Referendum for 1956 Wheat Marketing Quota Program to Be Held June 25

The referendum to determine whether or not the marketing quota program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop will be held June 25.
C. N. Barker, chairman of the Foard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, advises that arrangements for holding the referendum are now being made. Polling places will be established in convenient locations in the county, and wheat growers will be notified where they may vote.
Each grower has been advised of his farm's 1956 wheat acreage allotment and has received a leaflet explaining program operations. Farm allotments were based on a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the same as this year.

Mr. Barker explains that if the vote is favorable, the program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop, and price support for the crop in the commercial wheat area—depending on the supply situation—will probably be between 75 and 82 per cent of parity. The support level will be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture before the referendum.
A farmer who exceeds his farm wheat allotment or 15 acres, whichever is larger, will be subject to a marketing penalty equal to 45 per cent of parity on the excess production.
If the vote is unfavorable, the support will be 50 per cent of parity. In either case, only the wheat from farms where the wheat acreage allotment is not exceeded will be eligible for price support.

It is estimated by elevator men and farmers that the harvest is from 60 to 75 per cent complete. Although the wheat acreage over the county has been spotted, some fields have made excellent yields considering the droughty conditions that have prevailed for many months.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

While the domestic production of meat is at high levels and the per capita consumption in the United States reaching all time highs, it is interesting to note this situation prevails in most of the world.

Figures just released by USDA indicate that last year (1954) meat production of the world was three per cent greater than the record year 1953. Forty-two countries produced an estimated 83 billion pounds. This is believed to represent 93 per cent of the total world output.

This year at Fort Worth the medium to good lambs have been selling at prices very near the extreme top for fancy choice kinds. In fact, feeder buyers have been getting fewer of these just "meaty" lambs than ever before, because packers have been so eager for them.

We have been hearing a lot about "meat type hogs" but it looks like the country is going for meat type lambs in a big way, too!

Many half-fat lambs selling in the $19 to $21 bracket at Fort Worth Monday look a full two grades below the choice $22 and $23 kinds. Shorn old crop lambs Monday sold up to $18, the highest since around Easter for the class. The trade credits cool weather in many parts of the country, and a late start on the Southeastern states lamb crop for the good market at Fort Worth.

Monday, Spring lambs were 50 cents to $1 higher and old crops were 50 cents to $1.50 higher.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ohr Jr. of Lubbock spent several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Haynie, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Self of Grand Prairie spent awhile last Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haynie here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Glesson of Cundiff and daughter and family of Abilene were Truscott visitors one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bullion and son of Dallas spent awhile Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bullion.

Miss Margaret Bullion has returned home from visiting relatives in Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Whitaker and girls, Mary Helen and Jan, of Tahoka spent several days visiting Jack Whitaker and wife and J. M. Chowning and wife and others here.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Bullion announce the birth of a son Sunday in the Foard County Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Haynie

Other sheep steady, breeding ewes in very active demand in view of the improved pasture outlook.

Cattle prices at Fort Worth Monday were almost identical with those in effect a year ago at this time. Fed steers and yearlings are about $2 per hundred lower than a year ago, but cows, bulls, slaughter calves and stockers are all selling just about like last year at the same time.

So we quote you prices for this year and last at these levels, with the above mentioned exception.

Prices Monday: Good and choice grainfed steers and yearlings $19-22.50; common and medium grassers $12-18. Stocker steer yearlings $21 down. Fat cows $11-14; canners and cutters $7-11; stocker cows $7-12.50; bulls $10-14.50; good and choice fat calves $16-20.50; few higher. Lower grade calves $10-15; stocker calves $23 down.

Hogs topped at $19.50 at Fort Worth Monday, a flat $1 higher than last week's close. Receipts have been tapering off seasonally in the Corn Belt and with pork still moving in big volume, hog prices have been on the mend. Sows drew $11 to $15.50 Monday—50 cents higher.

The Texas Hereford Association will stage a feeder calf show and sale on the Fort Worth Stockyards June 30. Henry Elder, secretary, announced the showing will include lots of 10 and 20 head, and also classes of above or below 500 pounds.

The Hereford Association will also choose a Fall date for a similar show and sale. These public market sales give the cowman with a small or intermediate sized herd a chance to show his calf crop under more favorable conditions. For details write to Ted Gouldy at the Fort Worth Livestock Market.

