Formal Opening of the New Auditorium of the Assembly of God Church Last Sunday Attended by Large Crowds

The formal opening of the new auditorium of the Assembly of God Church last Sunday, which also served as home-coming and fellowship meeting, was attended by large crowds at each service. The morning worship service began at 11 o'clock. Following several songs by the choir and two special numbers, one by Elmo Hudgins of Pampa, and one by Jimmy Everson of Crowell, Mayor Hubert Brown expressed his appreciation to the church for its enterprise in erecting this beautiful place of worship. In his talk he told of the many churches he and Mrs. Brown had visited on their vacation trips.

Large crowds were present for the all-day affair. Many Crowell people, some of whom were former residents of the Vivian community, attended each service. Other visitors were present from Quanah, Chillicothe, Childress and Pampa, including Rev. Hugh Bates and Rev. R. W. White, pastors of the Assembly of God churches in Quanah, and Rev. J. W. Duvall, pastor of the church at Chillicothe. Rev. White preached at the afternoon service.

Child Cancer Toll Is 3,000 Annually

Cancer is least prevalent among the young, but nevertheless took the lives of approximately 3,000 children under 15 years of age last year.

The type of cancer which occurs most frequently in children is leukemia, a malignant growth of white cells in the blood. This caused more than 1350 deaths in young boys and girls last year. Scientists are hopeful that current research in hormones may provide a method of controlling leukemia since unusually promising results have been obtained in a few cases.

Cancer has a tragic impact on young lives through the death of parents. Every year more than 60,000 children lose a father or mother to cancer.

Early detection and treatment of cancer can save the deaths by one-third, while, a multi-million dollar search program supported by contributions to the Cancer Cause is seeking the causes of the case and new cures.

Your dollars help guard your family. Strike back! Give to cancer.

Health Thought
BY DR. JDNE M. COO

Many people wonder why Chiropactor is so interesting to the spine when often the complaint may be located in the kidneys, stomach, eyes, etc.

Chiropactors are interested in the spine because it is the main channel of life. . . called the spinal cord . . . the great trunk of the tree which many branches and branches come forth.

The spinal cord and the system comprise the main communication system in your carrying messages to and the brain to every microcell.

When there is an open so to speak, that is, when messages get through, well and health is abundant provided that moderation is keynote of living. When it is a block to that life output, it means that on more of the bones of the is displaced slightly from normal position.

Now you can see why Chiropactor is so vitally interested in your back and He is scientifically trained to locate and remove that to life energy . . . bringing health and happiness.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate practice of Scientific Chiropactor, written by Dr. M. Cook, Chiropactor, Office is located at 308 E. 117.)

Congress Authorizes Extension of Maturity of Series E War Bonds

Dallas—Congress has just completed legislation that will postpone the "writer's cramps" and other inconveniences for millions of Americans who bought United States Defense Bonds during and after World War II.

Nathan Adams of Dallas, state defense bond chairman, received the news last week from the Treasury Department that the Senate had passed a bill to extend the maturity of Series E bonds for one year.

Adams said that the bill would postpone the maturity of Series E bonds for one year, from May 1, 1941, to May 1, 1942.

and, consequently, the date on which bonds sold on May 1, 1941, will reach maturity.

"This legislation is going to save bond owners a lot of time and trouble," Mr. Adams said. "Many of the people who own Series E bonds will want to re-invest the money as they mature. If this bill had not been passed, they would have needed to take their bonds to the bank as they matured, sign them and have new bonds issued."

"When you have literally hundreds of these bonds, as many Texans do, signing them for redemption can be a tedious job that results in a tired and aching hand," Mr. Adams said that the automatic extension applies only to Series E bonds. He emphasized that the extension is purely optional with the bond owner and that the holder of maturing Series E's can cash them in for full value at any time.

Owners electing to hold their bonds under the new plan will receive two and one-half per cent simple interest on them for the first seven and one-half years of the extension and interest during the final two and one-half years at a rate to bring the total interest to 2.9 per cent compounded. The two and one-half per cent interest during the earlier years of the extension is a somewhat better return than for new bonds.

"Now the owner of Series E bonds who wants to re-invest his hold on to them," Mr. Adams said. "If he holds them for the full period of the extension they will pay him a return of 78 per cent on his original investment."

He said that the bill also would keep a lot of money in savings that otherwise would pour into the spending stream and add to inflation.

