Bears Romp Over Wolverines 32-13

By Darrell Young
Your Cub Reporter

The Baird Bears, looking like veterans, rolled easily over the Carbon Wolverines to the tune of 32-13. This was the first outing for the Bears in the District race. They opened up early in the first quarter and never lost momentum throughout the game. The Bears scored once in the first quarter, two in the second, once in the third and added another in the fourth. Mayes, Ivy and Higgins, running like demons, piled up plenty of yardage on the turf of the Bear's Den. The Wolverines also played inspired football but just couldn't stop the Bears charges.

To open the tilt, the Wolverines elected to kick-off and the Bears received from the north end of the field. Mayes received the kick on the ten and seemed destined to score on the opening kickoff but was hauled in on the 50. After two stabs at the line failed to gain but two yards, Mayes took a pitch-out and circled his own right end from the 48 yard line to score for the Bears. The kick for extra point was wide.

Stroope, right guard, kicked for the Bears down to the 15 yard line. Carbon was held for three downs and kicked over the Bear's goal line from their own 20. The ball was brought out to the Bear 20 yard line. Mayes, back to kick, was a little slow in getting the punt away and the hard-charging Wolverines rushed in to block it. The Wolverines recovered and a pass completion put the ball on the Bear 15. Clark gained a first on the 3 but a clipping penalty put the ball on the 18. McDaniels circled his left end for the tally. Clark plunged off tackle for the extra point and the Wolverines led 7-6. After the kick-off, the Bears, on four successive first downs, drove to the Carbon 15 where Mayes cocked his right arm and flipped a pass to Ashlock in the end zone for the score, on the first play in the second quarter. The kick was again wide.

The Wolverines, after receiving the kick, drove to their own 40 from where Freeland, racing in from his end position, intercepted a pitch out. Ivy then tossed to Freeland on the 8 but on the next play the Bears fumbled and the Wolverines recovered on the Bears 10 yard line. Gilbert passed and Mayes rushed in to intercept and scampered 30 yards for the touchdown. The kick was wide. The whistle blew to end play in the first half, a few minutes later. The Bears led 18-7 at the half.

The Bears kicked to open the second half. On a nice gain, on the second play from scrimmage McDaniels gained a first on the Bears 15. A pass completion set up a first and goal to go on the Bears 3 yard line but the Bears dug in their cleats and stopped the Wolverines on the 2 yard line. The Bears took over and Mayes received the snap. Trapped behind the goal line, Mayes eluded several tacklers and raced out to the 30. On the next play Mayes took the ball off-tackle and sprinted 70 yards for the TD. The kick was low and the Bears led 24-7.

Tom Ivey scored the Bears six pointer on a tackle around play from the 3 yard line. Although weighted down with three Wolverines, Ivey finally stumbled over the goal line. The kick was wide. The Bears now led 30-7.

After the Bears kicked-off, Carbon fumbled and Baird recovered. The second string drove to the Carbon four but there they fumbled and Carbon recovered. Gilbert gained a first on the Bear 30 but the Wolverines fumbled and the Bears recovered. Baird punted out of bounds on Carbon's 1 yard line. On the next play Carbon fumbled and Pierson pounced on the ball on the Wolverine 1. The Bears fumbled and Carbon recovered. On the next play the Bears trapped Bethany behind the goal line for a safety, and two points. The Bears were ahead 32-7.

Carbon kicked-off and Clark intercepted a Bear pass and raced 45 yards untouched for the final score of the game. The extra point-try was no good. The score was now 32-13. The two teams fought hard at mid-field until the final whistle blew.

The following is a report submitted by K. H. Rowland, superintendent of the Baird Schools, on the gate receipts of the games the Bears have played to date:

Robert Lee*	$135.00
Rising Star	208.00
Miles*	18.00
Carbon*	88.25
Total	$449.25

* Home games net proceeds including sale of season tickets.

The net gate receipts for the Miles game was $93.00 but Baird held a $75.00 guarantee with Miles which is the reason Baird netted only $18.00

Cross Plains Has New Oil Well

Oil news entered the spotlight in two West Texas towns Monday — Knox City and Cross Plains.

