To All Water Users of Crowell, Margaret and Vicinity—

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

Owing to the fact that the electricity had to be off for several hours, water was used from the reservoir and stand pipe to a very low level, and we are asking all water users to please be as conservative as possible, that we may gain the water back.

Please co-operate with us until we can build the pressure up to normal so that water from the old wells will not have to be turned into the lines.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has advised World War II veterans in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi to pay their GI insurance premiums by draft, personal check or money order rather than by direct cash remittances.

Remittances by draft, check or money order should be made payable to the Treasurer of the United States. Premiums may be mailed to Collections Unit, Insurance Service, VA Branch Office No. 10, 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas 2, Texas.

An oil emulsion designed to immobilize bacteria in tuberculosis wards and hospitals is being studied in an intensive "pilot" test in a Veterans Administration hospital.

The test is a follow-up of observations made by the Army and Navy in experimental studies carried on during World War II. Blankets, bed linens and floors have been treated with a highly refined mineral oil, trapping settling bacteria and preventing their recirculation by air currents within patients' rooms, VA said.

The oil must not be perceptible to sight or touch, or produce skin irritation through contact. It must not create a fire hazard or an additional laundering problem, VA said.

VA also is studying methods of killing trapped bacteria with chemicals and drugs. Results so far, have been generally disappointing, it was said.

Paralyzed and tubercular patients in VA hospitals may now study educational courses while they are bed-ridden by flashing microfilm pages of textbooks on the ceilings over their beds with special projectors.

The new program is a feature of VA's Educational Retraining, Medical Rehabilitation Service. VA has microfilmed 32 manuals from the 200 courses used in the educational therapy program to launch this project.

The subjects range from grammar through physics and electric refrigeration. A number of books on the establishment and operation of small businesses also are included.

The next Sunday, July 20, the first of services for the Youth Revival of the First Baptist Church will be held. The services will be held through Friday, July 25, beginning at 8 o'clock each evening at the Baptist Church.

The services will be conducted by young people from Baylor University at Waco. There will be five speakers, Richard Cannon, Buckner Fannin, Ross Goggin, Doris Cummins will conduct references on youth problems and prayer services at 7:30 each evening, just prior to the main service.

On Sunday, representatives were sent to the churches in the surrounding communities inviting them to attend the revival. A special program was given by the young people of the church Sunday evening, July 13, stressing the importance of youth revivals.

At 6 o'clock each morning, each person interested is asked to stop a moment and offer a prayer for the revival. This is called a "prayer for prayer."

Two breakfasts will be given during the revival. The first will be on Monday morning at 7 o'clock, at which time coffee and doughnuts will be served. A second breakfast will be given on Tuesday morning at 6:30 and will be a full breakfast. If unable to attend the Thursday morning breakfast, each one is asked to notify the church office.

This is a Youth Revival for the First Baptist Church but an invitation extended everyone to attend and all of the services.

Those in charge feel sure that everyone who attends will receive abundant blessings. As has been stated, the theme for the revival is "My All For Christ."

Hubam Clover As Cash and Soil Improving Crop

In an experiment conducted by the Wichita Valley substation at Park, Texas, some important results were determined in connection with hubam clover as a cash and soil-conserving crop, according to W. H. Hoosey, Foard County administrative officer.

A report dated April 19, 1947, issued by L. E. Brooks, Superintendent of the Wichita Valley substation, gives the results of the experiment as follows:

Hubam clover planted in the spring of 1946 yielded a cutting of hay and a crop of seed, which together grossed $75.20 per acre at the Wichita Valley station. Cotton following hubam, had 30 per cent less root rot at the first picking, and produced 210 pounds more lint per acre than did cotton following cotton.

Hubam clover was cut for hay on May 25 and was harvested for seed on July 30. Yield of hay was one-half ton per acre, valued at $30 per ton, and the yield of seed was 301 pounds per acre, valued at 20 cents per pound.

In rotation studies comparing cotton following cotton, cotton following hegarri, and cotton following hubam, there were striking differences in favor of hubam in both root rot losses and yield of cotton. A count made just prior to first picking revealed 61 per cent of stalks dead from root rot in cotton following cotton, compared with only 31 per cent of dead stalks in cotton following hubam. Just prior to final picking, these counts had increased to 95 per cent dead stalks in cotton following cotton and 74 per cent in cotton following hubam.

