A champion "clean-up" man himself, Mantle is the man of the country-wide Junior Fire Marshal program and annual Spring Clean-Up campaign. The lucky rookie is Daller, 10, of St. Petersburg, Fla., one of 4,000,000 Fire Marshals who are now busy helping to save lives property by reminding their neighbors that junk-filled basements are dangerous fire hazards. A public program of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, the Junior Fire Marshal program is carried on in the nation's elementary schools with the cooperation of school and fire officials.

Proves Worth of Halencak Farm Margaret

James H. Herring has proved its worth in a cotton cropping system on farms in the Lower Pease Soil Conservation District. These farms belong to Halencak, northeast of Dallas. In his cropping system, he uses guar, Austrian winter wheat, and alfalfa with clean crops that are conducive to cotton, such as cotton. Mr. Herring considers guar the most valuable crop that is grown in this district because it is not an expensive crop. It costs about 35 to 50 cents per acre to seed. Therefore, he pays its own way readily in normal conditions. Crop rotation following guar will be in such as one-fourth to one-third in production. The guar can be harvested and sold as a cash crop for industrial purposes or used for on-the-farm feed for cattle. Normal guar beans average from 10 to 31 per cent protein. Guar planting and harvesting require no special equipment. Above all, no hand labor is needed. It puts abundant nitrogen into your soil. Deep rooted legume, guar increases water intake and holding capacity by opening soil for better penetration. It proven its adaptability in a due to its resistance to drought and thrives in hot weather. Guar stalk is hollow and combines well with any other crop. Extended rains insure fields of guar beans in the crop from a standstill of merchantable bean quality has been the case for a few years. Farmers like Mr. Halencak have seen losses from a standpoint of production, but they still regard guar as a valuable crop for soil improving qualities. "You haven't tried guar in a conservation cropping system, have you? It might prove as profitable to you as it is to many other farmers in the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District."

Cole Circus to Show in Crowell on Tuesday, May 6

Floyd Hill, general agent of the George W. Cole 3-Ring Wild Animal Circus, was in Crowell last week to complete arrangements for the circus to show here on Tuesday, May 6, under the auspices of the local Lions Club.

The Cole name is one of the oldest and most honored in the circus business, and Mr. Hill reported in a visit to the News office that the Cole show this year is right abreast of the times with the most elaborate features and equipment that it has ever carried.

Certainly the most unusual feature of the circus will be the presentation of a live jungle-bred African rhinoceros, an animal noted throughout the world for its size, strength, running speed and extreme viciousness. In addition to the rhinoceros and a herd of performing bears and a host of others, boasts a menagerie which includes lions, leopards, bears, apes, white deer, camels, a giant chimpanzee, and numerous other jungle animals.

To provide all the elements of a thrill-filled and action-packed 3-ring circus performance demands an array of top-notch acrobats, trapeze performers, daredevils and clowns. The Cole Circus this season is featuring the Rawls family of teen-age gymnastics, widely known for their speed and their reckless daring; Charley Rex, balancing star on the high trapeze; Miss Jeanie Krel, aerial stunner featured in 1953 at the Palladium in London, England; Miss Mary Frazee featured in motion pictures as well as a nation wide TV show because of her daring feats on the tight wire and aerial stunts; Bob Grubb and his educated Liberty horses; the Shirley Walters performing bears and a host of others competing in a performance that lasts close to two hours.

.94 Inch Moisture Falls Here Last Saturday, Sunday

A slow, steady rain which fell over Foard County Saturday and Sunday measured .94 inch by the government gauge, and further enhanced Foard County's prospects for making a bumper wheat crop. B. L. Bates, who operates the government gauge at Truscott, reported .75 inch fall there.

At the present time, Foard County has one of the finest looking prospects ever seen here for a wheat crop. Every field has a wonderful stand, and with favorable weather the remainder of the growing season, one of the largest crops in many years should be harvested.

Saturday: high 56, low 50.

Three Blasts on Siren Is Signal for Tornado Warning

Three blasts on the fire alarm has been selected as a means of notifying Crowell residents that danger of a tornado in this area exists. Four blasts signal all-clear, and one and two blasts have been reserved for the Fire Department. The signals are the same as adopted last year by Sheriff P. W. Taylor, Fire Chief Herman Kinchloe and the telephone company.

Confusion has arisen in the past when the fire alarm was sounded, and this system should eliminate that. Crowell residents should not call the operator as a deluge of calls ties up lines that should be kept open for emergencies.

Sheriff Taylor said that the Crowell and Thalia Schools will be notified, as well as the towns of Margaret and Thalia. The Wichita Falls Weather Bureau tracks by radar all tornadoes in this area, and always notifies Sheriff Taylor when danger of one is imminent here. In turn, he keeps the Wichita Falls station posted on local conditions.

Sheriff Taylor pointed out that when he signals the tornado alarm, it does not necessarily mean that a tornado has been sighted, but that the Wichita Falls station has notified him that conditions are right for a tornado in this area. He also urged parents not to rush to school to get their children when the alert is sounded. The children will be safer in the school building than they would be in a car, he added.

