Hay Fever Season Is a Year-Around Affair in Texas

Hay fever season is a year-around affair in Texas. The reason behind this sad state of affairs, says the Department of Health, is Texas' wide range of climatic and soil conditions which produce an assortment of offending flora—trees and shrubs and grasses. Ragweed pollen is still the biggest enemy of the watery-eyed set. Department officials say, but mountain cedar, scrub elm, and a variety of other plants and grasses also cause their share of sneezing misery.

There are some bright spots in Texas, though. Department hygienists say pollen counts in El Paso, Amarillo, and other West Texas towns have been "amazingly low."

From midwinter until early spring, susceptible people from Dallas southward will be affected by the pollen of cedar, a profuse-growing tree with a bad habit of pollinating in late autumn and winter rather than in spring.

Fall hay fever sufferers probably have the scrub elm to blame for their troubles. A late summer and autumn pollinator, the elm is common over most of the state, but is particularly profuse in the bottomlands of the Guadalupe and Trinity Rivers. The mesquite, a member of the legume family, causes "minor" allergic trouble in West Texas during May, June and July.

Grass hay fever is possible throughout spring, summer and fall over most of Texas, and in the winter in the Rio Grande Valley. Bermuda grass is the chief offender. Rhodes grass is a "potential" hay fever grass in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ragweed pollen is almost as abundant at Dallas and Houston as in the north-central states. It is a serious problem as far west as San Antonio and all along the Gulf Coast to Brownsville.

In Brownsville, the ragweed season begins in June or July. The source of the pollen has never been positively determined. Along the rest of the coast, ragweed pollination does not begin before September, a full month later than in the north-central states. Pollination continues into November all along the Gulf.

In arid parts of Central and West Texas, Russian thistle is a leading cause of inhalant allergy. Other local causes are sugar beets and Palmer's amaranth. Sage pollen is a potential factor in West

$1,500,000,000 for Progress

California has been out-growing all the other states. As a natural consequence, state spending on public facilities has zoomed. For example, since the end of World War II California has poured nearly $1 billion into new roads.

In that same period, a private business has spent half again as much money—$1.5 billion—to increase its productive capacity in the northern and central areas of the state. The business in question is a gas and electric utility.

In every section of the nation, other utility companies have been doing the same thing. The amounts of money spent naturally vary greatly, but the principle is the same. The utilities are not only keeping up with growing demand, but are building ahead of it.

These independent utility companies are big taxpayers—some like 23 per cent of all their revenues, on the average, goes for taxes. Their rates and service standards are publicly regulated. Their financing comes from the savings of private individuals and institutions. They must pay their own way in every particular.

Contrast this with socialized power systems. They pay no taxes, or relatively small sums to local government in lieu of taxes. They get the funds they need from the public treasury—which means all taxpayers. They are not subject to regulation. They get all manner of other special privileges and subsidies.

The customers of these socialized systems amount to a privileged class. Everyone else must help to build the plants that serve them—and then, to make a bad matter worse, pay through taxes, a part of their electric bills!

There can be no doubt that public sentiment against this variety of socialism is growing—as the vote in a lengthy list of recent local elections attests. The people are simply awakening to the facts.

Texas, but information on distribution is not available. Sand sagebrush, a dominant native plant in the Panhandle, is a suspect as a troublemaker.

How do you get relief from hay fever? A sea voyage during "your" season would do it. So would staying in an air filtered room. But since neither action is practical, check with your doctor about a series of "pollen extract" shots.

Planning for Retirement

Washington—The best kind of retirement plan is the one you make yourself, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

If you are in your 40's or 50's, or even younger, it is not too soon to start thinking about what you want to do with the years that remain after your regular job ends.

A good many factors enter into a sound retirement plan—health, hobbies, companionship. But, says the Chamber, the keystone to a happy retirement is financial planning. Several steps toward the right kind of financial planning are suggested in a new Chamber publication, "Look Forward to Your Retirement." Here are a few:

1. Maintain a savings account. At least a few hundred dollars in the savings bank is one of the best investments you can make. As the account grows, you may want to invest in common stocks or corporation bonds and so increase your returns.