Glen Tole, secretary of Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association has announced feeder shows and sales for July 9 and Sept. 9 at Fort Worth.

Details on the sale of the can be obtained from Mr. or Mr. Gouldy.

The wise man doesn't wait 'til the rain falls before he gets himself an umbrella. Same sound sense applies to financial "rainy days." The money you meant to save—but didn't—won't do you a bit of good. Only money that will count is what you DID save . . . regularly, systematically, every pay day. Let your ever-growing account be your "umbrella" . . . and you can take life's "rainy days" in your stride.

Austin, Tex.—Despite the big news about final passage of the huge tax bill, news about Bascom Giles stole the spotlight from the Legislature the past week.

This time events took quite a different turn.

The climax came when a 75-year-old, retired mail carrier, John Cass Adrian, was arrested and charged with attempting to extort $800,000 from the former land commissioner.

Filing of the charge against Adrian was preceded by a series of events, all kept secret, dating back to Feb. 1.

Giles reported receiving two letters, prior to the one Adrian is charged with mailing, in which the writer each time asked for $5,100.

Travis Co. Sheriff T. O. Lang revealed that the first letter, received by Giles before he was indicted, threatened to expose documentary evidence unless $5,100 was paid. With this letter was a crude drawing. It directed Giles to a culvert south of Austin where he was to leave the money, wrapped in a burlap sack. He was to drop the money there at 4 p. m. on Feb. 4. Included was a promise to return the money in 30 days—after using it "to pull a deal on the border" that would net $100,000.

As Giles was out of town, he did not receive the first letter in time to act.

When the second letter arrived, dated Feb. 9, it directed Giles to leave the money in the culvert by 4:30 p. m., Feb. 11, or "the evidence could not be bought at any price."

A trap was set. Giles drove to the drop site and left $70 in a burlap sack, as deputies watched the area. No one stopped to pick up the sack. But a man later identified as Adrian drove by. After 30 hours of waiting, Giles returned to the culvert and picked up the money.

A third letter then came. It was dated Feb. 11. It advised Giles that the writer was aware of the trap. It read "All three of us was watching you with field glasses when you placed the law on both sides of the culvert."

This letter directed Giles to prepare $800,000 in $20, $50 and $100 bills for delivery at a place and time to be designated in a future letter. But the promised instructions were never received.

When arrested, Adrian flatly denied knowing anything about the extortion attempt. He was released after posting a $1,500 bond. Trial was set for June 13.

More Davis Coming Jefferson Davis' birthday was celebrated by the Legislature. The solons handed Governor Shivers a tax bill. It levied an additional $49,000,000 per year. Thus ended another bitter tax battle.

As finally voted, the measure provides $57,038,000 added revenue for general purposes during the next two years. Also $41,000,000 additional for road work. Thus it furnishes the funds to unblock the $26,000,000 new money requirements of the $1,325,000,000 appropriations bill already passed.

It's biggest take was from beer. And a bitter-end fight by beer partisans nearly wrecked the measure in its final stages. Their argument was based on the fact that conferees dropped out of the final bill the Senate's "token" $2,000,000 levy on "dedicated" natural gas and an intangible assets tax on gas pipelines.

On final passage the tax bill cleared the house only by a 72 to 67 vote; and the Senate by a scarce 18 to 13 margin.

Included in the tax bill was a one-cent increase in the present four-cent gasoline tax; a one-cent increase in the present four-cent cigarette tax; and an increase of $2.30 per barrel, or six mills per bottle, on beer.

Senators voted a $3.30 per barrel beer increase while Representatives favored small increases in beer and wine dealers' license fees.

Dropped on the final round were the House taxes on cigars, tobacco, trading stamps, and an increase in the natural gas production tax.

Rejected were numerous Senate proposals for gross receipts levies on manufacturers, hotels, motels, department stores, metals and chemical industries.

A $6,500,000 cushion was given the general revenue fund for the next two years. This permitted passage of several small appropriation bills for new courts; for putting state employees under federal social security; another $475,000 for legislative expenses; and grants to state agencies for further investigation of the Land Office and Veterans' Land Board affairs.

Different Money Problem An entirely different money problem faced the State Board of Education.

