Tips for Test Time

Since this is the end of the second six weeks, we have all been worrying about our six weeks' tests. However, with all the other activities—ball games, club meetings, etc.—our studying time is limited—perhaps too limited. I agree with almost everyone when I say, "I hate to study!" It is a necessary evil though, and after all these years, we should be accustomed to it. There is room, however, for improvement in our study habits, and the following are some helpful hints.

Budget your time! Perhaps, set certain periods of the day for study of certain subjects. If you have a few extra minutes now and then, put that time to use. However, don't do all your studying in one long, unbroken session. Take a break; then go back to the books.

Don't just read; read with a purpose. Concentrate on the text when you first read it; then you won't find yourself having to study it again.

Learn to use notes—not just to take them; learn to organize the material—not just to scan it. That is the type of studying that you will be doing in college.

Don't kid yourself that you can study better if you have a radio, phonograph, or television playing. Also, turn your desk or chair away from the window; there's nothing out there but distractions.

Of course, remember to have a well-lighted and comfortable study area.

I hope these tips will help you; however, chances are that right now you don't remember half of them. Unless you review, by tomorrow you won't remember more than one or two.

Mr. Kincaid Discusses Banking Business

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, Merl Kincaid addressed the bookkeeping class, discussing various things of importance in reference to the banking business.

He explained the Federal Reserve System and the A. B. A. numbers on checks. Too, he gave some interesting statistics regarding the local bank.

The class wishes to express its appreciation to Mr. Kincaid for this informative talk.

Basketball News

The girls basketball team has begun its pre-season schedule.

This year, the "A" team has lost two games to Northside and one to Benjamin. It has won one game from Matador. Girls representing the "B" team are Carolyn Eubanks, Carolyn Werley (co-captains), Beverlie Gray, Wilma Denton, Pat Cates, Cloma Brown, Theresa Wright, Barbara Bell, Elly Wehba and Earlyn Hammonds.

Girls playing on the "A" team are Dorothy Denton, Janice Morris (co-captains), Margaret Fiske, Mary Kuba, Vicky Farrar, Margie Rasberry, Carria Driver and Alta Bartley.

Junior News

The juicy smell of broiled hamburgers in the air and the mad chattering of teenagers set the scene for a recent hamburger feast held in Lynda Harris' backyard. After the meal, records were played, and a gay social hour was enjoyed by all.

The room parents present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borchardt, Mrs. Bernice Sanders, Mrs. Cecil Driver, and sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. King.

The class would like to thank Lynda for being hostess to this happy occasion.

Juniors Need Money

Would you like to help the junior class? The juniors are selling delicious fruit cakes to make money for the Junior-Senior banquet. A small cake is sold for $3.99; from this the class receives only one dollar profit. The juniors want to make this year's banquet the biggest and best given in Crowell High School history.

We wish to acknowledge Dorothy Wehba as student helper and to rate this as one of our most interesting assembly programs in recent months.

Crowell Stomps Paducah 47-14

Birds! Birds! Birds!

We would like to express our appreciation to Lou Gaeta for the interesting and educational Southern Assembly program that he presented to us Monday, Mr. Gaeta displayed several rare and unusual birds. Among those presented were the falcon which hunts its prey in the air, the owl which hunts at night, and the eagle that hunts its prey on the ground.

Mr. Gaeta had two eagles; one had a wing spread of over six feet. The entertainer gave the students, especially the little ones, a real thrill when he brought one of the eagles into the audience for a close-up view.

The program was climaxed when Mr. Gaeta presented Caesar, a lion six months old, weighing 55 lbs. We wish to acknowledge Dorothy Wehba as student helper and to rate this as one of our most interesting assembly programs in recent months.

Band Squeaks

The Wildcat marching band presented its last home performance of the season Friday night with a show of precision marching.

This was the show that the band was to have presented at the interscholastic League marching contest in Wichita Falls Nov. 15. Because of unpreventable conditions, the band did not get to attend the contest.

Be sure to back the Wildcats in their bi-district game with Keller at Jacksboro Friday night!

Beat's Vocabulary

Giving Our Children The Best and the Most

Sophie Jaffe, a teacher of 35 years' experience, recently attended a teachers' meeting at the University of Texas at Austin. She is going overboard these days about the idea that, by giving our children the best and the most, we make them happy, well-rounded individuals. Today's children have television sets in their bedrooms, carry transistor radios to school and brag about the money they spend. . . . What we should do to get through to the parents is to let them know that their children must be taught that they cannot have everything they want, that material abundance is not the acme of American democracy.

