C. H. S. Basketball Team Wins Game from Holliday

The Crowell High School basketball team came through with a victory in its only game of the week here last Friday night with 38 to 31 score over the Holliday Eagles. Sparked by Floyd Borchardt, second string guard until this game, the Wildcats looked their best of the season during the first half of the contest picking up a lead of ten points by intermission time. This same team defeated Crowell by fourteen points early in the season. Pat Lester, forward for Holliday, was high point man of the game with thirteen points. J. P. Bartley, guard for Crowell, scored eleven points to lead his team in this department. Rouse Todd, center for Crowell was exceptionally good on retrieving the ball off of the backboards. Dalton Biggestaff and F. L. Ballard, other starters for the Wildcats, did some good passing to set up "crip" shots for their teammates.

The Crowell girls' volley ball team won only one set out of three from the Holliday girls. Mrs. Lewis Sloan, coach of the Crowell girls, started the same combination that defeated the Olney team last week, and they came through with a 15 to 9 victory in the first set. However, this same combination failed to win the last set after Crowell's first string lost the second set in a decisive manner. Mary Ruth Jones, senior on the Crowell club, looked the best for the local team.

The games with Iowa Park for Tuesday night had to be postponed due to bad weather. The Crowell boys and girls both will journey to Valley View for games Friday night. They will remain at home for games next week when the Seymour Panthers come here on Tuesday night and the Chillicothe Eagles come on Friday night. Seymour and Crowell are tied for second place in district standing at the present time.

Memorial Books in Foard County Library Have Special Section

This week marks the dedication of a special section in the Foard County Library for memorial books. A memorial which serves the living is a gracious tribute to the dead. The sending of a book to the public library as a memorial to a relative or friend is becoming an increasingly popular practice. This shelf in the local library was begun about two years ago when the book, "A Rolling Stone" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phillips II, as a memorial to J. H. Minnick, deceased.

Recent additions to the shelf have been selected by committees from the Adelphean and Columbian Clubs to honor members who have passed away. The list from the Adelphean Club includes: Mofette's Translation of the Bible in memory of Mrs. S. O. Woods; The Nobel Prize Treasury of Literature in memory of Miss Lottie Woods; Wild Flowers of Texas in color in memory of Mrs. J. W. Wilson; Old Glass, European and American, in memory of Mrs. A. D. Campbell Sr.; The Christian Way in Race Relations in memory of Mrs. Willie Long Williams; Anson Jones, President of Texas, in memory of Mrs. Addie Hunt Ray; Colors in the Home in memory of Mrs. Ella Razor Crowell; They Took the High Road in memory of Mrs. Ida Hilburn; They Knew Christ in memory of Mrs. W. F. Kirkpatrick.

Dedications made in the Columbian Club include: The Wilderness Road dedicated to Mrs. J. W. Beverly; Toward a Better World dedicated to Mrs. B. J. Smith; The Seventh Angel dedicated to Mrs. Robert Goodfellow; The Miracle of the Bells dedicated to Mrs. George Allison; Janissa dedicated to Mrs. Jim Witherpoon; The Precious Secret dedicated to Mrs. Leo Spencer; Stories of Hymns We Love dedicated to Mrs. M. February-March Is Time to Plant Sweet Clover

Planting time for Madrid sweet-clover is almost here, according to information released by the Soil Conservation District. Planting time is from February 1 to March 15. Since it is more cold resistant, it can be planted in February with greater safety than other varieties of clover. Madrid sweet-clover is a more cold resistant, less stony, more leafy and more productive of forage than Hubam or common clover. Madrid is a biennial, yellow blossom clover. It can be used either for grazing or for hay. A seed crop can be harvested the second year if desirable. Also it is an excellent soil improving and cover crop.

The clover may be seeded at the rate of 8 pounds an acre with a grain drill, or broadcast at the rate of 10 pounds per acre. If seeded in rows, 2 to 3 is enough. On thin land, seeding in rows is recommended.

Inoculation of the seed with the proper nitrogen-fixing bacteria culture (inoculant) is very important. This inoculant will help the clover to grow off better and will enable the plant to fix nitrogen in the soil.

