when a single crop failure might be disastrous, when the last ounce of man power, and even boys and girls are being appealed to to go to the farms and help in the harvest, that we and our Allies and the fighting men at the front may have food to eat, it is no time to give the "Go" sign to whiskey distillers. It not only shows poor judgment but extremely bad psychology.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE Periodically the question of consumer co-operatives is brought to public attention. For some reason, promoters of consumer co-operatives always lead the public to believe that private business fights such organizations; also that for some reason a consumer co-operative is more efficient and run by more honest men than ordinary private business.

As a matter of fact, consumer co-operatives are no better managed and have no more honest men in charge of them than private stores. They are all subject to the same short-comings and the same failures.

OUR CHANCE FOR LASTING PEACE

The two most pressing domestic problems after the war will be jobs and taxes. And they both hinge on the profitable operation of private industry. That raises the question, Where will our industries find their markets?

In the future, with air transportation shrinking the globe to little more than a 24-hour trip to any point, our markets must be worldwide. Therefore, we must have a foreign trade policy that will enable us to sell, as well as buy from our neighbors. Recognizing this condition, the statement of the newly organized Committee on International and Economic Policy of which Winthrop W. Aldrich is chairman, calls for a multilateral trade agreement for the United Nations, creating an international economic charter to define the rights of traders and investors in foreign countries. It endorses unconditional most-favored-nation treatment, rejects regional preferential agreements and exchange restrictions, and states that if governments strengthen their policies of production and restriction to achieve security "in a contrasting world economy... the end of that road is a third world war."

On this statement of fundamentals, Harry D. Gideonse, President of Brooklyn College, says: "This is an excellent doctrine, elementary free enterprise economics and sound political thinking. The repudiation of the trade agreements program at this juncture would be a national tragedy. After the war, there will be a crying demand for America's mass production goods and farm products from every country in the world. If we maintain a liberal policy regarding imports, this demand can create thousands of postwar jobs in this country, utilizing industrial and agricultural capacity which otherwise would be idle."

"But to export, we must be willing to import. Hence, the renewal of the trade agreements program is essential for maintenance of employment and business activity at a high level after the war. Moreover, in the Atlantic Charter, the United States is pledged to the long-run principle that all nations, great and small, should have access on equal terms to the trade and raw materials of the world."

"Every country, therefore, if it wishes to promote the expansion of world trade, which is a fundamental condition for the establishment of a durable peace, must show greater willingness to ac-

There are about 12,000,000,000 cubic feet of space representing about 10 per cent of all the cooler space in the United States. It is expected that it will require 45 days to bring the temperature down to the desired level of 28 degrees after the equipment is installed. To build a warehouse of equal capacity would cost $15,000,000. To rent this amount of space would cost about $3,500,000 a year. The cost of the equipment necessary to convert the cave is estimated at $1,500,000.

Texas Farmers Get More for Crops Than in June Last Year

Austin.—Texas farmers got 38 per cent more cash for their products in June this year than in June last year, with increases in marketing rather than increases in prices, responsible, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas marketing expert, reports.

Wheat shipments and livestock marketings were well above last year's figures, boosting the total income for June to $98,000,000, an increase of 18 per cent over the $83,000,000 received in May, 1943.

The July crop report of the Department of Agriculture indicates a record wheat crop in the offing for Texas this year with a prediction of more than 70 million bushels harvest, Dr. Buechel pointed out. If the present $1.40 per bushel price holds through the season this would result in a crop value of approximately $100,000,000.

Prompted by a critical report on the Sister Kenny method of the treatment of infantile paralysis by the American Medical Association, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis issued a statement which will meet with general public approval. Asserting the "controversial situation" does not alter the Foundation's policy, O'Connor said: "The National Foundation will continue to support testing and evaluation of the method when carried out by physicians and institutions of repute. It also will continue to make available to the public such values as the Kenny method may possess by sponsoring and financing instruction in the method for doctors, nurses and physical therapy technicians. The National Foundation is interested in only one thing—determining the value of the various phases of technique by scientific study in laboratories of physiology and in clinics, with the view of retaining such merit as it may possess."

