Women Should Notify S. S. B. of Change in Name

Divorced and other women who have been employed in stores, offices, factories and other industrial or commercial establishments should advise the Social Security Board of any change in names if they are to continue to work in such occupations. G. James, manager of the Social Security Board field office at Ft. Worth, stated this week.

The reporting of such changes is necessary in order that the Social Security Board keep their records under one name. "It is important because it means benefit rights when the worker, or in case of death of wage earner, accurate month-to-month benefits to his or her eligible family." OAAAN-7003 — "Employee's Request for Change in Name" can be obtained by writing or calling at the field office in Wichita Falls.

Every inflation in history has followed by a deflation and present instance will prove no exception, in the opinion of A. W. Statist, economist for International Statistical Bureau.

Paducah Beats Crowell All-Stars by Score of 11 to 10

In a thrilling see-saw affair in which the lead changed hands several times Paducah out-scored Crowell's All-Stars on Tuesday night, July 9, by a score of 11 to 10. Cotton Owens and Bill Hardin slugged out home runs for the locals, Hardin's hit coming with two mates on base. Outstanding defensive play of the game was a sensational one-handed catch by Louis Purvis in deep center field. Cotton Owens was injured in the third inning when a foul tip hit him in the eye. Howard Gamble taking over the catching duties throughout the remainder of the game.

Crowell rallied in the eighth inning and was climaxed by Hardin's homer with two men on base but fell short one run of tying the score.

Vernon and Crowell to Stage Roping Contest Next Sunday

It is predicted from reliable sources that Congress will not get around to passing new and obviously needed labor legislation in time to handle the crop of strikes that is likely to occur next year.

Sen. Geo. Moffett Wants Record to Be Kept Straight

The Foard County News has received the following statement from Senator George Moffett, who is a candidate for re-election to the State Senate from this district:

"It has come to my attention that one of the candidates for Lieutenant Governor, who comes from Houston, has repeatedly published statements in this part of Texas, that he was the author of the bill providing for free soldier voting. I think the facts should be explained. This member of the House of Representatives from Houston, introduced and passed through the House, a bill which would have provided for a free vote for those in uniform. His proposal did not include ex-service men and women who had been discharged. I introduced a bill (constitutional amendment) in the Senate, which passed through both branches on August 25, 1945. This bill extended the free voting privilege not only to the members of the armed services while they were still in uniform, but also to those honorably discharged, for a period of eighteen months after their discharge, and that's the reason that ex-service men and women can vote in this year's election, without a poll tax.

"I sincerely thank the people of this district for having elected me to represent them in the past. I have been the author of more bills and constitutional amendments, that have actually passed and become the law, than any other member of the Legislature. I expect to continue to use my efforts for the best interests of the people of this district, and the state of Texas."

Expansion of Social Security Program Discussed

Emphasizing what was described as a great need for expansion of the Social Security program to cover presently excluded workers, particularly those in agriculture, Gordon James, manager of the field office in Wichita Falls, said yesterday that the state's public assistance program must at present carry the burden of assistance to old people and dependent survivors in this area, because this is predominantly an agricultural area whose workers are not covered by Old Age and Survivors Insurance (Social Security).

Social Security has no fight with the public assistance program, believing that it is doing a wonderful work, James said, but he believes that plan calls for taxation which puts a burden on public resources that could be avoided under the more general plan.

He cited figures showing that in Foard County served by the field office, there is expended for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind, $7.02 per year for every man, woman and child in the area. This compares with $0.41 per capita per year for Social Security, which it is contended is self-supporting and shared in by worker and employes alike.

Much of the burden upon Texas' general tax resources which must support half the cost of public assistance could be relieved, James thinks, if the benefits of Old Age and Survivors Insurance were extended to cover agricultural classes and the self-employed, a plan for which is now before Congress.

The bread situation, it is predicted, will ease up by August when the new wheat comes in.

Pioneer Citizen Visits Old Home

He also visited several hours with old-time friends in Crowell Saturday morning.

Mr. Moore came to the Thalia community with his parents in 1887, four years before Foard County was organized. During his young manhood days he operated steam engines for gins and threshing machines in Foard and Wilbarger Counties. Mr. Moore owned and operated a ranch in Martin County for many years. ## Short Time For Placing Name in Service Record

It is to be hoped that every one who rendered service of any kind, whatsoever, in World War II, will not fail to place his or her name in the historical book which we are planning to have published at an early date. It has been said that some do not care to exploit themselves and their service rendition, but this is not a case of exploiting or vaunting the service but is a case of making a historical record of the service of the faithful men and women of Foard County who laid down whatever they were engaged in and took upon themselves the task of making our country a safe place in which to live. Certainly a record should be made of such sacrifice.