Where to find eligible securities in which to invest a cash surplus of $12,060,095 of its permanent fund was this board's problem.

Spending Bills Wrapped up near the close of the session was Sen. George Moffett's bill appropriating $7,000,000 for the construction of a

Trapping Slump and Drought Aggravate Predator Problem

The combination of the trapping decline and the unbroken drought have aggravated the predator crisis in Texas, particularly as concerns the ubiquitous raccoon, according to Vernon E. Skaggs, Chief Clerk of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Formerly, the demand for furs stimulated trapping and helped curb the raccoons. But the general fur market has slumped primarily because of the depressing effect on it by imported products.

Then, said the Chief Clerk, the drought has depleted some of the natural food items of the raccoon, such as crayfish, frogs and turtles ordinarily found around accessible water holes. Vegetation likewise has been reduced by the dry spell.

So the raccoons, all the while multiplying because of the trapping decline, are running wild. And their predatory habits are proportionately enhanced, with damage to field crops such as corn and peanuts being listed.

The Chief Clerk said reports generally pinpoint during raids by the raccoons. Game Warden Tom Waddell of Eagle Lake investigated complaints that "hobcats" were invading farm chicken yards.

The "hobcats" turned out to be raccoons. Junction in the Hill Country relayed stories about raccoons coming right into town seeking food. And the Amarillo News-Globe carried an item about a raccoon trying to crash the door of a city home, presumably attracted by cooking odors.

Strangely, the ringtail, sometimes called a relative of the raccoon, is a prime target for trappers since its fur is in great demand. And South Texas field reports say mink, concentrated around scarce waterholes, are yielding good trapping bags with prices per pelt ranging up to $16.

Some cowboys in the coastal plains reportedly are picking up pin money by trapping mink in their spare time.

Denying Freedom Itself

Defenders of Communist teachers argue that Communism is simply a political belief to which anyone is entitled, regardless of occupation. In other words, they inferentially claim that in principle it's no different than being a Republican or a Democrat.

The Portland Oregonian answered that conclusively in these words: "The Communist party is not just a political party. It is a gigantic hoax, the prime tenet of which is that the end—which is complete subjugation—justifies the means—which include deceit, fraud, guile, falsehood. To argue that academic freedom or any freedom encompasses such a principle is to deny freedom itself."

new state courts building and a state office building in Austin. It also provides $500,000 for repairing and air conditioning the Capitol; and $500,000 for operation of the new State Building Commission.

All the money comes from the surplus of the Confederate Pension Fund, as authorized by a constitutional amendment approved by the people last year.

The pension fund will have a further $1,000,000 surplus after all Confederate widows' pensions are paid for the ensuing two years.

State Health Officer Releases Figures on Deaths by Poisoning

For the first time the National Office of Vital Statistics has issued tabulations of fatal accidental poisonings by age, sex and kind of poison, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. A total of 1,497 such accidental deaths occurred in one year.

Petroleum products (including kerosene) and aspirin and salicylates were involved in 40 per cent of the deaths in infants through 4 years of age, 165 such deaths. Dr. Holle declared this indicated that parents are not as aware of the dangers of these substances as they are of such substances as lye, iodine, phenol or strychnine. It should also be pointed out that three out of four fatal child poisonings occur at ages 1 to 2. This indicates that prevention of these accidents involves keeping poisons away from children rather than teaching them about poisons.

Any item that can be poisonous should be kept out of reach of children. This includes medicines, kerosene, insecticides, cleaning fluid and many other items. Adults should never attempt to take medicine in the dark. Always read the label to make sure the medicine you wanted is not something poisonous.

In the 25-44 and 45-64 age groups, there are sizable differences between male and female accidental poisoning deaths. There were considerably more barbiturate deaths of women in the 25-44, while in both groups most of the alcohol poisonings occurred among men. These two agents accounted for 58 per cent of the accidental poisoning fatalities for persons 25 years of age or older.

NEW PRODUCT

A Kansas State College entomologist has come up with a new product which will mean much to farmers who store grain on their farms.

Five years of research conducted by Donald A. Wilbur has produced a protectant which may supply the answer to grain infestation at the farm level.