Speed Up Payment of First Benefit Check

"Speed up the payment of your first benefit check by bringing along all your copies of forms W-2, withholding statements, or other record of your 1957 earnings," is the advice given by Erton F. Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security Administration District Office to workers who plan to file early in 1958.

1957 earnings are required for the computation of benefits for claims filed in 1958. Employers had until January 31st to file their quarterly social security returns for their employees with the Director of Internal Revenue. Therefore, Social Security Administration records for individual employees will not reflect 1957 earnings completely for several months.

Form W-2, withholding statement, however, shows complete earnings and social security contributions for 1957. It is given to the employee in duplicate. One is for attachment to the income tax return and one is for the employee's files. Self-employed individuals who plan to file in 1958, Mr. Tate stated, should submit a copy of their 1957 tax returns including Schedule C and SE, plus a cancelled check or other evidence that the tax was paid.

The social security representative will be in Crowell on Tuesday, May 13, in the court house to give information and assistance on matters pertaining to social security.

Social Security Reports on Domestic Workers Are Due in April

Social security reports on domestic workers for the January-March quarter are due in April. Erton F. Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls social security office announced this week.

Under the present law, most domestic employees, such as gardeners, cooks, maids, and housekeepers, are covered under social security. Employers of these and other household workers must report the cash wages paid and remit the social security tax of 4 1/2 per cent of the employee's wages. In cases where the domestic employee has earned less than $50 cash in the quarter, the employer does not have to make any report.

Mr. Tate stressed the point that these wage reports are extremely important to the domestic employee, since old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits under social security are figured on the basis of the amount of earnings credited to a person's account.

The form used in making the return on household employees requires only a few minutes to complete and may be obtained from the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue in Dallas.

SHOULD REDUCE TRADE BARRIERS

A study made in 1954 by the Committee for Economic Development, which is composed of 150 leading businessmen and educators, came to the conclusion that it is in the national interest of the United States to reduce our tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade on a gradual and selective basis. A committee spokesman says that this need is even more compelling now than it was then, a major reason being the Soviet economic offensive.

Proves Worth of Halenack Farm

By James H. Herring

It has proved its worth in a nation cropping system on farms in the Lower Peace Soil Conservation District. One of these farms belongs to Halenack, northeast of Crowell. It costs about 35 to 50 per acre to seed. Therefore, it pays its own way readily. Soil-improving crop alone, in normal conditions, crop following guar will be increased as much as one-fourth to one-half in production. The crop can be harvested and used as a cash crop for industrial use or used for on-the-farm feed for cattle. Normal guar beans average from 10 to 15 percent protein. Normal guar require no special equipment. It puts abundant residual nitrogen into your soil. A deep rooted legume, guar increases water intake and holding capacity by opening soil for better penetration. It has proven its adaptability in areas due to its resistance to drought and it thrives in hot weather. Guar stalk is hollow and top combines well with any other combine. Extended rains mature fields of guar beans in the crop from a stand of merchantable bean quality. This has been the case for several years. Halenack have been producing a standpoint guar as a valuable crop soil improving qualities. You haven't tried guar in conservation cropping system, why not try it? It might prove as profitable to you as it has to many other farmers in the Lower Peace River Soil Conservation District.

Autobiography of the Late T. C. Richardson in Farmer-Stockman

The autobiography of the Rambling Longhorn, the late T. C. Richardson, associate editor of the Farmer-Stockman, is being run serially in this month's magazine. In the April issue of the magazine, the autobiography told how Mr. Richardson, who died in 1956, got started as a newspaper man in 1895-96. The paragraph follows:

"While I was attending the Crowell College (1895-96) one of my pals was Jack Roberts, son of the preacher-editor of the Crowell News. Its equipment was an army press and a few cases of type in the court house. Hanging around with Jack, I learned to set type, make up, and use a 'shoot-out' stick to lock the forms. Maybe that's when I got printer's ink in my system, but I still had no idea of becoming a printer or editor."

In the last few years while Mr. Richardson was traveling over the state in the interest of farming and livestock raising, he visited Foard County on numerous occasions and made many new friends here. He was a frequent visitor here gathering news stories for the Farmer-Stockman newspaper career. Early in his newspaper career, he established weekly newspapers in the Texas Panhandle, and other places in West Texas and Oklahoma. He established the Wheeler County Texan and was connected in one way or another with the Mangum Star, Graham Leader and the Stamford News.

It was intended to have the barbecue at the well, but rainy weather interfered, making it necessary for it to be held indoors. Two hundred and sixty-seven plates were served by the Underwood Catering Service of Wichita Falls. The invocation was given by Rev. C. T. Aly, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Crowell.

Larry Hord, Loy Hopkins and Roy Washburn participated in the Dairy Cattle Judging. These boys failed to make the high ten per cent. Bobby King acted as alternate for all three teams; however, he did not have to judge.

The Poultry Judging team will participate in the state contests at Texas A&M on May 3.

