Action Program for Highway Safety Is Making Progress

Highway safety in the United States took big strides forward in the last twelve months, but it still remains a tremendous, on-again-off-again job of traffic law enforcement, safety education and engineering before conditions can be considered notably better.

The Action Program adopted in 1946, by the President's Highway Safety Conference and adopted throughout the country as a pattern for reducing traffic deaths, has been adopted in whole or part by many states and communities, but uniformity and standardization still lacking in large sections of the country.

National task still remains can be most effectively accomplished by more liberal and widespread support of the Action Program for highway safety and principles by every community and the land.

These findings summarize a series of reports submitted by the states and the District of Columbia to the action group of the President's Highway Safety Conference which met in Washington, D. C., on June 18, 19 and 20 to review the progress to that date and to plan for the future.

Each state submitted an analysis of the extent to which recommendations of the Action Program have been adopted and the progress made, and was evaluated by a group of conference experts.

The summary shows little progress in improving motor vehicle administration throughout the country during the year, although three states without a motor vehicle licensing law prior to the year had since adopted such legislation.

Lack of aggressive enforcement and public apathy, travel by motor vehicle reached an all-time high in 1946, yet the number of highway deaths was only 6,500 as compared with 11,000 in 1945. The year which had held the record for motor vehicle deaths traveled.

In 1946 there were 9.8 deaths per million miles traveled. Total deaths on the highways in 1946, approximately 1.2 million were injured. Approximately 1.5 billion dollars of economic loss from traffic accidents, 1.5 billion dollars.

The nationwide inventory of highway safety conditions as they exist today revealed improvement in many sections in the matter of traffic laws and ordinances. "But the goal is far from accomplished, other data on the brighter side of the ledger indicated increases in the completeness of accident reporting but a deficiency in the use of accident facts.

Special studies of particular phases of the traffic problem were cited as beneficial. Greatest strides were credited to the field of highway safety education. A marked increase in the number of driver-training courses at high schools and the training of teachers in highway safety were noted with 200 institutes for teachers planned for 1947.

The school bus program showed improvement. While crediting education as making the greatest strides, the summary qualifies this with the statement—"Education has made the most ground but the most have not been uniform. The highway education program in secondary schools has not been developed."

States generally admitted a need for better training of police personnel, reporting that police departments are greatly understaffed. Thirty states cited this as the leading handicap to enforcement.

The summary said that 12 states were too short a time to show any clear progress in highway engineering for safety. Standards, however, showed improvement and there was a strong indication of a trend toward comprehensive state-wide planning.

The controlled access road was being tested in many parts of the country. Studies were also taken toward uniformity in highway warning signs, signals and pavement markings.

A tremendous growth in public interest was cited with 18 states.

BLAST ROCKS LOS ANGELES HARBOR. . . Only fate and foresight prevented the explosion of a 10,000-ton tanker in Los Angeles harbor from becoming a disaster equal in magnitude to the recent debacle at Texas City. The vessel, loaded with 2,940,000 gallons of gasoline, blew up in a series of three explosions that razed several docks and missed igniting huge petroleum storage tanks only because of favorable winds. Photo shows fireboats battling the flames which, with the blasts, caused damages of 10 million dollars.

ROTARY CLUB

Jeff Hardin, program chairman for the first quarter, introduced Frank Kirkpatrick, who talked in an interesting manner on the subject of "Why Am I a Rotarian."

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Louis Pinkston and Hub Colley of Vernon, and Roy Sanson and George Wilson of Quanah.

wide highway safety conferences held during the year and 300 community conferences in 18 states, all patterned on the Action Program of the President's Highway Safety Conference of the state reports concluded:

"In comparison with other years traffic safety has traveled with 'seven-league boots.' Still we cannot be content with the result, nor can we rest when we have achieved only half our goal."

"From all states and in every report came testimony to the soundness and practical worth of the Action Program. The urgent problem is to get it more widely utilized and to win for it an active and informed support.

"In the final analysis America's toll of tragic highway accidents will be reduced to a minimum through personal acceptance of responsibility for safety by each of her 44 million drivers and her many more millions of pedestrians."

Floyd County Grain Stored in Crowell Elevators

Due to the shortage of railroad cars and the fact that wheat had to be dumped on the ground after all the storage space had been used, about 75,000 bushels of Floyd County wheat has been trucked to Crowell for storage.

