W. R. Chambers Appeals to Texans Write Their Senators to Support C. R. 18 to Save Texas Natural Gas

The newspapers of Thursday, June 19th, there appeared a story that the Coastal Pipeline Company was going to file an application before the Federal Power Commission to build a gas pipeline 1,000 miles long from Texas to Virginia. The same day mentioned the Piedmont Gas Company that also is applying for a certificate to build a gas pipeline to North Carolina, according to Representative W. R. Chambers of May, Texas. It may be sure that both of these pipelines will be built, as the Texas Power Commission never opposes these applications. A few days earlier I noticed that the Coastal Northern Pipeline Co. was going to build the biggest gas pipeline to Chicago. Last month the Federal Power Commission granted permits to Texas Gas Transmission Company to build a 26-inch pipeline

This committee met Tuesday and as a result Washington was asked to give the state a hand with its wheat problem. County Agent Releases Methods of Fumigation by Which Stored Wheat Can Be Protected from Damage by Insects

Conservation of stored grain is necessary to prevent heavy losses, especially in this area of the state. In Texas the insect pests of stored grain breed with little interrup- tion the year round. The most im- portant of these are the black weevils or rice weevils, Angoumois grain moth, saw-toothed grain beetle, flour beetle, Indian meal moths, and bean and pea weevils, according to Joe Burkett, County Agent. Bins used for storing grain should be thoroughly cleaned of grain and dust to reduce reinfes- tation before storing the new crop. Sprays are useful in eliminating infestation in cracks and pockets of the bins. If the grain is not in storage yet, clean the bins and spray thoroughly with a 5 per cent DDT spray. Small quantities of old grain from the previous season should be fumigated, fed out or otherwise disposed of be- fore harvest. The sides and floors of the bins and cribs should be made as near- ly air tight and rat proof as pos- sible. The sides should be at least six inches higher than the grain after leveling off. Fumigation is the best and most economical method of protecting grain in storage. Temperatures of 65 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit are best for fumigation. Where bins are not tightly sealed above tarpaulin or other gas tight sheets can be used to cover the surface of grain. An ethylene dichloride-carbon tetrachloride mixture is cheap, non-inflammable and effective, and does not harm germination re- gardless of dosage, exposure or moisture content of the grain. It is made up of 3 parts by volume of ethylene dichloride and one part of volume of carbon tetra- chloride. The mixture weighs about 11 pounds per gallon and can be purchased in 55-gallon drums for about 6 or 7 cents per pound. It is applied with watering can or sprayer on the surface of the grain at the rate of 6 gallons per 1,000 bushels or 5 gallons per 1,000 cubic feet. If the tempera- ture is higher than 70 degrees some of the liquid should be poured directly into the grain. The ethylene dichloride-carbon tetrachloride mixture does not taint the grain which remains palatable and safe for both live- stock or human consumption. The second mixture recommended is one part carbon disulfide (highlife) and four parts carbon tetrachloride. Again, six gallons of the mixture will fumigate 1000 bushels of grain. Pour it in shallow pans and place around the bin—it will evaporate and fumes soak through the grain. Inspect the grain in storage at least once a month and fumigate it if found infested. Accumula- tion of waste grain and feed around the farm buildings should be removed. Caution: The fumes of any fumigant are poisonous and should not be inhaled. If signs of dizziness should occur the operator should get into fresh air imme- diately. When much is to be applied a gas mask should be worn.

