SUCCESSFUL CO-OPERATIVES

Acting upon an invitation of Morgan Price, president of the Thalia Gin and Service Station Co-operatives, we attended the annual membership meeting of this society. There are around two hundred members in this organization all active patrons of the gin and station, the two groups being combined. An auditor's report of the business activities for the year was read and approved by the group. The report showed that the total business transacted by the gin for the year totaled around $465,000 and the total receipts of the service station was $69,414.25. The gin showed a net return of $21,947.17, and after taking care of a safe reserve they distributed a dividend of $17,083.29 to its members on a patronage basis. The station showed a net return of $3,444.85. The gin processed the cotton, handled the seed and bought most of the cotton. The station handles gasoline, lubricating oils, tires and other petroleum products and auto and tractor supplies as well as tire repairing. Much of the supplies are secured through a large co-operative supply house which handles standard products. This is a fine group of business farmers and are operating a pure co-operative. The society has a large board of twenty-five members and a small executive board selected from the larger board, who keep close contact with the activities of the society. They have an annual membership meeting at which time a report of the year's business is made and needed directors are elected. Tom Abston is manager of the gin and Willie Cato is manager of the station. Both are capable and doing a satisfactory service.

FARM LABOR PROGRAM

Last week we were privileged to see a recent release of the moving picture "Victory Harvest" which had its premier showing at Amarillo. This picture shows how the labor situation is handled throughout the nation by the Extension Service, under the direction of the War Food Administration. Since it was a product of Judge Marvin Jones' Administration and since he is shown as a participant in the show, it had its premier showing at Amarillo, his home town. His aged mother was an observer of the picture and was recognized by the audience very enthusiastically. We also had a meeting on the Farm Labor situation which was attended by M. C. Wilson, who has charge of the program in the nation, from Washington. Also Director Dr. Ide P. Trotter was in attendance together with County and Home Demonstration Agents from this section of the state. Our producers last year, with a decreased manpower and a machinery shortage, produced more than a third more food than in any previous year and are doing their utmost to increase that record by three per cent this year with a 300,000 decrease in the number of farm laborers. They are using migrants, foreign labor and war prisoners and every citizen who can lend a hand and then there is not enough. However, agriculture has a way of doing any task set before it.

PLANS DAIRY CATTLE SHOW

Eighteen years ago last December we called together dairy cat-proved in quality and numbers and among the group are some of the nation's highest production records.

Each year they hold a production contest which was won this year by young cows, yielding the highest production in the history of the show. The contest ran from 6 p. m. Sunday night to 10 p. m. Monday night. Here are some of the production records for three cows under two years: First, 42 lbs. milk, 2.86 lbs. butter fat and 6.73 per cent of butter fat; Second, 33.6 lbs. milk, 2.05 lbs. butter fat and 6.11 per cent butter fat; Third, 39.7 milk, 1.81 lbs. butter fat and 5.56 per cent butter fat. Besides, these were cows of excellent type.

THE FREE WAY WAS BEST

The wearisome, endless controversy over prices and wages under our new regulated way of living, invites the question, What was wrong with the "good old days" which modern radical idealists heap high with scorn? The current argument over meat is typical. There are quite a few farmers who would quickly return, if they could, to the good old days of free markets, regulated only by supply and demand. Then they were not considered bad citizens and accused of being lobbyists if they tried to adjust prices to cost of production. It was a matter solely between themselves and the American consumer. Usually a fair bargain was struck with the consumer getting his money's worth—and meat.—Industrial News-Review. In our opinion the picture of the group of Marines raising the United States flag on Iwo Jima is the most striking, expressive and dramatic picture that has come out of the Pacific war. We believe that it expresses in a wonderful manner the spirit of the war in the Pacific. It deserves a place as a statue in the parks of the nation as a tribute to them who gave their lives in this unusual fight.

HISTORY

Mother's Day: To Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia is generally given the credit for the observance of Mother's Day. Miss Jarvis conceived the idea that once each year, at least, sons and daughters should pay tribute to their mothers. She accordingly arranged for a service during May of 1907, in one of the churches and asked that white carnations be worn by those attending the service. The idea spread rapidly and next year many services were held. The second Sunday in May was agreed upon as a suitable date. Four years after the first service was held, services were held in every state and also Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, China, Japan and a number of islands.

ty there is not a home that does not have more of these things than it would have under normal conditions and that if the surplus were all on merchant's shelves there would be plenty of most of these items for all. How is it in your home and the homes of your friends, he asks?