2. Buy your own home. Monthly payments often are no greater than rent. Frequently, there are income tax advantages to home ownership. By the time you retire, you probably will own your home free of mortgage. If you sell it then, the money can go far toward providing the retirement you have planned. If you continue to live in your home, the cost will be far less than rent.

3. Have a life insurance program—Investment in life insurance can provide a lifetime monthly income after you retire as well as protecting your dependents before your retirement. Your life insurance program should be worked out with the help of a qualified life underwriter.

4. Understand Social Security—Few persons do, although the program is 20 years old. You should be aware of the so-called "work clause" that may cause your benefits to be withheld in case you continue to work after age 65. Social security is intended to provide only a minimum protection against the needs of old age. It should be supplemented by other financial provisions.

5. Know your company pension plan—Company pension plans differ. You should know how your company plan affects you so you can take account of pension rights in working out a total plan for income during retirement.

Old-Style Vacations

Washington—It's not true that you can't turn the clock back.

According to the hotel industry, there is a swinging back of the pendulum in American vacation habits to the standards of the more relaxed and better living of the Nineties.

Speaking at a recent business forecast symposium of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Charles A. Horrworth, executive vice president, American Hotel Association, recalled that at the turn of the century people spent their entire summer vacation at one place.

Then, as autos and good roads came into the picture, people got the urge to see how many places they could crowd into one vacation period.

Today, Mr. Horrworth said, the resort hotels report that once again families are spending their vacation at one chosen place. There is a great demand for a slowing down and relaxation from the increasing tensions of the business world. Further, families are traveling together again. They take the kids with them.

The swing toward family vacations, the Chamber notes, is just another sign of fair business weather as more and more American families enter the middle and upper income brackets.

PRECIOUS NEEDLE

Electrolysis is a safe permanent method of removing unwanted human warts, moles or hair. In the electrolysis process a high frequency electric current, transmitted through a platinum-iridium alloy needle finer than a human hair, is used to destroy the connection between the wart, mole or hair and the skin, thus causing it to die. The patient suffers no pain, although there may be a slight tingling sensation. The precious metal alloy is used for the needle because of its strength and corrosion-resistance.

F. H. A. Group Makes Tour to Observe Grass Plantings

A tour to observe established grass seedlings in the Hooley community was conducted Thursday afternoon, August 9, according to Glenn Womack, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration.

The tour was led by Bomer Harris, Work Unit Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Quannah. The purpose of the tour was to show how land seeded to permanent grass successfully stopped wind erosion and also offered cash income possibilities superior to many crops. This section of Hardeman County, once highly productive, now has many idle acres, and farmers face the ever present threat of their crops being blasted by blowing sand. One of the aims of the Great Plains Program is to retire unproductive acreage and to stabilize the soil by the use of grass. By such means the threat of another dust bowl situation will be alleviated or cured entirely over a period of time.

Prior to the actual tour, Harris told the group how some farmers have profitably reclaimed land which is now being utilized for grazing or sale of seed. He then answered questions to proper land preparation, details of seeding, grasses adapted to the area, etc.

FIRE

The Forest Service, together with Munitap Foundation, a non-profit group, are studying ways of controlling — or preventing — bolts of lightning and violent hailstorms in areas where they can do heavy damage to persons or property. Lightning accounts for millions of dollars worth of damage to property each year, particularly in forest areas, which is estimated at $10,000,000 a year.

The District of Columbia had a delegate in Congress for four years, 1871-1875.

Drought Aids Clean Out of Rough Fish

Ponds and tanks at low level because of the drought now be conveniently cleaned out, suggested Glenn Womack, County Supervisor of the Game and Fish Commission. He urged persons with ponds or tanks on their places to contact their local game warden supervisory aid in setting areas. He pointed out that work can be done only with Commission permission because of legal restriction on setting. The chief aquatic biologist served that the usual hot streams and tanks are dry. He said this generally is from oxygen in the water.

TELEVISION NEWS

Well, are you enjoying the Democratic convention? All the comments and opinions by the various commentators are extremely interesting . . . and Governor Clements' speech was good . . . most speeches, however, are boring. Did you hear the little jingle Tuesday night that some person sent in to NBC? "Wonder where the voters went, when Harry picked the President?" . . . You can say one thing for Harry, however . . . he's sure making a better show of the convention!