proposing an Amendment to Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, by changing said Section 9 so as to provide that the Commissioners Court in any county may re-allocate the county tax levies authorized in said section by changing the rates provided for any of the purposes authorized in said section by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of such taxes exceed eighty (80) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation for any one year; providing that before such Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election; and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; providing that if and when such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election for that purpose; and providing that this section shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution; affixing the time for the election for the adoption or rejection of said proposed Constitutional Amendment; making certain provisions for said election and ballot therefor; and the method thereof; directing the issuance of proclamation therefor; prescribing certain duties of the Governor of the State of Texas; and making an appropriation to defray the expenses of said election.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be so amended that the same will hereafter read as follows:

"Section 9. The State tax on property, exclusive of the tax necessary to pay the public debt, and of the taxes provided for the benefit of the public free schools, shall never exceed thirty-five (35) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, and no county, city or town shall levy more than twenty-five (25) cents for city or county purposes, and not exceeding fifteen (15) cents for roads and bridges, and not exceeding fifteen (15) cents to pay jurors, on the one hundred dollars valuation, except for the payment of debts secured prior to the adoption of the Amendment September 25, 1937; and for the erection of public buildings, streets, sewers, waterworks and other permanent improvements, not to exceed twenty-five (25) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, in any one year, and except as is in this Constitution otherwise provided; provided, however, that the Commissioners Court in any county may re-allocate the foregoing county taxes by changing the rates provided for any of the foregoing purposes by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of said foregoing county taxes exceed eighty (80) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, in any one year; provided further, that before the said Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election; and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; and provided further, that if and when such re-allocations and changes in the aforesaid county taxes have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of any county, as herein provided, such re-allocations and changes shall remain in force and effect for a period of six (6) years from the date of the election at which the same shall be approved, unless the same shall have been changed by a majority vote of the qualified property tax paying voters of such county, voting on the proposition, after submission by the Commissioners Court at a general or special election for that purpose; and the Legislature may also authorize an additional annual valuation tax to be levied and collected for the further maintenance of the public roads; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters of the county voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such tax, not to exceed fifteen (15) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such county. And the Legislature may pass local laws for the maintenance of the public roads and highways, without the local notice required for special or local laws. This section shall not be construed as a limitation of powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of this Constitution."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a general election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the seventh day of November, 1944, at which election all voters favoring the proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the following words:

"FOR the Amendment of Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to provide that the Commissioners Court in any county may re-allocate the county tax levies authorized in said section by changing the rates provided for any of the purposes authorized in said section by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of such taxes exceed eighty (80) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation for any one year; providing that before such Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election; and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; providing that if and when such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election for that purpose; and providing that this section shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution; affixing the time for the election for the adoption or rejection of said proposed Constitutional Amendment; making certain provisions for said election and ballot therefor; and the method thereof; directing the issuance of proclamation therefor; prescribing certain duties of the Governor of the State of Texas; and making an appropriation to defray the expenses of said election."

eral or special election for that purpose; and providing that this Amendment shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution."

Those opposing said proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the following words:

"AGAINST the Amendment to Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to provide that the Commissioners Court in any county may re-allocate the county tax levies authorized in said section by changing the rates provided for any of the purposes authorized in said section by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of such taxes exceed eighty (80) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation for any one year; providing that before such Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election; and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; providing that if and when such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election for that purpose; and providing that this section shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Section 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Section 4. The sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, by adding thereto Sections 51-e and 51-f, Section 51-e providing that cities and towns in this State shall have the power and authority to provide a system of retirement and disability pensions for their employees, provided, however, that no pension system shall be set up in any city until it has been approved at an election by qualified voters entitled to vote at an election on the question of the issuance of tax supported bonds; Section 51-f providing that the Legislature shall have authority to provide a system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of cities and towns to operate Statewide or by districts under such plan or program as the Legislature shall direct and shall provide that participation therein by cities and towns shall be voluntary; provided that the Legislature shall never make an appropriation to pay any of the cost of any system authorized by this Section; providing for the adoption or rejection of such an amendment and making an appropriation therefor; providing for the proclamation and publication thereof and prescribing the form of ballot.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto Sections 51-e and 51-f, which shall read as follows:

"Section 51-e. Each incorporated city and town in this State shall have the power and authority to provide a system of retirement and disability pensions for its appointive officers and employees who have become disabled as a direct and proximate result of the performance of their duties, or have passed their sixty-fifth birthday, or have been employed by such city or town for more than twenty-five (25) years and have passed their sixtieth birthday, when and if, but only when and if, such system has been approved at an election by the qualified voters of such city or town, entitled to vote on the question of issuance of tax supported bonds; provided that no city or town shall contribute more than the equivalent of seven and one-half (7½) per centum of salaries and wages of the officers and employees entitled to participate in its pension system, and that said officers and employees shall contribute a like amount; and this Amendment shall not reduce the authority nor duty of any city or town otherwise existing."