Cole Circus to Show in Crowell on Tuesday, May 6

Floyd Hill, general agent of the George W. Cole 3-ring Wild Animal Circus, was in Crowell last week to complete arrangements for the circus to show here on Tuesday, May 6, under the auspices of the local Lions Club.

The Cole name is one of the oldest and most honored in the circus business, and Mr. Hill reported in a visit to the News office that the Cole show this year is right abreast of the times with the most elaborate features and equipment that it has ever carried.

Certainly the most unusual feature of the circus will be the presentation of a live jungle-bred African rhinoceros, an animal noted throughout the world for its size, strength, running speed and extreme viciousness. In addition to the rhinoceros and a herd of performing bears and a host of others, boasts a menagerie which includes lions, leopards, bears, apes, white deer, camels, a giant chimpanzee, and numerous other jungle animals.

To provide all the elements of a thrill-filled and action-packed 3-ring circus performance demands an array of top-notch acrobats, trapeze performers, daredevils and clowns. The Cole Circus this season is featuring the Rawls family of teen-age gymnasts, widely known for their speed and their reckless daring; Charley Rex, balancing star on the high trapeze; Miss Jeanie Kree, aerial stunner featured in 1957 at the Palladium in London, England; Miss Mary Frazie featured in motion pictures as well as a nation wide TV show because of her daring feats on the tight wire and aerial stunts; Bob Grubb and his educated Liberty horses; the Shirley Walters performing bears and a host of others competing in a performance that lasts close to two hours.

Red Cross Drive Far Short of Quota

Nearly $700.00 must be raised in Foard County if the Red Cross quota of $1,527 is met, Glenn Goodwin, fund drive chairman, said Tuesday.

Three Blasts on Siren Is Signal for Tornado Warning

Three blasts on the fire alarm has been selected as a means of notifying Crowell residents that danger of a tornado in this area exists. Four blasts signal all-clear, and one and two blasts have been reserved for the Fire Department. The signals are the same as adopted last year by Sheriff P. W. Taylor, Fire Chief Herman Kincheloe and the telephone company.

Confusion has arisen in the past when the fire alarm was sounded, and this system should eliminate that. Crowell residents should not call the operator as a deluge of calls ties up lines that should be kept open for emergencies.

Sheriff Taylor said that the Crowell and Thalia Schools will be notified, as well as the towns of Margaret and Thalia. The Wichita Falls Weather Bureau tracks by radar all tornadoes in this area, and always notifies Sheriff Taylor when danger of one is imminent here. In turn, he keeps the Wichita Falls station posted on local conditions.

Sheriff Taylor pointed out that when he signals the tornado alarm, it does not necessarily mean that a tornado has been sighted, but that the Wichita Falls station has notified him that conditions are right for a tornado in this area.

He also urged parents not to rush to school to get their children when the alert is sounded. The children will be safer in the school building than they would be in a car, he added.

LIFE IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT

Life is one thing that we have in common, but we face it differently. No two of us think alike on how to live a life. We all want to be happy, but some aren't willing to work hard enough to produce this happiness.

Life is just like a bank—if you don't put anything in it, you can't get anything out of it.

There are powers within each of us. They can be put to use to produce happiness for ourselves and others. There are many people in the world today who are unhappy because they haven't taken time to explore deep enough to find the talents which they have. There are several general types of unhappy lives. One kind is the wanderer. He is usually unhappy, but he can't seem to find a reason for his unhappiness. In other words he hasn't found the powerful human talents within him.

Another reason that so many people are unhappy is because they rush around looking after their worldly lusts. They don't feed their souls enough—sometimes tumult within one's self because the body goes against the spirit, and the spirit goes against the body.

The word "happiness" to me means being at peace with God, with others, and with oneself. Being at peace with God will relieve a great pressure inside of a being. The knowing that one has been forgiven and that He is always near will sustain a person through anything. One of the greatest powers a person has is prayer, and we so often forget to use it. By praying and feeding one's soul, he will soon build up a resistance to temptation.

Once he has achieved this—the hardest step is there, the rest will come by faith and hard work. One will then not mind hard work because he is happy and at peace with God. He knows that he isn't alone with his hard job of living. I believe that with God's help, "life is what you make it."

PADUCAH AND CROWELL EXCHANGE ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

The program that the "Off-beats" and the "Four Bears" of Paducah High School presented to the students body on Tuesday of last week was "Tops".

The "Off-beats" composed of 7 PHA students, put the CHS students in a rocking mood with such tunes as Rock Around the Clock, Sugartime, Put a Light in the Window, etc.

Four PHS athletes, "The Four Bears," dramatically presented their interpretations of several numbers.

After finishing their last number, "When the Saints Go Marching In," Paducah received cries for "more."

Crowell students, accompanied by Mr. Hesse, received a warm welcome when they made an appearance before the PHS student body on Wednesday, April 16. Their program consisted of instrumental numbers by the dance band, a song by Jamie Bowers, a little rockin' and rollin' by Mr. Hesse and his Madmen.

We think that this exchange of programs has been a good idea. It originated last year, and we hope that in years to come the practice will be repeated.