The most urgent need of the nation is a system of farm to market roads. Here is a post war plan that would employ all the surplus man power for years to come. Not only this, every mile of good, permanent road built would add to the wealth and resources of the country, and to its future welfare and prosperity.

Someone asks regarding the several wedding anniversaries that he observed. Here they are for your scrap book: First, cotton; second, paper; third, leather; fifth, wooden; tenth, tin; twelfth, linen; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; fortieth, ruby; fiftieth, golden; seventy-five, diamond.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

During the month of April every community in the United States has been called upon to share in the United Nations Clothing Drive. The drive headed by the west coast ship builder, Henry J. Kaiser, is being put on for the purpose of collecting clothing for the destitute of the war devastated countries of the world. The goal is 150,000,000 pounds of used clothing.

Civic clubs and organizations of every type are being appealed to in every community in the United States to sponsor and give their active support to this worthy cause. Details as to collection, packing and shipment have been worked out and distributed in pamphlet form to civic organizations throughout the nation.

Only serviceable, practical clothing and bedding is desired or can be used. Women's high heeled shoes, cast off millinery, evening dresses and tuxedos cannot be used. Clothing should be serviceable and have some wear left in it. As rapidly as the clothing is collected in communities it will be shipped to collection centers and later to ports where it will be loaded on ships.

The main problem of the drive is to bring the attention of the people of America the need that exists. If this is done there is little doubt but that the goal of 150,000,000 pounds will be secured with a liberal margin to spare.

Some idea of the need may be gained from the fact that when the enemy invaded the several countries everything of value was taken. The people of these countries were left only what they had on their backs. Homes were ransacked, the stocks in stores were taken and every garment and piece of bedding was shipped out of the country. Not only this but all production of garments was stopped. To get an idea of what this would mean let us imagine that an enemy should invade our own community and take every article of clothing from every closet in every home as well as every garment and piece of cloth from the stores in our community. Let us imagine that all the clothing we were left with was that which we had on our backs, and then let us imagine what this would look like if subjected to a year and in some instances three years wear. Even the best of garments would be reduced to rags and tatters.

In this we have a good picture of the need that this drive is designed to meet.

It is well to remember in this connection that the people for whom these garments are being collected are not confined to those of the liberated countries, who have always lived a half-starved, half-clothed, half-destitute existence. There is included with the poorest of these nations well to do and cultured people, people who in the past have lived in the same comfortable surroundings in which most of us in this country have lived. The misfortunes of war which they had no part in the making, have stripped them of everything until they are utterly destitute, wholly dependent upon the generosity and the Christian charity of this country.

This clothing collection will be an opportunity for many to secure for themselves the blessing that comes from the consciousness they have rendered a service to some one who is truly in need. We have given of our abundance to win the war, now let us give of it further to clothe the naked and the destitute, its unfortunate victims.

Work of Persuasion

Business needs the persuasive effects of advertising in order to reach the maximum of success of which it is capable. If a person is a candidate for some public office, and if he makes no effort to persuade people that he should be elected, his chances of getting a majority of the votes would not ordinarily be so good. So business needs advertising, to persuade the people to come and see the merchandise offered in that store.

Advertising is a very economical method for exercising such persuasion. The proprietor or one of his salespeople is able to talk to only one person at a time. The newspaper advertisement speaks simultaneously in every home where the newspaper enters. It takes people in their leisure moments, when they are ready to consider purchases. Its results are promptly seen in increased trade.

Better Towns

Many people are anxious to have their towns grow, with the hope that they will provide more jobs and business. This is a good idea, but "better towns" may be still more important than bigger towns. A town where there are good schools, good churches, active business and social organizations, where the home places are well kept, is likely to be a good place to live in, even if it does not grow so fast.

A town is a good town where there is public interest in the welfare of the community, and where people are willing to give some time and effort for town progress, and the maintenance of attractive homes that shall give a favorable impression to the outside world.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13th District, Texas.

