Austin, Tex.—A luncheon that didn't happen in the Governor's Mansion on Monday had statewide repercussions. It could affect the fate of Texas' Democratic delegates at the presidential convention next summer.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler completed a six-day speaking tour of Texas at Houston. It was billed as an effort to restore harmony between the liberal and conservative Texas Democrats.

Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin, loyalist national committeewoman joined in inviting Butler to Texas. But she boycotted his numerous banquet meetings because, she said, the loyalist Democratic Advisory Council's chairman, Judge Jim Sewell of Corsicana, took over, and froze out contacts with the conservatives.

Gov. Allan Shivers invited Chairman Butler to a luncheon with state officials at the Mansion, to be held June 20. Butler replied that his schedule was "too tight" but he'd be glad to see Governor Shivers in any city where he was billed to appear.

That angered liberalist John McKelvey of Electra, who had arranged the reconciliation conference of Shivers and Butler in Washington in May. He resigned from the Democratic Advisory Council.

Austin politicians were studying the effect of Butler's speaking tour. Some of them thought there had been considerable "double talk," as Butler's statements could be interpreted to suit any view.

At Waco late last week, Butler abandoned the "open door" theme of trying to lure back Democrats who had voted Republican in 1952. He invited the Democratic Advisory Council, his host on the tour, to "organize" the 6,000 Texas precincts with loyal leaders for next year's showdown.

A significant feature of Butler's tour was that four prospective candidates for governor on the liberal ticket basked in the photographer's flash-bulb lime-light.

At Dallas, Supreme Court Associate Justice Will Wilson appeared in his former home city as master of ceremonies at the Butler rally of over 1,000 liberalists.

John C. White, commissioner of Agriculture, sat at the head table. Ralph Yarborough of Austin, strongly rumored as ready for a third try as the governor candidate of the liberals, started out with Butler at Lubbock and showed up at nearly all his meetings.

And Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton showed up at a Waco rally for Butler.

Present also were several other Senators who aren't prospective candidates for governor — and half a dozen House members.

Butler's Houston appearance was before the state convention of the Young Democratic Clubs. Virtually all the potential candidates for governor on the liberal ticket showed up there too. White delivered the keynote address at the opening business session and Yarborough also spoke.

Land Office Flaws
A 95-page audit documenting investigations of irregularities in the Veterans Land Board has been released by State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

Cavness emphasized throughout his report the need for additional field supervisors and investigators who can check continually to prevent irregularities in the $100,000,000 loan program.

The audit covered the period from Sept. 1, 1951, to Jan. 4, 1955 (the last day Bascom Giles was commissioner of the General Land Office and chairman of the Veterans Land Board).

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Icard

About a year ago the Supreme Court held that the Federal Power Commission had the authority to regulate the production, gathering, and processing of natural gas. The practical effect of this decision is that the Federal Power Commission would take over absolute control of the production of natural gas. The passage of legislation that would nullify this decision is of vital importance to all of Texas. Unless the Congress does pass such a law it will mean control to the Federal Government of one of our great natural resources. Oddly enough, the most effective opposition to the passage of such legislation has come from many of the gas distributing companies. They have incited their customers by telling them the passage of an act limiting the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission would mean higher gas rates which, of course, simply is not true. They have influenced many prominent state officials to oppose the bill for the same reason. It is hard to understand how the distributing companies could adopt this attitude when they have resisted so vigorously federal regulation of their own industry. If this legislation should fail to pass Congress, the responsibility for such failure must be borne by the distributing companies.

On an average, the producer gets less than 10 per cent of the price that the consumer pays for gas. It is interesting to note that in New York City the average cost to residents is $2.42 out of which the producer receives 7.8 cents. In Baltimore the cost of gas to residents is $1.26 while the producer receives 12.5 cents. In Detroit the housewife pays 78.5 cents of which the producer receives 8.5 cents. In Pittsburgh, Pa., the cost of residential use is 75.4 cents while the producer receives 14.18 cents. By examining these figures and those in principal cities throughout the country, it can easily be seen that actually the producer could give his gas away and still the price to the consumer would not be materially affected. Therefore, the argument that the distributing companies have sold to their customers simply will not hold water.