What is a TV technician? I've a definition for you. It's one of my magazines that's very good, but it's too long to publish in full. But here's the way it winds up:

"He's been attacked, slandered and slighted. He's been defended, praised and catered to. But, most of all, he's been needed. And when he's made a TV set work again, and Mamma, Poppa and Junior Viewer express their appreciation, the TV technician is the fellow with the satisfied feeling of a job well done!"

Sincerely,
Marion Crowell.

THIS WEEK

-In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Figures, they say, are nice to look at but make dull reading. Washington has mostly the kind intended to be read rather than looked at, but not all of them are dull.

Our favorite place to gather statistics is the Census Bureau. That is because they are mostly about people, and people, even in large numbers, are interesting. Especially farm people.

We think you will be interested in some called "Farm Population Trends." It isn't too surprising that since 1950 more than 10 million people have moved from farms to cities. What surprised us was that 3.5 million moved from cities to farms.

We've always heard that the country is a nice place to be born in and a fine place to live. The Census Bureau confirms that. Births on farms outnumber deaths by about three to one. From 1950 to 1955, the figures are 2,895,000 births, and only 965,000 deaths.

Farm births outnumber farm deaths by about 400,000 a year. Fewer than half of the babies born on farms will live three un-

Mrs. Carl Haynie, and other relatives and friends here.

Buster Laquey of Electra spent several days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Laquey, and others here.

Mrs. Lee Blevins of Vernon visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Blevins awhile Friday. Her daughter, Lee Ann, returned home with her from a few days visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Chapman and boys of Wichita Falls spent the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Westbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. King of Dallas visited last week with her brother, S. E. McRoberts, and wife here.

Misses Sharla Beth and Joylyn Haynie of Vivian spent several days last week visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haynie.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blevins and boys, Steven and Calvin, of Fort Worth spent Friday night visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Blevins. They were en route to California for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Tarpley returned home Sunday from a visit with their son, Dan Tarpley, and family in Lubbock and their daughter, Mrs. Doc Abbott, and daughter, Linda, in San Angelo and his sister, Mrs. Alexander, at Carlsbad, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eubank visited friends in Quanah Saturday. They also visited Gene Whitaker who is ill in the hospital there.

til they are 25 years old. Of those who go to college, only one in four will take up farming as a permanent occupation.

Despite the excess of farm births over deaths, the farm population is decreasing by more than half a million a year. Today there are about 21 million farm people living on farms. In 1950 there were more than 25 million, the Census Bureau reports.

You would have to go back before the Civil War to find as small a farm population as we have now, to a time when there were fewer than half as many people in the United States. For every person who lives on a farm, there are eight who do not.

Half of the farmers in the country live in the 11 Southern States. In 1954, Census figures show Southern farmers numbered 10.9 million out of a total farm population of 21.9 million. In 1920, there were over 17 million Southern farmers.

The next biggest concentration of farmers live in the North Central States. At the latest count, there were 7 million in those States, compared with 10 million in 1920. About the same number, 1.9 million, live in the Northeastern and Western States.

Back in 1920, farmers made up 51 per cent of the total population in the South, but by 1954 that had dropped to 22 per cent. In the North Central States, the percentage dropped from 29.7 to 15.2, and in the West from 24.7 to 9.1. In the Northeast, the farm population declined from 8.6 per cent in 1920 to 4.7 in 1954.

The big migration from farms to cities began in the 1920-30 decade, when farm income was low and job opportunities in cities were increasing. But, with hard times in both cities and on farms, from 1930 to 1940, there was a small net gain in farm population.

The Census Bureau doesn't forecast population shifts, but officials say that, unless something happens to upset the present trend, the farm population in 1965 will be about 17.5 million, or about 10 per cent of the total U. S. population.

SHOOTING SPREE IS OVER
—A bride of just four months terrorized her neighborhood in Van Nuys, Calif., by going off on a wild shooting spree, firing more than 50 shots at nearby homes before police drove her from her house with tear gas. Mrs. Barbara Mihich, 24, started the shooting because "I was sore at my husband, he chopped off most of my hair." Most of the damage occurred to the furniture in her own home.