POPULAR SCIENCE PROGRAM PRESENTED

The childhood of man is ending, and we are now living in the most exciting and revolutionary period in all of man's history. This is the firm opinion of Robert T. Edgar, an established star in the field of popular science interpretation.

In assembly last Friday, Mr. Edgar told us that his father, the late Robert Edgar, invented several important parts of the great 200 inch Mt. Palomar, Hale Telescope in Southern California.

Mr. Edgar explained to the student body how a three-stage rocket is constructed and how it works. He also took us on an imaginary voyage into space. (I think the real thing would be lots of fun!)

Mr. Edgar was one of the first to publicly present the concepts of space satellites, space stations, and manned space flight.

The student body was glowing with the emotional impact of the wonder of our present tremendous time of development and the glorious vision of what man can be. Speaking for the whole student body, we wish to thank Mr. Edgar for presenting one of the best assemblies that we have had this year.

CAT SCRATCHES

Get ready for the take off. Ready, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. —zoom! I suppose you're wondering what is going on. You see, it's this way—I've invented a space ship. Ever since that assembly program we had last Friday, I have become space minded. (That does not mean that all I have in my head is space). It means that I have just realized how important it is to take interest in such an exciting adventure as space. So I have decided to give the U. S. a break and contribute my vast knowledge toward the development of outer planetary travel.

Immediately after school Friday, I began to gather materials for my space ship. (I went around to all the junk yards and found "lots" of material to build a very good one. It's cheaper to go to a junk yard.) You may wonder how I would build a space ship without any instructions. Well, with my brains, I don't need any instructions. I drew all my own plans for the construction of this marvelous addition to mankind.

After drawing the blueprints, I was ready to construct the most ingenious piece of work since the beginning of man. Naturally, I had to have a very secluded spot to work, for fear that someone would try to discover my valuable project. I went deep into the country, where no one would think to look for me. There, I found an old deserted shack perfect for my purposes. Then, the mad scientist went to work. He-he-he-he! After many hours of hard work, the space ship was ready to launch.

This afternoon, I am going to leave for the moon in my space ship, called Tabbynie, Commando Tabby Cat, the space cadet. Write me a card, friends! So long, Tabby.

MARILYN MONROT

by Spider Bell

Marilyn Monrot was born in Creampuff, Wyo. At the age of 15 the peroxidized beauty hopped a freight bound for Hollywood and sought to find her fortune. (Sorta like John Mash's new record of "Battle of the Teenage King," isn't it?)

She was kicked off, I do mean got off, at the Beverly Hills depot. She immediately found a job by working as a floor bouncer for Metro Goldwyn's Mare.

Still she wasn't content; so, she went to work as a window cleaner at Parasoeks Pictures. It was there she was noticed by Crab Hunter, the famous actor. (Wouldn't you notice a person who, after slipping and falling from a building 20 stories high, finally landed on top of you?)

Crab secured her a job as a stunt woman. During the shooting of "Grand Canyon," Marilyn quit. (After all, no one should be required to jump the Grand Canyon on the back of a "two bit" mountain goat.)

However, she found work at Twentieth Century Coyote. After 2,351 screen tests, she made her first picture, "Gentlemen Prefer Peroxidized Redheads." Other pictures in which she played were Whistler's Mother, Dumbo and I Was a Teenage Goon. In the Whistler's Mother, she played the part of Mother, for she was the only one on the set who could whistle Dixie while standing on her head.

At the present, the former Miss Monrot is now the nagging Mrs. Arthur Smeller. The pair now reside at Tea Pot Flats in London, England.

Temporary Pastures Dependable Source for Summer Grazing

Temporary summer pastures are a dependable source of grazing. Not only do temporary summer pastures provide permanent pastures, but they also furnish a better quality grazing at a time when it is not available from permanent pastures. Sudangrass is still best on soils of medium to high fertility. Because of their resistance to leaf diseases, sweet, tift or greenleaf varieties should be used in the humid section of the state. The common variety, as well as those mentioned above, are adapted to Foard County, Joe Burkett, county agent, says. Pearl millet, often called cattail millet, should be used where sudan produces unsatisfactorily. Pearl millet will likely outproduce sudan on sandy acid soils of low fertility, and on severely eroded heavy soils, and on certain soils where sudan yellows or becomes chlorotic. Two leaflets about this subject are available from Burkett. Academics was the name given to a series of philosophers who taught at the Athenian Academy.

Soil Evaluation Criteria Given in Bulletin

How does your soil rate? This is the title of a recently-released extension service bulletin and a question every farmer should try to find the answer to. As a tiller of the soil and one who derives his living from it, a farmer should be familiar with his soil's characteristics and limitations. He should make an accurate evaluation of its texture and permeability as well as other factors such as its depth, conditions, and fertility, says Joe Burkett, county agent. This bulletin can be a big help in such a soil evaluation. It discusses the factors just mentioned and devotes sections to such topics as slope, wetness hazard and erosion. Too, it contains sections discussing factors limiting production and recommended land treatments and conservation practices. It was written with the desire to give a better understanding of the soil and is designed as a guide toward a more uniform method of teaching land evaluation. This bulletin may be obtained from the county agent's office. It is No. B1836.