Willing to Employ Compulsion

Senator Barry Goldwater writes: "In order to remake society overnight and to eliminate the inequities which are apparent to all of us, the radical liberal is always willing to employ compulsion. In order to exercise compulsion, the liberals seek additional power and constantly chafe under the restrictive limitations of the Constitution. Conservatives, on the other hand, believe that compulsion — however well-intended — inflicts serious injury on the dignity of the individual and therefore argue that reform and improvement must be voluntary."

Promises

"When a candidate promises that the federal government will do something for you, that means you'll be sending the money to Washington to pay for that something. And you won't get back many of the dollars you send." — Boone, Iowa, News-Republican.

Lights in the buttons tell you which lines are busy, which are free.

Our "phone with the built-in switchboard" is another example of how General Telephone works to make the telephone a more convenient and valuable instrument of communications for everyone. Call or visit our Business Office and learn how little it costs to have the "switchboard" service of a push-button phone.

CHRISTMAS SEALS, THE GOVERNOR AND MARY
 Christmas Seals have a special meaning to Mary Copeland, 5, of Austin this year since Christmas Seals funds to fight tuberculosis—and tuberculosis is the enemy which took her father away from her last year. She and her father, E. B. Copeland, (left), visited Governor Price Daniel upon the occasion of his proclaiming Christmas Seal Day November 14 to December 24 as "Christmas Seal Day in Texas". Mr. Copeland was a truck driver for the city before he became ill with tuberculosis. Released from hospital in January, he is presently restrained by medical orders from working for more than two hours each day. He is grateful, however, that he will be able to spend this Christmas with Mary Anne, her mother and two brothers.
 Governor Daniel recently appointed a statewide committee on tuberculosis to coordinate activities of all organizations concerned with the disease. Said Governor Daniel in his proclamation, "Texas has a vulnerable spot as far as tuberculosis is concerned. This State has not attained relative freedom from the disease as have a few of our sister states. . . Through the purchase of Christmas Seals each year, funds have been provided to aid in research and to improve patient care therefore, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate November 14 to December 24 as Christmas Seal Days. . . and urge all citizens to make a sound investment in their own and their fellow citizens' health by buying and using Christmas Seals during the holiday season".

Apply for Social Security Benefits Before Retirement

If you are going to retire at the end of this year, now is the time to file a claim for your social security benefits, for a valid claim may be filed as much as 3 months before the month you reach retirement age—65 for men, 62 for women. It takes a little time to start benefits because you must apply and furnish certain proofs, and the amount of your benefit must be figured.

Remember to file your application early so that your social security checks will be started at your retirement. You are invited to meet with our representative who will be in Crowell at the court house on Tuesday, Dec. 6, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. He will be glad to assist you in filing your claim.

Donald Norris Knows Value of Conservation

Donald C. Norris, two miles northwest of Crowell, is a farmer who has learned the value of conservation farming and plans ahead, scheduling the jobs he intends to do each year and budgeting the cost, according to James Herring of the Crowell Soil Conservation office.

Meanwhile, Mr. Norris admits that he depends on assistance from SCS technicians in carrying out any part of his schedule.

Mr. Norris operates 38 acres at his home farm plus 80 acres owned by his father, S. E. Norris. He farms both places under a conservation plan developed with the assistance of Lower Peace River Soil Conservation District technicians.

His farm plan consists of such permanent conservation measures as (1) two waterways involving 2.7 acres; and (2) 2.5 miles of graded ridge-type terraces and 4 of a mile of diversion terraces.

Mr. Norris' cropping system also is according to approved conservation practices and includes (1) the crops that produce a maximum of residue, such as small grain; (2) soil improving crops, such as winter peas in rotation with cotton; (3) farming on the contour using terraces as guidelines; (4) maintaining straw on the ground and growing winter peas for cover to protect land during the spring blow season.