Washington, D. C., April 6.—A few days ago I made a speech over several radio stations in our Congressional district in which I discussed Russia's relations with Japan, and predicted Russia would break the non-aggression pact and help defeat the Japanese. The Russians this week served notice on the pact, which expires on April 25, 1945. There are indications before the next year has passed Russia may be actively engaged with us in the war on the Nipponese.

As a result of American successes in the Pacific and Russia's action, the Japanese cabinet has fallen, and the Allies are cheered by developments.

There has been some criticism of the provision of the "G. I." law whereby the government guarantees up to $2,000 but not more than one-half of a loan to a veteran. I understand relatively few loans are being made because the law requires the security—farm, home or business—be appraised at "normal" value. At present much property all over the country is selling for prices far higher than the "normal" value. It was to protect the soldier from these inflated prices that the provision was written into the law. To allow a boy to come home from the war and pay twice the ordinary price for a farm, home or business, would break many a young man.

With warm spring weather in Washington victory gardeners are out in force. Many of these gardeners never before put a hoe in the soil. It is a common sight at dusk to see men and women with garden tools over their shoulders headed toward their "cave dwelling" in big apartment buildings. The war has brought many city people back to the soil, even though that soil be only a small plot on some vacant lot. Several Texas Congressmen have gardens of which they are quite proud.

Visitors to Washington often comment on the arrangement and decorations of offices of Congressmen and Senators. The office suites are more or less the same, and the furniture and equipment is standard for each of the Capitol Hill office buildings. Yet each member may, if he wishes, buy with his own funds draperies for the windows, desk and floor lamps, and decorate his suite as he desires.

Several members have purchased beautiful draperies for the long windows in the Old House Office building, and given their offices a look of elegance. Another member has his office walls almost completely covered with autographed pictures of men and women in high places of the government, theater, and industry. My own office is undorned except for a few pictures, including a Texas bluebonnet landscape, and photographs of my children.

An interesting thing to many Washington visitors is that the front of the Capitol building, with its imposing steps, columns, and statues, faces away from the City of Washington. There is a simple reason for this. When the Capitol was planned and construction started, Washington as a city was merely a plan on paper. A creek ran between the capitol site and the town of Georgetown, a few miles away toward Virginia. There were no good streets or roads, and the stream made the intervening land swampy. So the planners of the District of Columbia believed the City of Washington would grow toward the east where the land was high, and they faced the Capitol in that direction. Later, engineers diverted the stream, filled in the swampy land, and the city grew toward Georgetown. The Capitol now has its back to the city, facing the hills of Maryland.

The new Vice President and presiding officer of the Senate, Harry S. Truman, is the only man who served in the armed forces in the First World War to be elected to our country's two highest elective offices, even though a quarter of a century has elapsed since that other world conflict. With the single exception of Charles Curtis of the Hoover administration, he is also the only Senator who has been named Vice President in half a century.

Medical Care in Middle Life Tends to Prolong Health
Austin.—From a health standpoint, life after forty begins to be more complicated for the average individual. According to information from the State Department of Health, the principal health foes confronting people in middle life are heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, diabetes, and arthritis.

Middle aged people of today are healthier than were those of preceding generations, and the present generation, when they reach middle age, should enjoy even better health than their parents of today.

Medical care in middle life has two important phases. The first is going to the doctor at regular intervals for a complete physical checkup, whether or not there have been symptoms that suggest the need for medical attention. The second is prompt attention to any illness which may mean the difference between prompt recovery and continued good health and prolonged invalidism. It is difficult to say which of these phases is the more important.

It has been found that man and women who faithfully pursue the habit of regular health examinations and who follow the advice arising from them tend to live longer, more satisfactorily, and freer from disease than those who simply take a chance and go to the doctor only when pain or disability forces them to give up their normal activities.

It is also a fact that many diseases of middle age respond to treatment in early stages whereas if neglected until later stages they often cause permanent invalidism and even death.

Good advice for persons over forty is that they have regular physical examinations and obtain prompt medical attention for any and all illnesses.

Crop Insurance Protects Community, Says AAA Head
The new Federal all-risk crop insurance program now being offered Foard County cotton growers is an important help in stabilizing the economy of communities, according to A. W. Barker, chairman of the Foard County AAA committee.