The protectant is a wet spray, applied at the rate of two gallons to each thousand bushels of wheat. Cost to the farmers is about 2 1/2 cents per bushel.

GOOD RESULTS OBTAINED

Great results have been obtained in internal parasite control through the use of small amounts of phenothiazine in livestock feeds.

"Low level feeding," the researchers call it. Excellent results have been obtained in the Southeast where the danger is greater than it is here in the Southwest.

Many Southwestern producers also report good results, and feed manufacturers and livestock medical supply houses are featuring this program.

Some Monopoly!

It's a rather curious fact that a good many people, apparently, still don't believe the oil industry is an intensely competitive kind of business. Some think it actually is a monopoly.

When a monopoly exists, a very small number of men or groups dominate an industry and, as a rule, their purpose is to keep production down or constant, to jack up prices, and to discourage change and development.

In the light of that, take a look at oil. To begin with, there are 42,000 oil companies and nearly 200,000 service stations operating in this country. In the brief space of 25 years, the companies have increased production 166 per cent.

And each year, because of the drive of competition, the industry spends over $100,000,000 on re- search to make present products better and new products possible.

How does this work out to the benefit of the consumer? The most widely used oil product, gasoline, tells that story. Since 1925, according to government figures, commodity prices as a whole have risen 53.5 per cent. The price of gasoline, including the gas taxes, has increased 31.9 per cent. And if the taxes—over which the industry has no control—are deducted, the increase has been a mere 8.6 per cent. On top of that, two gallons of today's gasoline do as much work as did three gallons of the 1925 type.

"Clear and Simple"

When questions affecting econ- omics and the function of gov- ernment become political contro- versies, they inevitably are sur- rounded with an almost impen- etrable verbal smog.

That has certainly happened in the case of the Administration's plan for having private enterprise build a $107,000,000 plant for supplying power needed by a huge Atomic Energy Commission installation in Arkansas.

The builders will do the job with private money, not tax mon- ey; they will take their chances on their estimates of cost being correct. And they will pay heavy taxes on any profits earned. The interests of the government and the AEC—which means the pub- lic interest—are fully protected in the contract. Yet this plan has been denounced as a "give- away," and as an effort to un- dermine TVA, by those who want TVA to supply the power on a tax-subsidized, tax-free basis, and extend socialization of electricity.

President Eisenhower's answer to that is irrefutable. He said, "It seems to me that there has been a very great deal of talk and argument—much of it par- tisan—about issues that are really clear and simple. No one in this administration has any in- tention of destroying or damag- ing TVA." But this is not the same thing as fastening on the federal government a contin- uing and never-ending responsi- bility which I frankly do not believe is logical nor, in the long run, in the best interests of the coun- try."

If unlimited socialism is right for the TVA area, it is right for all areas. It would wind up with a socialized federal gov- ernment monopoly. The President doesn't want that. Neither does the majority of people.

Some years ago a writer in Fortune magazine defined market- ing as "the delivery of a stand- ard of living."

That thought was amplified in a talk made by Professor Mal- colm P. McNair, of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Ad- ministration, before a meeting of members of a national chain store association. There has been, he said, too much stress on the cost of distributing goods—and not enough on whether re- tailers are performing their dy- namic tasks sufficiently well.

Then Dr. McNair went on to list some questions which, when answered, give an accurate idea of just how effective American retailing is. Does it do a good job in presenting and advertising goods and services? Has it im- proved its selling techniques? Does it keep up with changes in living conditions, transportation meth- ods, hours of work and recreation, etc.? Is it making it easy for manufacturers to bring new prod- ucts to market, and helping to develop them? Is it acting as a transmission belt to convey the desires and complaints of con- sumers back to producers? Is it pricing goods for the mass mar- kets?