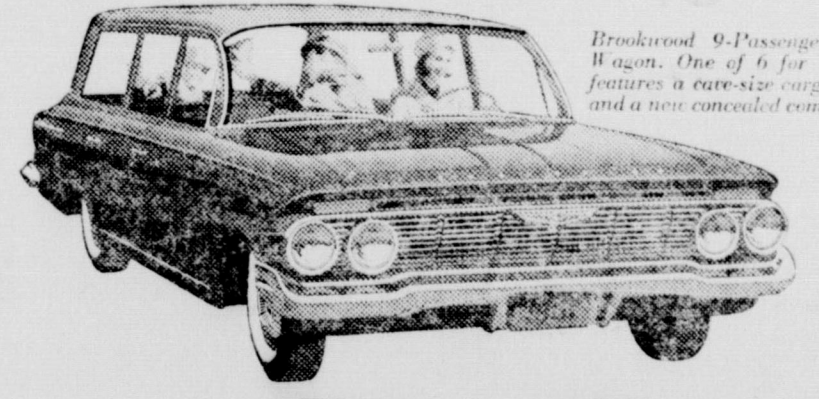

Furthermore, said Mr. Herring, Mr. Norris is putting this plan into operation. This year he has constructed one 7-acre waterway to provide terrace outlets, 4 mile diversion terraces to divert excess outside water, 5 mile graded ridge type terraces, 42 acre tract farmed on the contour using terraces as guidelines; 37 acres of small grain residue maintained for surface soil protection, and four acres of winter peas sown in small grain stubble to be rotated with cotton next year.

Government Is Largely Responsible

"Whatever shape our 'society' is in today, the government is largely responsible. If the responsibility really lies there, the cure would seem to be to reverse the trend of the last couple of decades which has been to more government responsibility and a resulting decline in local and individual responsibility."—Bedford, Ind., Daily Times-Mail.

Contrasting Speeches

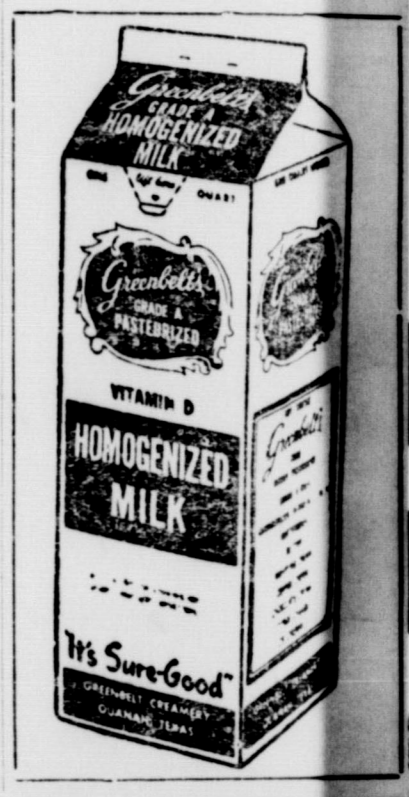

David Lawrence writes in U. S. News & World Report: "President Eisenhower's address before the General Assembly will be inscribed on the pages of history as a triumph of moral force. Dignity was contrasted pointedly with the boorishness of some of the other heads of state at the New York scene. Unselfishness of purpose stood out clearly as a constructive program of aid was offered to a troubled world by the spokesman of the largest of the free nations. It made one proud of the United States of America to hear the words of the President as he told the peoples of every continent that an awakened humanity must 'make a renewed attack on poverty, illiteracy and disease,' and that the United States is ready to help substantially toward that end."

Snubbing Foreign Cars

According to U. S. News & World Report, "Americans are giving auto makers abroad a severe jolt by snubbing foreign cars for Detroit's compacts." This year's sales of imported cars is estimated at a little more than 500,000 units, as against 610,000 in 1959. And a further drop, to 450,000 imported units, is forecast for 1961.

Lack of Organization and Aggressiveness

"There are far more conservatives in the country than many politicians realize, or will admit. The weakness of the conservatives lies in lack of organization and aggressiveness."—Wytheville, Va., Enterprise.

P. T. A.'s Seek New Members In The U.S. — And Overseas

When in Rome—or Oslo or Athens, Fontainebleau or Karlsruhe, Addis Ababa or Reykjavik—American parents and teachers do just about as they do at home: they form a P.T.A.

More than 42,000 P.T.A. members in the European Congress of Parents and Teachers, this year's fall will join in the annual October Membership Month of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Like their nearly 12 million counterparts on U.S. soil, these P.T.A. members who live overseas—from Iceland to the Middle East, most of them on American military bases—will encourage others to "serve where you are: join the P.T.A."

Serving the welfare of American children, wherever they are growing up, is the primary object of the National Congress. It has brought the P.T.A. into many areas of activity during its 63-year history. Since formation of the European branch in 1958, these activities have taken on new flavor.

A European program of scholarships, similar to those provided by many state congresses in the United States, this year awarded $500 against tuition to American colleges for seven students; they were graduates of American overseas schools in Nouasseur, Morocco; Stuttgart, Berlin, Bitburg, and Heidelberg, Germany; and Vicenza, Italy.

Concerned, like other P.T.A.s, with the interests of mentally and physically handicapped children, the European Congress has initiated a program of special class instruction for these youngsters, providing the funds for additional teacher assistants, helpers, and materials to be used in some 20 schools.