Foard County has achieved 63 per cent of its quota in the Opportu- nity Drive for the sale of Series E Savings Bonds, George Self, county chairman, announced this week. The drive officially opened on May 16 and sales for this county through the first week totaled $10,181, according to a sales re- port received from state Savings Bonds headquarters in Dallas. The county quota is $16,000. The re- port carries sales through last Saturday, May 21. The report also showed that sales for Texas were $19,460,304, or 52 per cent of the state quota of $37,550,000. Several counties reached and exceeded their quotas during the first week of the drive and num- erous others showed sales of 50 per cent or more of quotas, caus- ing Nathan Adams of Dallas, state Savings Bonds chairman, to pre- dict that Texas will far exceed its quota "in the most successful Savings Bonds campaign since the war." The drive will continue thru June 30. Counties already having reached or exceeded their quotas are Andrews, Bailey, Blanco, Cass, Coke, Dawson, Ector, Goliad, Hall, Iron, Kimble, Lampasas, Mills, Montgomery, Newton, Scurry and Stephens.

Harvesting of Foard County's Wheat Crop Making Good Progress in Last Two Days; Wet Weather Damages Crop

Harvesting of the wheat crop in Foard County and the Truscott community has been making good progress in the last two days and the hundreds of combines and trucks that have lined the streets and vacant lots in Crowell, Thalia and Truscott have cleared out and are getting into operation as fast as the fields dry out. High winds and hot weather since Mon- day have done much in taking up the excessive moisture that was received during May. Government gauge at the Crowell State Bank recorded 7.96 inches of rain dur- ing May. According to estimates received from Foard County elevators, 330,000 bushels of grain had been harvested by Wednesday after- noon. The excessive rain in May did considerable damage to the wheat in this county and some damage was done by hail. The production per acre is running from 8 to 25 bushels and testing from 51 to 64. The Farmers Elevator of Truscott received up to Wednesday afternoon, 159,000 bushels. Wheat in that community is making 20 to 25 bushels per acre and is testing 60 to 64. It has been wisely suggested that wheat trucks be given as much opportunity as possible to reach the elevators in record time. Un- less it is necessary for automobiles to be on the streets and high- ways, it is not only dangerous, but delays the trucks that are hauling wheat. Motorists should give this serious consideration.

Mr. McDaniel is survived by his wife and ten children, eight daughters and two sons. One son, Blake McDaniel, lives in the Foard City community and one daughter, Mrs. Ozzie Turner, lives at Truscott. Mrs. Reclie Womack of Crow- ell is a granddaughter.

"Be Your Age" Warns State Health Officer

Austin, Texas—There is an old slang expression that would make a good slogan for living a longer and more comfortable life, and that is "Be your age." According to the State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, many persons injure their health and endanger their life through indulgence in exercises and vigorous sports unsuited for their age and physical condition.

"While a young man in prime physical condition may benefit from a fast game of tennis, older men and women have been known to collapse and suffer serious heart attacks following such a game. The same thing applies to golfing, swimming and other vigorous sports," Dr. Cox said.

During the hot summer months, it is of especial importance that you know your physical limitations, and indulge in only such activities as will benefit, and not harm your physical condition.

"Persons of middle age should never participate in activities requiring violent physical exertion, and should confine their physical exercise to such bounds as their doctor prescribes," Cox asserted.

The State Health Officer suggested that all persons of middle age be examined by their physician, before planning their summer vacation activities. A vacation can easily be more exhausting than refreshing, and in such event, more harm than benefit results from the time thus spent. Fishing, boating, hiking in moderation, and many other light recreational sports, Dr. Cox said.

Older people who must avoid strain, and it is a wise precaution to have your doctor advise as to what sort of vacation should plan.

A CLEAN CITY . . .

A clean city is not only a good place in which to live, but it is also a good place in which to do business. In fact, it is impossible to put enough stress on the importance of city sanitation as related to good business conditions.

Crowell has been plagued by mosquitoes of no small size of late and the flies are beginning to multiply. Scientists tell us that mosquitoes breed in stagnant pools of water and then live in weeds and tall grass. There are many open wells in the city limits and the frequent rains of May have augmented the breeding places of mosquitoes. Most of these open wells have stagnant water that help mosquitoes to breed. A little oil thrown on the wells will prevent mosquitoes from multiplying besides killing many. It is an inexpensive remedy. Service stations have a lot of old oil that they throw away. If each one would help by getting some of this old oil and putting it on the wells in their vicinity, a precaution against polio will have been taken.