The present program offers cotton growers a choice of coverage of 50 or 75 per cent of their average yields, and protects against such unavoidable hazards to crops as drought, floods, storms, frost, wildlife, snow, excessive rainfall, hail, fire, lightning, wind, plant disease, and insects.

The insurance program is administered locally by the AAA, and growers have until April 25, 1945, to apply.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Dear Reader:
 In case you aren't an honored Senior or a hard working Junior, a member of the faculty, or a guest you missed a beautiful and memorable event. The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held amid a beautiful Dutch scene in the banquet hall of the Baptist Church Friday night, April 13.

The Dutch motif was in all the decorations in the banquet hall. The tables, arranged in the shape of a U, were beautiful with crystal candle holders containing red candles and their profusion of red rose buds. On the speakers table were two beautiful hand-painted wooden shoes. At each place was a place card in the shape of a windmill, which also contained the program and the menu. Color was further added by using gay crepe paper covers on the chairs.

One end of the room was transplanted into a typical Dutch garden with its green grass, beautiful flowers, picket fence, and miniature windmill. All around the room were window boxes containing tulips which were so realistic that one could well imagine himself in Holland. Above the windows, the windows were draped with two shades of crepe paper. Two large trellises were completely covered with green vines.

In honor of the Junior and Senior boys who are now in the service there was a large flag containing seven blue stars. These stars stood for the seven boys from the Senior class who are now serving in armed forces. The stars represented Cecil Parkhill S-1-C, Pat McDaniel S-2-C, Pvt. Glen Taylor, Pvt. Perry Todd, Bill Spruill, E. E. Johnson and Donald Lewis, of the U. S. Navy.

Reader, you should have seen the waitress, they were Sophomore Home Ec. students dressed in white crepe paper aprons, and Dutch bonnets, and the food they served! There's a subject I could talk about forever. First of all, we had a tomato juice cocktail. The plate held true to the menu and contained fried chicken, potato salad, spiced apple, stuffed celery, deviled eggs, hot rolls andiced tea. The ladies of the Baptist Church "did themselves proud."

The program was enjoyable all

Hatch 'Em Chicken Hatchery' in Borneo, Ariz. Edwina Ross will be author of the famous column "Find um and forget um."

After ten years Beverly Gray will remain a bachelor having never been able to reconcile himself to the last phrase in the marriage vow, which reads, "To love, to honor, and to obey."

Lest we forget the sponsor, Mrs. Harold Wilkinson, often called "Willie," I view her suffering from a nervous condition of the cerebral hemispheres, the root of which was caused by trying to help the seniors of 1945 decide how to spend 175 dollars trying to have a good time on the senior trip.

Following the reading of the Prophecy, special music was rendered by Miles Neill and Jimmie Johnson. They played on the trumpet and accordion, "Just a Prayer Away," and "Whispering." Then Ada Jane Magee read the Senior Will which she and Bessie Gamble had written, a copy of it follows:

Senior Will of 1945

Juniors, Seniors, Faculty and other guests: On behalf of my client of Class of 1945, of Crowell High School, City of Crowell, State of Texas, U. S. A., I ask you to listen to this serious and solemn occasion to her last will and testament, and to receive from her dying hand the few gifts she has bestowed in her last moments.

Cutting so rapidly loose from life and finding so many things of such gigantic proportions to be attended to before the end should come upon her, realizing at the same time that she had no longer any time to spend in cultivation of her own virtues, she did, collectively and individually, deem it best to distribute these virtues with her own hands to those friends whose needs they seem best fitted. As the result of this announcement a wild scene took place amidst most frantic pleading and scrambling among her friends for this or that so long coveted glory; but she has tried to be just as well as generous and impartial, and distribute wisely unto those who will make the best use of such gifts as she has in her power to bestow. These are her decisions, as at last definitely arrived at through very deliberate consideration.

Listen, then, one and all, while I read the document as duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the Class of 1945, in 33 individual and distinct parts, being about to pass from this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory, and almost super-human understanding do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or mayhap, carelessly spoken, one-to-the-other, as a thoughtless wish of an idle hour.