When the clover reaches a height of 6 to 8 inches, usually around May 15, it is of sufficient height to start grazing the first year's growth. Grazing should be managed so as to maintain a height of about 6 inches. During the second year, when the clover reaches a height of 4 to 6 inches, grazing may begin.

The first year's growth is best suited for hay, if it is cut 4 to 5 inches above the ground. This makes a better quality hay and allows a more vigorous aftermath.

Other meetings have been taken to augment the campaign and the latest report indicates that the response has been hearty and gratifying.

December receipts of 57 Texas cities totaled $4,735,362, or 13 per cent above a year earlier.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the Bureau's index of postal receipts rose 4 per cent from November to 273 per cent of the prewar (1935-1939) base period.

November-to-December gains ranged from 24 per cent in El Paso to 194 per cent in Corsicana. Other sizable increases over November were recorded by Sweetwater and Lockhart, 99 per cent; Childress, 97 per cent; Cleburne, 87 per cent; Pampa, 85 per cent; and Orange, 83 per cent.

In comparison with December, 1947, Lockhart turned in the best record in the state, bettering year-earlier receipts by 33 per cent. Midland tallied a 28 per cent gain; Snyder, 24 per cent; Denton, 23 per cent; Tyler, 19 per cent; Greenville, 17 per cent; and Big Spring and Cleburne, 16 per cent.

Artifacts Taken from Uvalde Cave to Be on Display

Austin, Texas—Soon to be on display in the Texas Memorial Museum on the University of Texas campus are artifacts taken from a cave in Uvalde County on the Sabinal river near Sabinal.

For the past three months geologists have been digging relics for study and for preservation in the Museum, Dr. E. H. Sellards, director, reports.

Three civilizations are represented by materials found—the Folsom culture—estimated at 10,000 years old—Edwards Plateau and Indian. Spear points, fossils of such animals as the elephant, sloth (land animal), camel, buffalo and horses, grinding stones, beads, ornaments, pottery, bows and arrows are among the relics taken from the cave.

The cave has a 40-foot opening and its semicircular interior is about 35 feet in depth. Dr. Sellards said. The floor is paved with stone, probably put there during the Folsom civilization.

Two Uvalde county boys, Chas. Menar and Kenneth Roehat, discovered the unusual relics in the cave. University Museum geologists and anthropology department members were notified, and began excavation in October.

SHOW WINDOW

According to a Department of Commerce estimate, more than 71 per cent of the money disbursed by the American people for all goods and services is spent in retail stores. In other words, it is the retailer who breaks down the enormous production of our industry into the units which consumers buy and take home and use.

Thus, the influence of retailing in maintaining our living standards can hardly be exaggerated. All of us take the excellence of American stores for granted. Throughout this vast country, the stores in little towns carry the same kinds of goods as the stores in great cities—and the prices charged are just about the same. The chain systems in particular have been responsible for bringing the finest kind of retail service to the farthest corners of the land. And the ever-present force of competition is our guarantee that service will be bettered whenever possible.

The price charged for all this—that is, the net profit earned by the merchant out of every dollar you spend with him—is amazingly small. It ranges from one to six or seven cents, depending on the particular kind of good and the particular kind of store—and it is obvious that articles which are affected by and seasonal factors must move quickly all year round, that profit, generally speaking, has been steadily going down, less now than it was in OPA

Farmers and Ranchers
Pay Money Back To Government

In 1943 the United States Government bought stock in the Memphis Production Credit Association to help farmers and ranchers in this section start their own credit institution. It was understood at that time that as soon as the members were able to do so, they would return the government capital and operate wholly on their own capital.

The Association has never loaned a dime of government money. It has always found a ready source of funds in the open money markets of the nation. But it did use the Government capital as security against which funds could be borrowed.

On December 31st, 1948—right on schedule—the last $5,000 of Government capital in this Association was retired and now, completely owned and operated by its members—farmers and ranchers of Donley, Hall, Collingsworth, Childress, Hardeman, Cottle, Motley, Foard and Briscoe Counties—this Association stands as one of the strongest institutions in the territory financing farm and ranch operations.