Full and complete success of united efforts to clean up and otherwise beautify or improve health and other conditions in a city is basically an individual job. It is our obligation and privilege to be sure we eliminate in our own homes and yards, by cleaning and spraying, the possibility that we might be contributing to the deadly toll of carelessness and neglect.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

I have been interested in the Hoover Commission which spent some months making a survey of the government and issued a report covering its findings. The purpose of the appointment of the Commission and the appropriation of several hundred thousand dollars to finance its work was to try and discover if there was a way that the operation of government processes might become more efficient and the cost of government correspondingly reduced.

Knowing the weakness of Congress when it comes to reducing expenses, I am skeptical about anything really worthwhile being done as a result of the report. It may give a lick and promise here and there, but will not touch upon the things that need it most and that will really save money. Incidentally I have never been able to understand why it is that a man did not, as a private citizen, own two neckties, when elected to Congress loses all sight of reality and perspective, and the thought of economy, becomes a thing far removed from his consideration. He becomes at once a spender with the spenders. I have often wondered what it is that possesses the realistic grass roots economist shortly after his arrival in Washington. Does his life in the marble palaces of Washington illuminated by the pastel tints of diffused light cause him to forget the day of little things, of realistic down to earth values? I wonder?

While a citizen among his fellows at home he is concerned about the national debt of 252 billion dollars. He wants to see it paid. He believes it is wrong and foolish to spend money unnecessarily for things that can be done without when it should be spent in the reduction of a great debt.

Upon arriving in Washington our little man loses his sense of simple, homely values. He becomes a big man, a big spender. He laughs off debt while he votes to spend the tax money for things that are not needed. He has turned his back on Main Street. He is big now. He thinks big and spends big.

For this reason I am skeptical that Congress will do anything of any material value with the recommendation of the Hoover Commission.

I happen to be one of those who is concerned about the national debt the same as I am concerned about my own debts. I don't believe in spending money that I owe to some one else for non-essentials. I believe I should apply it to my own debts.

Another thing I believe is that, Congress, in justice to the stability of this nation, should exercise more care and discrimination in the matter of levying taxes for this and that and the other things we do not have to have.

I believe it is as much of a sin to take money from a worker and an earner by law and waste it in unnecessary expenditures as it is to take it at the point of a gun and waste it in wild and reckless living.

If we keep on increasing taxes in the face of a debt, that we have evinced no ability to pay, even in the most prosperous period in our history, we are going to slowly but surely strangle industry and rob the worker of all initiative. It is so clear that anyone who is sincerely interested can see it. The tax spenders can snap their fingers and laugh it off in their usual devil-may-care manner, but the facts are there, where all who have the courage to be realistic, can see them.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

(By Congressman Ed Gossett)

Washington, D. C., May 27, 1949—There is no question but what we have many trained communist agents at work in this country. This means we should be all the more careful about the people we permit to come here. This week, the House will debate a new DP bill by Congressman Celler of New York. This bill will permit the entry into this country of most of those who still remain in the DP camps of Europe, including a hundred thousand who came out of Russia 18 months after the war was over. This week, I have received letters from leading ministers in the Baptist and Methodist denominations, asking me to support this bill. I, of course, am very much opposed to it. Since half of my family are Methodists and the other half Baptists, I have felt free in writing both these religious leaders and frankly expressing my opposition. Congressman W. R. Poage, of Waco, wrote similar letters to these ministers. Two paragraphs from Congressman Poage's letter are as follows: "I value your opinion on these matters very much, and always hate to find myself in disagreement with you, but in all frankness my observation of most of the Displaced Persons which Congressman Celler wants to bring into the United States, has led me to the definite conclusion that they would certainly be no asset to this country. There are undoubtedly many people in Europe who would like to come to the United States, and who are suffering from a great many handicaps in Europe. Among this group are many fine and worthwhile people, but there are surely many very undesirable citizens among the group."