The answer to these and other such potent questions is "Yes." Moreover, no one who knows the facts believes that either distribu-

SUPPORTING YOUR TOWN

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give you a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a news- paper published in his town to go without his name and and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town ad- vertising. The man who does not advertise his busi- ness does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addi- tion to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

One of the matters that must be disposed of by this session of Congress before it adjourns is legislation dealing with the Federal Highway System. Some time ago the President appointed a commission headed by General Lucius D. Clay to study this problem and to make recommendations. This spring the Clay Commission reported to the President and proposed a plan which has been endorsed by the Administration. This plan for the Federal Highway program briefly is as follows:

It is proposed that approximately $32,500,000,000 will be spent on the program. This money will be raised by the issuing of special bonds which will bear 3 per cent interest for thirty years. The bonds will be issued by a special Federal Highway Corporation. The emphasis under this plan is placed on an interstate super highway system. The plan would abolish the present apportionment formula as between the states and would leave the matter of apportionment on roads up to the Secretary of Commerce. If it should be enacted into law, the contribution to the program would be 95 per cent by the Federal government and 5 per cent by the States. It is estimated that it will take ten years of construction to build the system outlined by the Clay Commission and, of course, under the plan of financing suggested the bonds would be outstanding for thirty years.

The House Public Works committee is still considering this measure and as yet has not reported a bill. However, recently the Senate passed a bill dealing with the highway program which is substantially different from the program outlined by the Clay group. The bill passed by the Senate authorizes a total expenditure of $12.7 billion which would be financed by annual congressional appropriations over a period of five years. The Senate bill would increase funds and provide for the building of all types of federal aid highways including primary and secondary road systems. It was pointed out that the reason for this is that the interstate system which would receive nearly all the funds under the Clay program carries only about one-seventh of the nation's traffic. The Senate bill also continues into effect the same apportionment formula that is presently being used and provides that for the interstate system the Federal government will bear 90 per cent of the cost while the states will bear 10 per cent.

It seems to me that the Senate version is probably the best practicable approach to the problem and that something about like the Senate bill is likely what will be passed by Congress. However, either bill will provide the most sweeping highway legislation that has been enacted in our country's history.

Quail Expert Tells How to Increase Game Population

Dan Lay, Wildlife Biologist specializing in quail for the Game and Fish Commission, marked the end of the bobwhite season with some straight forward suggestions for helping along the comeback of this prolific little game bird.

In observations sent to the Director of Wildlife Restoration from his Deep East Texas experiment headquarters, Lay stressed the responsibilities of hunters, game management technicians and land owners.

He made it particularly clear that the quail themselves are just awaiting the opportunity to restore normal populations by being provided proper habitat.

In his latest contribution to the "Bobwhite Hot Stove League," Lay traced the decline of the once great quail populace and said with finality: "The basic concept that quail populations are controlled by food and cover can't be over-emphasized. This may be old stuff to some, but there are many who have not fully accepted it. It can't be repeated too often. 'Troubles develop when it is ignored.'"

The East Texas technician described the magnitude of the challenge and wrote that only the mass response of the disillusioned hunters can get the job done. He went on:

"Responsibility for improving habitat needs to be defined. The quail belong to the public, and public agencies regulate their harvest. Taxes on hunters also provide funds for research and management. But it does not follow that the quail crop depends entirely on the State. Little, if any, credit is offered the State when hunting is good. Yet when hunting is bad, there is a tendency to blame the State and demand more action.

"Since the bird crop depends on the productive capacity of the land, most of which is in private hands, the landowner is more directly responsible. The State's power to produce quail is limited to advice, encouragement and perhaps some materials, voluntarily accepted by landowners.

"For the individual hunter, the implication is clear. He should place part of his demand for action with the landowner. He should find himself a place to hunt and do whatever is necessary to get the landowner to maintain or improve the crop. . . . Timing is the important factor. Usually, the technician is called in after the brush is removed. Waiting until it is gone makes the job of quail management slower and more difficult. If cover is lacking, it must be developed before anything else can be done to increase quail.

Lay's extensive appraisal of the cause and cure for the quail crisis, with generous illustrations, is published in full in the current edition of Texas Game and Fish Magazine, which is available at Commission headquarters, Walton Building, Austin. If the demand

Red Cross Doing Great Work Helping Tornado Victims

Udall, Kansas—Ever see heart-break and despair change to hope and a chance to again believe in the future?

It's happening every day now in Kansas and Oklahoma where roaring tornadoes in a matter of minutes Wednesday night, May 25, flattened 561 homes to splinters, damaged 500 others, swept out 99 lives, and injured 487 other persons. Surprisingly, it's a quiet thing, this realization that there's hope.