The ability of hubam to retard or delay root rot is further revealed by the fact that 66 per cent of the total yield of lint was gathered in the first picking, where cotton followed cotton, as compared with only 49 per cent gathered in the first picking where cotton followed hubam. The most convincing proof of the value of hubam in the rotation, however, is in the final yield of lint which was only 187 following cotton and 397 following cotton following hubam. Yields in this test were estimated at only about 50 per cent of normal due to a severe infestation of boll weevils.

And now behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there.—Acts 20:22.

Not much is going to be accomplished in the matter of lowering the number of traffic deaths each year as long as people who are not in any way qualified to drive a car are permitted to do so.

From all flood reports Old Man River in addition to "just rolling along" in a good many parts of the country, is moving in.

Since 1934 in some 3,162 county elections, 2,586 voted dry and 576 wet.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

It is not possible to pick up a paper these days without reading of an automobile accident that has taken the lives of one or more persons and has injured many times more.

The situation would be ridiculous if it were not so tragic in the efforts at improving the situation, and correcting what has become a national reproach, did not appear so futile and so deplorably inadequate.

It is interesting to look at the picture. In 1946 there were nearly 34,000 persons killed in automobile accidents and 1,300,000 injured, many of them maimed for life or horribly disfigured.

We will all agree with the safety bureaus that something should be done about it—besides merely talking about it and wishing for something to happen.

First there should be a sensible system in the matter of issuing drivers licenses. The system should be uniform in all the states. The drive to secure such an effective basis on which driver's licenses should be issued should be spearheaded by the Safety Councils.

I am reminded in this connection of the story of the crazy man who stationed himself upon a bridge and threw everyone, who attempted to cross the bridge, into the stream below.

At the present time no state has anything that approaches an effective examination for a driver's license. Three states, South Dakota, Louisiana and Wyoming, require no license at all.

Next to prohibiting from driving, by a sensible system of licensing those physically and mentally unfit to drive a car, comes the matter of permitting drinking drivers to drive cars.

True, there is no way to prevent a man once he receives a driving permit to fill up on enough whiskey to befuddle him and make him a potential killer who will attempt to pay the debt caused by his inability to control his car by merely saying: "I am sorry."

There is too much leniency and too much laxness in all states in the matter of handling drinking drivers. In the state of Missouri less than one out of a hundred drunken drivers loses his license to drive after becoming involved in an accident.

Obviously under such an inexcusable and indefensible system accidents naturally follow and reach high totals. Not only this will increase and continue to increase because in reality nothing effective is being done by any one to reduce or put a stop to the wholesale slaughter and destruction that takes place on our highways each year.

After all is said and done and the experts are through figuring it both ways from the middle, the only way the government is ever going to make anything like substantial payments on the national debt is to spend less than it takes in.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—This newsletter is being hurriedly written in order that I may get out to the ball park in time to participate with the Democrats in a baseball game against the Republicans.

A great deal is being said in Washington and elsewhere these days concerning the contract negotiated by John Lewis for the United Mine Workers. It is generally understood that U. S. Steel, a great many of whose furnaces were closed down for lack of coal, brought pressure upon the coal operators to agree to the terms of John Lewis.

The United Mine Workers have secured between 25c and 45c per hour increase in wages. The royalty paid by mine owners to the health and welfare funds of the workers has been doubled.

When prices were held down, wages could not go up without cutting into industrial profits. Now wage increases are simply added on to the cost of the commodity and passed on to the consumer.

The House this week passed a new tax bill by a vote of 302 to 112. The only substantial difference between the bill just passed and the one vetoed by the President some weeks ago is the effective date of the act.

In 1940 and again in 1946, Congress passed so-called "Reorganization bills" authorizing the President to reorganize the Executive Branch of the government and to reduce conflicting and duplicating functions.

IN THE NEWS 30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the issue of the Foard County News of Friday, July 20, 1917:

Jim French died at his home six miles southeast of Crowell Friday and was buried in the Thalia cemetery Saturday.

Wesley Woods of Thalia died in the hospital here Sunday. He was buried in the Thalia cemetery Monday.

Jacob Stinebaugh, 70, died at the home of his son in the Cottonwood community Saturday. The remains were shipped to Walnut Springs for interment.

Self & Sons opened their Ford Garage Tuesday with D. P. Yoder as manager of the mechanical department and I. W. Self will have general supervision of the business.