"Section 51-f. The Legislature of this State shall have the authority to provide for a system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of cities and towns to operate Statewide or by districts under such plan and program as the Legislature shall direct and shall provide that participation therein by cities and towns shall be voluntary; provided that the Legislature shall never make an appropriation to pay any of the cost of any system authorized by this Section."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendments shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State in November, 1944, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon, "For the Constitutional Amendment providing that the cities and towns in this State shall have the power and authority to provide a system of pensions for their appointive officers and employees," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment providing that all cities and towns in this State shall have the power and authority to provide a system of pensions for their appointive officers and employees of the cities and towns" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment giving authority to the Legislature to provide for a system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of cities and towns." Each voter shall scratch out two (2) of said clauses on the ballot, leaving the two (2) expressing his vote on the proposed Amendments.

Section 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution for Amendments thereto.

Section 4. The sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

PRICE STABILIZERS

Deliveries that will permit rapid turn-over, labels that will sell merchandise, and the reinstatement of advertising allowances, are among the requests by chain and supermarkets of manufacturers of food products, for the postwar period.

A survey indicates that such manufacturers should make prompt postwar deliveries in as large or small quantities as the buyer desires, and at lowest prices, to permit rapid turnover, and that labels should be designed to give them life in a modern store. Also, chains and supermarkets want each package to have white space on top to stamp price.

In the reinstatement of advertising contracts, which have been discontinued during the war, the survey records chain and supermarket operators as asking manufacturers who co-operated in advertising campaigns in the past, to do so in the future.

The chain stores in all fields, including grocery, variety and dry goods groups, will be a powerful influence in stabilizing prices and bringing back the quality and variety of goods which American consumers will seek at the end of the war. Advertising will play an important role in re-establishing markets disrupted by the war emergency.—Industrial News-Review.

DAIRYMEN FEEL BUREAUCRATIC TOUCH

Charles S. Holman, Secretary of the National Co-operative Milk Producers Federation, advocates the passage of legislation to curb abuses by government agencies of the regulatory powers they administer. He said: "These abuses are corrupting even the little bureaucrats in Washington and transforming them into super-bureaucrats. By means of government regulation, the long tenacious lines of Federal control reach into every rural community and every agricultural trade, from production through processing to distribution."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Plentiful Food During August

Foods expected to be plentiful throughout most of the country during August, according to the War Food Administration, are fresh tomatoes, fresh peaches, peanut butter, citrus marmalade, canned green and wax beans, frozen vegetables, frozen baked beans, dry-mix and dehydrated soups, oatmeal, wheat flour and bread, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and soy flour, grits and flakes.

Where Is Your Share (QM)

Of the eight million tons of paper needed for salvage in 1944, the War Production Board says 38 per cent is in hiding in American homes and farms, while the other 62 per cent is to be found in the files and store rooms of American industry. If the Boy Scouts or the Girl Scouts don't find those home-hidden hoards of waste paper before next fall, school children hope to dig them out.

Victory Gardens For Fall

WFA wants more Fall Victory Gardens, especially in the South where late summer plantings of lettuce, cabbage, kale, beets, spinach, turnips, collards and carrots will produce fresh produce until the ground freezes. WFA wants to increase the Victory Garden harvest 25 per cent.

Horses and Mules "Demobilized"

Mechanization of the Army resulted in a surplus stock of 17,000 horses, and office of War Information report on surplus war property shows. Dealers bought the horses at sales and sold three-fourths to farmers. Repurchased 600 and 700 mules, also displaced by Army mechanization, have been auctioned off.

Gasoline For Those On Leave

Members of the Armed services will get a gallon of gasoline for each day of their leave or furlough up to 30 gallons, according to a new Office of Price Administration policy. No ration will be granted for passes, for liberties or for leaves or furloughs of less than three days, at the suggestion of the Army and Navy. The member of the Armed Services should apply for gasoline rations to the War Price and Rationing Board having jurisdiction over the automobile he is to drive and he should present proper leave or furlough papers.