4 SONS DIE IN FIRE

Los Angeles, Calif. — While their parents were at a movie—for the first time in months—four boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Franklin, ranging in age from four months to four years, were burned to death. Their half-sister, Margie, who had lighted a candle to find a diaper for the baby, brushed some rags and they ignited, setting fire to the house. Only the half-sister, 10, was saved from the blazing house—by a neighbor who was badly burned trying to rescue the boys.

OLD AGE BEGNS AT 70?

Los Angeles, Calif. — According to Dr. J. Harold Sheldon, physician of Birmingham, England, "the inexorable weakening processes of old age, don't usually start until the age of 70."

Quannah Farmer Is Leader in Grass Crop in S. C. District

Grasses may be a nuisance to some people, but they represent a money-making crop to Marvin Wells of Quannah, who has had the most outstanding success in this phase of soil conservation.

In 1949, Wells bought a deep, sandy land farm in the Hooleyann community 30 miles northwest of Quannah. At this time fences were covered with blow sand and very little of the land was farmable.

Wells planted grass on 200 acres in 1950 and since then he has planted a total of 480 acres in grasses. Some weeping love grass was planted in rows and some was broadcast. Little bluestem, Indian grass and sand love grass were sown down with a drill.

As recommended by Bomer Harris of the Soil Conservation Service, Wells did not graze the grass during the first year and rested it during the summer of 1953.

After the cattle were removed, the grass came out and was allowed to go to seed, which was harvested in July, 1954. A total of 6,313 pounds of re-cleaned love grass seed were harvested on 107 acres for a yield of 59 pounds per acre. At harvest time Wells visited in Vernon.

Company in the Joe Orr home Tuesday were Mrs. Otto Streit and daughter, Susan, and Mrs. Karl Streit and children of Lockett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bradford and children, Jo Nell and Ronny, visited in Crowell Sunday afternoon.

Kenneth Payne of Crosbyton stopped for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Payne, while en route to Decatur for his family, who had been visiting there.

Mrs. Mary McGinnis of Vernon is spending this week with her son, Jack McGinnis, and family.

Relatives from Childress visited Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Bounds last week end.

was offered $1 per pound for the seed, but he held it to plant some of it on his own land and to sell some at a later date. Market price for seed at present is $1.60 per pound.

Following the harvest of seed, the four-foot tall grass was cut with a binder and shocked for curing. This grass was left in the stacks for cattle to eat. If it had been baled, it would have made about 1,000 bales, which is valued at 75 cents per bale.

At present, Mr. Wells is grazing 69 head of cattle on the weeping love grass.

Wells said that he had found that weeping love grass should be deferred all summer and grazed only during the winter, as green shoots can easily be found during this season and cattle will also get the dry grass while eating the green shoots. He also pointed out another good advantage in planting weeping love grass is that it withstands the West Texas droughts.

This sandy land farm on which money has been made with grasses has taken on a new appearance since 1949, as new fences and barns have been built and the soil has become more farmable.

Wells has other land that has been planted in grass and more land will be planted this spring. He now has 771 acres in grasses on his various farms and will plant 260 more this year. Wells also has over-seeded 300 acres of pasture land which was already in native grasses.

He plans to eventually get all of his cropland, except 30 acres, in grasses. This will amount to 1,173 acres. Wells will plant to grass with grass seed drills owned by the Lower Peace River Soil Conservation District.

State Selective Service headquarters last week completed a big house-cleaning chore it has been at for some time—destruction of the draft files of approximately 1,750,000 men who registered with draft boards between 1940 and 1947.

It finally turned out to be close to a 200-ton job. The bulky records, stored in Austin since 1947, were sold to a paper company, which in turn is selling them to a Michigan pulp mill.

An official Selective Service representative had to sit by a shredding machine to see that every file was destroyed, since the records are confidential. He has certified that he witnessed destruction of the records. Registration cards and classification records of everyone who registered during the 1940-47 period are being saved, also approximately 81,000 files, mostly involving men classified as aliens one time or another.