Item:
 We give and bequeath to the dear faculty, who have been our instructors in all the wisdom of the ages, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams. No longer need they lie awake through the long watches of the night to worry over the uncertainty of whether this one is doing her night work, or that one will have his geometry in the morning class, or the other one will remember every iron-clad rule of compositional technique in the preparation of her theme. It has been a hard strain on them. For Seniors are said to be at all times and under all conditions difficult to manage. But they have done their duty, and verily, now they shall have their well earned reward.

Item:
 We give and bequeath to our beloved superintendent, Coach Grady Graves, our sincerest affections, deepest reverence, our heartiest gratitude, and the whole unlimited wealth of our eternal memories. To him we all owe every ounce of praise, every iota of honor that we may gain in the Great Unknown beyond, knowing, that it is all due to his faithful instructions.

Item:
 Again we give and bequeath to our beloved faculty all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examination papers. If the faculty see fit, they are hereby authorized to give such of this information to the world as they may feel the world is ready to receive.

Item:
 I, Billie Morrison, leave my pet hobby of "eye-lash batting" to Helen Marts with the hope that it will do her as much good as it did me.

Item:
 The following may seem but trifling bequest, but we hope that they may be accepted, not as worthless things lavishly thrown away because we can no longer keep them, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them. Acting as thirty-three individuals and separate parts, we, the Class of 1945, will and bequeath the following:

I, O. C. Wharton, leave my nickname of "Curley," and my brilliant answers of "uh" and "uh-huh" to be divided equally between three Johnsons who are Juniors: George, Waldon and Jimmy.

I, Edwina Ross, leave to Paul Johnson, my quiet nature and sweet disposition.

I, Laverne Abston, leave part of my ability to sew and part of my ability to beat boogie on the piano to Marie Sanders.

I, Jeanne Breedlove, leave my title of "Giggling Gertie" and my giggle to Vandolyn Browning, hoping that she will keep up the good work.

I, Carolita Jones, leave my ability to have a good time under all circumstances to Charlene Langford.

 I, Warren Haynie, leave my love-making ability to J. L. Gobin. (As if he needed it).

I, Frances Ayers, leave my outstanding vocabulary to one who will do it justice, Morris Johnson.

I, Doris Denton, leave my right to furnish about half the Senior class with food to Doris Browder, if she is capable of doing same without Mr. Purvis catching her.

I, C. F. Bradford, leave my seat in fifth period study hall to Clay Dunn, may he put as much over on Mrs. Davis as I have.

I, Marion Hayes, leave my book-keeping ability to Opal Callaway.

I, Mary Jo Hogan, leave my crazy personality to a quiet Junior, namely, Lois Hinkle.

I, Bobby Cooper, leave to Hardy Sanders and Larry Campbell the absolute authority to argue with Mrs. Sloan during the entire school year of '45 and '46. (P. S.: Boys, I am betting on you).

I, Bessie Gamble, leave to Betty Seale my ever ready smile and laugh. May she have as much fun as a Senior as I have.

I, Kelly Bullion, leave my height to Bobby Gloyna, Milton Hall, Lewis Pyle and Herman Wright. I will still have plenty left over.

I, June Hickman, leave my ability to see the bright side of things to Leta Joe Carroll.

I, John C. Carter, leave my position as "Casanova of the Campuses" to Miles Neill, and I hope he can handle it as well as I have in the past.

I, Billy Joe Taylor, leave my quiet nature and mannerly disposition to J. L. Brock, that he may do with as he sees fit.

I, Ada Jane Magee, leave to Evelyn Barker, all the numerous school activities which I have entered hoping she will find being a Senior as much fun as I have.

We, the Smith Sisters, Bobby and Helen, leave our talent to please the student body with our music to Billy Joe Scott.

I, Travis Veceer, leave all my beautiful pin-up girls to Joe Harris Scates and Ed Thomas, who probably have plenty of their own.

I, Sue Jones, leave my pleasant disposition to Naomi Crisp with the hope that she will use it tactfully.

I, Carlos McBeath, leave my position as the quietest and most well-behaved boy in the Senior Class to Bill Irwin.

 I, Sister Owens, leave my motto on catching boy friends, which is "Nag 'em, Neck 'em, Neglect 'em," to Joyce Jones.

I, Marilyn Hays, leave my friendly ways to Wilma Flesher.