"I recognize that we are told these immigrants will be 'screened' but I am sure we must all agree that the 'screening' would be no better than the individuals who do the job. I think it is perfectly evident that what is intended by the change in the law is to bring in a lot of people who could not meet the qualifications of the old law. Primarily these people are from East and Southeast Europe. Their philosophy of life is entirely

IN THE NEWS 30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the issue of the Foard County News of May 30, 1919:

The month of May has broken all records for rainfall in this county as far as is known. The rain gauge at the First State Bank has recorded 8.67 inches and there are still two days remaining in the month. Much damage has been done to the wheat crop, one of the best ever grown here.

Miss Essie McLarty was here Wednesday afternoon from Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ailan Beverly came in Tuesday from Burkburnett.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Bell left Sunday for Galveston to attend the Bankers' Convention.

Ernest Sparks was here this week from Fort Worth looking after business and visiting relatives.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crews last Saturday.

B. W. Wallace came in last Saturday from Fort Worth to visit his sister, Miss Runie Maude Wallace.

Glenn Roberts and Carl Wishon returned Monday from the Herring & Johnson Ranch at Hartley where they took 11 cars of calves from the Foard County ranch.

Mrs. Belle Bulkeley returned Tuesday from Nocona where she had been with her father, who is seriously ill.

Miss Una Self graduated from Baylor University in exercises held this week.

George and Clarence Benham were in from Vivian Wednesday.

William Bulkeley arrived Tuesday from overseas after serving two years in the army. He was in the battles of St. Mihiel and Argonne Forest and escaped injuries.

different from ours. I have seen some of them in concentration camps in Germany and Austria. Many of the refused to work. I cannot see where the United States would be benefited by bringing these people in, but I can very clearly see where the United States and the world at large would be hurt by lowering the quality of American citizenship. If we ever come to a point where our people have the same outlook on life which these people from Southeast and Eastern Europe have, we will have no better country than they have. There is nothing wrong with Europe at the present time except the Europeans."

Another reason for being careful about those we bring into this country, is that we find it almost impossible to get rid of those whom we discover to be a menace to our society. For several years, I have been trying to get the Department of Justice to de-naturalize and deport one Gustavo Duran who came to this country in the early 40's, and became a naturalized citizen. Gustavo Duran was the head of the secret police in the Spanish Republic forces. He was placed there by the Russians and has a long record as an international Communist. Shortly after he was naturalized, he went to work for our State Department and has since that time held some important government job.

For several years, a number of Congressmen, including myself, have been trying to get one Constantine Georgies deported. He came to this country in February 1936, as a Greek priest. He is a proven pervert and has been run out of a number of communities because of his conduct. It is admitted that he came in under a false passport. He has insulted women in various congregations and was known to patronize a colored house of ill-fame in one of the communities in which he lived. Still, by numerous appeals and technicalities he has remained in this country.

The record of Harry Bridges is another case in point. He came into this country from Australia and while denying his Communist Party membership, he has fomented trouble and followed the Communist Party line. His stoges are now busy wrecking the economy of the Hawaiian Islands, according to reliable information. He is the master of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union and has completely tied up the ports of the Hawaiian Islands. In 1940, I voted for a bill to deport the said Harry Bridges. His deportation was recommended by the Justice Department but he was able to remain. Now he has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco and charged with perjury and conspiracy. If convicted, he will again be subject to de-naturalization and deportation. Authorities are quite sure that a number of unsolved murders and attempted murders in this country are the work of Communists. The shooting last year of Walter Reuther, famous President of the United Auto Workers Union, was supposedly the work of Communists. The recent assault on his brother is thought by authorities to be the work of Communists. The Communist program is to destroy the social and economic foundations of this country.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