The members of this Association are proud of the job they have done during the past 14 years, and they invite other farmers and ranchers to join hands with them as members of their own credit association—the only member-owned institution in this area operated solely for the purpose of financing farm and ranch operations.

West Texans Urged To Take Steps to Protect Water Rights

Abilene, Jan. 22—Every municipality in West Texas this week has been urged to take steps to perpetuate domestic water rights, following a meeting at Amarillo of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce water rights committee, which is opposed to the passage of the proposed water code of the Texas Water Conservation Ass'n., which seeks to repeal recovery provisions of the WCC-Wagstaff-Woodward bill. Citing lack of rainfall and running streams in West Texas, a letter authorized by the Amarillo committee meeting, which was presided over there by Mayor Lawrence Hagy, gives notice that every effort will be made to defeat any measure without protection of the recovery right of water for domestic uses, over inferior uses, principal of which would be the generation of hydro-electricity.

"West Texas cannot subscribe to and must forever oppose parts of Sec. 13, as outlined in your ' ' ' revision of the surface water code," the letter said. "We refer to the following clause in Sec. 13: 'utilization of such channels and reclaiming of such waters turned into it must not diminish the waters already flowing therein, to which others have acquired rights," the letter said. "Under this clause, as we see it, our West Texas municipalities can wholly be prohibited from obtaining additional water supply.

"Another point of omission we are concerned about in the proposed code is the failure anywhere in the bill to extend the rights to a city to recover water heretofore appropriated for inferior use. This right definitely exists in our present law in Art. 7472. The fact is that in Sec. 160 of your bill this right is definitely and expressly repealed.

"Repealing this provision, together with Sec. 13 provision, makes mockery of any and all provisions you refer to as preserving the traditional rights of domestic to water."

The letter, signed by John D. Mitchell, president, and D. A. Banned, general manager of WTCC, was authorized by the water rights committee meeting and was addressed to J. S. Sturrock, general manager of the Texas Water Conservation Ass'n.

The meeting also authorized committee members to take whatever steps necessary in the organized efforts in Austin and elsewhere to defeat the proposed legislation. At the same time, however, the letter praised other features of the bill as being worthy of passage.

Federal Internal Revenue Collections

Austin, Texas—Federal income revenue collections in Texas totaled $91,336,751 in December, an 18 per cent rise over December, 1947, collections, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Income taxes gained 24 per cent during the 12 month period, while employment taxes (other than withholding) dropped 70 per cent, and withholding tax collections were narrowed by 18 per cent.

Collections from July 1 through December 31 stepped up 11 per cent from a like period in 1947. Except for a slight decrease in withholding taxes, revenue from all sources was from 15 to 17 above year-earlier levels.

Collections in First District (South Texas) totaled $53,373,666 in December, 1948, or 30 per cent above a year earlier. All types of collections were up from 1 per cent in withholding taxes to 85 per cent in employment taxes.

Second District (North Texas) reported a 1 per cent gain over November. Income taxes rose 13 per cent from November to December, but withholding and employment taxes fell 33 and 76 per cent, respectively. Collections in the Second District totaled $37,963,085 in December, 1948.

VETERANS' QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. What are the deadlines that apply if I wish to take my training under the GI Bill at a later date? I was discharged in Aug., 1947.

A. You may apply for training within four years from the date of your discharge. You must finish your training before the expiration of 9 years from the date of your discharge.

Q. I am considering taking on-the-job training but I find the proposed training will necessitate purchase of a great many tools and some equipment. Will Veterans Administration pay for the tools that I will need?

A. Veterans Administration will furnish you with tools and equipment, provided they are required by all other trainees taking the same course.

Q. When is a Certificate of Eligibility from VA for loan guarantee purposes necessary?

A. It is necessary when the veteran is unable to furnish the lender with his original discharge papers, or when his period of service was less than 90 days, or when his service was in the armed forces of a government allied with the United States in World War II.