Foreign language education, a natural interest for children whose parents are assigned overseas, has been a major interest of P.T.A.s in the European Congress. In Air Force schools, extending from Oslo to Libya and from the British Isles to Saudi Arabia, children in grades 3 through 8 are taking classes in foreign language this year.

Adult education programs of the P.T.A., which in the U.S.

The midst of Europe's Bavarian Alps—it's a P.T.A. meeting. Mrs. James C. Parker, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, confers with Fred L. Miller, coordinator for P.T.A.s in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers, during conference in Berchtesgaden, Germany. Some 140 parent-teacher associations in Europe, Southern Africa, and the Middle East will join this fall in programs to enroll more than 12,000,000 parents, teachers, and friends of children as P.T.A. members.

usually take the form of study-discussion groups, may become adult self-education in overseas areas, where American military, government or civilian members of P.T.A.'s take advantage of opportunities for learning the language of the country and for studying its cultural assets.

As these P.T.A. members, both teachers and parents, return from overseas assignments, they bring broader understanding of other countries to their state-side colleagues.

"This is one great contribution our European members can make," says Mrs. James C. Parker, of Grand Rapids, Mich., president of the National Congress, who acted as a consultant to the European Congress when she attended their convention last April.

"Overseas P.T.A.s," she points out, "bring to American boys and girls living in other parts of the world some of the home and school experiences they would be enjoying if they lived in the United States.

"The richest result is the relationship between parents and teachers; there is a closer relationship in a foreign environment, because they have so many unusual experiences in common."

The National Congress has always recognized, she says, "that great differences exist among the states and communities—and still greater ones in overseas communities. But the National Congress program always allows abundant room for choice" of projects for local P.T.A.s, serving "as a bank or library of ideas from which the local unit draws to suit its needs."

In its membership program this October, the P.T.A. will become "a passport to the best society on earth," says Mrs. Parker, "an organization working in hundreds of ways to create a better world, working for the welfare of all children—for the handicapped, the aged, the migrant, the delinquent, the average, for all children, whether they live in cities, suburbs, rural areas, or on military bases abroad—an organization that cares about the human children live in, the schools they are taught in, and the neighborhoods they grow up in."

Forty-Four Die Last Year in Texas From Gas Fumes

The thick compilation of statistics is entitled "Accidental Poisoning by Gases and Vapors." Published by the Texas State Department of Health, it shows there were 44 such deaths in Texas in 1959.
Some were caused by open gas jets which should have been closed tightly or capped when in prolonged disuse. Others were the result of inhaling certain toxic chemical substances.
But most poisonings by "gases and vapors" are the direct results of carbon monoxide—the silent killer.
During the chilling days of winter, hardly a week goes by that someone somewhere in Texas does not die from carbon monoxide poisoning.
Such deaths come under the broad heading of "accidental," but a more apt heading would be "careless."
The fact of the matter is that carbon monoxide poisoning is the end result of improperly adjusted heaters, leaky vents or none at all, and lack of ventilation in rooms where any kind of fire is burning.
Perhaps the greatest danger lies in the tasteless, odorless, and colorless character of carbon monoxide. Unless you have complicated testing equipment and keep checking about every 15 minutes, there is absolutely no warning of the presence of the gas until symptoms appear.
Even these symptoms are masked. A seemingly mild headache, slightly watering eyes or a touch of stomach upset are easily mistaken for a cold; when they may really be early symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning.
If sleeping in a closed room with a faulty heater burning, death may come without waking or warning. In fact most carbon monoxide deaths follow this pattern.
Regardless of the heating fuel, precautions must be taken, since carbon monoxide is the result of incompletely burned fuel.
Proper venting should be installed with outlets carefully checked for leaks. Under all conditions ventilation is a must, if nothing more than a "cracked" window.

Panhandle Area Farmers Provide Quail Comeback

Work done by Panhandle County ranchers to bring quail back to that area is described in the current issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. Working through biologists and the warden in that area, the farmers were able to release quail on approximately 21,000 acres of land that had been signed up in a management program.
The main problem was providing cover in flat agricultural land. The landowners found brush piles, fallen trees, old buildings and even abandoned farm implements, to give cover to the birds.
In all, 61 farmers took part in the program. A. L. Kirby, a Bovina farmer, was named president of the group. After meetings with A. S. Jackson, game commission biologist, and Warden Pat Donnelly, they got 600 quail from the State game farm at Tyler.
There was an excellent hatch of the birds. Other landowners in the area are now interested, and it is expected that next year the quail range will be enlarged.