Final Arrangements for 1951 Santa Rosa Round Up Completed

Vernon — Final arrangements have been completed for the 1951 Santa Rosa Round Up and Livestock Exposition, and this year's show will present as nearly a new program as possible, according to John Biggs, General Manager. All specialty performances are to be new, with one exception—the Burk Burnett Mounted Quadrille.

This year's show will be all evening performances starting April 30 and continuing through May 5. The rodeo will be produced again by the Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., and reports from them indicate that a complete array of wild, fresh stock will be presented.

The new line-up of specialty acts will present Fess Reynolds in a Brahma Bull Act from the Cornelius Mile High Registered Brahma Ranch of Coleville, Cal., Wilbur Plaugher, rodeo clown of Prather, Cal., in his first appearance before the fans of this area, Jim Eskew and daughter in trick and fancy roping, Ruby Nance's famous cowboy band, and the Burk Burnett Mounted Quadrille.

Recognizing that the rough and tumble riders provide the real meat of a rodeo program, the prize money has been raised from $6,200 to $6,800 plus entry fees for the 1951 Santa Rosa Rodeo. One of the largest collections of champions ever to assemble at one rodeo gathered in Vernon for the 1950 show, and the largest purse is expected to have even a greater attraction for the 1951 show. The reigning champion of every rodeo event was present for the '50 show, along with other former champions.

Commenting on the feature acts scheduled for this year, Manager Biggs says: "Recognizing that Santa Rosa has come to be accepted as one of the top rodeos of the nation, we've spent the past several months trying to schedule entirely different feature acts, and still present the top performers of the nation. We believe we have succeeded, and that this year's show will be the best in history."

The sensational wild mare race, in which the untamed horses from the big Waggoner Ranch are turned loose in the arena for a duel with hard-bitten cowboys, will continue as a Santa Rosa exclusive this year.

Ticket offices already have been opened, and the general plans of the organization are moving toward the final details of the great show.

Red Cross Reports on Wartime Blood Job for Soldiers

Washington, D. C.—The American Red Cross has turned over more than 175,000 pints of blood for Korean wounded and military stockpiling since it was first called upon to supply blood to the armed forces last August, it was announced here today by E. Roland Harriman, Red Cross President.

In addition Mr. Harriman said private blood banks, cooperating with the Red Cross in the procurement of blood for military purposes, have supplied over 38,000 pints.

Whole blood is flown from the United States to the Far East to supplement blood collected in Tokyo by the United Nations blood bank. It is also used for processing into plasma for military stockpiles and in domestic military hospitals.

Red Cross blood collections have more than tripled since last July, Mr. Harriman said, and the organization has been able to fill all requests for whole blood for Korea and to make a good start on stockpiling plasma.

"Collections must continue to increase however," he said, "if we are to continue to meet military and civilian needs." In commending the Red Cross on the expansion of its blood facilities to meet defense needs, Dr. Richard L. Meiling, Chairman of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council, said:

"The armed forces will continue to need blood not only for overseas shipment but for our military hospitals and for our stockpile of plasma."

"Because the American people are giving their blood for the armed forces the death rate among our military patients in the Korean campaign is lower than it has been in any other similar campaign in the history of this country."

The death rate of Korean wounded is less than half of the World War II figure and only one-quarter of the rate among combat troops during World War I, according to Dr. Meiling. On an average the Korean casualty not only receives whole blood more promptly than the wounded of World War II, but he receives it in greater quantities.

A twenty year old sergeant, one of the first Korean wounded, was given 75 transfusions while undergoing surgery and treatment for a leg wound and two machine gun bullets in his abdomen. One in every ten men suffering from frozen feet during the bitter winter fighting had to undergo major amputations. Five pints of blood is about average in the treatment of these patients. Some require much more.

One patient during an operation for removal of a part of his stomach at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., needed 23 pints of blood in one day between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. This represented replacement of his normal blood

OWNERSHIP IN ACTION

It is probable that a great many people still have a rather hazy idea of what functions stock exchanges serve and how they operate.

Some, for instance, believe that these organization own stocks — and that, much like a retail store, they sell them to buyers at a predetermined price.

Actually, however, the exchanges neither own stocks, nor buy nor sell them. They do not set the price. Their service is confined to providing a market place, where prices are arrived at openly by buyers and sellers under what amounts to an auction system.