Q. On what priority basis is a World War I veteran admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital?

A. Emergency cases have first priority; those suffering from injuries incurred in or aggravated by wartime service are next on the priority list, and those who swear they are unable to pay hospital charges for nonservice-connected disabilities or illnesses are third. The latter must wait until a bed is available.

IN THE LAP OF CONGRESS

A report made by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce had this to say about the electric power situation: "In two sections of the country, the Tennessee Valley and the Pacific Northwest, public power has driven private capital out of new plant construction. These regions today find themselves right back in the lap of Congress, where they must plead their need for development, project by project, before appropriation committees.

"These appropriation committees are accountable to people of all sections of the country whose tax money they spend. They will want equitable distribution among all Congressional Districts, and it will be no surprise of representatives of other areas are a bit lackadaisical in caring for complaints about 'power shortages' in those areas now, allegedly, dependent on Congress."

When any region gives the government a monopoly of an essential service, or when it permits the threat of continuing socialization to prevent private development, it is simply asking for trouble. Its progress or lack of it then depends upon the whims of Congress, which may change drastically from session to session. It is placed in the position of a mendicant, asking for alms.

Ambitious plans are now in the blueprint stage for establishing more power monopolies, based on the TVA model, in other areas. If those plans go through, those areas will also find themselves "in the lap of Congress." The private power industry, which always did a superb job of handling the demand in the past, will be powerless. Even if it is not entirely socialized, no investor will risk his money when the prospect of socialization is imminent. "Public power" is one way of depriving the public of power it would otherwise have! Power shortages seem to be by-products of political power monopolies.—Industrial News Review.

Because of overgrazing the 800 million acres of western range lands which originally could graze 25 million head will today support but half that number.

In ten years 167,624 persons have committed suicide in this country.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

Here is something for those to remember who think they can sense business conditions in advance. The depression of 1929 surprised everyone even the most expert of the experts. In September stock markets and prices reached their highest point. Thirty days later the very bottom had dropped out of everything. Values disappeared overnight. There was nothing for anyone to do but to let the storm run its course. It might have been checked before it started but after it broke no one could check it. The lesson we should have learned in 1929 is that we must see to it that a depression doesn't start.

The reports that a number of officials well up in government circles have been engaged in slipping confidential information out of government files and giving it to those unfriendly to this country, comes as a severe shock. It is difficult to express in temperate terms one's contempt for such actions. There is a growing belief that some punishment fitting the crime should be devised that will be more effective than the present practice of slapping such offenders on the wrist.

All of the experts are agreed that the country is going to hit a quiet spot in business and in the next four or five months. They even expect some temporary shut downs and lay offs.

When one approaches a railroad crossing and sees the sign "Railroad Crossing" and hears the engine whistle, it is time to believe all one sees and hears.

I listened carefully to President Truman's message to Congress. The message contained everything of importance that was incorporated in the party platform and upon which he made the race for office. President Truman, in his message did not prescribe any specific plan by which the several objectives included in the address should be carried out. He merely mentioned the objectives leaving the method to be used in the hands of Congress. While he did not specify the detailed steps by which objectives be attained he however, did make the objectives so clear that there cannot possibly be any misunderstanding on the part of Congress as to what is desired and wanted.

In my opinion the content of the message following closely the party platform and leaving the manner of its enactment into law wholly in the hands of Congress, represents true democracy in action.

The party went before the people with a platform which it pledged itself to enact into law and was elected by a decisive majority on the basis of the representations made in the platform. The assumption naturally is that having voted for the program represented by the platform that that is what the people of the country think they want. As it often happens in the case of humans, young and old, they think they want a thing until they get it and then discover that after all they do not want it.

Be that as it may the people of this country voted for a program and the President whom their votes elected has gone as far as a President can go by putting the whole program in the hands of Congress with the recommendation that it be enacted into law.

I recall many messages to Congress in the past. They consisted of a lot of high sounding but empty phrases dealing purely with generalities designed to mean everything in general to everyone and nothing in particular to anyone. After hearing them the man in the street—the common man—was left with the feeling that everyone had been taken care of but he himself. He could see nothing in the program that seemed to be concerned specifically and intimately with his welfare. His conclusion usually was that it could make little difference to himself or his family whether Congress carried out the suggestions of the message or proceeded forthwith to forget them—as it did. Another thing that might be said for the message was its simplicity and directness. Everyone understood what the President stood for and to what he was opposed.