The Lady was Willing
Recently a service station attendant changed the oil in a car with 23,000 miles on the speedometer. He noticed that a lubrication job was also badly needed, so he politely suggested it to the driver. She replied, willingly enough, "Go ahead if you want to... but I thought all that was done at the factory!"
Of course, this couldn't happen to you, but with cars getting more and more complicated every year, proper and frequent lubrication is more important than ever. Phillips 66 Dealers specialize in lubrication. They have complete charts and specifications for all makes of cars, and what's more, they use them! Stop in next chance you get and watch how thorough Phillips 66 attendants are when they lubricate a car... it's a pleasant surprise for most motorists!

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Next summer's campaigners are tuning up to play from a familiar score—the conservative vs. liberal melody Texas voters have been hearing for years.

But, like the rock 'n roll version of a Stephen Foster song, it may sound different. Campaign pitches will have to keep time to the fast beat of 1958's new issues. Such as "curbing the recession" and "catching up in education."

On the federal level, talk is of cutting taxes to give the people more money to spend. Here in Texas, it's raising taxes to give the state more money to spend.

In a situation like this, a voter can get confused.

For each issue, there'll be several choices—more or less drowning each other out. Some will chant of scaring away recession with large-scale government spending. Others will say the only way is to give business a break.

For schools, some are calling for a nationwide program to require more work from students, provide better teachers at better pay, more lab equipment, scholarships for promising students, etc. But many Texans say "never" to any scheme that would eat away at local control over schools.

On how to get money to bail out the state treasury, there are already a number of tunes being struck up—sales taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes, more economy in government—but no prospect of close harmony.

COWBOY HAT IN RING—One morning, in between pouring his coffee and finishing his bacon, William A. Blakely decided to run for the U. S. Senate.

Blakely served as junior U. S. senator for four months last year as the appointee of former Gov. Allan Shivers. He was not a candidate in the special election when Ralph Yarborough was named to succeed him.

Son of Oklahoma homesteaders who had to "work out" for other farmers, Blakely parlayed a little grit into a lot of money—in law, banking, real estate, ranching, oil, gas, insurance and an air line.

He'll not be troubled by most candidates' sorest problem—raising campaign funds.

Incumbent Yarborough has made statements leaving the door open for either of two courses—running for another Senate term or a fourth try at the governorship.

PURSE-WATCHER NEEDED—Texas' governor should have some power to keep a hand on the state purse strings after the Legislature leaves.

So says Vernon McGee, director of the Legislative Budget Board. McGee heads the board with responsibility for studying the fiscal needs of all state departments and making recommendations to the Legislature.

Under present system, McGee pointed out, after the Legislature makes its appropriations, only the individual department heads are responsible for how the money is spent. Many administrators are admirably "tight-fisted," McGee said, but others will spend money, that could be saved for later needs, just because they have it.

McGee's recommendation: give the governor authority to ask for periodic reports from departments and to cut from their budgets items no longer necessary.

Most other states have this system, said McGee.

STILL TOO MUCH OIL—Despite severe cuts in production, Texas is still producing more oil than anyone wants to buy. It could mean even deeper cuts and more idle drilling rigs next month. Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson noted an increase of 1,208,000 barrels in stocks of crude oil. It shows, he said, that April's lowest-in-history, 8-day production pattern was needed.

He suggested that new wells coming in may make an even lower production pattern necessary for May.

SET TO GO—Texas Highway Department is poised for a $36,000,000 speed-up in road building if a new stepped-up federal aid bill becomes law.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said the bill, sent to the President by Congress, would enable Texas to avoid a summer lull in highway construction. Texas has already planned the projects in anticipation of the money, said Greer.

Designed as an anti-recession measure, the bill specifies the extra money must be spent within 12 months.

It won't put all the unemployed people to work, said Greer, but it will stimulate the economy. And, he added, it's not a "leaf-raking job."

SCIENTISTS MUST EAT—With all the emphasis on scientific education, importance of training farmers and ranchers should not be neglected, said Gov. Price Daniel.

Speaking to a Future Farmers group, the governor said food is as necessary to the nation's defense as development of better weapons.

Texas' farm population, he noted, has declined by more than one-half since 1933.

PINCH ON SMALL SCHOOLS—Small schools are going to have to help to meet higher state standards in math and science, says Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro.

Beginning with the 1959-60 term, high schools are to be required to teach four years of science and four years of math. Sen. Martin said he doubted smaller districts had or could get, without assistance, the necessary staff and equipment to meet the new standard.

"Most have gymnasiums," he observed, "but a lot lack laboratories."

Texas Agriculture Dept. Explains Details of New Egg Law

A serious misunderstanding apparently has arisen between some producers and buyers of eggs on certain points of the new Texas Egg Law, Agriculture Commissioner John White said Monday.

Reports have reached the Texas Department of Agriculture that certain retailers and buyers have refused to handle eggs from the small producers with limited flocks. These buyers have blamed the Texas Egg Law and used it as an excuse for not doing business with the farmer who wants to sell only two or three dozen eggs at a time.