It will be sad if any name is omitted from the book of those who did their part in the war and we will be very much disappointed if the response is anything but 100 per cent. In years to come, the history will be of more interest and value than it may now seem to be, so, with the co-operation of all concerned, let us have a complete story of the service rendered by Foard County during the recent struggle for victory. See that your service men or women is included and please do it immediately.

Good Rain Falls in Good Creek Community Friday

Since that time the weather conditions have been hot and dry with the temperature well above 100 on several days. Sunday was probably the hottest day when the thermometer at Ferguson's Drug Store registered 107 in the shade. Monday the thermometer registered 106.

Mr. Edwards stressed the fact that a man's vocation, business or professional, entitles him to a classification and the privilege of becoming a Rotarian. How well he performs the duties of a Rotarian and the service he renders to his community, depends entirely upon the individual.

Mrs. Alva Spencer served as pianist for the club singing. Jimmie Tom Cates was a visitor. President Grady Halbert announced to the club that he and the secretary, Luke Archer, attended the assembly of presidents and secretaries in Childress Monday.

School Lunch Program Under New Management

Governor Stevenson has appointed the State Department of Education to manage the U. S. Department of Agriculture's community school lunch program in Texas for the next fiscal year, it was announced this week.

Joint formal agreement covering program operation requirements have been signed by Dr. L. A. Woods, State Department of Education and B. F. Vance, state director, production and marketing administration, for the Department of Agriculture.

Two-fold purpose of the program is to provide growing children with nourishing food for maximum health and growth and to create larger day-to-day markets for farm products.

The school lunch program has operated for several years on a year-to-year basis. Recently, the National School Lunch Act became public law. It provides assistance to states in operating community school lunch rooms for children attending non-profit public or private schools. States and the federal government will contribute funds to its support. For the fiscal years 1947 to 1950, inclusive, federal funds must be matched dollar for dollar by states. From 1951 to 1955, a state must contribute $1.50 for each federal dollar, and after that $3.

While the School Lunch Act does not carry an appropriation, the agricultural appropriations bill provides $75,000,000 for its operation the next fiscal year. Its pro rata share for Texas is about $2,800,000. The PMA director explained. During the fiscal year just ended, the school lunch program was in operation in approximately 2,800 Texas schools, in which an average of 250,000 children were served well-balanced lunches daily. Latest reports indicate participation will be even higher for the next school year, Vance said.

He asked that all applications from local sponsors be filed with the State Department of Education, Austin, Texas, instead of the State PMA office.

Only Ex-Service Man in Race for Lieut. Governor

Senator Allan Shivers, only ex-serviceman in the race for Lieutenant-Governor, focused attention on war veterans when he opened his campaign recently in his home town, Port Arthur. "I exchanged ideas with fighting men many times in the hard days overseas in Africa, Italy, France and Germany. I know the anxiety and disappointment so many veterans feel today, and I understand and appreciate their problems that are also my own problems," the Jefferson County senator stated. Although only 38 years old, Senator Shivers is dean of the Texas Senate because of his 12 years service there. The Gulf Coast counties of Jefferson, Hardin, Liberty and Orange made him the youngest senator ever to take the oath of office when he was first sent to the state capitol to represent them in 1934. "My past 12 years experience in the state senate enables me to preside over that legislative body, which is one of the main duties of Lieutenant Governor," Senator Shivers pointed out. Listed as his aims when elected Lieutenant Governor, Senator Shivers named consideration of war veterans problems, higher salaries for teachers, better farm-to-market roads, reorganization of the pardon and parole system of the state.

The United States contains 3,070 counties. The United States has less than a 17 year supply of lead in all its known reserves. In the first five months of 1946 over 1,670 strikes were held. There are 40,000,000 persons, white collar workers in industry, business and the professions and on the farms who constitute the unorganized labor of the country and who face a sharp wage cut as a result of the inflation caused by increased wages to the organized groups. Fourteen million families in the United States have no savings at all. EX-GI student enrollment in colleges is expected to total 750,000 next fall.

For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.—Matthew 23:39.