How to Save $4 Billion

Washington—An easy way for any business to go broke would be to adopt Uncle Sam's system of budgeting and accounting, says the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Under this system, Congress is appropriating money for a single year that won't be spent for some time to come. The reason is that so many federal expenditures are long-term—stretching over a period of years. Foreign aid programs and purchases of military equipment that takes more than a year to design and build, are examples. Hence, the Chamber points out, vast sums accumulate in the federal departments far in excess of a single year's expenditures. This money doesn't revert to Congress. It stays with the departments, beyond the control of Congress.

The figure for these unexpended appropriations for the year ending June 30, 1956, is estimated at $53.9 billion.

With that kind of money clogging up the pipelines of future spending, the opportunity for laxness and waste is all too tempting, the Chamber says.

That is why, the Chamber stresses, every citizen should support legislation based on the Hoover Commission recommendations and now before Congress, to require government agencies to prepare budget estimates on the basis of a single year's anticipated needs. At the end of the year, any funds not spent would revert to Congress for reallocation every June 30. That would end carry-over funds, and restore control of the vast federal budget to Congress, where it belongs. Congress could still authorize long-term projects, appropriating what would be needed from year to year.

The Hoover Commission estimated that this single step toward government economy would save $4 billion every year.

by VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—The eyes of Texas are on Chicago this week. And, politically speaking, the state nestles in one man's pocket.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson heads the 112-member Texas delegation, each of whom will cast one-half vote of the state's 56 nominating votes. They are pledged to support him as a favorite son nominee until he releases them.

Thereafter they will vote under the unit rule, probably for whatever candidate is favored by Sen. Johnson. All delegates and the 70 alternates were selected by the May convention with the senator's approval.

Another Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, figures prominently in convention affairs. He will be presiding over a presidential convention for the third time.

SEPTEMBER CONVENTION IN DOUBT—Who will win out and how at the September State Democratic Convention is a subject of heated debate. Actual outcome will not be known until the meeting gets under way in Fort Worth. Rival conservative and liberal delegations will struggle for nearly 600 seats.

Conventions on these issues. Precinct county conventions named some 577 definitely liberal delegates, about 224 conservatives. But neither side can control the 1900-vote convention without the contested seats.

Mrs. Kathleen Voigt of San Antonio, liberal leader, charged last week the conservative executive committee planned to "steal" the convention. She asked that the May state convention, which was recessed rather than adjourned, be reconvened to take charge of the situation. Executive Committee Chairman George Sandlin dismissed Mrs. Voigt's charges as "the same old thing, every two years." He promised the committee would give all contesting delegations a fair hearing and seat those legally entitled to places. He predicted the convention would be made up of middle-of-the-road conservatives "with no ax to grind."

ed, be reconvened to take charge of the situation. Executive Committee Chairman George Sandlin dismissed Mrs. Voigt's charges as "the same old thing, every two years."

As for the May convention, he felt the intervening precinct and county conventions had made it past history. WEBB INVESTIGATORS IN CONTROVERSY—Who should investigate alleged voting irregularities in Webb County is still being debated.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has twice been set back in efforts to set up a state-level inquiry. But his office said he intends to continue the fight.

At Shepperd's behest, Austin Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts sent Dan Moody Jr. to Laredo to act as master in chancery of an inquiry. Webb County Dist. Judge R. D. Wright issued an injunction to stop the Moody investigation. He claimed prior jurisdiction for the questioning being conducted in his own court.

Shepperd and Moody took the matter to the State Supreme Court which rejected their petition. Meanwhile, the Webb County grand jury indicted seven persons. But, spokesmen for the Reform Party called this "window dressing." They were still working for an investigation originating in Austin.

HEARING ASKED IN SANTA FE CASE Awaiting the Supreme Court which will convene in October will be a motion for re-hearing in the long-contested Santa Fe Railway case. In July the court upheld the right of unions to make closed shop agreements in the railway industry. Such contracts are prohibited by the state "right to work" law, but allowed by the federal railway act.

In their motion, railway attorneys asked the court either to reverse the July ruling or modify it. They contended that union contracts should allow only for collection of "dues" and assessments necessary to support collective bargaining activity.