Families have buried their dead. They are turning to what the tornadoes have left of their lives. Some who suffered terrible losses for the material warrants, the director of Wildlife Restoration said Lay's article will be published in individual pamphlet form.

have enough in savings and reserves to rebuild and go on. For other families the storms were catastrophic, leaving them with no place to turn—except one. At desks in Winfield, Kansas, Blackwell, Okla., and disaster relief headquarters in other affected counties, they sit talking to Red Cross case workers, skilled in helping families meet needs in scores of disasters.

Emergency needs of immediate food, shelter, and clothing are being met by Red Cross, but now they talk of their future. What about their house that's gone? What can be done about bedding, furniture, clothes, and all the other essentials that make a home? There are medical bills, long-term hospital care, funeral expenses. A man has lost a truck with which he made a modest living.

There's real, agonizing tragedy here where savings and credit are not enough to unite family and home. As families tell Red Cross workers of their plight, conversations are thoughtful, factual. They are subdued, but there's little of weeping. Gradually their situation takes focus. Many learn for the first time the extent to which Red Cross goes in rebuilding, repairing homes, replacing household goods and other living necessities. It might seem there would be open evidence of joy and pleasure but the disaster is still too close. Most expressions remain sober, touched however by wonder and a puzzled hesitancy in accepting the facts fully. Hope comes as a quiet thing.

Visits will be made to the home sites by the 41 Red Cross staff caseworkers assigned to the 4-state disaster area, accompanied by the families. Where rebuilding or repairs are needed, one of the six experienced building advisors, experts in construction and materials on the Red Cross disaster staff, will be called in.

Each family's case is then presented before a volunteer committee of local citizens who review the family's needs and help in determining the award. The family's name remains anonymous.

Families choose their own contractor or builder. After the new home is built, or repairs completed, the Red Cross building

Buying on Time Is a Family Habit

American domestic markets are "the marvels of our globe, largely because of our use of consumer instalment credit," according to Paul M. Mazur, a leading economist and partner in the investment banking firm of Lehman advisors makes a final inspection to see that all terms of the contract have been carried out. Then the Red Cross makes out a check to cover the cost. Where families, through savings, credit, or other resources, can bear part of the building cost, the Red Cross then makes up the difference.

The same applies where furniture, household goods and appliances, floor coverings, and other necessities are needed that families cannot supply on their own. They are given a Red Cross order to the store of their choosing where they pick out the articles. The store sends the bill to the Red Cross for payment.

There were 218 tornado victims hospitalized with injuries, some of whom will require long-term care. Twelve Red Cross nurses are giving supplementary help in hospitals and visiting patients returned to homes. Where families cannot meet these medical and hospital expenses, the Red Cross will pay them, providing as well for wheel chairs and other orthopedic appliances that may be necessary.

The Red Cross explains that it bases all disaster help on what families need that they cannot replace themselves to restore essential living conditions. It's not based on loss. It's not relief, but friendly help of neighbors across the country who come to lend a hand through their Red Cross. It's a large hand this time, one holding close to $1,000,000 for this disaster task, extended by the Americans who contributed to the Red Cross in its fund campaign or gave spontaneously to the special Red Cross disaster fund to aid their victims. Hope is a quiet thing, but it's there.

Brook. Speaking before a businessmen and educators Mazur stated that it is dangerous to the entire country to attempt to place controls of any kind on credit. "It would be a disaster for us to measure the expansion of credit and at the same time to neglect or even forget the relationship with production, employment, inventory accumulation and economic prosperity."

Budgeting for the big-ticket durable goods come a family habit, he said. "Purchases made on time income . . . become the budget operation of a family like payments for a food. They have become the habits of buying and term of living. In fact, at time when instalment appears to be growing rapidly, liquid savings of families are also increasing. The net result of the increase in instalment debt and savings is the nation's families."

Instalment buying gives millions of families a opportunity to purchase usually available to them has been the basis of successful systems of mass production.