I, Beverly Gray, leave my high and mighty position as driver of the Thulia school bus to be fought over by Bobby Cooper and Joe Lee Meason. May the best man win.

I, Genevieve Nelson — leave — "Thank Heavens."

I, Marion Horde, leave my "Master Mind" to Kendrick Joy and A. G. Wallace, who without much coaching should take over nicely.

I, Virginia Mabe, leave my super-serve in volley ball, to Sazel Marlow, not that she needs it.

I, Jack Frown, happily leave my English Four workbook with all good grades included, to Billy Dean Brown.

I, Dorothy Pechacek, leave my Dear Old Locker No. 1, to Eva Lois Gray with the hope that she doesn't have to break her leg to reach it.

I, Joe Edd Gillespie, leave my charm and winning ways to Hettie White, although he really does not need them.

I, "Prune" Bell, leave my timid nature and captivating grin to the deserving junior, Horace Todd, with the hope that he will take advantage of it as I did.

I, Ora Mae Fox, leave to Mary Catherine Sparks, my loud mouth and unruly manners.

I, "Granny" Ribble, leave my main topic of conversation, which is "Gobin," to De Alva Thomas with the knowledge that she will carry on splendidly.

Item:
 We, as a class, leave to the Juniors all cuds of chewing gum found under the desks in study hall or any other room of CHS. We also leave our Senior dignity, may you uphold it forever, with seriousness and gravity, endeavoring to realize its vast importance.

And last comes the one thing hard for us to part with: To our seniors we must leave our places in the hearts and thoughts of our superintendent, principal and teachers. They will love you, undying in on a bicycle, dressed in as they have loved us. They will show you all the same tender kindness and attention that they have bestowed upon us; they will have the same interest in your attempts and successes; the same sorrow when you fail. We trust that the Class of '46 will appreciate this as we have done, that it may be your most precious possession, as it has been ours, and the one we are most loath to hand over to them.

Item:
 Besides these enforced gifts, we leave—not of necessity, but of our own free will—our blessings, tender memories of our pleasant associations together, and our pleasure of friendship from hence forth and forever.

We do hereby constitute and appoint our Principal as sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, we, the Class of 1945, seal this will on the thirteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five.

By:
 Bessie Gamble and Ada Jane Magee.

Immediately following the reading of the will, John Sanders came riding in on a bicycle dressed in a Dutch costume and singing "A Bicycle Built For Two," to his little Dutch Sweetheart, Tommie Meason.

At this point of the program, the highlight of the evening came. Reader, if you weren't there, you missed a wonderful speech made by Joe Gibson, superintendent of the Childress schools. After telling several amusing incidents he made us realize, as youths of today, we will be leaders of tomorrow.

To end the banquet appropriately Evelyn Barker and Alva Thomas lead a sing-song.

Well, reader, you see what I mean when I said you missed something. It was swell and you should have been there.

Sincerely yours,
 A Lucky Senior.

(For lack of space, the banquet will be continued next week.)

It's a Fact!

This year there are to be only two War Loans.
 But—in these two loans we must lend Uncle Sam just about as much money as we did last year in three.
 That won't be easy.
 But it'll be a lot easier if you'll do the same thing that 27 million Americans in the Payroll Savings Plan are doing.
 Right now they're stepping up their allotments—saving extra money so that they can spread their War Bond buying over more pay checks.

TEXAN'S SHARE in the WAR

Neither wounds nor hardship can make the American soldier lose his sense of humor. Some of his jokes are grim, but behind them lies the high courage that all Texans admire.

Several disabled Texas officers who returned from German prisoner camps were talking from experience in McCloskey General Hospital at Temple. In the circle sat Lt. F. E. Brumbelee, Midlothian; Lt. E. S. Proctor, Port Arthur; Lt. Ralph Norsworthy, and Ernest Davis, both of Dallas, and Lt. John Akers of Greenville.

Under discussion were the books, sport equipment and other aids for combatting "barbed wire sickness" in war prisoners which are furnished by War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund agency to which Texans contribute through their county war chests.

"Without them," said Lt. Brumbelee, who was shot down over Bremen, "there's nothing to do except sit and stare at each other and talk until you hate everybody. After a while you get to just chewing your finger nails."