I am not attempting to appraise the merits of the President's program or to say whether, if Congress should choose to put into effect all its provisions, it would be the best thing for the country. I do not know. The point I do desire to make is that President Truman ran on a platform, was elected on it, and, after being elected, laid it, every plank, into the laps of Congress, the representatives of the people to handle as they see fit.

This to me is democracy in action. It may be that some of the things the people voted are not the best for the country and the people. It is for Congress to attempt to decide this. The point I desire to make is that good or bad it is what the majority of the people voted for, and, it seems, stands a good chance of getting.

30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the issue of the Foard County News of Jan. 24, 1919:

Cattle are doing well on the wheat pasture now since the extreme cold weather the latter part of December and the first of January, according to reports from farmers and ranchmen. Some cattle died during the severe weather.

The oil test being drilled in the west part of the county by the Empire Oil Company of Kansas City is 2,000 feet deep. Drilling has been discontinued on account of the cold weather. Wells are being drilled in Hardeman, Baylor, Knox and Scurry Counties.

Ten or twelve inches of snow and temperature as low as 29 degrees below zero has been experienced in Levy, N. M., according to a letter from S. I. Shultz.

Wolf hides are bringing from $2.50 to $8.00 in St. Louis, Mo., according to reports of local trappers.

J. P. Fowler and K. B. Pool went to Burk Burnett Tuesday afternoon.

Lee Allan Beverly made a trip out to the Plains this week to take a car.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adkins were here Monday from Plainview.

Ben Hogan has been heard from in New York where he had just arrived from France.

George Burress came in Sunday from the Naval Training Station in San Diego, Calif., having been released from the service.

Miss Emma Pendleton, saleslady at R. D. Edwards Co., left Sunday for Okmulgee, Okla., to visit a brother.

Jim Roark returned Tuesday to the Y Ranch where he is foreman. He had recovered from a two-weeks' siege of the flu.

O. N. Baker of Route 3, Crowell, is a new reader of the News.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCormick and Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hill were visitors in Haskell Sunday.

The shooting of nine elephants in fifteen minutes was announced as some feat by Jose Alphonzo Ruiz, a big game hunter in Portuguese, East Africa. Within the past two years Ruiz has shot 200 elephants, 60 hippos, 300 buffaloes, thirty lions and leopards, 3 rhinos and hundreds of bucks. Just how anyone would justify such ruthless slaughter of the wild life of the jungle is not made clear. Armed with a modern high powered rifle it has about the same element of sport that would be found in shooting cattle in a corral and with about an equal amount of danger. If enough of the so called sportsmen operate with a like degree of ruthlessness jungle life may in the conceivable future be found only in menageries.

DOING FOR OURSELVES
A proposal for compulsory government health insurance is in the news again. It will be one of the major issues to be considered by Congress this year. Of the arguments used in support of it, one of the most generally effective seems to be that it is often a serious burden to meet the cost of an unexpected hospital or doctor bill. That is true enough—but it does not explain why government insurance, which would cost the taxpayers $6,000,000,000 a year and perhaps more, is the way out. The proponents of that scheme seem to totally ignore the fact that a large percentage of the American people have protected themselves against this exigency. They have done it through one or more of the many voluntary prepayment plans, all of which are

Veterans News

Veterans holding unused Certificates of Eligibility for education or training under the GI Bill and who plan to start training after January 1, 1949, should exchange them for new certificates, VA reports.

After January 1, VA must verify how much training veterans are entitled to, if they hold old certificates. Until VA does this it cannot pay tuition to schools or make subsistence payments to veterans holding the old certificates.