A new oil producer in Eastland County, four miles northeast of Cross Plains, promised a potential output of 300 barrels a day on the H. L. Vestal tract.

At the same time, Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. revealed plans to drill what is hoped will be Knox County's first producing well one-half mile from the city limits of Knox City.

Stanolind will make a 6,500 foot test, the No. 1 Marjorie Baker on the northeast corner of Section 51 DNW, the same section which the Citizens State Bank of Knox City stands on.

Almost every lot in the Knox City townsite has been leased during the past five years, but no commercial producing well has been drilled in the county.

The Eastland County well is located 2,760 feet from the west and 660 feet from the south lines of the 263-acre Vestal Tract in the Sam Damron Survey, Charles H. Kadane of Jacksboro and the Dunham and John Oil Company of Ft. Worth were drillers.

Land Offer Made By Water Board

L. Griggs and A. E. (Colonel) Dyer. Mr. Dyer and Dr. Griggs were notified of the offer by letter Wednesday, October 20th is the date set for them to accept or reject the offer.

Fruit Drippings—

A heartbreaking experience is to discover nematode root knot in a young peach orchard. The time to correct this possibility is before the trees are set out. During the fall season while there is still plant growth on the ground is a good time to do some checking for possible nematode infestation. First, pull up cotton stalks or susceptible weeds and look for the bead like bumps on the roots and in heavy soils, look for evidence of root rot on random cotton stalks which may have died from the trouble.

On the soils which have sufficient slope to justify terracing, this job should be done now. With the soil checked for infestation and diseases and terraced to check erosion, you are then ready to choose varieties.

Tom Denman, Horticulturist at the Experiment Station at Stephenville, summarizes his variety testing work by scoring the new varieties. In the group of Varieties Ripening Four or Five Weeks Before Elberta, the high score goes to Dixigem a yellow freestone re-checked variety which has been outstanding in most test in the past two or three year period. Red Haven scores second in this group. It is a fiery red-skinned yellow-fleshed freestone peach that is not as large as Dixigem, but is extremely prolific. Varieties ripening two and one-half to three and one half weeks before Elberta are Sullivan Elberta, which is one of the outstanding peaches. Red Elberta is also a good variety for this period. In this group and un-named U. S. Department of Agriculture introduction is far superior to any of the other varieties in the test.

These peaches will fit well in to a commercial planting program in West Texas.

Check for Tree Borers—

If you did not start using DDT in the fight against the Peach tree borers about two months ago, you had better use something now. It is too late for DDT but, something better is still ene dichloride emulsion. In recent weeks borers have appeared in many trees in commercial orchards. Ethylene dichloride emulsion is a quick and effective way to control peach tree borer at this season of the year. Clear the trash away from the base of the tree, make a small trench in the soil about two inches away from the trunk and apply the following doses: For trees one year old, you should use about 1/4 pint per tree. For two year old trees use 1/2 pint, and for three year and older trees use 3/4 pint per tree.

Paradichlorobenzene is an old method which has been used with good results. Wait until the weather has cooled off some before using paradichlorobenzene. Clear the trash away from the base of the tree four to six inches from the trunk. Paradichlorobenzene crystals are then evenly distributed in a narrow continuous circular band one inch wide on the soil two inches from the trunk of the tree. Do not allow the paradichlorobenzene to come in contact with the body of the tree. Pull the soil over the ring of the chemical band to form a cone about three inches deep. Pack the soil to hold the gas around the bark of the tree. Remove the soil cone about six weeks after the treatment has been made.

Cover Crops For Orchards

Cover crop planting times is almost here. The question is — what kind of cover crop should be planted, leguminous or non-leguminous. These observations may help you decide. In orchards where leguminous cover crops have been planted annually for the past several years, growers have found that their trees continue to grow throughout the season, causing delayed maturity of fruit, lack of uniformity in ripening, poor fruit color and many cracks, split seeds, etc. These conditions are the result of an imbalance of soil nutrients — nitrogen phosphorus and potassium. The nitrogen level may not be necessarily too high, but more probably and nitrogen level is out of balance with the available phosphorus and potassium. If these conditions described above existed in your orchard this past year, it might be well to substitute a non-legume cover crop such as abruzzia rye or something else of this type.