Life's Greatest Riches: "I wish I could have the wide circle of fine friends that young woman has," a young woman said to me the other day. "I have often wished," she said, "that I had the good looks and the bright sunny disposition she has so that I might have a lot of friends also." This was just the chance I had been looking for. I hastened to tell her that she could have just as many friends as the other girl had if she wanted them and was willing to pay the price. "What is the price," she asked? "Very little," I said. "All you have to do is to be cheerful and gracious and friendly, curb your tongue, if it is sharp, and show to others that you are friendly and like them. Friendliness is contagious. Show friendliness to others and it will come back to you. Looks don't count when it comes to making friends. I have seen truly beautiful women who had few friends and the plainest sort of persons who had scores and scores of friends. One might not be able to accumulate a lot of this world's goods measured in dollars and cents, but one can be as rich as he or she cares when it comes to having friends—and friends, good fellowship, fine companionship, and a light buoyant heart and spirit, and a ready smile, are, after all, life's greatest riches.

APPENDICITIS

Appendicitis need not frighten you if recognized in time. Many people wait too long hoping it will get better. Because it may begin like a simple stomach ache many people ignore until it is too late.

The symptoms of acute appendicitis vary greatly. It can be one of the easiest or most difficult diseases to diagnose. The appendix may lie in any one of nine positions. In one out of 5,000 people, the appendix occurs on the left side of the body. Don't take purgatives, apply heat or ice, or rub the patient with alcohol. Any of these may be damaging to an acutely inflamed appendix.

WHAT FIGURES MEAN

The oil industry is spending about $2,000,000,000 a year to maintain, modernize and enlarge its domestic facilities.

For instance, for each additional automobile which comes into use today, the oil industry must spend more than $530.

To provide fuel supplies for every new oil burner, the industry must invest $670. It costs it about $970 to prepare for the needs of a single truck, and $198,000 for a 2,000-horsepower Diesel locomotive.

As The Lamp observes, these figures are not just bookkeeping items. Their physical manifestation can be seen throughout the country, in the shape of new oil wells, new refinery units, new and larger tankers, new pipelines and laboratories, new service stations—and all the rest of the facilities it must have to do its vital job.

This is indicative of the terrific job the oil industry has had to do to meet our needs. It is, also, the answer to those who think that when an industry has a good earnings record it is proof that it is exploiting the consumer.

Without good earnings, the enormous investment in new oil facilities could not be made—and then we'd have an oil shortage that could turn into a national crisis.—Industrial News Review.

ORGANIZED FOR EFFICIENCY

Meat provides an excellent illustration of how an efficiently organized and highly competitive system of production and distribution works, says the Industrial News Review.

Our meat animals are bred and raised and fattened on thousands of farms and ranches throughout the United States, some of which produce only a few head a year for market. It would obviously be impossible for many farmers to personally dispose of their stock to retail outlets—just as it would be impossible for any considerable number of consumers to go to the farm and lay in a season's supply of meat.

This industry is made up of thousands of individual companies, all of which compete with each other for the available supply of edible livestock. They provide the farmer with an established market for meat on the hoof, and pay him a price which is determined by the relationship of supply to demand.

As The Lamp observes, these figures are not just bookkeeping items. Their physical manifestation can be seen throughout the country, in the shape of new oil wells, new refinery units, new and larger tankers, new pipelines and laboratories, new service stations—and all the rest of the facilities it must have to do its vital job.

The virtues of this system are self evident. First of all, no farmer could produce meat animals in needed quantities unless he knew there was a ready market, which would pay him a fair price. Secondly, it is the only means ever devised which can assure all consumers everywhere in the country an adequate meat supply. Last, it holds overhead costs down along the line, and brings the meat to our dinner tables for as low a price as the economic conditions of the times permit.

RESOLUTIONS

New Year's resolutions have been the but of innumerable jokes. And that's quite understandable—most resolutions are made as the result of remorse from an excess of holiday cheer, and are forgotten as soon as the headache goes away.