"There is absolutely nothing in the law that interferes with or prohibits this long-standing business relationship between any producers and buyers," White emphasized. "A retailer, dealer or other egg handler can purchase any amount of eggs from a producer at any time."

Although the law prohibits the sale of inedible eggs, this factor should not jeopardize normal egg transaction with either large or small producers, Commissioner White said.

"This type of regulation against inedible eggs, as well as other food products, has been in force for years through the U. S. Pure Food and Drug Act. If the usual precautions are taken by both egg sellers and buyers—just as in the past—this phase of the law will not place undue restrictions on the trade.

"There is a big difference between occasional bad eggs involved in sales transactions and whole cases of spoiled eggs," said White. "Common sense will prevail in egg inspection work."

"There have been instances where large lots of inedible eggs were deliberately moved into trade channels before we had the additional protection of the Egg Law. We will be especially vigorous in preventing this type of violation."

Another misunderstanding involves provisions of the law relating to egg grades.

"Eggs do not have to be graded," White pointed out. "Grading is not mandatory under the law at any level of trade. Ungraded eggs may be sold in the channels of trade but they must be plainly marked 'ungraded' on the carton or container."

White added that it is more advantageous to all concerned if the producers and handlers do participate in the egg grading program. Otherwise, high quality eggs will be sold on an ungraded basis, sacrificing the price advantage of the higher marked grades.

When the grading system is used, the cartons or containers must be labeled according to the actual size and grade of the eggs. Standards are those set by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and approved by the Texas Egg Marketing Advisory Committee.

Two main points to remember, said White, are:

1. An egg producer, large or small, is exempt from the law—and all of its provisions—if he sells only from the production of his own flock on an ungraded basis.
2. The new law is essentially an egg labeling act which requires that eggs sold within the state be properly marked as to size and grade if a grade is claimed, or marked "ungraded" if no grade is claimed. The eggs must meet the specifications indicated on the container if they are sold as graded eggs.

"Our problems would be simplified if most of the complainants would only read the law," said White. "Troubles arise when a person gets his information 'second hand' and decides that the law discriminates against him."

White strongly urged all persons with a question on the law to contact the Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin.

"We will answer all inquiries fully and promptly and send along data that explains all phases of the law in detail," he said.

News From the Congress

by Frank Ikard, 13th Dis.

For the first time in history the high wind speeds within the core of an actual tornado have been measured by a new type of radar. This new development in tornado detection occurred on April 2nd when a severe tornado struck through Wichita Falls. Only six weeks before, the Weather Bureau tornado research experts had located their experimental radar equipment at the Wichita Falls airport acting on the belief that tornadoes likely would occur somewhere within a seventy mile range of the special storm detection instruments. This equipment is "one of a kind" experimental radar and operates on the same principle as that which is commonly used for speed monitoring work by the highway patrol. By the use of this new equipment the Weather Bureau detected the tornado in time to warn the entire Wichita Falls area, and even though the storm moved rapidly through a large metropolitan area and caused extensive damage to hundreds of buildings, there can be little doubt but what the relatively low number of casualties in this damaging tornado can be credited to the early warning and quick cooperative action by the police, broadcasters, and many others in relaying the storm warning to the public. From a purely scientific standpoint, it is interesting to know that the Wichita Falls tornado is the first one in which a direct recording of the wind speed within the tornado has been measured. The radar record shows that the wind speeds within this tornado were in the vicinity of 250 miles an hour. Previous to this time, there is no direct measurements of tornado wind speeds much higher than 100 miles an hour which had ever been recorded. However, indirect measurements based on damage and other factors, estimates of wind speeds have run as high in other storms as 600 miles an hour. Indications are that this first test of the new equipment such as is located in the Wichita Falls weather station will mean that we will be able to have much more effective tornado warnings, and as the type of the equipment is improved, it may be possible within the not too distant future to accurately detect tornadoes embedded in the clouds which cannot be discovered by observers on the ground. This, of course, will mean savings of many lives and much property damage.

Fish hatcheries of Texas now are ready to provide as many fish as will be needed to stock the new lakes that have become filled with fall and winter rains. There is a mistaken idea on the part of many people about these hatcheries. Because our hatcheries have done a great deal of stocking of some of our major lakes and streams in the past, there is a tendency on the part of many persons to think that this work is a continuing project.

This is not so. Today our fish-hatchery system works differently. There is a definite need for fish hatcheries in Texas. But except in unusual cases they do very little stocking of big lakes.

They have discovered that poor catches are, in many cases, the result of over-population of a lake. Restocking just adds to the seriousness of the situation.

On the other hand, Texas with its myriads of small lakes, created on farms and ranches and across dry creek beds, boasts numerous places for heavy hatchery production. Each time one of these small lakes is built, and fish are stocked, it provides fishing for a few more people.

These are private lakes, of course, but they furnish very fine fishing for those who are lucky enough to get permits to fish in them. In turn that takes the pressure off of public waters to a great degree.