Veterans receiving new certificates will also receive a Claim Number which will make doubly sure of identification and improve service. Certificates which should be exchanged are those issued before September 1, 1948. Exchange can be made at the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the veteran concerned. The number of compensation and pension cases on Veterans Administration rolls increased from 2,878,000 on October 1, 1948, to 2,879,000 on November 1—the first increase in six months. The peak was reached August 1, 1947, when VA reported 2,894,000 cases. About 2,418,000 veterans were in schools and job training establishments under the GI Bill and Public Law 16 on November 1, 1948, VA reports. A year ago, the total was 240,000 higher, or 2,658,000.

within the financial reach of the average worker and his family. The growth made by these plans is phenomenal. The first came into being in Oregon in 1906. Initially, during the trial and error period, progress was relatively slow. Then, some years ago, a major expansion took place. One plan alone has well over 30,000,000 subscribers, most of whom pay the moderate charges through payroll deductions. And the benefits given have been steadily broadened. In the light of all this, and looking at the issue from a purely practical viewpoint, there seems to be no reason for saddling the country with another enormous tax—and, in the process, giving a political group a half million on the medical profession.—Industrial News Review.

California voted a new pension law that will add $100,000 a year to the state's expenses. As usual the law did not provide for a means of raising the money to pay the pensions.

National Social Hygiene Day Set for Wed., Feb. 2

Austin, Texas — Throughout America men and women have become conscious of the necessity for fighting the menace of venereal diseases, and it is a matter of pride to public health workers that the entire nation now joins in the observance of National Social Hygiene Day, which in this year is dated February 2.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that at the present time three rapid treatment centers are being operated in Texas, located at San Antonio, Waco and Rocky Mount, and that a total of approximately 15,000 patients per year are being treated in these centers. Ninety-six venereal disease clinics are also in operation throughout the state, and these clinics as well as the rapid treatment centers are primarily for the treatment of indigent and semi-indigent persons referred by physicians or local health units.

In the past two years a blood testing survey of more than 80,000 Texans has disclosed that between seven and ten per cent of that number had positive tests for syphilis and that a large majority of them did not know they had the disease and had never had medical treatment for it. This vast reservoir of untreated syphilis is one reason for its continued spread, and it is a notable achievement in furthering public health that approximately 98 per cent of these persons have been brought under treatment so that they can no longer spread the disease. More than 43,000 contacts have been investigated and placed under treatment until no longer infectious. A continuous educational program carried on by the State Department of Health is another effective means for controlling venereal disease among our people, and reducing the number of crippled, blind and paralyzed persons who are annually the victims of syphilis and other venereal disease.

Stalin Talks One Way and Acts Another

At extended intervals, Marshal Stalin has met and talked with foreign interviewers. Among the Americans so favored have been Roy Howard, Elliott Roosevelt, Harold Stassen, and Walter Duranty. In every case, Stalin's remarks for foreign publication have been of an amiable and conciliatory character. Their basic theme has been an expressed desire for peace, buttressed by the statement that communism and capitalism should be able to exist together in the world of harmony.

These interviews have always been happily received in this country and elsewhere. They seemed to contain grounds for an optimistic estimate of future world trends. Unfortunately, however, there is an amazing contradiction in what Stalin has said for foreign consumption, and what he has told the millions of Russians he rules at home.

That contradiction is the subject of a long article in Foreign Affairs, signed with the nom de plume Historicus. The magazine believes this is the first time a documented study has been made of the matter. In order to obtain his material, the writer examined everything published by Stalin since February, 1919, which was in itself a heavy job of research. In this connection, it should be recognized that Stalin's writings are practically required reading in Russia. One of his books, "History of the All-Union Communist Party," has had a distribution of 31,000,000 copies. Another major work, "Problems of Leninism," has been published in 11 editions, and the 1947 printing alone totaled 4,000,000 copies. It is extremely significant that none of his interviews with foreign reporters has been reprinted in his voluminous works in Russian.

A typical, and much-publicized Stalin interview was that given to Roy Howard. This was in 1936. He said that the Soviet Union never had plans for fostering revolutions in other countries because exporting revolution is nonsense. In 1943, in a letter to a Reuters correspondent, he stressed the alleged fact that the Comintern had been dissolved, and said that this "exposes the lie... that 'Moscow' intends to intervene in the life of other states and 'bolshelize' them." Numerous other statements made by him follow about the same line.