It is heartening in this so-called age of materialism to note the lengths to which some of the so-called material minded countries are going to feed the hungry people of the world. In this country the size of the loaf of bread has been cut and the production limited. 2,500 mills are idle for the first time because the wheat that usually keeps them running is being shipped abroad to feed the hungry. In England eggs are rationed 12 per month per person and milk limited to three pints per week per person. Notwithstanding these food reductions and others England is loaning 400,000 tons of wheat to her hungry neighbors.

Suppose all of the farmers should unite on a sit down strike and refuse to sell anything until their demands were met? What would other groups who adopt the policy think of that?

The campaign for governor of California promises to be a quiet one since both parties nominated Governor Warren as their candidate.

As we understand it a good husband in times like the present is one who can repair a leaky faucet and fix an ailing light switch.

Editors who have the job of getting out their papers these times, are faced with an extra batch of problems. In addition to the scarcity of labor and paper the workers in the linotype industry have been on a strike for four months. The strike was in progress three months before the strikers would tell the plant owners what they were striking for. From what we are told by company representatives if the strikers get all they ask for the only function that the management will have left will be to pay the bills and try to keep the company solvent. Most linotype parts have to be purchased from the Linotype Company. There is no other source of supply and no substitute.

The difference between town cooking and farm cooking is that in town when the recipe calls for a lump of butter the size of a tennis ball the cook skips it and when it calls for a cup of cream, canned milk thinned with water is used. Down on the farm when the recipe calls for a cup of cream, a cup of cream is used and a little extra for luck, and when a lump of butter the size of a tennis ball is called for, a lump is dropped in nearer the size of a regulation base ball. It is such things that give character and individuality to farm cooking.

The county fairs, so popular in every rural community forty years ago, are coming back. The big state fairs, while they greatly overshadow the county fair, cannot take their place. There is something about showing the results of one's efforts in rearing livestock or growing crops in competition with one's own people that appeals to every man and woman. The growth of the 4-H Club work has given the local fair a big boost. The enthusiasm of the youngsters to equal or out-do their elders in the production of better stock and crops brings a new and growing interest to the county fair.

Those who believe that the OPA is necessary to prevent inflation agree that if inflation ever sets in the crack-up that follows it will be bigger than the crack-up that came in 1929 at the close of our first ride to inflation in the twenties. They base their conclusion on the fact that there is more money in the hands of the people now than there was in the twenties and consequently the inflation will become wider and the bust bigger.

The big show at the Bikini atoll is over and the scientists and military men have found out whatever it was they wanted to find out. The experiment cost over $70,000,000. It is to be hoped that the net results of the experiment were worth the cost.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

The OPA is the present storm center in Congress and elsewhere. The trouble lies in the fact that the government has not pulled together in the handling of domestic affairs. The wonder to me is that the OPA worked as well as it has, as long as it has.

To begin with the purpose of the OPA was to control prices that inflation might be prevented. In some respects it has done this well, while in others it has failed miserably.

In the first place if prices are to be controlled in one line they should be in all others else the whole project will be thrown out of adjustment.

It is idle to assume that prices of commodities and merchandise of all kinds can be held stationary when wage advances are being made on all sides. Not a single group that has demanded wage increases and shorter hours but has been granted their demands with the aid and sanction of the government. The steel workers, the automobile workers, the coal miners, all have been granted liberal increases while OPA attempted to hold the line against retail price advances, a thing that obviously could not be done. It is no reflection on the OPA that it has failed in many respects to get done the job for which it was designed. The wonder to me is that it has done as well as it has.

A criticism of the OPA, which I think would be temperate and justified, is that it has tried to do too seriously and has construed the instruction to hold the price line to mean just that. I think that the OPA would have been more effective if it had relaxed in the matter of prices of commodities on which black markets were built up. Since the government apparently had insufficient police power to combat the black markets which have grown to enormous proportions in some lines, the logical thing for the OPA to have done would have been to have granted price increases in these items to the point where the black markets would have been forced out of business.

I concede that this would not have been holding the line but judging from the reports as to the volume of business done by the black markets the price has not been held anyway.

Especially is this true of meat. The price permitted by the OPA was so low and so far below what people were willing to pay, and which they did pay to the black market, that it offered an especially attractive lead to the black market operators. They were able to buy meat at a premium above that allowed legitimate operators and sell it at a handsome profit. The result has been that the legitimate operators have been faced with an increasingly difficult situation. Everywhere legitimate packing plants are closed down and the black market operators are reaping the harvest. Because of the lack of police power, and because of the unwillingness of patrons of the black markets to inform against their source of supply, the task of bringing them to justice has been increasingly difficult.

