Because this provision is new, some taxpayers may overlook the requirement that the tax credit is compulsory on eligible assets. The basis or remaining cost for depreciation purposes must be reduced by the credit taken. If the taxpayer fails to take the credit for items purchased in 1962, he simply loses the amount involved and it cannot be recovered in future years, says Bates. All farmers are urged to get a copy of the 1963 Farmers Tax Guide at the office of county agents or Internal Revenue when it is available.

Two Minutes With the Bible

"Forgiven"

"We have . . . the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph. 1:7).

The climax of Paul's first recorded sermon is reached in verses 38 and 39 of Acts 13, where he declares:

"Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this Man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins: "And by Him all that believe are justified from all things, from which we could not be justified by the law of Moses."

Thus God, through Christ, first forgives and thereupon justifies those who believe. Nor is this all that was accomplished for us by the death of Christ at Calvary. There is also reconciliation, baptism by the Spirit into Christ and His Body, a position at God's right hand in the heavens and all spiritual blessings there.

"The forgiveness of sins" must come first, however, and the above passage assures us that in Christ we have this—not barely, but "according to the riches of His grace." Indeed, the next verse continues: "wherein He hath abounded toward us . . ."

Thus Eph. 2:2-7 declares that though we were "the children of disobedience," and therefore "by nature the children of wrath," "God, who is rich in mercy, for His great love wherewith He loved us" has given us life and raised us from the dead, exalting us to "heavenly places in Christ . . ."

The reason for all this? "That in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us in Christ Jesus" (verse 7).

When God forgives us He no longer sees us in our poor selves, but in Christ, who took our place, dying for our sins on Calvary's cross.

Only Road to Sound Tax Reform

From National Review: "The only road to sound (tax) reform is the road that works against the present errors. Tax rates from top to bottom must be reduced, proportionally; to avoid enormous initial federal deficits, the reductions should be staged over a number of years. In all likelihood the increased economic activity arising from increased incentives will generate tax revenues to offset the losses from rate reductions. If not, some sort of consumption or turnover tax, rather than an inhibiting tax on individual effort, would provide the offsetting tax revenues. This is all that is needed, and this is enough. Tax reform should not be tied to irrelevant social or economic notions."

Fires a Hazard of Nuclear Attack

Should America be attacked by nuclear weapons our nation's rural citizens would be greatly concerned with the problems of fire, according to a new leaflet by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service.

The leaflet issued in cooperation with the Department of Defense-Office of Civil Defense, envisions each rural family as a self-contained fire protection unit. "Rural Fire Defense — You Can Survive" discusses these problems and suggests methods of meeting them. It explains that preparation is the basis for the national civil defense program and that preparedness in fire defense is a vital part of this preparation.

The leaflet is designed to be used as a training aid in teaching rural families to protect themselves and their property in a fire emergency. It describes the damage which a nuclear blast can cause on farms, woodlands and in rural communities, and lists measures to reduce this damage.

In a foreword to the bulletin, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman says, "Protection and survival of those living in rural areas, along with crops, livestock and other agricultural resources is vital. In addition, some rural families may be faced with heavy responsibilities for sheltering and feeding survivors, bringing fires under control and helping to rehabilitate nearby areas."

A nationwide civilian rural fire defense organization has been established under the direction of state and federal forestry agencies to provide leadership in rural fire emergencies, the leaflet explains.

Copies of "Rural Fire Defense — You Can Survive," PA-517, may be obtained from the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

U. S. Navy Has Most Imposing Array of Ships for Peacetime

"Jane's Fighting Ships," the London-published standard authority on world navies, says in a new edition that the U. S. fleet comprises "the most imposing array of warships the world has ever known in peacetime." The Soviet Union has concentrated on submarines and has many more than we. However, Jane's reports that the modern U. S. undersea craft pack the greatest punch. As for the British Navy, that once dominated the oceans of the world, Jane's finds that it may be dropping "to the status of a second-class naval power."

Moral of the Story

"It is illegal to read the Bible in the public schools of Illinois, but a law requires that state to provide a Bible for every prison inmate. Moral of the story: Don't worry, kids, if you can't read the Bible in school, you will have the opportunity to do so when you get to prison."—Lennox, S. D. Independent.

Investment Fails to Keep Up with Population Expansion

Investment in the U. S. economy has failed for the past 10 years to keep up with the expansion of population, according to President Dunlop of the Sun Oil Company. Unless investment catches up, he added, the country will continue to be plagued by unemployment and an unsatisfactory rate of economic growth. Significantly, in this connection, the rate of corporate profits has suffered a declining trend through out the last 15-year period.

On January 1, Social Security taxes will rise once more. Both employees and employers will pay at the rate of three and five-eighths per cent on earnings to $4800. The self-employed rate will be 5.4 per cent on earnings to that figure. Additional increases are scheduled, by law, for 1966 and 1968.