But there's another kind of resolution which everyone should make soberly and sincerely, and carry out conscientiously. A resolution of that character might be phrased in such fashion as this: "During 1949, I will do my part to reduce the disgraceful and unnecessary fire loss which is costing this nation more than 10,000 lives and $700,000,000 a year."

There's nothing academic or impersonal about fire. The fact that it never cost you a dollar directly doesn't mean a thing. All of us pay for fire in one way or another—in the taxable assets it destroys, in its depressing influence on employment and purchasing power, in its consumption of irreplaceable materials, in higher insurance rates, and so on.

Those piles of paper and rubbish and discarded clothing—that frayed lamp cord you've meant to replace and haven't—that faulty heating unit that should have been repaired last week or last year—"little things" such as these are fire's dependable allies. All of them can be corrected easily.—Industrial News Review.

NAVY VIGNETTE

Navy Squadrons VR-6 and VR-8 joined the Berlin Airlift last November and were kidded considerably for their nautical terminology by their Air Force colleagues. The Air Force soon learned that the deck is the Navy term for the runway, that port is left and starboard right, that an R5D is a C-54, that an airplane is what they call a ship, and that a head is a latrine.

Lt. Ormond C. Fowler, USN, learned that the Air Force does not consider "wheels" to be an automobile. He taxied into his hard-stand, or parking ramp, at Rhein-main one morning after a flight to Berlin, called the tower, and requested that a "set of wheels" be sent out to the plane. The tower "rogered." When Fowler cut the engines of his R5D, he saw, not the crew pickup he had expected, but a set of nose and main gear wheels for the R5D. "Wheels" to the Air Force are wheels!

Austin Highlights

(By Sen. George Moffett)

Austin, Tex., May 27, 1949

The present session of the Legislature is drawing to a close. At this writing 486 bills have been introduced in the State Senate and 955 in the House of Representatives. Some of these bills are duplicates. Many of them will never pass or even be considered because of insufficient time to properly consider them.

I cannot say that this is any great loss as far as the people are concerned, because it seems to me that Texas has enough laws already. My guess is that many people are much more concerned about saving a good wheat crop or getting a cotton crop planted than they are in what the State Legislature is doing.

However, since quite a number of people have asked me how the state tax dollar is spent, I have secured the following breakdown of just where the money goes.

Table with 2 columns: Category and Amount. Includes: Education (does not include local school taxes) $37, Highways, roads and maintaining same .28, For old age assistance, aid to blind, etc. .24, For institutions for insane, orphanage, reform schools, etc. .03, For National Guard, Rangers, Highway Patrol .01, For health and sanitation .01, For development and conservation of natural resources .01, For operating the offices of the state government .01, For operation of Supreme, Appellate and District Courts. .01, For regulation of business and industry .01, For parks and monuments .005, For operating the Legislature .005, For payment of the public debt owed by the State .01, Total $1.00

The above figures are for the year 1948 and are taken from the official records of the State Comptroller's Office in Austin.

These items change somewhat from year to year. The first three items will be increased for the year 1949. Public sentiment has strongly favored an increase for education, road construction, and old age assistance. Among the educational items that will be increased is one for the establishment of a new medical school to train more doctors. The state unquestionably needs more trained doctors, as many small towns are entirely without a doctor. The people are entitled to the best possible health service and they cannot receive it unless doctors and hospitals are available. An increase in medical training facilities is clearly justifiable. Texas now has seven million people. Twenty years ago it had only slightly more than five million people. That partially explains why a shortage of doctors has come about.

The location of a new medical school has been left to the good judgment of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, institution. Very likely this Board will locate the school at Dallas so that there will be a medical school in North Texas as well as one at Galveston, where the original medical school was established more than 50 years ago. Within the next few days and probably before this is printed the House of Representatives will likely place its stamp of approval on the veterans' bill which passed the Senate sometime ago. This bill is a follow-up on the constitutional amendment approved by a vote of the people some three years ago and authorizes the state to loan up to $7,500 to disabled combat veterans to buy farms. It will not reach as many veterans as I would like to see, but in my judgment any law which encourages home ownership is a desirable law. More next week.