So much for what the Marshal wishes the people beyond the iron curtain to believe. Historicus cites passage after passage from Stalin's published and enormously read works which show that a central feature of his theory of revolution is that the Soviet Union must be used as the base for the development of world revolution—and, if necessary, by armed force. This idea is repeated constantly, and in various forms and phrases.

Thus, in a passage which has been in print from 1924 to the present, Stalin says that "after organizing its own Socialist production," the victorious proletariat in one country should stand up "against the remaining capitalist world, attracting to itself the oppressed classes of other countries, raising revolts in those countries against the capitalists, and their governments." Certainly, nothing could be plainer than that. It is a clear call to arms against capitalism. Of it, Historicus writes: "The supreme aim of world revolution is the logical outcome of Stalin's entire theoretical position... notably the thesis that capitalism is a single world-system fatally torn by contradictions which can be cured only by a consciously directed socialist revolution. Granted these assumptions, the determination to use the foothold won in the Soviet Union as a base for world revolution, is elementary common sense."

Historicus states that one of Stalin's favorite passages was written by Lenin, and goes as follows: "We live... not only in a state but in a system of states, and the existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with the imperialist state for a long time is unthinkable. In the end either one or the other will conquer. And until that end comes a series of the most terrible collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable." Stalin quoted this bit of prophecy in an article of his own and commented, "Clear one would think."

The substance of Historicus' study is summed up in these words: "The ultimate resort to armed force is a logical development of the Leninist thesis that only consciously-led revolution can drive the capitalists from the stage of history. The assumption that the world has been fundamentally divided into two camps since the October Revolution runs through Stalin's writings from his early days and is grounded in his Marxist philosophy." In other words, he has never ceased preaching the hard gospel of Soviet-directed war and revolution to the Russian masses.

Historicus' article is important as a contribution to modern history. It is also important as a guide to the way this and other Western nations should regard pronouncements of policy from Stalin and the other top communists. The obvious fact is that Stalinist tactics call for building up hatred and distrust of the capitalist world at home, even as an attempt is made to quiet the fears and suspicions of the people in other lands.—Industrial News Review.

According to the U. S. Commerce Department more building materials were produced in October than in any month in the history of the industry.

GUIDE TO FIRE SAFETY

W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, recently announced that the 1949 edition of that organization's national building code has come off the press. It is to be distributed to municipalities, building officials, schools, libraries, and so on. The first code appeared in 1905, and this marks the sixth revision. The purpose of the code is to make our buildings safe, and it is a composite of the views and experience of fire protection engineers, the building industry, and others. In Mr. Mallalieu's words, "It is a practical approach to the building code problem because it will encourage a large amount of standardization; approved American standards and nationally recognized standards of trade associations have been widely used."

Rheumatism

In a 48 page booklet, a committee of 12 of the nation's leading doctors have issued a complete report of years of research on rheumatism and arthritis.
From their findings a formula called Ru-Tel was then tested by physicians and clinics and has achieved remarkable results in relieving the pain of rheumatism, arthritis, backache and neuritis. Ru-Tel Tablets are pleasant to take, do not upset the stomach—give quick soothing relief, sometimes overnight. Now Ru-Tel Tablets are available through all druggists. First bottle must help or your money refunded.

A delicious waffle supper was served. For the meal, the group was seated at quartet tables which were laid with brown paper cloths and centered with unique containers of violets, roses, daisies. The room decorations featured a large arrangement of onion bulbs on the buffet and old shoes filled with greenery were used as wall jardinières.

Highlighting the entertainment for the evening was a visit from Dr. Blackstone, who was introduced by Inez Spencer and characterized by Dr. D. E. Sanders. Aylene Graham screened color slides of scenes photographed in and around Crowell and from the air. Also slides of other points of interest were shown. Concluding the program, Mrs. Graham took several pictures of the group.