Who, then, owns the stocks?

To answer that, you'd have to list the names of about 15,000,000 American people—male and female, young and old, living in the great cities and in crossroads hamlets. Every conceivable occupation would be represented many times—executive and mechanic, school teacher and housewife, doctor and farmer, and so on down an almost endless list. So would every income bracket, from the very moderate to the very large. But, in this connection, the great majority of those 15,000,000 representative Americans would have average jobs and salaries and earnings.

There's a second class of stockholders too, of which insurance companies are typical. Part of their resources go into the stocks of American industries—the concerns which keep this nation's economy going—and so each policyholder is, in effect, a stockholder by indirection.

Stock ownership amounts to as complete a cross-section of this country as does home-ownership. —Industrial News Review.

Texas Sets All-Time High in Traffic Deaths

Austin—Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, recently released his organization's final tabulation of the Texas traffic record for last year.

The report confirmed a previous prediction of the Department's Statistical Division that 1950 would set an all-time high in motor vehicle traffic deaths in this State. Final fatality toll was 2,410, an increase of 351 over the previous record set in 1948.

The tally also showed an increase of 453 over that of 1949.

Along with the death score, the summary likewise indicates that Texas motorists racked up a couple of more "highs" in which they can take little delight. One was the resounding crash of steel and shattered glass to the tune of 202,041 traffic accidents on our streets and highways during the twelve months period. And the other was reckoning of the economic loss from those accidents which reads like a substantial installment on the national debt—$96,277,163.

ROCK BOTTOM REASONING

A short time ago representatives of the meat packing industry made a statement to the Economic Stabilization Administration which touched at length on the problem of stabilizing meat prices. To achieve this goal, the statement pointed out, three steps are necessary.

First, everything possible must be done to limit further increases in the money available for consumer expenditure. We obviously will have more and more inflation if consumers' dollar incomes increase without an equivalent increase in the production of goods and services that make up their real incomes.

Second, we must economize everywhere and in every direction—and this must apply to the government, to business, and to family spending. We must cut costs to the bone, and induce people to save.

Third, we must stretch our productive capacity to the absolute limit in order both to produce all the materials and supplies we need for defense and to maintain to the maximum possible extent the level of real incomes of civilians. Here the statement observed, "If we will really get to work, there is no need to believe that we can't produce all that is now contemplated for defense and at the same time maintain a high level of living for our people." These points, it should be clear to all, apply to the prices of practically everything, no less than meat. It will be a grave mistake if we delude ourselves with the idea that the price problem can be easily and quickly solved with the passage of a law and a decree from the government. In a word, it's high time we got down to rock-bottom reasoning. — Industrial News Review.

BIG TARGET

A visiting minister denounced horse racing in a town famous for the sport. One of the principal patrons of the track, a wealthy citizen with sporting proclivities, always attended that church. The minister was informed of this after the sermon and determined to make amends to the sportsman who was a generous contributor to the church.

"I'm afraid I touched one of your weaknesses," the clergyman said, "but it was quite unintentional, I assure you." "Oh, that's all right," said the sportsman genially, "It's a mighty poor sermon that doesn't hit me somewhere." — Santa Fe Magazine.

Legend of Southwest in Music to Be Given in Wichita Falls Soon

One of the most colorful legends of the Southwest, that of Peta Nocona, the Comanche chief, and the Pease River battlefield, will be put to music in Wichita Falls Tuesday night, April 17.

On that date, the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra, assisted by a combined chorus of 225 voices of Midwestern and Oklahoma Universities, and Desire Legato, of San Francisco Opera Company, will give initial performance of Eitel Allen Nelson's "Saga of Peta Nocona." The concert will be staged in Memorial Auditorium.

An amateur historian, Nelson has been 14 years perfecting the pageant depicting the legendary tale of the death of the old Comanche chieftain on the banks of Pease River, nine miles northeast of Crowell in Foard County.

Though an event of 91 years ago, Nelson's composition will bring the entire tale back to life April 17 when the noted Oklahoma Symphony will present his saga. The entire pageant will be offered by the symphony in a manner satisfactory not only to the severest music critic in the auditorium but also to the cowboy and the student.