It comes back to the old proposition that it is not possible to enforce an unpopular law. I believe that had the OPA taken on black markets one at a time and increased the prices sufficiently to make it unprofitable the black markets would have been forced out of business. Many customers would not be paying any more than they are now paying and black markets would have been whipped before they could get started.

HISTORY

Fulton's Steamboat Sails—August 11: To Robert Fulton generally is given credit for giving steam navigation its greatest encouragement by demonstrating that it could be made commercially successful. Robert Fulton did not invent the steamboat. Steamboats had been in operation for some time on a limited scale but the opinion that they could be commercially successful did not generally prevail. In 1807 Fulton started making regular trips up the river from New York to Albany. The fact that the venture proved commercially profitable gave the steam navigation the impetus that it needed. Fulton was born at Little Britain, Pennsylvania, in 1765. He was early apprenticed to a jeweler in Philadelphia. He supplemented his income by painting landscapes. In 1789 he went to London where he studied painting. Being naturally mechanically minded he soon turned to mechanics. In 1795 he went to Paris where he lived several years. While there he invented a submarine for use in naval warfare and tried unsuccessfully to sell it to the French government. In 1803 he built a small steamboat which he operated on the Seine River. He returned to America in 1806 and devoted his time to the furtherance of steam navigation. He died in 1815.

Electricity Works for Peanuts!

And if you aren't up on today's expressive slang "peanuts" means a very small amount of money. Like your electric bill. It really is "peanuts," isn't it—compared to most other items in your family budget?

While the cost of most things climbed through the years—the price of electric service kept right on going down. Even in wartime, when practically all prices popped up, electricity actually became a few "peanuts" cheaper.

As a matter of fact, the average American family gets twice as much electricity for its money today as it did 15 years ago!

All of this goes to prove an important point. Sound business management—and experienced employees—together have given the American people dependable, low-priced electric service—the best and most in the world! You'll enjoy that service even more in the electric years ahead.

To the Citizens of Foard County:

Especially to you whom I will miss in going around over the county, I want to be better acquainted with you and you with me.

I moved to Foard County 46 years ago with my parents. I was one year old at the time. I have lived at Crowell ever since, except some 2 1/2 or 3 years that I spent in the Armed Forces of the U. S. in World War I. I saw combat service in France during that war. I am aware of the importance of the job I am asking you people for. I have had some experience in police work. I was on the Police Force in the State of Washington in 1944 up near Seattle.

Enforcing the law is no small task, but I believe, if given an opportunity, I can work for the people of the county and State satisfactorily to a majority of you.

Now, if I do not see you individually and you do not know me too well, please ask your neighbor about me. He will know me. Then if you think I am capable of handling or performing the duties of the Sheriff's Office, state your approval by voting for me July 27th. I will try, and with your help, I am sure that I will make you a good officer.

Health Officer Warns Texans About Rabid Animals

With a sharp increase in the number of persons being bitten by rabid animals in East Texas, and similar occurrences reported in other sections of the state, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recently warned all Texas to be on the alert for symptoms of this disease when around domestic or wild animals.

The 2,166 animal heads received for examination by the State Health Department during the past year have shown 687 positives, including incidence among cats, dogs, rabbits, rats, squirrels, skunks, guinea pigs, coyotes, gophers, raccoons, hogs, sheep and prairie dogs.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. Bites through clothing are not as dangerous as bites on exposed surfaces, because the saliva is wiped off as the tooth passes through the cloth.

If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of ten days observation. If the animal is normal at the end of that time, the case can be dismissed. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed, otherwise, an examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies will be impossible.

If the head is sent to the State Health Department, care should be used in properly icing it to prevent decomposition.

It is reported that the goal of the post office department is to carry all first class mail to points over two or three hundred miles away by air for three cents.

It is estimated that the railroads of America require from 80,000 to 100,000 new freight cars each year.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for July 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

JESUS AND TRUE WORSHIP Lesson Text — Deuteronomy 8:11-14, 18-20; Isaiah 40:30, 31, Mark 12:28-34.

Memory Selection — God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth. —John 4:24.