In his budget message to Congress, President Truman asked for an increase of $250 million in postal rates to cut down a deficit estimated at $400 million. First class mail rates will not be increased but increases will be made on nearly all other classes.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett,
13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22, 1949—So much has been said about the Inauguration this week, that our comment would probably be an anti-climax. The day before the Inauguration it rained. The day after the Inauguration it rained, but Inauguration day was bright and clear. Many wisecracks were made around the City about the President's luck and the fact that he continued to get the breaks. Someone even said they guessed "God must be a Democrat."

The parade was by far the longest and most elaborate ever witnessed in the Capital City. It was more than five miles long and took more than three hours to pass the reviewing stand. More than 15,000 uniformed persons participated. There were 55 elaborate floats. Texas was represented in the Inaugural Parade by the Cavaliers of San Antonio and by a beautiful, gigantic float under-written and paid for by Mr. Wright Morrow of Houston. Riding the float were three beautiful Texas ladies; Mrs. Lloyd Bentsen and Mrs. Tom Pickett, wives of Texas Congressmen, and Miss Evelyn Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Wichita Falls. A million people watching the parade were also privileged to see a magnificent air show in which 615 of the nation's latest and best planes participated.

Congressmen were limited to 7 seats at the Inaugural ceremony. We were happy to have tickets for the following persons: Mr. Ray Nichols of Vernon, editor of the Vernon Daily Record; Mr. Riley Cross, of Denton, editor of the Denton Record-Chronicle; Miss Louise Mason, of Vernon, who is a student in Washington at the Chevy Chase school for girls; Mrs. S. V. White of Wichita Falls and her sister; Mr. Bill Booher and Mr. J. V. Bohey of Jackboro; Mrs. Gossett and our oldest son, Glenn. During the last Inauguration in front of the Capitol, in January, 1941, Glenn was an infant and still with his mother in the Garfield Memorial Hospital in Washington.

Some comment has been made around Washington about the cost of the Inauguration. The seats out in Capitol Plaza probably cost around $5.00 each to build and of course were used only for this one ceremony. The Inauguration stands have been called "Curly Brooks Stadium," Curly Brooks being former Republican Senator from the State of Illinois who was Chairman of the Arrangements Committee in the 80th Congress but was defeated in the recent election. More people saw the Inauguration and the Inaugural Parade by television than saw it in person. Furthermore, they saw a great deal more by television than did those of us who witnessed it in person. They got closer views of more people and better views of the parade than did the thousands who occupied expensive seats or crowded along Washington thoroughfares.

The President has made numerous appearances and numerous speeches during this Inaugural week. In a speech at the dinner of the Presidential Electors, he threw a little cold water on the Gossett-Lodge amendment by saying that he was satisfied with the present system. However, I don't believe this to have been a serious remark. All other Presidents expressing a view on this subject have advocated electoral reform. In each of his eight messages to the Congress while President, Andrew Jackson's first recommendation was for the abolition of the Electoral College. The President's Inaugural address was one of his best speeches and was well received. All of us are hoping and praying that he will have a great administration. However, many wise Democrats do not go along with all of the talk that President Truman has a mandate to carry out all parts of Democratic platform, or that the Congress has a mandate to do certain things, such as a repeal of the Taft-Hartley act. The recent national elections in which we Democrats won, was not any particular mandate. It simply meant that the people preferred President Truman over Governor Dewey, and thought the Democrats would do a better job than the Republicans. Insofar as an expression on national issues go, they had little opportunity to say what decisions should be made.

"Forever Amber" to Be Shown Here

Shown for the first time at regular prices when it opens at the Rialto next Wednesday, "Forever Amber," marks a new brilliant milestone of motion picture spectacle, glamor and excitement. The picture, which stars Linda Darnell, Cornel Wilde, Richard Greene and George Sanders with a supporting cast of thousands of players, was photographed in color.

Into the two years required to make the picture went painstaking preparation Hollywood has rarely known. "Forever Amber" provides a memorable picture of great contrasts. Scenes of London's cluttered streets in the seventeenth century, and dark, dank Newgate prison make the splendor of the lavish parties and balls given at Whitehall Palace and the brilliance of the Theatre Royal, seem all the more magnificent.

The starting of the story's dramatic sequences stand among Hollywood's finest achievements.