Believing that a country lives on through its music, Nelson has put to music this area's popular legend in such a manner as to forever imprint upon the minds of the listeners the background of the Texas prairies and the Indians who roamed them. The old days of Red River Valley actually will come to life again, those who have heard previews of the 30-minute musical promise.

Mail orders for tickets may be sent to Norsworthy Music Store, 614 Ninth, Wichita Falls, with seats ranging from $2.40, $1.80 and $1.20. The box office is open at the same location in Wichita Falls.

The concert is being sponsored by Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and Midwestern University.

MAYBE THEY WALKED AWAY

Maybe they walked away. They might have even banded together and marched away. There were certainly enough of them to make a good sized unit. The exact count has not been officially made, but fourteen are listed and others have disappeared from the shelves.

The unit spoken of is the large number of library books which have disappeared from our school library. And the horrible truth of the matter is that they won't come back unless the characters who marched them out decide to march them back.

Keeping a library operating in a small high school requires not only the effort of the library staff, but the cooperation of the student body as well. However, our student body seems bent on "cutting off its nose to spite its face," for the books have continued to disappear.

Our school library has about two hundred dollars per year with which to buy books. The rest of the money is used in buying magazines and other necessary expenses. "However," said Mrs. Hulse, librarian, "we spend about half of our $200.00 replacing lost books. Each of these unreturned books costs about $2.50."

Here's the idea. When you're spinning your wheels, does a push from the front help?

CROWELL ON-ACT PLAY TAKES FIRST PLACE AT AREA MEET

Crowell's one-act play cast for "Special Guest" took on more honors Saturday, April 7, by winning first place at the Area Meet at Wichita Falls. Competition at this meet was Birdville High School of Fort Worth whose cast presented the well-written comedy, "Write Me a Love Scene."

Chosen as first-best actress was Betty Barker in the part of Nora, a middle-aged farm woman. Second and third place actresses went to two girls of the Birdville cast.

Billy Johnson was given the title of best actor by playing the part of Edward, Nora's son. Two boys of the opposing play captured second and third place titles.

Jennie Louise Hindman, director of speech at Midwestern University, was judge for the contest plays.

"Special Guest" by Donald Elser was directed by Mrs. Elmo Todd, and produced by arrangement with Row-Peterson & Co.

The next competition for Crowell's cast will be at the regional meet in Dallas Saturday, April 21. Let's take "Special Guest" to Stat!

CHS WELCOMES HEAD MAN BACK TO THE CAMPUS

Where is Mr. Graves? What shall I do about this? Just where is Mr. Graves?

These and similar questions flew like arrows through the main office of CHS last week. Superintendent Graves, who is always around to answer questions and supervise the general goings-on, was nowhere to be found throughout the campus of CHS.

Mr. Graves wasn't loafing on the job, for if one could have looked into the Graves' home, he would have seen the "Sup" in bed with pneumonia.

Fortunately, Mr. Graves is back this week to resume his duties and get into his usual routine.

CHS missed you, Mr. Graves, and we're glad you're back!

CROWELL SPEECH DEPT. REPRESENTATIVES PLACE FIRST AT LEAGUE MEET

and will run the town, with the help of regular officials, for a week.

The candidates filed their names Wednesday, and the election will be held on April 23. Mayor Brown and City Marshall Dodson will instruct the officials on the legal procedure of the city. The offices to be filled are mayor, five aldermen, city marshal, and city secretary.

The Lions Club is sponsoring the tennis tournament and midget baseball game. Coach Amorette asked that any boy or girl who wants to enter the tournament see him soon, so that he can work out a schedule.

The air is buzzing with the plans for Youth Week and remember all the proceeds go to us—the youth. Let's cooperate!

MRS. BROWN TELLS STUDENTS OF ALASKAN TRIP

At an assembly on Thursday morning that was truly one of the most interesting programs of the year, Mrs. Hubert Brown spoke on her trip to Alaska.

This past summer, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Bax Johnson traveled to Alaska, and at the request of several faculty members, Mrs. Brown presented an educational and interesting discussion on the journey.

"Before starting on a trip," Mrs. Brown opened her talk, "one naturally wonders what to wear. For a trip to Alaska warm slacks and a heavy coat are essentials."

On a large map of Canada and Alaska, Mrs. Brown pointed out their route. Taking a plane from Wichita Falls to Denver, the group then flew over the Rocky and Cascade Mountains to Seattle, the port of departure for Alaska. Following a two-day stop-over in Seattle, they left by boat for Alaska.