Texas may be shy on public lands for hunting, but it certainly isn't shy on public waters for fishing. Except for far West Texas and the Panhandle there are fine lakes within a short drive for everyone. And Texans really are using them, too. Ditto for the Gulf Coast.

Launching Ramps Are Needed One of Texas' greatest needs today, insofar as outdoorsmen are concerned, is for more and better launching ramps so as to provide greater access to these fine lakes and the Gulf Coast waters. With so many more boats and a rapidly increasing number of fishermen, it is becoming more and more difficult to find places to launch boats without having to spend hours awaiting your turn.

Building new launching ramps, and improving the old ones, is a job that might well be undertaken by local groups, or the city, or the county. It also is possible that the State Highway Department might be able to build a few access spots where highways cross some of our streams.

Certainly all of us agree that it is important that state gasoline tax funds be used to build roads for the use of those who pay the tax. It must be remembered, however, that a trailer and a boat drain much gasoline from the car. Then once the boat is in the water it becomes a motor fuel consumer too.

While there is a tax exemption on non-highway use of motor fuel, it is seldom if ever claimed by the small boat owner. For that reason our road builders might look ahead just a little and assist in providing access.

A Sonic Fishing Idea It is interesting to note how some of the primitive methods that we use to catch fish eventually are improved upon—then placed on the counter to sell. For instance, we have, for a long time, been rigging up jigs on foot-long leaders to follow after deep running plugs.

They were good for both white and black bass. Now comes Heddon with an improvement on the idea. It is the firetail sonic. It makes a noise the fish can hear, and has a tail section that glows. This is supposed to irritate the bass and if he hits a little short, he still gets hooked.

This firetail won't be a particular menace to the fish population—especially in Texas, because we have so many fish. By the time it gets to working good the fish will get smart and then someone else will come up with something new to lure the fish and fishermen.

Sand Bass Are Active Sand bass now are running in all their glory. We've seen some tremendous catches made within the last couple of weeks. They are especially active where fresh water creeks are flowing into lakes, and in the tailraces just below some of the big dams.

They are hitting on everything. Some like minnows. Others take spoons or plugs. There has been some fine sand bass fishing in the Rio Grande. Sandies from Falcon Lake have gone up the river as far north as Laredo, according to reports.

Biologists also are stocking Lake Houston this Spring, with some sand bass brood stock. One good stocking in Lake Houston and in a couple of years it should provide fabulous fishing.

Incidentally, black bass and crappie fishing is going begging in this fine lake, according to reports. It can stand much heavier fishing pressure than it is getting. This is one of the most beautiful lakes in Texas.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D., Commissioner of Health.

With proper care and prompt treatment from your physician, those unsightly varicose veins, the scourge of pretty legs, can be normal again.

Physicians report that they often have women patients who complain about varicose veins. Some of them admit to the doctor that they are embarrassed because the unsightly blotches on their legs are so noticeable through their nylon hose.

Mental health as well as physical health is involved. Such seemingly unimportant troubles can upset an individual until he or she thinks up excuses to keep from going to a neighborhood swimming party, where the varicose veins would be on display.

Varicose veins are caused by certain disturbances in the normal make-up of the individual. They can be treated. Continued trouble in the veins may lead to noticeable symptoms, such as pains in the legs. Swelling may occur because the skin is no longer properly nourished by the blood.

Continued malnourishment in the skin can lead to an ulcer. A danger signal for this complication is a brownish patch on the leg where one finds the varicose veins.

What can you do about varicose veins? Your first move is to go to your physician. He will want to make sure that there is no underlying disturbance present, before he can start measures for treatment of the varicose condition.

Treatment will be given to try to remove the difficulties which cause the bulging veins. There is no method for restoring the already troubled veins to normal; however, they can be obliterated so that the woman may again wear nylon hose and the man may appear in a swim suit without embarrassment.

There are several methods of treatment available and commonly employed by the physician.

Some of these are: injections of certain drugs which cause a diminishing of the bulging veins and occasional operations which tie off a portion of the affected vein.

Another popular remedy is the bandaging of the leg with an elastic bandage to prevent some of the swelling and help overcome the back pressure and pooling of blood.

So if you are not getting justice from the new super-sheer hose styles or are dreading the forthcoming summer for fear of showing your legs—see your physician. Frequently, he can do something about it.

Agent Recommends Treating Cotton Seed

Chemical treatment of cotton seed can reduce chances of losses to your cotton crop from those diseases carried on the seed, or that are present in the soil. Joe Burkett, county agent, says these diseases include seed rot, seedling blight and angular leaf spot. Seed rot or decay, caused by organisms, destroys many cotton seedlings before they can come up.

Soreskin, one of the most destructive of the seed born diseases, causes small seedlings to die soon after they come up.

Angular leaf spot may kill the seedlings, cause loss of leaves from the plant and shedding or rotting of the bolls. This disease is also known as bacterial blight, boll rot and vein blight.

The cost of seed treatment is small and the benefits from treating cotton seeds are large. For more information on planting cotton seed, check with the county agent.