Greenland, the largest island in the world, has an area of 839,782 miles.

The greatest depth of the Pacific ocean off the island of Mindanao, the Philippines, 35,400 feet.

This unlighted trailer, moving slowly along the darkened highway, was completely invisible to an overtaking motorist as he came suddenly upon it from around a corner. He crashed into it and was fatally injured. Just one more of the many bitter ironies of highway deaths, where a lawbreaker who was indifferent to his own safety and the safety of others escaped injury, while an innocent victim paid for that indifference with his life.

Crowell Business Houses Will Close for the Fourth

Practically all of the business houses in Crowell will be closed on July 4th, so far as it can be ascertained, with the exception of the drug stores. These stores will be closed at 10 o'clock Friday, it was announced by the operators Wednesday.

Although every type of business could not be interviewed, it is presumed that most of them will be closed for the day, since the harvest season has caused a considerable rush and everybody needs a day's rest.

This is one holiday that the Foard County News can observe without any inconvenience since it comes on Friday after the paper has already been printed.

Deposits in Bank Reach $4,000,000 During Harvest

Deposits in the Crowell State Bank reached the $4,000,000 mark during the harvest season, according to information released by officials of the bank. This amount exceeds by far any amount of money on deposit in the history of the banking business in Crowell. It was also reported that loans were at a low level.

General business conditions in Crowell were never better. All types of businesses are flourishing and the shortage of merchandise is not as acute as it was several months ago. New businesses are being established and others are in prospect.

The building of new homes is also making good progress at this time. Carpenters, plumbers and painters and business firms who furnish building material are kept busy.

Crowell FFA Boys Given Registered Duroc Gilts

Sears, Roebuck & Co. of Chicago has presented six Crowell F. F. A. students with registered Duroc gilts, according to Marvin Myers, F. F. A. instructor in the Crowell schools.

The company gave the local F. F. A. Chapter $110.00 with which to purchase the pigs and the boys receiving them sign an agreement to have the best gilt from their first litter registered and give it to another F. F. A. boy, he also agreed to repeat the process from his first litter of pigs, Mr. Myers stated.

The Foard County boys receiving the registered gilts are J. C. Aury, Carl Shultz, Richard Brock, Ward Kuehn, Alan Hinkle and Billy Bond.

Mr. Myers has already bought the pigs and they are now in possession of their new owners.

Judge Charles E. Combs Is Speaker At Rotary Barbecue

The regular meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club was postponed one day last week and was held Thursday evening at the Club Hut at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Sandifer when the Rotary Annual and Cub Scouts, their leaders and den mothers were guests of the Rotary Club.

Miss Juanita Brown of Newport, Delaware, and Mrs. Thos. B. Johnson of San Antonio were among the out-of-town visitors.

Following the serving of the excellent barbecue and ice cream, a business meeting of the club was held, presided over by the outgoing president, Grady Halbert, who has served well in that capacity for almost two years. Besides serving a full year as president, he served out the unexpired term of Verne Walden, resigned. During the business session, new officers for the year of 1947-48 were installed. President Grady Halbert turned the gavel over to Marlon Crowell, the new president. Luke Archer retained his office as secretary. New directors installed were Merl Kirkcald and Richard Ferguson, Herbert Edwards and Jack Seale retired as directors.

The program for the evening's entertainment was introduced with two numbers on the accordion by Elmo J. Hudgins and two songs by the Cubs. Judge Chas. E. Combs of Stamford was introduced by the program chairman, J. A. Stovall. Judge Combs is a humorous speaker and kept the crowd in laughter during his talk. He is a pioneer attorney of this section and has filled many important positions during his long residence in West Texas.

R. J. POTTS

Harlingen Man New President of Good Roads Ass'n.

Austin.—The next two or three years will be the most momentous ones in the history of the road-building industry, R. J. Potts of Harlingen, newly-elected president of the Texas Good Roads Association, said in an interview.

"The world is going to be on wheels to a greater degree than ever before," Potts declared, pointing out that a stupendous amount of preparation must be done for increased travel, in view of the fact that wartime traffic made demands and necessitated exceptional wear upon the road system of the nation.