Ceilings On Restaurant Prices

By August 16 every eating and drinking establishment in the country is required to post its ceiling prices on 40 basic meals and food items on an official poster supplied by the War Price and Rationing Board, OPA announces. Prices are to be the same as those charged during the week April 4-10, 1943, except that coffee is to be five cents a cup or pot unless the establishment charged more during the week, October 4-10, 1942. While ceiling prices on their posters must be week-day prices, those concerns that charged more for Sunday meals may continue such extra charge. Except from the regulation under certain conditions are places operated by schools, colleges, fraternities, hospitals, private clubs and recognized charitable, religious and cultural organizations.

G. I. Vets Want Education

More than 1,000 Veterans G. I. Jobs already have applied to the Veterans Administration for Educational Benefits offered them under the so-called G. I. Bill of Rights. In addition, 4,000 written inquiries and many additional telephone inquiries about benefits offered under the Bill have been received. To be eligible for Educational Benefits, a Veteran must have had his Education interrupted and must have had 90 days active service since September 16, 1940, with separation under conditions other than dishonorable. Veterans who entered service before they were 25 years old are presumed to have had their education interrupted.

Cut Fire Wood To Save Coal

Every extra cord of fire wood American Farmers supply for fuel can save from one-half to a ton of coal. WPB advises. Coal supplies this year will be short and vitally needed by essential War industries.

Ceilings On Used Farm Equipment. Regardless of what the seller may be, OPA now has established ceiling prices on the following items of used farm equipment: Farm and garden tractors (except track-type); tractor-mounted mowers, including semi-mounted (power take-off driven) mowers-combines; corn binders; corn pickers; hay loaders; manure spreaders; side delivery rakes; and a combination of any of these items with other items of farm equipment specifically designed for

Some New School Buses At Last

After almost total lack of new school buses for two years, WPB approved a 1944 production quota of 5,000, of which more than 2,000 already have been released to schools where new buses were needed to prevent absences and replace unsafe equipment, the Office of Defense Transportation reports.

Factory-Damaged Shoes

Mr. Consumer may be lucky enough to get a pair of factory-damaged shoes without a shoe ration coupon and for no more than $1.80 a pair, if his shoe dealer happens to have some such shoes on hand and obtains permission from the OPA District Office to sell them unrationed. The dealer must apply for the release of these factory-damaged shoes before August 31, but there is no time limit on the sales after the dealer has received the OPA non-rationed stickers and attached them to the shoes.

Pear Prices Down, Says OPA

Fresh pears for your table should cost no more than 15 cents a pound until September 10, and after that until next April, no more than 17 cents a pound, OPA says. With fresh pears for table use under price control for the first time, OPA looks for a reduction of about 20 per cent from last year's retail prices.

She Interrogates Bomber Crews

DESPITE a fascinating career in New York City, Pauline Morley, 601-12th Ave., West Van-couver, was determined to get into the light from the outset. When war broke out, she was working for a movie company in New York, harmonizing sound into film. She first attempted to join the American Red Cross but was rejected because she wasn't a U. S. citizen. Early in 1942 Pauline applied to Ottawa for a travel permit, took passage to Britain and enlisted in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force. Because of an extensive musical education at Lucerne, Milan, and her experience with sound movies, the W.A.A.F. trained her as a wireless operator. In wireless operation a sense of rhythm is essential and Pauline's was highly developed. Recently commissioned, Pauline has since been engaged in one of the most important jobs entrusted to women—interrogating bomber crews upon their return from raids.

Could you remember, if you were squirming on the witness stand? Probably not. Fifteen years is a long time.

Maybe, being August first, you were writing checks to pay the monthly bills. Do you remember how much you paid for electricity?

That's a tough one, too, isn't it? Actually, if yours is an average household, your electric bill may have been a little less than it is now.

But today you're getting twice as much electricity for your money!

How come? Well, while the price of electricity was coming down, your use of electricity was going up. You have a lot more electric appliances in 1944 than you had in 1928. But you enjoy all these added comforts at little, if any, added cost!

Even if you're hazy about everything else that's happened in the last 15 years, remember this wartime bargain. It's due to hard work by all our people—and sound business management.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR INDUSTRY

The CIO Political Action Committee, with its instructions to canvassers to call on every home in a given area, should suggest something to industry.