RETAILING ISN'T EASY

One of the highest rates of business mortality always exists in retail trade. Various reasons explain this. For one thing, running a store often looks deceptively easy, and people try it without adequate resources in either money, experience or aptitude.

There is nothing simple about retailing. Like any other worthwhile endeavor, it demands certain abilities and characteristics if a man is to succeed. He must be willing to study and learn. He must have a genuine desire to serve the public, and to please people so that they will come back again and again. Above all, he must have the competitive instinct—the instinct which makes him want to do a better job than the storekeeper down the street or in the next town. He must never stand still, but must be constantly seeking ways and means to make his store more attractive to the public.

For those with the necessary resources, retailing offers great opportunities. No business gives a small operator a better chance to become the big operator. As an example, most of the chain systems are staffed, on their top executive levels, by men who began in minor jobs—clerks, truck drivers, warehousemen, and so on. That is true of the big department stores and other major retail outlets. These people started at the bottom of the ladder and climbed it through their own efforts.

Retailing is no place for the man who fears competition and has small faith in himself.—Industrial News Review.

HISTORY

Children's Day, Sunday, June 12—The earliest observance of what has since become to be known as Children's Day was held in June of 1856 by Rev. Dr. Charles H. Leonard, pastor of the Universalist church of the Redeemer in Chelsea, Massachusetts. The first service was held the second Sunday in June with a special service for the children. The day was first called Rose Sunday and later Flower Sunday. After several years it became generally known as Children's Day. The Methodist Episcopal church was the first church denomination to formally recognize the day. The general conference of the church in 1868 voted to observe the second Sunday in June as Children's Day on which services would be held to honor the children. In 1866 the general convention of the Universalist church recommended that the second Sunday in June be adopted as a time for the baptism of children. The idea of Children's Day originated in the Old World. May Day was the day on which the children were confirmed in the Catholic and Lutheran churches of Europe. On these occasions the children carried flowers. The change from May Day to June was made perhaps for the reason that there are more flowers out in June. USS United States, the Navy supercarrier, will be able to accommodate planes weighing well over 100,000 pounds.

Weekly Sermon

The Chief Cornerstone and the Stones of the Building

by G. Coleman Luck, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

In Old Testament times God dwelt with Israel, first in the tabernacle in the wilderness, and later in the temple at Jerusalem. When Jehovah God instructed Moses as to the preparation of the tabernacle, He said: "Let them make me a sanctuary; that I may dwell among them" (Ex. 25:8). "There," He said, "I will meet with the children of Israel, and the tabernacle shall be sanctified by my glory" (Ex. 29:43). In the present age, however, we find that God dwells not with but in the church. He dwells not in a material building, but in a spiritual temple composed of all those who have received Christ as Savior. In this building, we are told that Jesus Christ Himself is the "chief cornerstone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord; in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit" (Eph. 2:20-22).

In this picture of the Chief Cornerstone and the stones of the building, we have another beautiful illustration of Christ and His church. Notice first that He is the foundation stone (1 Cor. 3:11), the pre-eminent One. God uses men and women as leaders in His work, but not one is in a class with our Lord, Peter calls Him "the living stone" (1 Pet. 2:4). Remember, the church is founded not simply on Christ's teaching, sublime as that was, but on Christ Himself, the risen, living Savior.

Believers in Christ are described as stones in the building: "Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house" (1 Pet. 2:5). This figure indicates the mutual relation and dependence of all believers on the Lord Jesus Christ and in a lesser measure on each other. Just as each stone in a building has its place of usefulness, so each Christian is important in the work of the church.