"I'll say you do," agreed Lt. L. E. Hearn of Tulsa, Okla., who sat with the Texans. "Look how I chewed mine."

Amid laughter, he held up his left arm, off at the elbow. Actually, Hearn lost his arm in the action in which he was captured in the Vosges mountains of France.

Texas gallantry has another long list of decorations to its credit this week. Among others, Capt. Bill Dollarite, Longview, has been awarded the Silver Star and the French Croix de Guerre. Paratrooper Sgt. T. J. Cunningham, Talco, received the Silver Star for exploits on Leyte. Sgt. Jack D. McHam, Blossom, with the Second Division in Germany, is another to receive the Silver Star.

SAFETY SLOGANS

How to avoid accidents is no puzzle to the man who knows Safety rules and uses common sense.

Home Town Thoughts

When you pay your bills at some store, you give the dealer money with which he can take advantage of special bargains and offer them to the public at a low price.

If you visit a community for the first time, how can you get an idea of its character? One excellent way to judge it is to buy the local newspaper. If it has plenty of news and advertising, it is a good town.

One way to get ahead on your job is to finish completely every bit of work you take hold of. If a worker frequently leaves unfinished details to be cleared up by someone else, he is not likely to be so popular with the boss.

Triumph Through Sacrifice

The awe-inspiring story of Calvary is beyond our understanding. For on the cross the divine Son of God gave Himself in sacrificial atonement for sin. He who knew no sin became sin for us. It was for our sin He died. Here alone we find redemption.

Let us consider the story of Calvary from Matthew 27:33-50, centering our thoughts around three expressions.

1. "They crucified Him." Looking on the One who hung on the sacred tree, we see Him refusing the stupefying potion (v. 34) and facing death fully conscious. A little later we hear Him cry out in the darkness which covered all the land, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" That cry indicates the depth to which He went for us. Although we cannot fathom the full meaning, we know it was for us.

Then came the cry in a loud voice, "It is finished!" This was not the death of a languishing martyr. Having wrought our redemption, the Son of God cried out in powerful tones of victory, and yielded up His spirit.

2. "They watched Him." Soldiers, priests, the two thieves, the women—how different was the purpose and spirit of their watching.

The soldiers had mocked Him in the palace; now they were passing curious. They gambled over His garments, and finally settled down to perform their duty as guards, with stolid indifference.

The priests, who professed to know about God and His Word, stood out in appalling wickedness and ignorance.

Of the two thieves, one believed and the other railed on Him (Luke 23:39, 40). The cross has ever since been the dividing line, part of humanity turning there to life eternal, the rest going on its railing way to destruction.

The women waited. They were perplexed and troubled, but they stood faithfully by until His precious body was in the grave.

3. "He trusted in God." This was the sarcastic taunt of the priests. But because He trusted God and did His Father's will, even to the sacrifice of Himself in death. He can save others—He can be our Saviour. Is He yours?

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

The universal and absolute law is that natural justice which cannot be written down, but which appeals to the hearts of all—Victor Cousin.

A man may have authority over others, but he can never have their heart, except by giving his own.—W. Wilson.

Junior-Senior Banquet at Baptist Church Friday Evening Highlights School Activities for Year 1944-45

The Junior-Senior banquet given Friday evening in the banquet hall of the First Baptist Church, proved to be no exception to custom in being the outstanding social event of the school year. The sponsor and class mothers and class members were responsible for one of the prettiest banquets in High School history.

In a setting simulating a Dutch garden in its every detail, the honor guests, Senior class members, the hosts, the Junior class members and their guests, were seated at long tables which formed a U, and decorated with a profusion of red rosebuds, crystal candle holders with red candles, Dutch shoes, tulips, all significant of the Dutch motif. Chair backs also accentuated the colorful scene with vari-colored slip covers.

A typical Dutch garden, with green grass, picket fence, pretty flowers, a Dutch windmill, was seen at one end of the hall. Window boxes with tulips adorned the windows, which were draped with two shades of crepe paper. Trellises, covered with vines and flowers, completed the realistic Dutch picture.

Placecards formed of tulip cutouts, with the menu and the program within, marked places for the guests. The invocation was given by Rev. R. S. Watkins, pastor of the Methodist Church. De Alva Thomas, Junior class president, gave the welcome and the response, in behalf of the Senior class and other guests, was given by Bobby Cooper, president of the Senior class.