Selective Service also is keeping records of men registered under the current draft law, which went into effect in 1948. These records are now in 137 draft boards over the state.

"The draft law is still in effect," cautions Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, who was in charge of the destruction program. "Males reaching 18 are still required to register. All males born on or since August 30, 1922, should be registered with local draft boards under the present draft law."

The old draft records left can be housed in one per cent of the space occupied by the destroyed records. Destruction of the records will reduce space needed by state Selective Service headquarters more than half.

Female Hormones in Feed Increase Steer Gains at Tests at Spur

Steers fed 10 milligrams daily of diethylstilbestrol, the female hormone now incorporated in many steer fattening rations, made the most profitable recent tests at the Spur Natural Experiment Station.

Hormone-fed steers gain 10 pounds more and had a 65 percent advantage in carcass weight those not fed the hormone, according to tests at the Spur Natural Experiment Station.

Dressing percentages and grades of the hormones were about the same as the control group.

Shrink was one per cent greater for the hormone group, but it was one per cent less than the control group, and probably carrying the animals to a higher degree of finish.

"Research with the hormones looks more promising than of the earlier work in the Spur," said Dr. J. W. Burckett. "These results resemble the findings in Iowa research."

In the same feeding test, steers fed 15 mg. of hormone daily went to market 54 percent heavier than those receiving the control. Steers on 15 mg. daily gained 14 percent more weight than the control.

Texas' 1954 Baby Crop Turns Out to Be Biggest on Record

Texas' 1954 baby crop turned out to be the biggest on record, the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics reported last week.

The 240,209 live births registered for the year was an all-time high rate of 28.4 births for every 1000 population, bureau statisticians said.

Most of the new babies were boys—104 for every 100 girls—the summary said, but 881 more male babies than females died during their first year.

"The attrition against the male sex goes on steadily through infancy, childhood, adolescence, maturity and old age," a statistician commented.

How many mothers of 1954 babies were residents of Texas at the time of the blessed event is not yet known, but every one of the babies are bona fide Lone Star citizens by virtue of state law.

While birth rates were soaring to unprecedented high levels, deaths from selected causes were being brought to the lowest points in history.

"Last year saw the total death rate (7.7 per 1000 pop.), the infant mortality rate (31.0 per 1000 live births), the maternal mortality rate (0.6 per 1000 live births) and the stillbirth ratio (17.3 per 1000 live births) at new all-time lows," the report indicated.

In addition to the reductions posted in infant and maternal deaths, the report said the past two decades have witnessed drastic reductions in deaths from diseases affecting the general population.

There were 99 per cent fewer deaths from each of typhoid fever, diphtheria, malaria, and pellagra last year than in 1934. Scarlet fever rates have been cut by 98 per cent from the rate 20 years ago. Ninety-six fewer deaths from each of whooping cough, and measles are occurring today than occurred in 1934.

Unlimited Progress-If!

In the view of Clem D. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, pioneering is just beginning in America. As an example, he pointed out that American enterprise is spending nearly $4,000,000,000 a year on research, and said that this is providing today's young people with opportunities "far greater than the western frontier ever provided for our grandparents."

He then added a warning—that, if we are to fulfill our potential, we must "rid ourselves of giving everyone, regardless of how much work he does or how well he does it, an equal share of everything."

There can be no progress, material or otherwise, unless men can reap and enjoy the fruits of achievement.

By PRICE DANIEL U. S. Senator

Last week we co-sponsored an amendment which would provide a system of radar stations throughout the country for the purpose of better detection and forecasting of hurricanes and tornadoes. Fresh on our memory is the disaster at Waco in 1953 caused by a devastating tornado. This system would establish throughout the country 55 long-range radar stations to track hurricanes, tornadoes and other severe storms to permit adequate preparation and a consequent reduction in damage. The number of stations to be located in Texas is still restricted information. However, it can be revealed that the system should be adequate to prevent at least some of the past damage and to save many lives.