The journey is made by an inside passage between the mainland and thousands of beautiful wooded mountain islands. Often there is a small strait only large enough for the boat. Mrs. Brown stated that the boat was by no means a luxury liner. It carried automobiles, freight and people to Alaska.

Leaving Juneau, the capital of Alaska, the Gulf of Alaska waters are icy on to Seward.

Leaving the boat at Seward, the quartet traveled by train through valleys of flowers and glaciers to Anchorage, largest city of Alaska.

Mrs. Brown emphasized that she could look out one side of the train to see beautiful flowers on the mountainside while out the opposite window she could see jagged glaciers.

From Anchorage, the group traveled over the Glenhigh Road by car. Mount McKinley National Park was on this route, and Mt. McKinley was almost hidden by clouds.

Arriving at Fairbanks, they boarded a plane that took them to the Eskimo village of Kotzebue. They flew over the Bering Sea and circled over a herd of reindeer on the Seward Peninsula.

By way of the Alaskan Highway and through Montana, they arrived back in Foard County. Mrs. Brown told that the Alaskan Highway is much like our country roads. The weather is very rainy, and the road was muddy. Where people were stopped, the Browns and Johnsons kept going because of their experience with Foard County's muddy roads.

Adding to an already interesting talk, Mrs. Brown then showed colored slides of scenes they had observed.

Alaska is two times the size of Texas, but the population is comparable with that of Lubbock's.

The people of Alaska have taken to the air. In the summer the planes are equipped for sea landing for fishing, and in the winter skis are put on the planes for hunting.

The days are very long in the summer. On one day in June the sun never goes down. Mrs. Brown said she stayed up until midnight one night, and it never did get dark.

Fishing is the largest and most profitable industry. The Yukon River, starting in a lake, running through the Arctic Circle, and circling to the Bering Sea, furnishes many varieties of fish.

Mrs. Brown met many interesting people while on the trip. A lady who was 76 and who loved Alaska, was returning to her island to bury her husband's body. She and her husband had bought this island when they first married; they had built a hospital and store for the Indians on the island. She had advertised her island for sale in the Seattle paper and had a young couple would buy it and carry on their work. Even though she could not find a buyer, she planned to continue living on the island.

In concluding, Mrs. Brown said, "If you enjoy 'roughing it,' Alaska is a good place to go."

The attentiveness and applause was evidence of how much the students enjoyed the assembly program.

PLANS FOR YOUTH WEEK OUTLINED IN ASSEMBLY MONDAY

The familiar three bells called the CHS students to assembly Monday, April 9, at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Ray Shirley, chairman of Youth Week, announced that the classes would elect a representative to serve on the Youth Council with the class president. The Youth Council will work with adults to plan the Youth Center. Mrs. Shirley stated that an estimate had been made, and approximately $400.00 is needed to repair the tennis courts.

Clinton McLain, Rotary representative, explained the part of Youth Week that the Rotary Club is sponsoring. They are in charge of election of the city officials, who will be high school students Bill's future is undecided. CHS will miss you next year, Chiffie!

CHS STUDENTS WIN TENNIS HONORS AT LEAGUE MEET

Adding to previous wins by CHS students, Jon Sanders, Jimmy Stinebaugh and Don Brisco won honors in tennis at the Interscholastic League contest at Iowa Park.

Jon Sanders played in the finals in singles. Still tied up, the games were called because of darkness. He and his opponent flipped for the blue ribbon, and Jon got the second place ribbon.

Jimmy Stinebaugh and Don Brisco won second in doubles. Congratulations to this trio for representing our school so well.

SQUARE DANCING AND CHICKEN FRIED STEAK—A COMBINATION FOR BILLY CADDELL

"Rope that cow, brand that calf, meet your honey with a once and a half." A nice-looking boy who is famous around the Wildcat Campus for square dance calling is Billy Caddell. A handy guy to have around at any prom or party, Bill not only calls a square dance with a knack of his own, but can dance squares that no one around ever heard of.

This nineteen year old senior is a brown eyed boy from Truscott. An outstanding part of Billy's appearance is his brown, naturally curly hair. Although his name is Billy Eldon Caddell, he has been tagged with the name of Chiffie. No one seems to know why.