Road planners and builders face these two major problems, Potts stated:
1. Traffic must be handled expeditiously in congested areas by means of multilane highways that are expensive to build and maintain; and
2. Facilities must be provided so that farmers can take their children to school and their produce to market; so that people in rural areas can comfortably remain there in the interest of continued agricultural productivity.

The two goals must be reached, Potts added, without rendering the Texas Highway Department incapable of expanding and maintaining the State and Federal primary road system.

Potts was elected president of the Association at its annual meeting in San Antonio May 23. Other officers chosen were Joe Leonard of Gainesville, first vice president; T. B. Zachry of San Antonio, second vice president; T. C. Jones of Fort Worth, third vice president; E. P. Cravens of Austin, secretary-treasurer; and Ike Ashburn, executive vice president.

New directors chosen were Frank Barney of San Angelo and Lucian Morehead of Plainview.

Potts is literally the "Mr. Good Roads of Texas" and for the past 42 years the improvement of the state's roads has been his dominant interest.

The new president of the Association began actively working to bring about good roads when he got his first job—as assistant to the city engineer of Fort Worth in 1905.

Later, after earning his degree in civil engineering at Texas A. & M. College, he built streets in Houston. In 1910 he organized the division of highway engineering at A. & M. and became the third man in the United States to hold the title of professor of highway engineering.

It was Potts who wrote the first bill designed to create a state highway department. Sponsored by the late H. B. Terrell of McLennan County, the bill passed the legislature, but was vetoed by Governor Colquitt. Potts assisted in writing the bill which later became law and authorized establishment of the highway department.

Wichita Falls, June 30.—A two-hour program of entertainment and ceremony will feature the opening here on July 4 of the 14th annual National Soaring Contest. Beginning at 4 p. m., special events will include demonstrations of stunt flying, sailplane launching, formation flying, a parachute jump from a sailplane and various other attractions designed for public interest. He is the only pilot to attempt this stunt in a sailplane, which has no motor power. Scribner is master pilot for Pan-American Airways at Miami.

Another demonstration will be the towing of three gliders to 4,000 feet behind an airplane. Another sailplane will be put into the air with a tow provided by two cowpions.

Except for week ends, which will feature similar demonstrations, the 100 or more pilots will compete during the 17-day meet for the foremost title in American soaring, the U. S. Championship. About 25 pilots from foreign countries also will participate.

Full text of the President's statement:

"The daring and courage of John Paul Jones won for him immortality as an American. To recount his victories is to recall his love of this land of his adoption and his fervent devotion to the principles of freedom."

"The daring and courage of John Paul Jones won for him immortality as an American. To recount his victories is to recall his love of this land of his adoption and his fervent devotion to the principles of freedom."

"Familiarity with the indomitable valour and heroic traditions which have their origin in the life of John Paul Jones should endow the American of today with a moral stamina necessary to meet the future with wisdom and strength."

"We could not choose a more appropriate occasion than the bicentennial of his birth to rededicate our efforts to the furtherance of our democratic ideals and the preservation of a peace so dearly won."

Local observances of the bicentennial will be held throughout the Eighth Naval District.

Two Minute Sermon
(By Thomas Hastwell)

The Workers Fare: I recall as a boy that we had a neighbor, a woman who used to take in washings and clean house in the spring and fall for others of the community. She was a widow with one small son. She lived in a small house which the experts of today would say was wholly inadequate for human habitation, but which provided the shelter that she needed for herself and small son, and which she maintained in good repair and kept spotlessly clean. She worked long hours over the washings and the ironing board and came to the end of each day physically tired. She scorned to accept relief from the hands of the community preferring to earn her own way. As a small boy I used to visit in the humble home. I have been there at mealtime and partaken of the simple fare and the simple hospitality. I have often thought since that one of these taste so good was the realization that it had been earned by honest toil of an industrious, courageous, independent spirit. Such food has a savor all its own.

WHO RUNS THE NATION'S LARGEST BUSINESSES?

NOTHING quite so much astonishes the stranger to America as the democracy of American Businesses—where the factory employee can become the president of the largest corporation, or a grocer one of the world's great food suppliers.

In a recent survey of this subject, 50 of the largest businesses in America, employing several million workers, were asked to give starting figures on the men who are now their top management.