Insult to Aged and a Disservice to Nation

From the American Medical Association News: "There are elderly people who need help. They should be helped and they are being helped. But the evidence is overwhelming that the majority of the aged are caring for themselves, that the financial situation of the elderly is getting better rather than worse, and that a federal tax to pay for the aged's health care would be an unfair burden on younger wage earners. The melancholy picture of the elderly is a fraud. It is a crude caricature and should be seen for what it is—an insult to the aged and a disservice to the nation."

Comments on Railroads' Problems

The Independent Record, of Helena, Montana, recently commented on railroad problems. In its view, those opposing relief for this industry "fight the plan which would keep the iron horse as an efficient instrument for work, demanding that it give up part of its feed to its competitors and that it be turned into an iron cow to provide milk in the form of taxes for local governments, wages for too many employees, support for the economy of the communities through which it passes by forcing it to spend more than it earns, and that it cater to the egotism of these same communities by providing trains which they do not use but demand just so they can brag that they 'enjoy the service'."

Master Gland Key to Health

Why can some persons quickly and easily throw off every infection while others constantly wage a losing battle against one germ after another? Why do most individuals react with overwhelming success to a vaccine, while it has very little effect on other persons?

Is there perhaps a master gland that triggers the immune reaction? "Yes, it's the thymus gland," says Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, and March of Dimes grantee. Dr. Good recently won the annual award medal of the American Society for Experimental Pathology, much of his work being done with National Foundation financial support. Dr. Good presented new evidence greatly strengthening this theory about the thymus gland in a paper he delivered before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Atlantic City.

He detailed the results of experiments carried out in collaboration with other scientists which, he said, provide evidence that the thymus is a key organ in the body's endless struggle to protect itself against harmful substances. The thymus is located behind the breastbone in humans. Much of Dr. Good's study was based on observation of 125 patients with agammaglobulinemia, a rare disease occurring most often in children whose bodies fail to produce gamma globulin, the substance in the blood which forms antibodies to fight off invasion by germs and other foreign substances.

Further study showed the association of other diseases with agammaglobulinemia, including a high incidence of rheumatoid arthritis and related diseases; leukemia and Hodgkin's disease (cancer of the lymph glands), and other disabilities suspected to result from malfunction of the immune system.

This led Dr. Good and his associates to the thymus as the important organ of immunity. The theory was tested by removing the thymus of rabbits less than five days old,

In his Minneapolis laboratory, Dr. Robert A. Good, March of Dimes research grantee in arthritis at University of Minnesota School of Medicine, checks an X-ray film.

They proved later to be unable to form antibodies in any way and thus could not throw off disease. Secondly, Dr. Good found that these same animals would accept skin grafts from other rabbits. Normally, skin can be transplanted only between identical twins. By this means the doctor was able to show how the natural barriers to tissue transplantation can be knocked down merely by removal of the thymus in the newborn. This phenomenon, the Minnesota pediatrician believes, has a human parallel, namely agammaglobulinemia, where antibodies are usually absent. For example, one of the children with this disease now under study by Dr. Good's group has been carrying an intact skin graft for more than seven years—even though the skin had been taken from an unrelated donor.

Studies of this sort, Dr. Good pointed out, have been possible only during the last decade since modern treatment has enabled the survival of children with immunologic deficiency diseases, and new laboratory techniques made possible the accurate analysis of blood and tissue components.

"We are gradually getting much closer to understanding the whole process of immunity and its relation to disease," Dr. Good said. "We now can see a real possibility of learning how to manipulate and overcome the natural barriers to transplantation of human organs, such as the kidney, as well as other tissues. It's tempting to speculate that someday we may have thymus gland banks just as we now have blood banks and bone banks, in order to supply thymus tissues for persons whose immune response is below par. This may also provide us with a means of altering an individual's immunologic pattern by implanting foreign thymus cells when the need arises." The March of Dimes-supported scientist pointed out that further studies of animals artificially deprived of the ability to produce antibodies are urgently needed to provide insight into rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases which occur in patients with agammaglobulinemia. Fundamental research aimed at unraveling these disease mysteries is already under way with March of Dimes support at medical centers throughout the country, including Dr. Good's laboratory.

Business Booming at Altus Cotton Classing Office

Sample receipts at the Altus classing office leaped from a few hundred a day to about 3,000 a day, according to C. E. Cox, in charge. Classing personnel have been able to keep fully current with both the classing and the micronaire testing under the U. S. Testing Service.

Samples classed for the week ending December 14 totaled 14,000. Nine thousand of these were also "miked" for the producers. Season total on classing now stands at 83,000, which compares with 201,000 to the same date a year ago.
Grades and staples, and micronaire readings, are holding up exceptionally well, according to information based on statistical averages. In spite of additional weathering in the fields, grades of samples received remain relatively unchanged from previous weeks.

Seventeen per cent were classed in white grades, 67 per cent light spotted, and 14 per cent spotted. Staples averaged 13 per cent 29-32 inch, 52 per cent 15-16, 20 per cent 31-32, and 15 per cent one inch and longer.
Micronaire averages showed four per cent reading 2.9 and below, 10 per cent in the 3.0 to 3.4 range, 18 per cent 3.5 to 3.9, and 68 per cent 4.0 and higher.