Strictly For The Ladies
One of the "most used gadgets in the average kitchen is the can opener, and it is doubtful," says Gena Thames, acting assistant extension home management specialist of Texas A & M College, "if many homemakers ever check by a simple test the quality of the job that is done by the gadgets they use.

"For example," cites Miss Thames, "many can openers, whether cheap or expensive, permit slivers of tinned steel to fall into the can's contents during the opening process.

"Here is a simple check that you can easily make to see if your can opener is working satisfactorily. Empty the contents from a can of food. Then wash and dry the can carefully. Hold the can firmly upon a sheet of white paper -- with the opened end down and the open the bottom end of the can with the can opener that you are checking.

"Any slivers of metal released by the opener this time will fall upon the paper where they can be seen. If more than the barest amount of tinned steel shows on the paper, you'll know the can opener is not cutting as it should.

Now, Glenn is spotted in what is perhaps the meatiest role of his considerable career, the part of the murderous treasure seeker who eliminates all rivals in his quest for $20,000,000 in gold hidden in the Lost Dutchman mine. The film, Columbia's "Lust For Gold" comes to the Plaza Theatre Sunday and Monday, October 16-17.

His interpretation is given added impact through the realization that this is no mere work of fiction penned by a Hollywood writer, but is the true story of secret treasure cached in the Lost Dutchman mine in Arizona's Superstition Mountains reaching back through 100 years of daring, jealousy and murder. Based upon Barry Storm's factual book, "Thunder Gods Gold," the authenticity of "Lust for Gold" is further attested to by Gov. Daniel E. Garvey of Arizona, who states that "this picture represents, to the best of our knowledge, the true facts concerning this unusual situation."

Ford climaxes his recent gallery of tough hombres with the conscienceless killer whose lust for gold impels him to eliminate all opposition to possession of the fabulous gold mine! His sole redeeming characteristic is his love for Ida Lupino, a calculating beauty making a pitch for the Lost Dutchman bonanza herself.

She keeps her marriage to Gig Young a secret from Ford as she plots to worm from the latter the location of the Lost Dutchman. When Ford learns of her husband's evil mind devises a diabolical revenge. Using the bait of $20,000,000 in gold, he lures Miss Lupino and Young to the mine where, with ready rifle, he holds them at bay in the blazing heat without water and with no hope of escape.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brock of Elliasville, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sutphen of Byrd, Mrs. Margie Ray and C. W. Sutphen of Baird, and Dr. and Mrs. Roeffer of Graham left Monday morning on a two or three weeks hunting trip to Creede, Colorado.

Hamilton Wright of the Abilene Reporter-News was in Baird Tuesday.

HEALTH FACTS

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is a very serious disease caused by a tiny germ that looks like a stick with a ball on one end—something like a microscopic lollipop, says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. This ball is called a spore and it is the seed of the germ. Lockjaw germs are found in the soil, especially in manured soil of the barnyard or garden; in blank cartridges; etc.—in fact, just about everywhere. These germs grow best in wounds where there is considerable tissue destruction and in which chips of glass, wood splinters, or grains of dirt have been imbedded.

Every accident seen by the physician must be considered from the lockjaw angle; and whenever there is any question, tetanus antitoxin should be given, for it is the antitoxin that has helped to keep the incidence of lockjaw at its low level. Your physician will advise you as to its use. Its disadvantages are that it gives only temporary protection; it does not get rid of the lockjaw germs in the wound; and it does sometimes cause hives and other disagreeable symptoms for a few days, particularly if the subject has had previous injections. Should lockjaw develop, it requires much antitoxin and entails great expense; and even then, not all cases can be saved.

It is not possible to free the environment of lockjaw germs, but now there is a method of active immunization. The subject becomes his own manufacturing establishment for antitoxin to combat lockjaw poison.

One nice feature about the treatment is that it can be combined with diphtheria and whooping cough prophylaxis. The concurrent immunization is, preferably, carried out in infancy. Should a child already have had his diphtheria toxoid and whooping cough vaccine injections, he can take the lockjaw toxoid injection alone; and these can be given at any time with very little discomfort.