On an ideal day, Billy would have for dinner a big chicken-fried steak with lots of french fries and gravy. He would take in a football game, for football is his favorite sport. During his junior year, Billy lettered for Crowell. After attending a square dance on his ideal day, Bill would like to settle down to read a good western book or see a movie starring Robert Mitchum.

Bill says that there is nothing that girls do that he dislikes. He is a well controlled individual, for nothing that anyone does bothers him in the least.

Besides hitting the high spots of Galveston on the senior trip,

CAMPUS LANDSCAPED AND SHRUBBERY ADDED

The dull, drab campus of CHS is no more. The campus has been landscaped and shrubbery added.

Arizona cypresses are situated at the corner of the building, and three cedars are on either side of the front steps. Lilacs and other shrubs will make a beautiful hedge in years to come.

Principal Black has worked tirelessly on this project with the help of students, and we wish to thank all those who contributed shrubbery and helped in any way.

LACE FESTIVAL

Lace is really the fashion of the ages, been significant of femininity and loveliness the lead of all fashions this year.

When speaking of lace, one thinks of it just merely being a dress of another fabric, just think of dresses upon dresses made entirely of lace! Every evening formal, and they are never better.

Let's see if I could describe them. Try imagining hundreds of tiny snowflakes sewn together.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS
With the advent of spring, thoughts of planaria, H2SO4, and the complexities of the Elizabethan Age are banished from every head and in their stead we discern one all-important question—how shall I catch my man? For an adequate answer to such a deep and profound question we stepped through our magic looking glass for a peek at the wonderland of CHS and this is what we found:

Mary Cooper is sporting a new color hair. Very nice. Shirley Wehba and Clovonne have acquired that peroxide look.

From all reports, the dance last Saturday night was a big success. By the way—everyone is invited to Truscott Saturday night for another "get together" at the Truscott Community House.

Seen in Vernon Saturday night were Billy Abston, Carolyn Bell, and Jean Hughston and Jim Paul Norman.

Margaret Thompson and Hack Norman seem to be getting along much better.

Rumor? Laverne Shultz and Harold Ribble are seeing a lot of each other.

Ann Haynie and Charles Howard Bursay seem to like each other's company.

Two new steady couples are Fay Black, Billy Johnson and Joe Jones and Pat Hammonds.

Maurine was showing off a beautiful bracelet and earrings Saturday night. A birthday gift from F. L.

Virginia McKown and Peggy Weaver were seen with two Paducah boys Saturday night.

Don't forget the dance at Truscott Saturday night.

Although our little trip through the looking glass failed to reveal any amazing secrets as to methods of hooking a man, we hope you have been enriched by this glimpse of CHS's wonderland.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

The West Side Home Demonstration Club met April 10 in the home of Mrs. M. O'Connell.

Mrs. Ray Brown, Home Demonstration Agent, demonstrated making lamps and lamp shades.

"In making a lamp out of a vase, put about two inches of sand or gravel in the bottom to make the lamp less easy to upset," suggested Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Brown also reminded the ladies that all lampshades should have a white lining.

One of the most interesting lampshades shown by Mrs. Brown was made of hail screen. It could be covered with many different types of material and formed in many shapes.

There were two guests present: Mrs. Frank Pittillo, and Mrs. J. I. Malone. Mrs. Ray Brown, Agent, and the following members were also present: Mesdames J. T. King, Oscar Gentry, E. A. Dunagan, J. L. Kincheole, C. R. Bryson, Henry Edgin, S. E. Tate, Henry Ross, R. J. Roberts, G. H. Kincheole and the hostess.

Home Demonstration Notes

MARY DEEB BROWN

This month we are working on recovering lamp shades and making lamps. Many of you have asked about making frames for the lamp shades and at that time I didn't know how it could be done without a great deal of extra equipment. Since then, however, I've found an article on how this can be done, so if you need a new shade for one of your lamps and can't find one that will do, then come by the office to see how they are made.

I have an oven thermometer in the office now and if you are interested in checking the regulator works then call or come by whenever it's convenient.

COUNTY FEDERATION

A most enthusiastic group of about thirty-five ladies met at the M. O'Connell home last Friday for the quarterly meeting of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, with Mrs. Merl Kincaid presiding.

The Westside Home Demonstration Club was hostess for the meeting and a covered dish luncheon, served at quarter tables, was a feature of the social hour at noon. Prior to the luncheon, the devotional was brought by Mrs. Herman Kincheole and Mrs. Ab Dunn led the group in unison singing, with Mrs. A. G. Magee at the piano.