For instance, what has CIO to sell the people that employing industry has not? After it is all said and done, industry provides the jobs for workers. Without the private industry, there would be no need for unions and thousands of well paid union officials. Totalitarian countries do not tolerate labor unions. You can't strike under a Hitler or a Mussolini unless you wish to face a firing squad.

If labor is wise, it will do nothing to undermine the future of private enterprise. And if industry is wise, it will be aggressive in seeing that its story is told in every possible way to every citizen. Free labor and free enterprise can only rise or fall together, and it is foolish for either to do anything that destroys the other.—Industrial News-Review.

GROWING WITH THE NATION

Locomotives pulling strings of cars and whistling eerily in the night are timeless characteristics of railroading that have caused many laymen to gain the idea that rail transportation is an unchanging industry. It was even referred to a few years ago as a dying industry. But while it was presumably dying, it was actually gaining strength for trials to come.

John J. Pelley, President of the Association of American Railroads, in describing the growth of our rail system, points out that: "Railroad research began with the beginning of railroads, and has been carried forward ever since. It is being carried forward today, and projected into the future, as part of a continuous and unbroken chain of development which has met the true test of effective research—results."

"These results are to be found in the volume and character of transportation service the railroads have rendered the nation under the stress of four conditions."

The railroads have spent twelve billion dollars since 1921 improving plant and equipment. At present a committee of more than 100 members, drawn from all departments and branches of the industry, is making a study of transportation in all its forms and phases with particular emphasis upon future developments. The object of the study is to compile basic information for the use of railroad men in their efforts to render the highest degree of railroad service during and after the war. For example, development of radio communication for train use is being pushed as rapidly as human ingenuity permits.

No industry which must live in accordance with the stringent laws of competition can afford to stand still. The railroads are a "Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 6. The Golden Text is: "We have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (1 Corinthians 2:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh" (Galatians 5:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If our hopes and expectations are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit" (page 451).

PROGRESSIVE OIL INDUSTRY

In concluding successfully three years of a partnership with the Federal government in supplying petroleum products for the Allied forces, the Chairman of the Petroleum Industry War Council pledged the determination of America's oil industry to achieve America's oil for the needs of Uncle Sam's fighting men, until D-Day becomes V-Day.

The petroleum industry of the United States produces almost 90 per cent of the petroleum products used by the Allied forces, according to William R. Boyd Jr., Chairman of the Petroleum Industry War Council. This petroleum is produced by hundreds of oil companies, large and small, financed, owned and operated by hundreds of thousands of private citizens of the United States.

Our oil production is not government owned or controlled, as is the case in many countries in the world with rich oil resources. In such countries, there has never been any progress in oil development such as in the United States—there has been no incentive.

In our own country, development of government oil lands was held up until there was an "emergency," and then they were not ready to produce oil when war came. The operating private companies were the ones that had oil when it was needed.

Therefore, the oil industry is proud of the fact that it "was ready" to successfully co-operate with government to provide the many petroleum products indispensable to the war effort. But this result would have been impossible, says Mr. Boyd, "without the full co-operation of an indulgent public that willingly surrendered the one thing that in

Weekly Sermon

By Robert L. Constable, Member of Staff, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

The Hour Is Come

Not many days ago the ears of the world were listening for the news that the hour of invasion had arrived. Some waited with hope for the deliverance that would soon be theirs. Some waited with fear for the retribution that would come upon them. Some waited with dread for word of the personal sacrifice of their loved ones.

We read in the Bible of another hour for which many had waited through the centuries. One evening the Lord Jesus stood before His friends and lifting up His eyes to heaven said, "Father, the hour is come" (John 17:11).

This hour was in the mind of God when He chose His own in Christ before the foundation of the world (Eph. 1:4). This was the hour God promised to Eve when He said her seed should bruise the serpent's head (Gen. 3:15). This hour was foretold by all the prophets, who down the centuries wrote of the sufferings of Christ and the glory that should follow. It was the central hour of all human history, and the greatest hour in the life of every Christian.

For it was in this hour that the Son of the eternal and almighty God invaded the realm of the god of this world; when the Lord Jesus plunged into the domain of sin and death and hell; when evil was met in all its fury and terror, and when the Lord of glory became sin for us.