Here are the results. One started for $1.50 a week—eleven others for less than $5.

Forty-three others started work for less than $10 a week.

Eighty-one others received between $10 and $25 a week. And only 7 received more than $25 a week—the highest getting paid $69.23 a week.

The average starting wage of all 143 was $13.40 a week. Thus every one of these managers, it can be truthfully stated, worked up from the bottom rung of the business ladder.

When you think of the head of a big business, think of a young man who once drew an envelope at the end of the week with $13.40 in it.

Veterans News

Disabled veterans eligible for free automobiles must submit their applications to the Veterans Administration sufficiently prior to June 30 to permit processing them before the deadline, VA warned this week.
While the veteran has up to two years after that date in which to effect delivery of the vehicle, VA is not permitted to enter any obligation against the appropriation after midnight, June 30, under present legislation.
Nearly 23,000 disabled veterans of World War II have filed applications for vehicles through May 31 under the law which provides a $1,600 conveyance for those who in service lost, or lost the use, of one or both legs at or above the ankle.
Of this number, 16,952 applications were approved and nearly 13,000 sales agreements were certified for payment as of the same date.
More than two and a quarter billion dollars have been spent to provide education and on-the-job training for veterans of World War II.
This was revealed this week when VA reported cumulative expenditures of $2,283,000,000 by May 1 for education and training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.
The number of veterans claiming readjustment allowances for unemployment dropped over 35 per cent in the past three months, affecting a saving of nearly $8,000,000 a week over the rate of expenditure for February of this year, VA announced this week.
The 728,000 claims filed during the last full week in May represent the smallest number received in any week since January, 1946, when, in the wake of widespread demobilization of the armed forces, the number began to climb toward the all-time peak

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away, behold, all things are become new.—Second Corinthians 5:17.

Due to the large wheat crop, especially on the Plains, and the shortage of freight cars, considerable wheat will be piled on the ground this year. This usually results in considerable loss.

The poet Burns expressed a desire that power might be given that we might see ourselves as others see us. It sounds good at first reading but maybe its just as well that the idea not be carried too far.

The U. S. Agriculture Department reports that there are approximately 20 million bushels of surplus potatoes from last year's crop still held by grocers and dealers as of March 1. Stocks of potatoes on that date totaled 76,470,000 bushels.

The present income tax rates, especially on large incomes, practically limit big incomes to a relatively low level. We recall a few years ago that Huey Long was subject to much criticism and ridicule because of his "Share the wealth" program.

The shoe repairing business is the best it has ever been. The reason is that shoes are not being built with the sturdy soles they once were. Even with all the use of the automobiles the soles on a good pair of shoes these days won't last very long.

According to a recent Gallup poll 53 per cent of the people regard national debt reduction as the most important; 38 per cent feel that a reduction in taxes is the most important, and 9 per cent had no opinion.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

On Memorial Day I visited the cemetery that serves the community in which I live. Having lived a good many years in the community I know or knew a great many of those who now lie buried in the village cemetery.

The local cemetery is one of the best managed burial spots that I know of in any small community. The board of directors years ago arranged for a perpetual care fund which lot owners pay in advance. The perpetual care fund is invested by the directors, and the income from it pays for the upkeep of the cemetery, keeps the grass mowed, and pays for many splendid improvements.

It appears to be a splendid plan by which to manage a cemetery. Under it a sexton is constantly employed who looks after the grounds. The whole place is seeded to blue grass which is kept closely mowed. Wide paved drive-ways through the tract make it possible to drive within a few feet of any grave.

At the present time there are no restrictions as to the size of the monuments. The result is that there is no two alike, splendid granite monuments may be found beside the small and unpretentious markers.

Personally I prefer to see a cemetery in which the size of stones is limited and in which all markers are uniform. I subscribe to the plan followed by the government in its soldier cemeteries. Here all monuments are alike, all the same size, all made of white marble and set in straight lines.

In death there is no rich or poor, or upper or lower class. We are all alike. The massive and costly monument often erected by survivors over the grave of a departed one always seems to me to be an effort to carry on in death the fact that the departed had been able to get together enough of this world's goods to afford a costly monument. Very often that is all the big monument does signify. Close beside it may be the marker of a departed citizen of the community who when measured in the true human values was worth more to the community and to humanity and to those with whom he lived and worked many times over than the one lying buried beneath the massive slab, yet over whose last resting place there is a small marker whose obvious purpose is merely to mark the spot where the departed one lies buried.