ALL-GAS KITCHENS SHOWN AT STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

All-gas kitchens accenting color and providing maximum comfort, convenience and efficiency features for housewives pursuing culinary duties will be among the highlights at the Natural Gas Building during the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 8-23. They will include the "Pink of Perfection Kitchen" for small homes by interior decorators of the Ladies Home Journal and the "Holiday Kitchen" by American Gas Association interior decorators. The latter is particularly adaptable to large homes.

Both kitchens will be complete in every detail, from the gas range and refrigerator to new floor coverings and ventilated drawers for vegetables, sliding shelves for utensils and other features that provide "new freedom" to homemakers.

The "Pink of Perfection Kitchen" was designed for a one-story house with a combination living-dining room. The eating area is roomy enough to be complete for an extra couple, and set off from the work centers by the use of washable but dramatic flowered wall covering. There is just an echo of paper in the work side of the kitchen to keep the room a harmonious unit.

The working area is U-shaped, with a corner sink set under a big picture window overlooking the garden terrace. The gas range is at the left of the sink, and the gas refrigerator is at the right, with the door opening toward the spacious work counter for easy unloading.

Cabinets in the working area are rosy pink and the serving-unit cabinets are sea-foam green. The pink cabinets have green plastic counter tops and the green cabinets are topped with rosy pink. The glass doors of the wall cabinets open on a pink lining, like the inside of a shell.

A new kind of soft green linoleum covers the floor with a tilelike design, and the ceiling echoes the green in a softer tone. The dark green background of the wallpaper is repeated in the painted surfaces, and the curtains framing the wide window are washable cotton. In daytime the kitchen is a symphony of color and at night it is every bit as attractive. Recessed ceiling lights diffuse a clear glow over the main counters and a lamp which is a part of the gas range gives a special light on the cooking.

The serving counter corners are rounded so the housewife will not encounter sharp corners en route to the living room. A tall cleaning closet fits in this kitchen by the gas refrigerator and holds all the supplies in an accessible spot for the one-story house. The cabinets themselves have been built with the user's convenience in mind. Ventilated drawers for vegetables, sliding shelves for utensils, divided cutlery drawers for small things, small bins for sugar and flour, and bread in convenient drawers—all these add up to making work quick and easy.

BETTY GRABLE IN "BLONDE FROM BASHFUL BEND"

Latest in the long line of well-balanced screen menus from Twentieth Century-Fox is the new comedy "The Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend," which stars the nation's number one feminine star, Betty Grable in the title role and which opens at the Plaza Wednesday and Thursday, October 19-20.

Written, directed and produced by Preston Sturges, this unusual picture has been acclaimed by previewers as one of the most hilarious comedies ever produced in Hollywood.

Mixing elements of a musical, a western and a comedy in generous proportions, the film casts Betty as a temperamental trigger-happy heroine who gets herself in and out of trouble of all kinds with the greatest of ease. Betty "sells" two songs in the patented Grable manner and displays those famed Grable gams in gorgeous outfits especially created for the picture. Cast as a cafe entertainer who, because of the proficiency with her six-shooters, has to switch her identity to that of an innocent school teacher, Betty manages to elude the long arm of the law. But the guise of the school-marm doesn't last and

BURLESON INVITED TO ATTEND GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Congressman Omar Burleson has been extended an invitation by Secretary of State Dean Acheson to visit the Fourth Regular Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations, which is now in progress.

Congressman Burleson received the invitation, the expression from the Secretary that the Department of State would like very much to have the Congressman, as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, visit the United Nations to observe the operations of the General Assembly, its Committees, and the United States Delegation to the Assembly. He said that he believed such a visit by Senators and Congressman chosen from the Foreign Relations, Foreign Affairs, the Appropriations Committees of both Houses, and the Armed Services Committees, would be of great value to both the United Nations and to the Congress.

Burleson has not yet responded to the Secretary of State's invitation, but expects to do so

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON

Past President, Texas District and County Attorneys Association

Editor's Note — (This is one of a series of short case histories, all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson, of Dallas, is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate these loopholes.)