The one true God is worthy of the wholehearted worship of all men. The second commandment, which we studied last week, forbids all and every idolatry and thus requires exclusive worship of God.

It really means something in the life of a man to worship God in sincerity and truth. It makes life worthwhile both here and hereafter.

I. Worship Balances Life (Deut. 8:11-14).

Prosperity is usually thought to be a blessing. We fear depression and poverty. The Lord through Moses warned his people that prosperity was dangerous. It still is, because material things have the power to so satisfy the natural desires of man as to make him forget his spiritual needs.

Is it not true that material prosperity usually brings with it a corresponding decrease in spirituality. Life values are weighed in gold, silver, wheat and iron instead of being viewed in the light of God's Word.

Worship of God will balance life for it will keep man from forgetting God and his laws. In the wilderness Israel had to call on God for daily bread. Now that they were to come into the promised land they would be apt to think they produced their own food.

II. Worship Protects Life (Deut. 8:18-20).

One of the most mischievous mistakes of life is the idea that man is the maker of his own money. Only God can give man the power of hand and heart, of muscle and mind, which brings forth wealth, and then he can only draw it out of God's resources in mine or field or sea.

This fallacy of man leads him astray, and he begins to worship the very powers he uses and finds pleasure in the gods of this world. That way leads only to eternal destruction, to spiritual death.

How is man to be delivered from this awful destructive force. By a right relationship to God, by worship of and devotion to the Lord.

Israel had a covenant with God, and in the keeping of it they would find deliverance from all which would pull down and destroy—yes, and from the judgment of God (v. 20).

We who are believers in Christ are under the new covenant of grace. If we have been born again we have the promise of God that we have eternal life. But let us be clear that it is possible for a Christian to so forget God and his covenant with the Lord as to lose his fellowship and joy, and to be useless and fruitless.

III. Worship Strengthens Life (Isa. 40:30, 31).

The Christian life is not an easy one to live. After all, who wants it easy? There is, however, full provision by God for the power needed to live a life as victorious and exultant as that of the song-singer. That power is for those who "wait upon the Lord" (v. 31).

It is taken for granted that those who are old may become weary and faint, but the fact is

AGRICULTURE in County

(Joe E. Burkett, County Agent) NEW FAMILY OF CHEMICALS

Farm folks everywhere are familiar with fertilizers and insecticides. Now there's another new family of chemicals which will become just as necessary and just as familiar on the average farm or ranch. They are the hormone chemicals—the "growth regulators."

In all there are about a hundred of them, but maybe you're familiar with 2, 4-D the new weed killer. For example, one of these chemicals is used to promote the rooting of cuttings, and at the same time serve as a fungicide. Nurserymen and horticulturists have used this successfully for a good while and home gardeners and flower growers likely will be trying it soon.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture now is working on a method to use hormones to increase the setting of fruit. Already they have found that use of hormones increases the fruit on tomatoes, and the tomatoes get bigger and grow faster. In much the same way, spraying apple trees with hormones helps keep fruit from dropping off the trees, explains M. K. Thornton Jr., agricultural chemist for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service.

Eventually, scientists hope that we can use these new "growth regulators" to hasten the ripening of some fruits and to keep potatoes from sprouting.

Meanwhile, research folks are still busy finding out what 2,4-D will or will not do. It'll kill weeds in your lawn such as dandelions and plantain but it will also kill clovers. So far it's not proved of much value in killing Johnson grass or quackgrass. And scientists still haven't made recommendations for its use on bindweed, thistles, and some other noxious farm weeds.

So the same thing to do is to consult your county Extension Service agents who keep up with the latest developments in these fields. They can give you the benefit of research findings and growers' experiences as well.

COTTON INSECT SITUATION IN TEXAS

Highlights of the cotton insect conditions over the state are the finding last week of leafworms in Nueces and Aransas Counties, the continual high infestation of flea hoppers in the coastal section, and the widespread high population of boll weevils in central, northern and eastern Texas.

The counties so far infested with leafworms are Cameron, Wilbacy, Jim Wells, Nueces and Aransas. The extremely rank cotton in the coastal area is ideal for a rapid build-up and spread of this insect.

Recommendations for control of today's outstanding pests are: (1) 5 per cent DDT-sulphur for a "knockout" kill of heavy infestations of flea hoppers; (2) calcium arsenate dust for boll weevils; and (3) for combination weevil and flea hopper infestations a mixture of 5 pounds of calcium arsenate and 5 to 10 pounds of sulphur.