Gordon Gribble, 14 years old, happened to a very serious accident Saturday while driving six horses to a disc. The team became frightened and ran away and Gordon received painful injuries when he leaped from the plow.

W. H. Grimm and wife and seven children from Gaymon, Okla., are visiting Mrs. Grimm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley, of Margaret.

Arthur Bell's new country home, a $5,000 residence and one of the finest in the country, is nearing completion on his farm southwest of town.

Foard County has again been blessed with a good rain, which seems to have been general. It totaled 1 1/2 inches.

Miss Gladys Benson returned Saturday from an extended visit with relatives in San Angelo.

Miss Emma Pendleton is spending her vacation in Okmulgee, Okla.

Mrs. W. D. Boren and children returned last week from a month's visit with her brothers in Ima, N. M.

Mrs. Hazelwood and daughter, Miss Mattie, and son, Wallace, of Hollis, Okla., are here visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Ed Adams.

The purpose of this commission is to bring about economy and efficiency in the Executive Branch of the government.

The Republicans still contend they will adjourn congress on July 26. The calendars of both the House and Senate are clogged with bills. The pre-adjournment rush and confusion is on.

We clip the following by an unknown author: Lord, give me courage to change things that should be changed for the good of mankind, serenity to accept things that should not be changed, and sense enough to know the difference.

The story is told of a farmer in a certain section of the country, who, when asked why he raised hogs all the time to the exclusion of potatoes replied: "Hogs don't have to be hoed."

Chevrolet Vehicle Production in 1947 Detroit, July 8.—Chevrolet today became the first manufacturer in the auto industry to announce production of half a million vehicles in the calendar year 1947, according to a statement made here by Nicholas Dreystadt, general manager of this largest General Motors division. Production of its 520,000 unit July 7 contrasts with 1946, when Chevrolet, because of a prolonged strike and material shortages, had not attained so high a mark until mid-November. The figure includes 360,947 passenger cars and 140,688 trucks.

"Gabby" and His Whiskers Part of the Western Scene

He never kisses the heroine nor whispers sweet nothings into her ear! There is nothing romantic about his heart, yet this windy old gentleman called "Gabby" Hayes is beloved by millions.

"Gabby" isn't pretty, but he has a lovable personality, and never has he had a chance to display it better than in his role as "Billy Goat" Jones, the bewildered deputy marshal in RKO Radio's big outdoor drama, "Trail Street," co-starring with Randolph Scott, Robert Ryan and Anne Jeffreys, at the Rialto Theatre Sunday and Monday.

"Gabby's" famous beard, which was born in the depression has made him internationally known and wealthy. Children and old ladies often walk up and want to pull his facial foliage to see if it is false or not.

He has refused many offers of stardom. "The kids," he explains, "want to see young, fast riding heroes. Besides, if I starred in pictures, they could blame old 'Gabby' for bad pictures. This way, they never do."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Light on the Problem of Human Suffering LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 20—Job 1:8; 2:7-10; 19:7-10; 42:1-5; James 5:11. MEMORY SELECTION—Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.—1 Tim. 2:3.

Editors Note: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Human suffering—what a problem it is to all of us, in greater or smaller measure. From the broken heart of men and women comes the question, "Why?"

We cannot always answer, nor do we fully know the meaning and purpose. We must often simply put ourselves and our loved ones into the hands of God, trusting him to bring us into assurance and victory.

There are some things we can know, and they are most helpful. The book of Job reveals much concerning the background of suffering and its uses and advantages. It is not all loss and pain. God does not forget his people in their hour of trial.

Job had suffered the loss of property, family, and was now personally afflicted by sickness of his body. His friends who came to comfort him had added to his troubles by their pious platitudes about suffering being the result of sin (cf. Job 9:3), and so on.

There was enough truth in what they said to make it hurt, and so we are doubly glad we are given a look behind the scenes. We learn that this was not a struggle between God and Job, nor even between Satan and Job. We see

I. The Battle Between God and Satan (Job 1-8). Read the entire story here and you will see that Satan, when faced by God with the godly example of Job's life, threw down a challenge. He declared that the only reason Job loved God was because he received so much good out of it, because God protected him.

The issue was clearly drawn, the question was whether God was able to keep a man in the midst of trial and suffering. Was His grace sufficient for the dark hours of life as well as the happy and bright ones?