The delicious meal, prepared by the ladies of the Baptist Church, was served by Sophomore Home Economics students, who wore Dutch caps and aprons, and who added a distinctive note to the appointments of the banquet. Piano music by Mrs. Woodrow Lemons was given during the meal.

Toastmaster for the occasion was Joe Harris Scales who spiced the program with clever remarks and jokes concerning the guests. A solo, "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" was sung by Sharon Haney, who was accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. T. S. Haney. The Junior prophecy was read by Morris Johnson, in which he depicted the future of the honor guests in a humorous style. Tribute was paid the boys of the Senior class who have entered the service.

A special musical number was rendered by Miles Neill and Jimmie Johnson, a cornet and accordion duet. The Senior Will was read by Ada Jane Magee. She disposed of the properties of the Senior class in an impressive manner. Following the Will, John Sanders sang, "Bicycle Built for Two." He rode a bicycle and sang to Tommie Meason, who sang the reply. Both were attired in Dutch costume.

The address of the evening was given by Joe Gibson, superintendent of Childs Schools. A sing-song, led by De Alva Thomas and Evelyn Barker, brought the delightful banquet to a close. Accompaniment for the sing-song was played by Mrs. Otis Strickland.

Miss Doris Campbell Becomes Bride of John E. Binnion with Marriage Vows Performed in Austin March 30

Miss Doris Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Campbell, was married to John E. Binnion of Austin, at 5 o'clock on Friday evening, March 30. The marriage took place in the Presbyterian Seminary in Austin, with Dr. Edmund Heinsohn, pastor of the University Methodist Church, officiating with the impressive double ring ceremony.

As a prelude, the organist played "Evening Star" by Wagner. For the entrance of the bride party, Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus was played and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as recessional. The church was beautifully decorated with white carnations and greenery on the altar. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Edwards of Crowell as maid of honor, and the groom was attended by Frank Sherwood, a fraternity brother. The bride was given in marriage by Col. George E. Hurt.

The bride was attired in a dusty rose wool gabardine suit, with accessories of white. Her bouquet was of white gardenias, surrounded with red carnations. Miss Edwards wore a black dress with black and chartreuse accessories. Her corsage was white gardenias.

Following the wedding, the couple went to San Antonio on a short wedding trip. On Sunday evening, April 1, a reception was held at Alpha Chi Omega House, given jointly by Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. The beautiful wedding ring cake with pink roses and white lace trim, featured the dining room decorations and was cut by the bride and groom and served to the guests.

Mrs. Binnion is a graduate of Crowell High School and attended Texas State College for Women at Denton, and is now a student at the University of Texas. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority.

Mr. Binnion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Binnion of Los Angeles, Calif. He is now attending the University of Texas and will receive his degree in June. He has been a 1st Lieutenant in the U. S. service, and served overseas in Africa, Sicily and Italy. He has an honorable discharge from the service. The High School boys won the contest by a four touchdown margin. The passing combination of Kendrick Joy to the ends, Joe Mason and J. L. Brock, proved to be the best offensive plays. However, O. C. Wharton's blocking and return of a seventy-yard kick off for a touchdown so looked good for the High School boys.

Other boys playing on the Wildcats' team were: Carlos McBeath, center; Larry Wood and V. Bond, guards; J. C. Patton and N. A. Nichols, tackles; and Horace Todd and Jimmy Johnson, backs. The entire squad looked good on the offensive, but looked rather weak on the defense. Reserves who saw service in this contest were: R. L. Ballard, A. G. Wallace, Clay Dunn, Ed Thomas, Larry Campbell and Weldon James.

Players who looked the best for the seniors were: Billy Fred Short and J. W. Sollis in the backfield; and Murphy Sollis, Howard Bell and Travis Vecera in the line.

Announcement is made of the inauguration in the 4-H Club 1945 program of the new National 4-H Field Crops Activity, which will be conducted under the direction of the Extension Service.

The awards provided by International Harvester Company, include sterling silver medals, National 4-H Club Congress honors, and $200 Fowler McCormick scholarships.

Bona fide club members enrolled this year in any field crops project approved by the state club leader may participate.