Texas is second only to Kansas in the number of tornadoes which have occurred from 1916 through 1954. We have had 666 tornadoes which have resulted in approximately 804 deaths. The total property damage from tornadoes in Texas for this period amounts to over $88 million, with an average annual damage of well over $2 million. The system of tracking hurricanes, tornadoes and other severe storms on radar has been used to advantage by the Air Force and other armed services. You are all familiar with the airplanes which fly out into the hurricanes to determine their strength by use of radar equipment in the plane itself. The cost of installing these additional weather stations will be relatively small compared

Safety Association Urges Texans to Drive at "Their" Safe Speed

"What's YOUR safe speed?" E. C. McFadden of Dallas, vice president of Employers' Casualty Co. and president of Texas Safety Association, Inc., asked that question of Texas drivers this week as he discussed the current speed control program of Texas Safety Association, Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council. Slogan of the program is: "Don't be a Hurry Bug—slow down and live!"

"What is a safe speed for one person may be suicidal for another," Mr. McFadden continued. "We're all individuals and we don't leave our individuality behind us when we step behind the wheel."

Mr. McFadden pointed out that there is a wide difference between people in such things as judgment, reaction time, temperament and physical make-up. All of these things, and many more, determine the speed at which a motorist can drive safely, he said.

"The person with slow reactions, faulty vision or jumpy nerves certainly should drive at a slower pace than that of the individual who habitually makes sound split-second decisions and is blessed with 20-20 vision and with the saving in human lives and property damage."

iron nerves in the bargain," McFadden said.

He made the further point that what may be a safe speed for one person today may be too fast for him tomorrow.

"If you're tired, worn out, under par physically, you control your car or other traffic as efficiently as you when you're relaxed and in health," Mr. McFadden said. "Make it a rule to let today's speed of mind and body dictate your speed."

"And don't forget," he said, "that outside conditions such as weather, road, traffic, and mechanical fitness of your car must also help decide your speed."

But there is something superior to security in this life—and this is security in the life to come. This security can be obtained in only one way—by putting our faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. He said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me." For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

He changed his job and started a new one pumping ammonia from a tank where nothing could fall on him. His electric pump shorted and the shock knocked him out. His rubber-soled shoes saved him from being electrocuted, but he fell into the tank of ammonia without his gas mask. An alert co-worker hurried into the tank and dragged him out.

After he had recovered from the effect of the fumes, he changed his job again—this time getting one that involved transfer of sulphuric acid. One day the hose broke and acid sprayed over him. Again a quick-witted co-worker saved his life by spraying him immediately with a neutralizing chemical.

Now Nick has another new job. He is selling accident insurance!

Hog prices opened 25 to 50 cents higher at Fort Worth Monday and topped at $21.25 to $21.50, the best price here since September, 1954. Sows were steady at $16 down.

Some Corn Belt markets reported as high as 40 to 50 percent of their hog receipts were sold on Monday. Indicates the Corn Belt farmers are getting things squared away to devote more time to field work.

This may also indicate that fed cattle offerings will taper off a little at those points. Grainfed cattle have been under heavy pressure due to heavy movements to market since the first of the year. Prices on fed cattle are 20 percent lower now than on Jan. 1.

Shippers and independent packers, as well as the major packers, bore down on cow prices at Fort Worth in Monday's trade and prices were sharply lower. Slaughter calves also met sharply lower bids in most cases. It was the first serious break in prices on these classes in several weeks.

Fat steers and yearlings were scarce and steady. Two loads of good supplementally fed steers weighing 1,145 pounds from Roscoe Edwards of Ringgold were on the market. These sold at $21 and were one of the first shipments of these good pasture fattened steers from the North Texas area to show on the market this season.

Stocker trade continues to be active and steady to strong. Bulls were also fully steady to strong.

Comparative prices included: good and choice fed steers and yearlings $19-22; common and medium $11-18; fat cows, $10-13.50; canners and cutters, $6-11. Bulls $10-14.50; slaughter calves $10-19.50; a few to $20 and better sparingly. Stocker steer calves $22.50 down; steer yearlings $21.50 down. Some older feeder steers $19.50 downward. Stocker cows $8-12.50.

A bottle called a "fifth" is four-fifths of a quart or one-fifth of a gallon.