Mrs. R. L. Kincaid offered the invocation before the luncheon.

The program was in charge of the Columbian Club, with Mrs. Grady Halbert as chairman. Mrs. N. J. Roberts told of the economic problems confronting the Governor especially in managing the gubernatorial mansion. "The Great White Sands of New Mexico," which is now a National Park, was interestingly discussed by Mrs. D. R. Magee, who also showed some specimens from the Sands.

"The Good Old Days" proved to be an informative topic, ably discussed by Mrs. Halbert. An amusing skit, "Goldlocks and the Three Bears," provided by Mrs. Halbert and Mrs. Virgil Johnson, was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests. The Cancer Crusade chairmen were named by Mrs. A. G. Magee at this time. She also gave a brief talk on "Cancer Education."

The installation of officers for the coming year was a highlight of the meeting, at which time Mrs. Merl Kincaid, outgoing president, installed the new officers. Mrs. Arthur Bell of Margaret took over the office of president, with Mrs. Ab Dunn as secretary and treasurer. The list of vice presidents consist of representatives of each club: Adelpian Club, Mrs. Frank J. Roberts; Columbian Club, Mrs. Roy Fox; Gamberville H. D. Club, Mrs. Clarence Garrett; Vivian H. D. Club, Mrs. C. A. Bowley.

Committee chairmen named were Mrs. L. A. Andrews, library; Mrs. M. O'Connell, publicity; Mrs. Roy Fox, hospitality; Mrs. N. J. Roberts, program; and Mrs. C. Garrett, extension.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

The Adelpian Club met Wednesday, April 4, at the Club House with Mrs. Hubert Brown, president, in charge.

Mrs. W. B. Tysinger served as leader for the afternoon's program which was a short talk on "What Our Community Has, and What It Needs for Youth Recreation," by Mrs. L. E. Archer. She gave a short summary on what the Boys and Girls Week program will be, the organization of the Youth Council, the Youth Center, and the recreational program under a paid director, which is to be carried out this summer.

The main speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Merl Kincaid, who gave a most interesting report on the White House Conference to which she was a delegate and which was held Dec. 3-7, 1950.

The Mid-Century White House Conference was the fifth of such conferences called by the Presidents of the United States. In review: the Conference called by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1909 emphasized the need of aid to dependent children, and stimulated the creation of the Children's Bureau in the Federal government; the conference called by President Woodrow Wilson in 1919 invited an increased public demand for child labor legislation; the 1930 conference called by President Herbert Hoover, which produced the Children's Charter, emphasized the necessity for special training for those working with children and promoted the profession of pediatrics; and the Conference under the auspices of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, which highlighted the child's importance in a democracy.

The fifth Conference was called by President Harry S. Truman in December, 1950; and there were 5,000 delegates—500 of them youth. It was the first time youth participated in the program. President Truman gave a short opening speech stressing "We need to develop sound attitudes in our communities. Re-affirm our allegiance to human freedom and human dignity. Our nation's basic source of strength is in our moral strength of character—military strength is only one necessity."

"The purpose or goal of the conference was to consider how we can develop in children the mental, emotional and spiritual qualities essential to individual happiness and to responsible citizenship, and what physical, economic and social conditions are deemed necessary to this development.—For every child a fair chance for a healthy personality."

The recommendations of the conference were hammered out in stormy sessions. Among the 67 finally adopted. Mrs. Kincaid pointed out the following as perhaps the most important:

1. That further Federal aid be granted to the States for educational services, in tax-supported public schools, without Federal control, to help equalize educational opportunities;
 2. That those who work with children, including professional and parents, recognize the importance of understanding child and their steps of normal personality development;
 3. That standards be developed for juvenile services by police departments;
 4. That certain television channels be reserved for non-commercial educational purposes;
 5. That participation in the community should begin in the school.
- An excellent point brought out was that, "Every community has the crime and juvenile delinquency it deserves."
- Mrs. Kincaid gave reports of the many speakers who appeared at the conference. In her closing effort to condense in a few words what she participated in four teen-hour days, Mrs. Kincaid said her hearers realize what a wonderful thing these White House conferences are. It is one of the highest honors one can receive when asked to be a delegate.