AGE OF CREDIT

"Scientifically, this is the atomic age; but from a point of economics, at this country, it is the instalment credit. Our economy is geared to it; we were to shut off its flow, the wheels of industry practically stop for a would move thereafter slower and less even tempo. A. ### New Electronic Brain Is Key 'Crew Member' in U. S. Jet Bombers

A little-known crew member aboard modern jet bombers has a brain made of metal, wires and electronic tubes—and does a job that is too delicate and complex for humans.
Bombing, Navigation System
The "crew member" is an automatic electronic bombing and navigation system, made necessary by today's high speeds and altitudes. The bomb run of a modern jet bomber, for example, starts about 32 miles from the intended target. In fact, flying at 40,000 feet, a jet bomber would release its bomb more than five miles ahead of the point of impact.
Approach at 800 Feet a Second
A typical bomb run lasts about three minutes, no longer than such a run during World War II. But the approach speed today is 800 feet per second, double that of the last war.
To meet the need imposed by these new speeds and altitudes, a system created by a major component manufacturer is able to navigate the aircraft, "see" the target, aim and release a bomb automatically.
MARITIME PROVINCES
New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are the Maritime Provinces.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Last week I held the training meeting for the 4H girls who will give the demonstration to the HD clubs in July. These girls are going to have to spend quite a bit of their time and energy preparing for this demonstration so I know you will all want to see it. I'm sure you will enjoy it very much.
They are going to prepare a meat salad and each hostess will need to have plastic or wooden forks and paper plates for the club members.
Janice Morris and Warda Moore will give the demonstration to the Riverside HD Club. Carol Bell and Joyce Latimer will go to the Gambleville club. Janet and Margie Lou Rasberry will give their demonstration to the Vivian club. Kay Johnson and Joyce Howard will go to the Foard City club. Anna Marie and Margaret Faske will give the demonstration to the Margaret club. Bettie Linda Knox and Barbara Borchardt will go to the West Side club and D'Lois Shultz and Judy Vaughn to the Thalia club.
Quite a few of us have really fine gardens this spring and lately I've had several calls on how to can beans. There is a new one-step cold-pack method out which is very easy.
Canning Snap Beans
Wash beans. Trim ends; cut into 1-inch pieces. Pack row beans tightly to one-half inch of top. Cover with boiling water, leaving one-half inch space at top of jar. Add one-half tsp. salt to pints; 1 tsp. to quarts. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 lbs. pressure (240 degrees F.). Pint jars—20 minutes. Quart jars—25 minutes. As soon as you remove jars from canner, complete seals if closures are not of self-sealing type.
I do have the latest canning bulletin in my office, so call or come by if you would like to have a copy.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Short of Bellflower, Calif., spent Monday with his aunt, Mrs. Leotis Roberts, and family.
Quite a number of Thalia people attended the wedding of Miss Jane Cooper and Jimmie Hughes in Vernon Monday night.

Miss Shirley Wehba and R. C. Craven United in Marriage

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Shirley Wehba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wehba, to R. C. Craven, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Craven of Quanah, was solemnized in a pretty candlelight ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Grady Adeock, pastor of the Crowell Methodist Church, officiated at the double ring service.

The marriage took place before an archway in front of the fireplace, with white asters and huckleberry inter-twined with white satin bows. Tall candelabra holding white candles, flanked the archway. The candles were lighted by Johnny Wehba, brother of the bride.

As pre-nuptial music, Miss Lynda Adeock played "Because" and accompanied Miss Virginia Tamplen as she sang "Whither Thou Goest."

Miss Adeock played the traditional wedding marches, and also played "The Lord's Prayer" softly during the exchange of vows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a lovely wedding dress of white organza over taffeta, embellished with insets of mille edged with Valenciennes lace. It was fashioned with sweetheart neckline, tight bodice and full skirt, ballerina length. Her shoulder-tip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of rose point lace encrusted with seed pearls. She wore long matching lace mitts and carried a single orchid on top of a white Bible. She also wore something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, also a penny in her shoe.

The bride's attendant as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Genevieve Wehba, who wore a sheath-dress of champagne, embroidered lining. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Pete Anderson of Quanah served the groom as best man.

Reception

A small, informal reception followed the marriage. The table was laid with a cloth of cutwork and centered with a low arrangement of white asters. The three-tiered wedding cake was all-white with silver trim and was served with Miss Genevieve Wehba. Frosting punch was poured by Miss Carolyn Craven of Quanah, sister of the groom. Miss Adeock played piano selections during the reception.

For going-away, the bride wore a champagne colored linen dress with which she wore pink accessories and an orchid corsage. After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Quanah.