Old John had a little money saved up and was a kindly old fellow. When Slicker Pete came along with a hard luck story, Old John lent him a hundred dollars. It would be just for a few days, Slicker Pete said. He promised to pay Old Pete back at the end of the week. Sure enough, when the week ended, Pete wrote out a check to the old gentleman.

But when Old John went to cash the check, he found that Pete not only did not have a hundred dollars in the bank—he didn't even have an account there. It was a worthless check, pure and simple, given willfully and intentionally.

But when Slicker Pete was arrested and then prosecuted for passing a worthless check, he was acquitted.

WHY? The laws of Texas require that for a person to be found guilty of passing a "hot check" he must have received something of value AT THE TIME the check was given. Pete had received the "something of value"—that is, the hundred dollars—several days before he gave Old Pete the check.

The State Bar of Texas is working to close such loopholes in the law so that honest citizens will not be so easily victimized by crooks. The outworn Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure now used in Texas are sorely in need of revision.

Dr. and Mrs. Jim T. Lawrence of Fort Worth visited Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lawrence Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Donald Melton and daughters, Yvonne and Sharon, of Coleman visited the Lawrences Saturday.

GREYHOUND ADVISES TO CHOOSE FALL FOR TRIPS

The mellow fall season, with its colorful foliage and cooler, zesty weather, is practically perfect for all kinds of pleasure trips, said Mr. Frank Tibbetts, Traffic Manager of Southwestern Greyhound Lines. Mr. Tibbetts also pointed out that more and more people are becoming aware of the wide variety of trips that are especially enjoyable in the fall months.

"People have done so much of their traveling for so long in the summer months that they have completely missed the many distinct advantages of travel during the colorful fall season," Mr. Tibbetts said today. He added that when people were once made aware of the increased pleasure of such things as cooler weather for traveling, a much wider choice of hotel and resort accommodations, plus the more colorful scenic beauty in the fall, they would discover the autumn months to be a particularly enticing travel season.

Mr. Tibbetts also emphasized that people have not yet realized the many varied places to go and exciting things to do in the fall—like seeing a big football game, going back to visit the old folks, going on a hunting or fishing trip, taking the family to a Fair having a gay time in the big city—or even taking a second honeymoon trip.

Mr. Tibbetts then went on to say that this fall Greyhound has made special plans to provide maximum of service to take care of the expected increase in fall travel. "In this respect," Mr. Tibbetts stated, "Greyhound is extending many of its Expense-Paid Tours into the months of October, November and December. Charter buses are being made available for group activities." Emphasis was placed on the fact that Greyhound is gearing its nationwide facilities in every way to serve travelers who prefer fall for the most travel enjoyment.

"The fact is," Mr. Tibbetts concluded, "that within the entire nationwide Greyhound organization we are making a major effort to promote the idea that fall is indeed the ideal 'Take-A-Trip Time.'"

PRICE DANIEL REPLIES TO D. A. BANDEEN

Attorney General Price Daniel today pledged the cooperation of his office on any water development project decided upon by West Texas but reiterated a warning that West Texas cities, farmers, ranches and industries would have far more satisfactory management of their water projects under state and local agencies rather than the federal Bureau of Reclamation.

Daniel's statement was contained in a letter replying to D. A. Bandeen, General Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who had objected to a similar statement made by the Attorney General in a Fort Worth speech last week. Bandeen has invited Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug to a water meeting in Fort Worth next month to outline plans for Federal Bureau of Reclamation development of water resources in West Texas areas.

Daniel said, "After two years of fighting against Secretary of Interior Krug's attempt to deprive Texas schools of their 3,000,000 acres of tidelands, you can hardly blame me for worrying about the West Texas Chamber's invitation to Mr. Krug to take over development of water projects on our inland streams. I fear that he will claim the ownership and control of the impounded waters the same as the Department of Interior did in the North Platte River case between Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. I fear that if you turn West Texas streams over to the Secretary of Interior for development, the Attorney General of Texas some day will be having to defend the title of the people of Texas to their river beds, waters, and riparian rights the same as we are now forced to do on the coastal lands, and the same as other State Attorneys General are having to do on Federal reclamation projects on inland waters of their States."