Former Governor, former Congressman, and now Mayor of Boston, James Curley was this week sentenced to prison by Justice James M. Proctor, in the District of Columbia. Curley was brought into court in a wheel chair and much pressure was applied to the Court to suspend his sentence.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—The House passed numerous bills this week. Among them was a bill extending the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for one year but limiting its lending power to $2,000,000,000 and forbidding any loans to foreign governments, other government agencies, or to anyone else who can obtain necessary capital from private lending institutions.

The House also passed a $55,000,000 Legislative Appropriation Bill, which was $21,000,000 under the budget estimate. This is money to run the entire legislative branch of the government for one year.

Republican leaders are reported to be planning to bring out the tax reduction bill again, making it effective January 1, 1948, instead of July 1, 1947. They feel that such a bill might be signed by the President and if not signed by him that it would be passed over his veto.

Much criticism is still heard of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill recently passed over the President's veto. My prediction is that the main fault of this bill will be in its weakness, not in its strength. When passed by the House, this bill outlawed industry wide bargaining. The Senate eliminated the ban on industry wide bargaining, and the final bill did not carry any restriction whatsoever on such industry wide bargaining. Under existing laws and practices, national labor unions when bargaining on an industry wide basis force small employers into combinations with big employers. These national monopolies in both industry and labor are encouraged, competition is eliminated, production restrained and regimentation encouraged.

CLOSED SHOP OUTLAWED IN 16 STATES

Houston, Texas.—The shaded states in the above map have either adopted or submitted constitutional amendments or enacted statutes prohibiting the closed shop. Sixteen, or one-third of all the states, have taken such action. They are Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Maine, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

The Right to Work, regardless of union or non-union affiliation, as a principle of government, originated in this fast growing industrial city. Vance Muse, Secretary-Treasurer of the Christian American, Inc., with national headquarters here, directed the campaign that resulted in its adoption as an amendment to the Constitution of Arkansas and enlisted the support of the Attorney General of Florida in its enactment there. Five hundred labor papers of the nation recently voted Mr. Muse to be "Public Enemy No. 1" of the movement to organize the unorganized; he has been investigated by two State Legislatures and castigated by several others and a bill has been introduced in the Texas Legislature to revoke the charter of the Christian American which was granted in November 1936.

Once communists gain control of a government, they run the affairs of a nation ruthlessly and no one is free from the dreaded hand of the gestapo. The Bond-a-Month Plan

Most of us have a keen appreciation of money. There are at least three reasons why we necessarily have so much respect for it. First, we have to work to get it. Second, whenever we want anything from today's groceries to a college education for the children or eventual retirement in future years, money is the first consideration. The third reason why we regard money with respect is the fact that it is hard to save. Anything that makes saving easier is automatically in the "boom to mankind" category.

The United States Treasury has come up with a plan to make saving easier for millions of income earners who do not have the benefit of regular savings through payroll deductions for buying U. S. Savings Bonds.

The new plan is known as the

The Bond-a-Month Plan

Most of us have a keen appreciation of money. There are at least three reasons why we necessarily have so much respect for it. First, we have to work to get it. Second, whenever we want anything from today's groceries to a college education for the children or eventual retirement in future years, money is the first consideration. The third reason why we regard money with respect is the fact that it is hard to save. Anything that makes saving easier is automatically in the "boom to mankind" category.

The United States Treasury has come up with a plan to make saving easier for millions of income earners who do not have the benefit of regular savings through payroll deductions for buying U. S. Savings Bonds.

The new plan is known as the

Army Air Rescue Service Covers Local Area

An emergency air search and rescue service for fliers lost or forced down within this area is now being conducted by the Army Air Rescue Service operating from Biggs Field, El Paso, Texas. Assistance will be given whether planes in trouble are civilian or military, and the unit is also authorized to transport by air, anyone injured in ground accidents when other transportation is not available.

All persons who have knowledge of an airplane crash or emergency landing in this vicinity are urged to place a collect long-distance telephone call to the Army Air Rescue Service, El Paso, Texas, telephone 3181, Extension 3991.