Reports on cotton sold showed a decline in market activity. Heaviest movement was in middling light spotted and strict low middling light spotted, 15-16 inch. Some of the average prices paid farmers on current ginnings were: middling light spotted 29-32 inch, 29.80 cents per pound; strict low middling light spotted 29-32, 28.85 cents; middling light spotted 15-16 30.25 cents; strict low middling light spotted 15-16, 29.25 cents.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—In his final press conference as attorney general, Will Wilson paid tribute to Texas newspapers for helping expose graft and corruption.
Wilson said that Texas newspapers, large and small, deserve a lot of credit for the progress he made during his years of administration.

"In our system," he said, "the light of day, brought through the news media, is the most efficient enforcement agency we have."
He gave special credit to the press for bringing the slanted hole oil well probes of East Texas into the open, exposing the anhydrous ammonia tank maneuvers of West Texas, and calling for fast action in other scandals.

He remarked that he considers a probe for corruption of local governments the field that offers the most investigative opportunity to his successor, Waggoner Carr.
MAN HUNT — Meanwhile, incoming AG Waggoner Carr is involved in a search for able assistants for the attorney general's department. He wrote Leon Jaworski, president of the State Bar Association, that it's very difficult to find trained men.

Number of assistants now has dwindled from 80 to 68.
Carr said he needs capable men with good courtroom experience, as there are 4,000 cases pending in the attorney general's office, and the "eyes of the nation" are on the slanted-hole well investigations.

A major problem is finding experienced attorneys willing to work for low pay. Beginners make about $400 a month. Nine division heads draw $10,500 annually.
Bar association promised to help Carr with the man hunt. First step was to name a 19-member committee to work with the incoming attorney general.

COURT BACKS COMMISSION — Railroad Commission's new "Rule 54," which restricts slanted wells, passed its first legal test when Dist. Judge Jack Roberts upheld the commission's order for a directional survey on a deviated well in the East Texas field.

Roberts turned down an application from attorneys for the L. G. No. 2 Alexander lease in Gregg County, who sought an injunction against the commission, and against Tidewater Oil Company. Tidewater wants to determine whether the L. G. is bottomed under its own lease or under Tidewater's adjoining property.

FAREWELL PARTY — Amidst a pine tree setting some 2,500 public officials, state and federal employees, and other friends of the outgoing governor staged a $10 a plate honor banquet for the Price Daniels.

Location was Austin's Municipal Auditorium.
Included among a long list of headliners were Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson, Gov.-elect John Connally, Lt. Gov.-elect Preston Smith, RR Commissioner Ben Ramsey, former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shephard and State Bar Pres. Leon Jaworski.

All paid tribute to the retiring governor for his work while a legislator, Speaker of the House, Attorney General, U. S. Senator and Governor.
Mrs. Daniel was presented with the keys to a brand new Lincoln.

LAIGEST PARADE — Largest inaugural parade in the state's history is planned for this capital city. Date is Tuesday afternoon, January 15.

Parade will follow the noon swearing-in ceremonies for Gov. John Connally and Lt. Governor Preston Smith.

Many Texas cities plan to enter floats.
J. J. Pickle, parade chairman, says that high school bands throughout the state have been invited to participate, as have college and military bands and drill teams.

The U. S. Navy also has requested an opportunity to march in the parade, in salute to its ex-secretary.

SMALL TOWNS INDUSTRIAL TARGET — Gov.-elect John Connally breakfasted with members of the Texas Industrial Commission and representatives of industry in an effort to get a broad picture of the state's industrial needs.

He approved the commission's goal to get small industries for 250 small towns. E. B. Germany of Dallas, chairman of the commission, pointed out that this plan would offer eight-hour-a-day employment to local people and leave time for them to tend to small farming and ranching operations.

"If we could have 250 little towns with little industries," Germany said, "we would have more solid citizens."

Connally has proposed establishment of a Bureau of Commerce to carry on the work of tourist and industrial agencies. He suggested that this be financed with state funds, rather than by the present plan of asking industry to share the cost of exploiting the state's resources.

Commission presented a seven-year plan to expand the present number of 10,581 plants with 488,250 workers to 14,750 plants with 802,250 workers. A copy of its report will be sent to local industrial development groups.

LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS — Study committees for the Texas Legislative Council — official bill-drafting body for the state — offered these recommendations to the 58th Legislature:

1. That the attorney general's job be limited to a "strictly legal" capacity by removing him from all ex-officio memberships on boards and commissions, except those created by the Constitution. He now serves on 18 boards, in addition to his duties as attorney for the state.

2. That health and accident insurance firms be required to refund premiums if the insured asks to cancel within 10 days after he receives his policy.

3. That state agencies be prohibited from denying jobs on the basis of age, except for certain law enforcement posts. A study revealed a great age barrier in most industries, with a special problem for workers in the 40-55 age bracket.

4. That the Legislature consider granting greater autonomy to local governments and that it remove from the statutes county and city laws no longer in force or effect.

5. That county officials convey court-committed, mentally ill patients to state hospitals immediately and not hold them in county jails.

Eleven committees offered some 50 pages of suggestions to the council. Many of the bills proposed already have been drafted.