SMALLER COTTON CROP SEEN—King Cotton is wearing a drought-scarred crown. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture estimates put Texas' 1956 cotton crop at 3,600,000 bales, compared to 4,039,000 last year. Prospective yields ran to extremes. They were termed "excellent" in irrigated areas, "excellent" in irrigated sections. Farmers who did not grow cotton will get the lion's share of Texas' soil bank payments. Of the $22 million to be paid to Texas farmers by the federal government within the next few weeks, more than $16 million will go for idle cotton acreage. Other payments: $5,524,000 for wheat, $372,000 for peanuts,

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

We had our first joint 4-H boys and girls camp last Tuesday and from all indications I believe everyone had a wonderful time. We particularly want to thank the adult leaders, Mrs. James Bowers, Mrs. Henry Borchardt, and Mrs. Darvin Bell, who helped with the camp. The more interested mothers and fathers we have, the better 4-H work we can do.

I have written to the State Health Department in Lubbock to see if we can get a sanitation expert out to check our contaminated water supplies. I'm sorry, but I simply do not know enough about sanitation to tell you what is contaminating your water. However, if you would like to have this expert visit your farm and help you, if and when he comes, please contact me. I do not have a definite date from him yet, but I would like to hear from you if you are interested in having him help you.

It can be very dangerous for you to continue drinking contaminated water as it might contain such disease-producing organisms as typhoid, bacilli, dysentery organisms, etc. Until the source of contamination is located and eliminated, the water used for drinking purposes should be boiled, properly sterilized with chlorine, or otherwise purified.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT SUGGESTED—Texas needs a department of justice to bolster local enforcement of state criminal laws. State Auditor C. H. Cavness made this suggestion last week in a report on the Department of Public Safety. He pointed out that legislative investigators had urged such a move three years ago. Cavness also noted that while the DPS funds and staff have grown, they have not kept pace with needs and responsibilities.

FEDERAL INQUIRY OF US TRUST—A federal grand jury investigation of the bankrupt US Trust and Guaranty Co. is scheduled for Sept. 24. Federal officials would have the power to prosecute if they found the company had violated U. S. postal regulations or securities laws. U. S. Dist. Atty. Malcolm R. Wilkey of Houston declined to say what course inquiry might take.

TOUGHNESS IN METALS Many metals used today have to be tough enough to resist sudden shocks. One of the ways to judge toughness is by the ductility of a metal. Ordinary cast iron lacks ductility and therefore cannot be used where toughness is required. Ductile cast iron, developed by International Nickel, is one of the newest ductile engineering materials. It is four times tougher than ordinary cast iron and so ductile it can be bent and twisted without breaking.

Miss Ann Wishon and Jay C. Meador Wed Here Saturday Night

Miss Ann Wishon of Crowell and Jay C. Meador of Indianapolis and Columbus, Indiana, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wishon, on Saturday, August 11, at 5:30 p. m.

Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald, pastor of the Thalia Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before the fireplace, on either side of which were placed white tapered scandelabra. A basket of white gladioli adorned the mantel.

Parents of the groom are Homer C. Meador and the late Mrs.

Meador, also of Indianapolis and Columbus.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of pink lace over taffeta. The scoop neck and short sleeves accentuated the fitted bodice, which tapered, princess style, into a full, street-length skirt. She wore pink lace mitts, and her hand bouquet was of pink rosebuds and white carnations. Her hat, made of pink net, was pleated at the rim with miniature nosegays and rhinestones attached to the crown. The bride wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed, and blue.

Miss Gail Knox, pianist, furnished the nuptial music. Miss Frances Kincaid, as maid of honor, wore a blue linen sheath dress with a matching head band and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Charles Wishon, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Jerry Garner of Seymour lighted the candles. Guests included the immediate members of the family and close friends.

At the reception which was held immediately following the ceremony, the bride's colors of pink and white were carried further in the white lace tablecloth over pink. The centerpiece was composed of mums and split carnations, and the appointments were of silver and crystal. The three-tiered cake was topped by tiny bells which hung in a heart-shaped outline made of pink roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Lenis Woods served the guests and was assisted by Mrs. J. T. Brooks and Miss Kincaid. Miss Faye Polk presided at the bride's book.

The couple will leave August 20, for Indianapolis and Columbus and will make their home there.