For more details, consult your county agent or write for Extension Circular MS-732.

It has come to the attention of the entomologists that mixtures of DDT and calcium arsenate are being offered commercially for control of cotton insects. Cotton growers are warned that DDT does not retain its effectiveness when mixed with lime or other alkaline such as calcium arsenate.

To date there is no record of extensive cotton insect damage in the western area of the state.

RED SPIDER AND CEDAR BAGWORM

We'll all do well to take a look at our arborvitae, cedars and ev-

that even the youth have this disappointing experience.

We, leaders in the church and parents, are apt to forget that youth is often a time of great struggle. The young man or woman must make the choices of purposes and ideals which will determine their future. Too often youth, left unguided and without the balance of a real faith in God, makes the wrong choices and winds up in bitter disappointment.

Only God is sufficient for the need of our young people but he is sufficient. Let us teach our boys and girls to wait on the Lord.

IV. Worship Completes Life (Mark 12:28-34).

Here was a man, who, by the testimony of Jesus was "not far from the kingdom of God." He was very near to a full devotion to God in Christ. He knew "all the answers," but he did not follow the teaching which he knew to be his proper and blessed conclusion.

It is terrifying to think how close a man can come to entering into eternal life, and yet miss it altogether. It prompts the writer of these notes to ask you, the reader, very earnestly, Have you entered into eternal life through Jesus Christ? "Almost" will not avail; you can be almost saved—and eternally lost.

The true nature of worship is revealed in this lesson as a loving dependence on God at all times and in all circumstances. He recognized him as the one who can supply our every need, spiritual and temporal. We accord to him quick and full obedience. We find in him such complete satisfaction that we cannot withhold our love and his love from our fellow men. We worship him!

green cypresses—the chances are they are infested with red spiders or cedar bagworms, or both.

The spider is tiny. So you'll have to use a magnifying glass to see him. The chances are that the first you'll know of the red spider being with you is that you'll notice the leaves of your cedars turning first gray, then brown, and to make it harder, that will start in the center of the plant. The spider does its best, or its worst, in dry, warm weather. But this year, Sadie Hatfield, landscape gardening specialist of the Texas A. and M. College tells us, the spider is doing great damage in spite of lots of spring rains.

A hard beating rain will check the red spider. So will a good strong stream of water if hosed on the plants twice a week. Or you can dust with cotton dusting sulphur. There's another insect that is causing a lot of trouble on cedars this year, Miss Hatfield tells us, and that's the cedar bagworm. The insect that has been the housing shortage. It builds its own home and camouflages it with bits of leaves and twigs. When resting it ties up on the tree. To control it, spray with two or three level teaspoonsful of lead arsenate to a gallon of water.

As the bagworm gets older, the poison seems to bother it less and less. If you have a lot of old tough bagworms, and not too many arborvitae or cedars, your best bet is to pick them off. Dunk them

"Job dividends"—these extras that G-E employees get in addition to wages—have a sound business reason. To be successful, a company must be efficient. A man with fewer worries can produce more efficiently, which makes further benefits possible.

Profit-sharing plans, relief and loan plans began over 10 years ago at General Electric. Life insurance for em-

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. John H. Cable, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Life's Lesson From Lucre
 In Luke 16:1-9 we have the story of the agent of a rich man who wasted his employer's goods. For this he was due to dismissal. Whereupon he proceeded to gain the personal favor of the debtors of his boss by allowing them unearned credits. If one owed a hundred dollars he so doctored the account as to make his obligation only fifty. And the Lord commended the unjust steward because he had done wisely.

What can we Christians learn from this parable?
 1. Beware of the sin of waste. "Willful waste makes woeful want." Not what we earn but what we use wisely determines our standard of living. In the present food shortage British people are agitating to eliminate the extravagant banquet so that rich and poor alike may economize on food. The sin of the prodigal was that "he wasted his substance by living unsavingly."

2. It is wise to be provident (vv. 3-8). Joseph was valuable to Egypt and his own family by saving the surplus of grain which grew during the "fat years," so that it would be on hand for the "famine" years. Civilized men conserve; barbarians squander.
 3. Did Jesus commend trickery? No, the employer saw the value of an employee who used his wits to make profit for himself. He could do the same for his boss if he would. Certainly our Lord would not commend unjust methods, but he does approve of wise moves.