Christ went down weighted with the burden of our guilt, that through death He might destroy him who had the power of death, that is, the devil, and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage (Heb. 2:14, 15). He met our sins in all their terror; He met God's wrath because of our sins; many cases is most dear to the average American—"the gasoline for his automobile."—Industrial News-Review.

He met Satan's power. Christ won the victory. Sin had no hold on Him, death could not keep Him, the grave could not hold Him. He rose a victor over all the hosts of hell, and today He is exalted and sits on the right hand of God.

And because He lives, we shall live also. His victory is ours, and we can shout with the apostle Paul, "Thanks be unto God who always causeth us to triumph in Christ" (II Cor. 2:14). We can live each day in the joy of knowing that He that is in us is greater than He that is in the world (I John 4:4).

Children Specially for Fall Term

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will be in the school bell for the fall term in September to be sure their children are physically ready for school. The most important and foremost is the need for immunization against smallpox, and physicians should see that their children are vaccinated before they are one year of age. If not done previously, immunization becomes a matter of necessity. Dr. Cox says that if your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so that the scar will be healed before school opens. Immunization against diphtheria is highly desirable, Dr. Cox says. This disease, which causes young children can be prevented with toxoid. The child has never been protected against this disease. Even if he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend a booster dose of toxoid to give immunity before entering school. In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination. Dr. Cox adds, "It is important to know that the child is in good physical condition and to compare with the other children on equal terms. If the child shows any weakness or defect, it will be time to build up his health and correct dental defects before school opens. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicaps."

VIVIAN H. D. CLUB

"Know Your Soldier" was the title of a very interesting study at the meeting of the Vivian Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Bert Matthews Thursday, July 27.

Answer to roll call was made by each one telling news of a service boy. Mrs. Ed Self talked on the soldier and his health. "The Soldier and his Religion" was discussed by Mrs. T. W. Cooper, who stated that there are more soldiers in religious services every Sunday than civilians and that more prayers are offered today than ever before in the history of the world. She said that soldiers are not compelled to go to religious services but many numbers do and all have the opportunity to do so. When each soldier enters the service, he is given a pocket Testament with the signature of the president of the United States and a commendation from him that they read the Bible. The chaplain has a very important task in the army and she asked that each one pray for them.

Mrs. Oscar Fish told of the soldier and his recreation offered

"Bundles for Berlin" for Early

FROM a position of little importance, the Royal Canadian Air Force, in four years, has risen to become the fourth greatest striking force in the United Nations. Now, with thirty-six fighter and bomber squadrons overseas and with many of her men serving in the R.A.F., the baby of the services has won this tribute from a writer: "Certainly a healthier, tougher infant never raised hell all over Europe."

Behind her air force in the task of destroying Germany's industrial might, the people at home are working at maximum production turning out "bundles for Berlin". Shown in the illustrations is a lug, at top right, being welded to a five hundred pound bomb; below, are others being filled with TNT. Just to give some idea of the size of one of these completed calling cards, an attractive worker, at top left, stands beside the finished product.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR PROGRESS

The United States Public Health Service has been given authority to make grants-in-aid for medical research in public or private institutions, increase appropriations to states engaged in general public health work, establish a national tuberculosis program and foster preventative medicine. It would seem that such co-operation by the government with both public and private agencies is one of its legitimate functions in carrying out any public health program. It is not compulsory, but it does provide a basis for coordinating the medical facilities of this nation, and making the results of medical education, research and practice available to individuals, doctors and hospitals in every city and rural community. If the hand of politics can be kept out of the United States Public Health Service, it can be the focal point for encouraging rapid strides in progressive American medicine. Coordinating public and private health activities for the benefit of all the people, without destroying the initiative of American medicine by creating a national medical monopoly and compulsory medical practices, is the goal that must be kept in sight. If there is any agency of government that should co-operate with all health agencies, it is the United States Public Health Service. Let us hope that will be its policy and that private medicine may work with a feeling of security rather than fear.

"Know Your Soldier" was the title of a very interesting study at the meeting of the Vivian Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Bert Matthews Thursday, July 27.