Daniel said Federal control of West Texas watersheds could be prevented if West Texas areas would organize and finance their own water districts in the same fashion as had been so successfully done by the Lower Colorado River Authority, the Central Colorado and the Upper Colorado River Authorities, the Lower Neches Valley, Brazos River, and San Jacinto Districts. These State created agencies issued bonds and made loans from federal agencies, but they own and control the water locally and are not restricted by Federal bureaus in their use of the water.

Daniel admitted that he was "influenced to some extent by my unpleasant experiences with the Department of Interior's attempt to take over our school lands. Also, I still dream of the day when organizations like the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which speak out so often for state rights and local self government, will lead the way to solution of our local problems through the exercise of local and state responsibilities rather than leading the way to Washington to lay our problems in the welcoming hands of a Federal Bureau."

The Attorney General also reminded Mr. Bandeen of the limitation under the Federal Reclamation Act that no one person can receive irrigation water for less than ten nor more than 160 acres. Under this Act, a person is required to agree to dispose of their lands in excess of 160 acres before receiving water.

Rivers of grass...

"Rivers of grass" flow across this country. Millions of cattle and lambs have spent the spring and summer turning grass into meat. Now they are ready for round-up and shipment. So in October they move to the markets—in a great flood of livestock. Many go direct from the range to meat-packing plants. Others go to the feed lots to be grain-finished. But, either way, these meat animals are mostly grass—which folks cannot eat—converted into appetizing, nourishing meat for people. They are adding greatly to the health and wealth of the nation. Without this "livestock economy," in which you and we are engaged, 779,000,000 acres of our United States would produce little food for human use.

Whether you ship your cattle and lambs early or late—whether it's to Chicago, Ft. Worth, Denver or any of scores of other markets—you'll find buyers there to bid for them. With many others, Swift & Company helps provide the year-round daily market which is as essential to your business as it is to ours.

Your grass, turned into meat, is a vital raw material of all meat-packing operations. There is keen competition for it. Every meat packer and commercial slaughterer (and there are more than 18,000 of them in the United States) must have a regular supply of meat animals. Each buyer knows the high bid gets the animals. He knows also that his own price range is set by supply and demand. He sees your steers and lambs as so many pounds of meat and by-products. The price you are offered for your livestock is governed by what the meat packer can get for the meat and the by-products.

Soda Bill Sez...

OUR CITY COUSIN

That big machine, City Cousin hears, is the kind that pulls off ears!

Your Markets for Meat

In the early days of our country, livestock was produced close to the point where it was eaten. But as the population grew, those conditions changed. Today two thirds of the people live east of the Mississippi, while two thirds of the livestock is produced west of that river. To bridge that gap of more than 1,000 miles is no small job. Millions of head of livestock must be processed and the meat distributed to where it is wanted. The facilities of nationwide meat packers provide you with markets for your meat animals; move the meat to cities and towns where it is in demand.

Swift & Company, and other nationwide meat packers, sell meat to retailers wherever there are people who want to buy it... no matter how far that may be from your farm or ranch. We bring you the benefit of national, rather than local, demand. This means that, in selling your livestock, you choose between the price created by local demand, or the price created by the national demand of millions of meat eaters.

We work hard to encourage people to serve meat oftener—to eat more of it... And we are proud that our nationwide system is one of the most efficient, low-cost food distribution systems in the United States.

Quotes of the Month

"We, as ranchers, are not sufficient unto ourselves. In fact, we are only the beginning of the beef line. Of equal importance are the feeder, the processor, the distributor and the consumer. Disregard the rights or welfare of any of these, and sooner or later we suffer."

Sam R. McKelvie
Pres. Sandhills Cattle Ass'n

"He gave it for his opinion that whoever could make two ears of corn, or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together."

Supplement that Poor Forage

by Robert D. Rasmussen
New Mexico A. & M. College

Dried-up pastures and winter weather create the same feeding problem for the cattleman. They simply mean that you have lower quality feed and less of it. And you have little choice as to what you can do about it. You can let the cattle eat what they can find. In this case you're likely to take a weight loss on your cows. You'll also take a chance on a weak calf crop. Or you can feed a supplement. If you feed enough of the right kind, your cows and unborn calves will come through in good, healthy condition.