4. How does this parable apply to the Christian? We should use our money to bring returns in the future. To whatever ill uses money, "the mamon of unrighteousness," may be put by others, let us use it for good. Spend it to win souls. Give it to church and mission purposes and through its use souls will be saved who will welcome you when you get to heaven, and "receive you into everlasting tabernacles," not temporary abodes.

The Danish flag, consisting of a large white cross on a red field is the oldest unchanged national flag in existence. It dates from 1218.

To the Voters of Foard County:

In the closing days of my campaign for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector of Foard County, Texas, and especially to those whom I have not been able to contact, I wish to advise that I have lived in Foard County practically all my life. I have spent most of that time in the Hardware and Furniture Business with the exception of the last 3 1/2 years that I have served as office deputy.

With the above experience in the sheriff's office, I feel confident that I am qualified to handle the law-enforcement part of the office as well as approximately $138,000 of the tax payers' money that is collected annually through the office and then distributed to the State, County, 4 Roads, 13 Schools, Texas Highway Department, etc.

I have made a special effort to contact each voter of the county and will continue to do so until July 27. In some cases I have been able to only leave my announcement card and others I have probably missed entirely. I wish to take this opportunity to say that it is not my intention to miss a single person. I trust that anyone overlooked will, as well as all persons interested in this election, accept this announcement as an earnest appeal for your vote and influence in the July 27 Primary.

Young Doctors Theme of Film

Paramount's "Miss Susie Slagle's" bowing in Sunday at the Rialto Theatre, was adapted from Augusta Tucker's popular novel of young doctors in the making. It is an exciting story, vividly told.

The film launches many promising new faces including blonde, talented Joan Caulfield who first became known as the original "Kiss and Tell" girl of George Abbott's famous Broadway hit. Miss Caulfield co-stars with Veronica Lake and Sonny Tufts with Lillian Gish prominently featured as the warm-hearted proprietress of a boarding house for doctors in training. Produced by John Houseman, the picture is John Berry's first directorial assignment. Berry previously devoted his talents to the stage and was responsible for the successful revival of "Native Son."

"Miss Susie Slagle's" is an original production on many counts. For one thing, Sonny Tufts plays his very first dramatic role. And, lovely Joan Caulfield is reputedly one of the season's most notable "finds" as the determined coquette who goes after her man with delightful, disarming frankness. The man in this case is young Tufts himself.

Preview commentaries indicate that "Miss Susie Slagle's" is an absorbing story, gay and tender and rich with the tradition of a great profession.

Tea stocks in the United States have reached a five-year high with a total of 43,511,600 pounds in the hands of importers, packers, jobbers and chain grocery companies, according to estimates by the Tea Bureau, Inc.

A large store in Newark, N. J., recently advertised 300 lawn mowers for sale on a certain day for $12.39. When the store opened at 9 o'clock there were 1,000 persons in the line each wanting a lawn mower.

A rise of around 5 cents a pound is scheduled for coffee.

It was known in Congress as long as a year ago that recent strikes were coming, yet Congress did nothing to strengthen the legislation to handle them. When the strikes came and the national economy was seriously threatened Washington rushed into a sort of stop gap patchwork program which will not accomplish anything because of its hasty and heedless preparation. Another series of strikes is expected next year which may easily be as serious as the present ones and the bets are ten to one that Congress will do nothing to meet the situation by amending or rewriting the law-sided strike provoking Wagner Act. Washington and Congress are too busy playing politics to give much attention to the need of the people.

The All American Soap Derby is held each year in Akron, Ohio. Boys from 11 to 15 compete. The first prize is a $2,000 scholarship. The race is run on a 1,000 foot specially built concrete race track. The cars are gravity powered and reach a speed of from 30 to 35 miles per hour. The event is sponsored each year by the Chevrolet Division of the General Motors Corporation.

John McKinney, 12, of Woodbine, Iowa, won the national spelling test recently conducted by the Scripps-Howard newspapers. His prize was a $500 savings bond, $125 in cash and two days sight seeing trip to New York.

Coal prices will be increased around a dollar a ton to pay the increase in wages, and the shorter work week, and the welfare tax secured by John Lewis in his settlement with the government.

The reason given for the scarcity of black pepper in the United States is that the OPA ceiling on black pepper is 15 cents a pound, while Britain pays 21 cents a pound.

Since Lewis won so easily his demand for money to support a welfare program a half dozen other (CIO and AFL groups are at work framing similar plans.