Having stripped Job of all his possessions, and left him childless and heart broken, Satan had to admit failure up to that point. But he sneeringly slandered both Job and God by saying that Job was not concerned about these other things so long as his own body was unharmed (2:4, 5).

So the Lord permitted him to afflict Job's body, and we see the conflict raging in II. The Battleground—the Life of Job (2:7-10).

The mystery of God's permissive will enters into the picture here, and we learn too that Satan, while a mighty being, has limits to his power. God may give him liberty to test his people, but it is never with the thought that they will fall; rather to prove that they can stand true come what may.

Was any mortal ever more afflicted than Job? We find him finally an outcast, sitting on an ash heap, scraping the awful sores upon his poor body.

Job did have his times of questioning and doubt (19:7-10). He felt at times that God had forsaken him. He misunderstood the providences of God. But through it all he held on to his faith in God. He could do without his possessions (1:27). God could even take his life and he would say, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust him." He saw beyond the grave, for he knew that if his body were destroyed he would still see his Redeemer, and he still see his Redeemer.

What more sublime expression of faith could a man make than to say in his hour of seeming despair, "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

How did it all come out in the end? That is our last point. III. The Outcome—Victory for God in Job (42:1-5; James 5:11).

Job had to come to the end of himself. Judging himself to be unworthy (42:6), he repented of all his own self-righteousness and cast himself upon the mercy of God. God then vindicated him and restored him to a place of blessing and usefulness.

The answer then to our problem is this—God is able to keep to the uttermost those who put their trust in him (Heb. 7:25) through the grace he gives. Suffering may be in his permissive will for our own self-judgment and growth in grace. But back of it all is the assurance that God knows about it, he has not turned away, that in due season, if we faint not, we shall see victory.

Ultimately, the question is not whether we can stand or not, but whether God is able to keep us in the midst of the onslaught of the world, the flesh and the devil.

*WHO WILL RUN THE NATION'S LARGEST BUSINESSES IN 1974?

YOUNG MEN back from war wonder about the country's future and their own future. What will they be doing 27 years from now?

The 143 top men who manage 50 of the nation's largest businesses can help answer that one.

Twenty-seven years ago, most of them came back from a war, too.

All of them, after the war or before, began their business careers at the bottom.

One started work for $1.50 a week—11 others for less than $5 a week. 43 others started work for less than $10 a week.

Eighty-one others received between $10 and $25 a week. Only 7 received more than $25—the highest getting paid $69.23 a week.

The average first wage of all 143 was $13.40 a week.

Who will manage the nation's largest businesses in 1974? Exactly the same kind of men.

Then, as now, they will be leaders with courage, ambition and initiative enough to come up the business ladder, rung by rung.

Neither the men and women in industry nor the money in industry can be effective without good management. Nothing else is so important to the workers' welfare, the investors' welfare, or the public welfare.

Teeth of Average Person Needs Care of Family Dentist

Austin.—The fact that dental decay may occur in the mouth of the average person, despite proper home care given the teeth, does not lessen the importance of brushing the teeth and massaging the gums daily, nor does it minimize the need for a cleaning and inspection of the teeth twice a year by the family dentist. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that the lack of these measures gives added power to germs that attack the enamel of the teeth and gum tissues.

"If, despite the practice of proper oral hygiene, decay is suspected or teeth are injured in any way, the thoughtful person will seek the dentist's office promptly for the necessary corrective work," Dr. Cox said.

"It is surprising, though, even in these days of comparatively painless dentistry, that so many persons neglect to have their dental defects corrected, because they foolishly fear the discomfort they might experience in the dentist's chair," said the State Health Officer. "There are others who having lost a tooth or several teeth make no effort to obtain replacements. Apparently they believe they can get along without them. Reduced masticating power, the annoyance and sometimes actual discomfort of chewing hard substances on the exposed gums, and crooked teeth are some of the possible consequences of gaps in the teeth."

Dr. Cox advised those who are interested in experiencing the best dental and bodily health possible, to give daily attention to their mouth and visit the dentist twice each year, and promptly seek the dentist's services should decay or other suspicious conditions arise between the periodic visits. "In short," Dr. Cox declared, "successful mouth hygiene means not only intelligent personal daily application of prophylaxis but complete and timely co-operating with the family dentist as well."