California experiments on deficient range showed the cow herd that got a protein supplement produced a 91% calf crop. Cows on similar range, without a supplement, produced a 61% calf crop. Arizona found that feeding supplement increased the weight of the calves at birth by 10 pounds.

The amount of supplement needed varies. Cows carrying calves, and young stock require more protein than open cows or mature animals. A safe rule to follow is to watch the condition of the stock. Keep them healthy and thrifty.

Research by the New Mexico agricultural experiment station shows that during the winter months range forage is most critically short of phosphorus as well as protein. While some of the cake supplements are high in phosphorus as well as protein, most ranchers over the state are using mineral supplement for year-round use. A mineral supplement containing at least 6% phosphorus should be made available at all times to range cattle. Experiments have shown that year-round use is better and more profitable than seasonal use.

Here's a goal for cattlemen. Use whatever kind and amount of supplement is necessary to keep your cattle healthy and thrifty. (Editor's Note: The principles of animal nutrition discussed above apply in all parts of the country.)

IT'S FUN BEING EDITOR OF THE BAIRD STAR

We get a lot of fun out of editing The Baird Star, however, it's no picnic.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are too serious.

If we go out to hustle.

We ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius; and if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk!

ICE SHOW COMING TO ABILENE OCT. 24 - 25

ABILENE — Something new — an ice show — is coming to West Texas.

The stage-show-on-ice, the first ever to be brought to this wide area, is produced by some of the outstanding skating stars of the nation and will be presented at Rose Field House, Hardin-Simmons University, on October 24 and 25.

There will be three performances in Abilene, an evening show Monday, Oct. 24, and matinee and evening shows Tuesday.

The sparkling two-hour show, "Ice-landia," has a cast of over 30, including stars of "Icecapades," "Ice Follies," and other top flight shows over the nation.

It is a completely self-sufficient show, carrying its own ice-making machinery, 5 miles of cooling pipes, stage settings, costumes and the like along with it.

A big, elevated ice stage will be built in the middle of Rose Field house for the show. Crews will arrive in the city early and will begin the day before freezing the big slab of ice which will be the stage.

Announcement of the big-time show was made by Dub Wofford, president of the Cowboy Club which is sponsoring the event. The club is composed of Hardin-Simmons exes, friends and West Texas businessmen who are interested in the school's athletic program.

Seats may be reserved by sending check or money order to the office of E. W. Ledbetter, business manager at H-SU. Reserved seats for the evening shows are $2.40 and there will be a limited number of $1.80 general admission tickets. Student tickets are $1.20. Matinee prices will be $1.20 for adults and 60 cents for students with no reserved seats.

Stars and co-owners of "Ice-landia" are Buff McCusker, who was the co-star with Sonja Heine in 20th Century-Fox's original ice film, "Wintertime," and Dot McCusker, former skating star of "Icecapades" and "Ice Follies."

Mrs. Rosa Ryan and Miss Maricate Warren spent from Thursday until Saturday visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dodd at Dimmitt.

THIS IS THE WEEK OF FIRE PREVENTION

Baird has had some pretty bad fires in years past, but we have been extremely lucky not to have had more serious losses than we have had. During the past few years Baird has established a splendid fire record and our property owners are enjoying a very low fire insurance rate. The last big fire in town was at the James building on Market Street. The building was destroyed, but it so happened that the big fire truck had just been overhauled and there happened to be plenty of water in the mains at that particular time. The block would have burned if luck had not been with us.

We can't trust to luck for long. With the cool weather coming we are in the process of putting up stoves for the winter and the like. It might be a pretty good thing to clean the chimneys first and check up on any possible fire hazard.

The practice of burning trash behind business buildings was stopped when the city began its clean-up program. This is a fine thing and the more the property-owner observes the ruling the better off the business district of the town will be. It isn't against the law to burn trash in the residential section, but metal containers should be covered.

Constant vigilance will prevent fires in Baird.