Note that Christians, like Christ, are called "living stones." This reminds us that the church after all is not the material building in which Christians meet, but Christian people themselves form the structure of this living temple in which God dwells.

AUTUMN COLORS

In the fall in the northern states leaves change color—brilliant reds, greens, blues, etc., but the color was there all the time. However, it isn't noticed until fall or autumn because earlier in the year the green of the chlorophyll in the leaves is too potent.

PIG FACT

If pigs are housed in cold, drafty sheds, as much as 20 per cent of the feed they consume will go toward generating body heat instead of toward weight gains.

High Blood Pressure

Hardening of Arteries,
Pains in Left Arm
And Side—

Elmer G. Johnson, President of Harlingen State Bank, Harlingen, Texas, writes on Feb. 29, 1948:

"Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Mass.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerable. This garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for the benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure or heart trouble."

The program in charge of Irving Fisen and T. B. Klepper consisted of a review of old issues of the Foard County News, going back as far as 1933 when sugar was 45 cents per ten pounds and Dick Todd was making history on the Crowell High School football team.

Exhibits by Belgian Government Will Be Seen at State Fair

Participation by the Belgian Government in the 1949 State Fair of Texas has been assured by cable from Brussels, authorizing contract for 1600 square feet of space in the General Exhibits Building, David A. McMinn, State Fair manager of sales and promotion, has announced.

Strong possibility of additional foreign exhibits from Britain, France and Holland indicate that the 1949 Fair will be the first truly international fair in Texas since the Pan-American in 1937, McMinn said. Representatives of all these governments have been in Dallas recently, conferring with McMinn and Ray L. Miller of the U. S. Department of Commerce, regarding the opportunities offered to foreign exhibitors in Texas. The formal request for exhibit space for the Belgians came from Luc Van Bellinghen, representative of the Belgian Ministry of Economic Affairs, who visited the State Fair late in April.

The Belgian exhibit at the Fair will show baby carriages, hand-some period desks, original hand-made ceramic pieces, rich blankets, mirrors, objects d'art, world-famed Belgian laces, hand-carved shot-guns, fine linens, rugs, draperies and upholstering materials—petit point, damasks and brocades—treated glass pieces, gloves, fine rabbit skins, picture frames and moldings, and other quality products by Belgian manufacturers.

Baptist Colleges Observed Closing Exercises Last Week

While two Texas schools observed commencement for the 104th time last week, their sister institution will be celebrating with the first graduating class in her history.

After more than a century, commencement is another tradition to Baylor University, Waco, and Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton. But it's new to the University of Corpus Christi, which awarded diplomas to 29 seniors May 24. All three are owned by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, delivered the commencement address at UCC. Speaking for the baccalaureate service was Dr. Carlyle Marney, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Austin.

Baylor University's graduates heard Rev. R. O. Cawker, Shreveport, La., and Dr. Thomas Taylor, Brownwood, at their baccalaureate and commencement exercises, respectively. Graduation was on May 30.

Commencement May 23 at Mary Hardin-Baylor featured Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas, speaker. Located on the site formerly occupied by the Naval Air Technical Training Command, the University of Corpus Christi first opened its doors in September, 1947. The two Baysors were founded in 1845 at Old Independence in Washington County. The women's college moved to Belton and the men's school (later co-educational) to Waco in 1886.

Baylor University is the oldest school in Texas still operating under the same name with which it was chartered by the Republic of Texas; MH-B is the oldest institution of higher learning in the state which has never merged with any other institution.

"Adventure in Baltimore" Coming to Rialto

"Adventure in Baltimore" comprises events among the elite of that charming city in Maryland. Laughter and romance predominate in this story of a militant miss who had advanced ideas about woman's sphere in an era when escapades happened never—especially to a minister's daughter! Co-starred are Robert Young, in a superlative characterization as the patient preacher-parent against conventions and prejudices of the time. With a top support of other stars this picture is a hilarious comedy.