The area covered by the Biggs Field unit includes more than 468,000 square miles, takes in Texas, Southeastern New Mexico, and the southern portion of Oklahoma. A force of thirty-two officers and enlisted men is constantly standing by on a 24-hour alert basis to respond to calls for assistance.

Equipment provided for rescue expeditions is elaborate and complete. Six aircraft of various specialized types are used. They include two C-47 transports, three L-5 reconnaissance planes and a helicopter. Transports are especially equipped for flying supplies and emergency equipment to accident scenes, and for dropping supplies by parachute when necessary. The smaller reconnaissance planes are capable of landing in remote and rugged terrain and are equipped as ambulances for flying injured persons to hospitals. The helicopter, a whirling-winged aircraft which can take off straight up and land straight down, can reach quickly by air, places inaccessible from the ground.

Among the emergency equipment carried by rescue planes is a medical "bomb" which was developed by the Biggs Field Air Rescue Service for parachute delivery to injured men when landings of rescue planes cannot be made immediately. This contains blood plasma, morphine, splints, antiseptics and other medical supplies of an emergency nature. When required, medical officers who are especially trained for rescue work, jump by parachute to give first aid treatment to downed fliers.

Since the Air Rescue Service unit was activated at Biggs Field in September of 1946, its men and planes have spent more than 900 hours in the air searching for lost aviators. A total of thirteen missing aircraft have been located during this period.

The Service has recently been expanded and authorized to go to the aid of civilian as well as military aircraft which encounters difficulties in flight. Prompt reporting of aircraft accidents by witnesses is of great assistance in rescue operation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Moral Integrity in Our Everyday Lives

LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 6—Job 1:1-1:8, 31:19-28

MEMORY SELECTION—My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go; my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.

Editor's Note: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Modern problems may well be solved by the principles found in Old Testament Scripture. Man is essentially the same as he always has been; sin and temptation to evil have only changed their outer trimmings. Above all, the Word of God is eternal in its validity and effectiveness.

We learn from Job and his experiences that it is possible so to live by the grace of God, that he can be pleased with our lives. That is an encouraging fact. Job was just a man, but he was a man who was

I. Upright and Good (1:1). Some liberal critics of the Bible have tried to prove that Job was not a real man, but other Scripture makes it clear that the words "there was a man" (v. 1) states a fact. (See Ezek. 14:14 and 20, James 5:11).

He was a man with a large family, with great flocks and herds, and so a man of business, and the husband and father in a growing and active household. But in it all he was upright, and a good, God-fearing man.

Many make excuses for their failure to serve the Lord. They say that their business duties and relationships make it just about impossible. Others say that family situations and responsibilities keep them from service and worship of the Lord.

The experience of Job explodes all such excuses and squarely faces us with the fact that it is possible to live for God in the midst of the very circumstances of modern life.

II. Tried and True (27:1-5). After Job had lost his property, his children and even his health, three of his friends came to comfort him. But they only added to his sorrow by accusing him of being sinful, and suffering only what he deserved.

Job in these verses is replying to them. We note that in his ignorance of God's purposes, he accused God of being cruel to him (27:2; 30:21). This matter was later to be straightened out with the Lord.

But even now when he did not understand God's dealings, and stood there sick and destitute, he maintained his integrity. He would not turn from the Lord, nor would he be led off into wickedness.

It is possible for a man to be beaten and bruised and bewildered, and still true to the Lord. Let's never forget that!

III. Kind and Fair (31:19-23). Job had been a rich man, but had not let his own prosperity dim his eye so that he could not see the need of his poor neighbor. He was not among those who, because they are well fed, can see no point in all the fuss about the hungry people round about.

There is something very fine and worthy of our imitation here.

It is so easy to take what we have as a special favor from the Lord, to be retained and used by us, when we ought to recognize it as a matter of stewardship for the Lord.

A vital part of real moral integrity is the right use of possessions. Many a man or woman who has passed all the other tests with flying colors comes to grief at this point.

IV. Spiritual and Faithful (31:24-28). There were plenty of temptations in Job's day, as there are now, to depart from the worship of the true God to other modes of devotion.