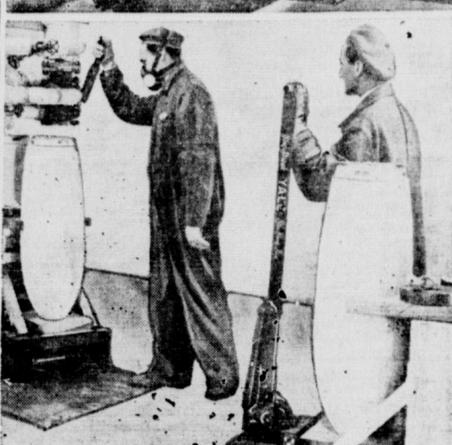

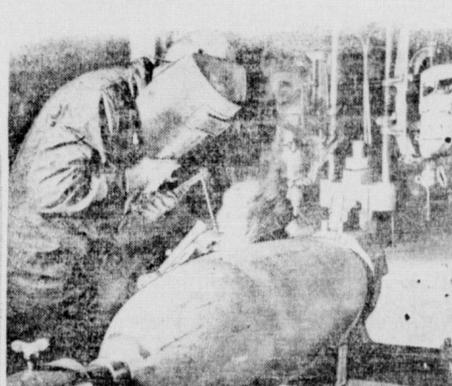

Answer to roll call was made by each one telling news of a service boy. Mrs. Edd Self talked on the soldier and his health. "The Soldier and his Religion" was discussed by Mrs. T. W. Cooper, who stated that there are more soldiers in religious services every Sunday than civilians and that more prayers are offered today than ever before in the history of the world. She said that soldiers are not compelled to go to religious services but many numbers do and all have the opportunity to do so. When each soldier enters the service, he is given a pocket Testament with the signature of the president of the United States and a commendation from him that they read the Bible. The chaplain has a very important task in the army and she asked that each one pray for them.

"Bundles for Berlin" for Early

FROM a position of little importance, the Royal Canadian Air Force, in four years, has risen to become the fourth greatest striking force in the United Nations. Now, with thirty-six fighter and bomber squadrons overseas and with many of her men serving in the R.A.F., the baby of the services has won this tribute from a writer: "Certainly a healthier, tougher infant never raised hell all over Europe." Behind her air force in the task of destroying Germany's industrial might, the people at home are working at maximum production turning out "bundles for Berlin." Shown in the illustrations is a lug, at top right, being welded to a five hundred pound bomb; below, are others being filled with TNT. Just to give some idea of the size of one of these completed calling cards, an attractive worker, at top left, stands beside the finished product.

PANIC

That word has an ominous sound. In nearly all congregations of people where fire occurs, panic ensues. In discussing this subject from the standpoint of loss of life, the National Board of Fire Underwriters says that panic cannot be eliminated. Therefore it is important to reduce the causes of panic to the greatest possible extent.

History is a record of catastrophes which cause death and injury from panic. Whole armies have fled in disorder when panic mastered a few and then was transmitted to the mass.

Fire panic hazards exist in many places, including theaters, night clubs, cabarets, schools, factories, stores, churches, hotels and apartments.

Adequate exits, well placed, will go far toward giving a sense of security to crowds, and will lessen the panic hazard. But toxic gasses caused by fire, can kill people before they have a chance to move, where the gases can sweep upward through open stairways.

The answer to the danger of panic, says the National Board, is to "provide security of mind, which means make it visible to the eye or repeat it in print or otherwise until it is a subconscious reality, that the place is of good and preferably fireproof type of construction; that there is little quick burning material; that where these conditions do not exist, the place is protected by automatic sprinklers; that adequate, well marked exits exist; and, last but not least, that these exits are usable."

Public co-operation is indispensable in avoiding panics which

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR PROGRESS

The United States Public Health Service has been given authority to make grants-in-aid for medical research in public or private institutions, increase appropriations to states engaged in general public health work, establish a national tuberculosis program and foster preventative medicine.

It would seem that such co-operation by the government with both public and private agencies is one of its legitimate functions in carrying out any public health program. It is not compulsory, but it does provide a basis for coordinating the medical facilities of this nation, and making the results of medical education, research and practice available to individuals, doctors and hospitals in every city and rural community.

If the hand of politics can be kept out of the United States Public Health Service, it can be the focal point for encouraging rapid strides in progressive American medicine.

Coordinating public and private health activities for the benefit of all the people, without destroying the initiative of American medicine by creating a national medical monopoly and compulsory medical practices, is the goal that must be kept in sight.

If there is any agency of government that should co-operate with all health agencies, it is the United States Public Health Service. Let us hope that will be its policy and that private medicine may work with a feeling of security rather than fear.