The worship of the sun was common, and Jeremiah 44:17 shows that it continued for generations. In fact, what shall we say of the world-wide devotion to astrology in our day.

Then there was the temptation to worship gold. How up-to-date that is, for do we not have millions who worship "the almighty dollar," yes, even if they do not have it.

To all such temptations Job said a resolute "No." He would not even permit his innermost heart to be enticed secretly (v. 27). He stood true for the God he loved and served.

Who will question that one of our greatest needs in the world today is for men and women who, by the grace and blessing of God, will live good and upright lives, true to the Lord, and sacrificial, in real loving-kindness to men. God give us men, yes, that kind of men!

Bananas are coming into the country at the rate of 54,000,000 bunches a year, 5,000,000 below the prewar level.

Last year's total of 34,000 killed in automobile accidents was an increase of 5,000 over the 28,600 killed in 1945.

Weekly Sermon

Will H. Houghton, D. D., LL. D., President Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.
"I Will Never Leave Thee"
Age upon age, multitudes have found comfort and courage in the word of assurance, "I will never leave thee." Missionaries in their loneliness, soldiers on night vigils, mothers watching beside the sick bed, the aged in their last fading months—all these and numberless others have heard and believed, "I will never leave thee."
We would here quote an old message from Spurgeon, and invite you to understand every word of his closing sentence.
"No promise is of private interpretation. Whatever God has said to any one saint, He has said to all. When He opens a well for one, it is that all may drink. When He openeth a granary door to give out food, there may be some one starving man who is the occasion of its being opened, but all hungry saints may come and feed too. Whether He gave the word to Abraham or to Moses, matters not, O believer; He has given it to thee as one of the covenantal seed. There is not a full blessing too lofty for thee, nor a wide mercy too extensive for thee.
"Be thou bold to believe, for He hath said, 'I will never leave thee.' Then no attribute of God can cease to be engaged for us. Is He mighty? He will show Himself strong on the behalf of them that trust Him. Is He love? Then with loving-kindness will He have mercy upon us.
"Whatever attributes may compose the character of Deity, every one of them to its fullest extent shall be engaged on our side. To put everything in one, there is nothing you can want, there is nothing you can ask for, there is nothing you can need in time or in eternity, there is nothing living, nothing dying, there is nothing in this world, nothing in the next world, there is nothing now, nothing at the resurrection morning, nothing in heaven, which is not contained in this text, 'I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.'"

Industrial Fats Still Scarce Experts Report
The supply of industrial fats and oils in the United States is expected to continue to be less than the demand, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. An Agriculture spokesman says:
"While there are prospects for improvement in the food fats situation, the supply of industrial fats is expected to remain short of demand during the rest of 1947.
"Whether or not export and import controls are continued beyond June 30 will have an important effect on the situation.
"In view of the known facts, it seems necessary to ask housewives to continue their efforts to save used fats during the months ahead."
So continue to save and turn in every drop of used kitchen fat. You will not only be helping American industry increase production of many badly needed articles, but you will be helping yourself by reducing meat bills as your meat dealer now pays substantially more for every pound of salvaged fat returned.

Immune Globulin Will Protect a Frail Child From Measles
Austin—With the incidence of measles usually being somewhat high in summer time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a statement concerning the use of immune globulin for protecting very young or frail children from an attack of this perennial childhood disease and its often serious complications.
"If you have a child less than five years old who has been exposed to measles, your family doctor may recommend giving him immune globulin," Dr. Cox said. "Through city, county or state health departments, doctors can obtain immune globulin free, to be used as they think advisable. Infants and children, whose health makes it inadvisable for them to suffer an attack of measles, may avoid the disease if immune globulin is administered within eight days from the time of exposure."
The State Health Officer emphasized the fact that immune globulin, cannot give a child permanent protection against measles, but explained that the protection is ordinarily of about three weeks duration. However, there is no limit to the number of times it can be used, and a baby who is protected by it once can be protected by it again if exposed later. Immune globulin can go on shielding him against measles until he is old enough and strong enough to stand an attack without risking serious consequences.
During an outbreak of measles, Dr. Cox said that it is well to keep children under five years of age, and more especially frail children, from all other youngsters who might serve as sources of infection. Statistics show that nine-tenths of all measles deaths occur