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Rep. Perkins Bass, a New Hampshire Republican, recently made a speech in the House that some think may have been the turning point that will lead, eventually, to repeal of all farm price supports and production controls.

Using figures supplied him by the White House and the Department of Agriculture, Rep. Bass attempted to show that Federal farm programs not only have failed to help farmers, but have also placed an unfair burden on consumers.

Many members sat in shocked silence, but the number who rose to support and praise Rep. Bass was a clear indication of a substantial division of opinion in the House over continuation of programs costing about $3 billion a year.

The threat of a consumer revolt against farm supports is one that farm spokesmen have feared for a long time. They recognize that if consumers are organized in opposition to farm programs there can be little doubt of the final result.

With a farm population already dwindling to 12 per cent of the national total, the political power of the Farm Bloc is becoming weaker and weaker. It will become increasingly difficult to muster a majority back of programs sponsored by the Bloc.

Farm spokesmen are girding for a showdown vote at this session of Congress, but many of them concede, privately, that they face an up-hill battle. Two speeches emphasize the wide differences in opinion in Congress over farm legislation.

The farm viewpoint, as expressed by Rep. George Christopher, a Missouri Democrat, will be reported next week. Following are quotations from the speech of Rep. Bass:

"The program for high price supports is a failure. It has never and will never solve our farm problem. It has cost taxpayers untold billions of dollars.

"Most Americans would be astonished and deeply shocked at what it costs them to carry on this farm price support program. It cost in 1957 more than $3 billion, plus $2 billion in other USDA costs.

"If they knew what this program costs them as individuals they would become very curious indeed about what benefits, if any, they are getting for their money.

"Consumers are forced to pay twice for the farm support program. First, through taxes they pay to finance the program and, second, through higher costs of the food and clothing they buy.

"For example, suppose I told a young man with an income of $6,000 a year that it is costing him $11.50 a year for Federal programs to support the price of wheat. He would say, 'Well, what do I get for my money?'

"And I would have to tell him that the effect is that the bread he buys costs him about $20 a year more than it otherwise would. The young man would say 'Are we crazy? Is the Federal Government carrying out a program to lower the standard of living of Americans?'

"Suppose that instead of paying for farm programs out of the Treasury, each of us walked up to the tax window and said, 'How much do I owe for the farm program?' The answer would be $56.30 a year (on a $6,000 income).

"How would we feel about paying that at the tax window, and still pay in higher food prices also? We would say 'no, that's one I don't want to pay'."

News About Your Social Security ...

What is the basis for figuring the amount of my social security benefits? This is a significant and important question on the minds of millions of American workers approaching retirement age. The terms of the Social Security Act provide that all benefits are based on the amount of an individual's average earnings. Whether you work as an employee for someone else, are self-employed as the operator of a business or profession, or whether you are the operator of a farm, your benefits are based on your average earnings.

Benefits for dependent members of your family are likewise based on your average earnings. The higher your average, the higher your benefits and your dependent's benefits. An individual worker's benefit ranges from a minimum of $30.00 per month ($24.00 for women at 62) to a maximum of $108.50. It is important that you understand how your social security benefits are figured in planning your retirement program.

If you are interested in more detail, your local social security office will be happy to supply you with a publication entitled "How to Estimate Your Social Security Payments."

Weekly Sermon

Promise of Blessing

It happened January 18, 1937. For days the great Ohio river had been rising inch by inch. At last it spilled over its banks and spread out to an area ten to fifteen times its normal width of a thousand feet.

For one little six-year-old boy—the writer—the flood was a time of high adventure. Imagine the fun of fishing from the front doorstep, of sailing boats in the living room, of abandoning the house by rowboat from the second floor window! And what better way was there to learn arithmetic than by counting houses floating down the river!

But the flood brought nothing but misery for the grown-ups. Many lost everything they had to the muddy waters—their homes, their personal possessions, even their friends and relatives. These refugees had sorrow and pain written on their faces. They were sick and in many cases exhausted from their futile battle with the flood. Laughing? Joking? Not these folk.

Many people today are looking at life the same way as I looked on the flood. They are taken up with their own pleasure. They are unconcerned with those in great distress. They are unsympathetic with the millions who will go hungry tonight and sleep on the open streets of a thousand cities.

This is not a plea for long faces, bowed heads or tear-filled eyes. It is an appeal to consider the sufferings of others and, where possible, to help alleviate them.

Life must not be lived selfishly without regard to those around us. Remember the words of the Lord Jesus Christ: "Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy" (Matthew 5:7).

Texas' constitution is 43,000 words long.

The most precious gift you can give a son

From that first wonderful day when he drops your guiding hand to walk alone—unsteady, unsure, but on his own—his goal is independence.

And this is yours to give—even as he falters and clings, then manfully struggles on. You want so much to help him. And your heart nearly bursts with pride one day when you know he's now "his own man." How fervently you pray that no one—ever—will take away this hard-won freedom to be himself.

There's one way you may not have thought of to help him continue to enjoy the independence he's achieved.

Be on the watch for ideas that could deprive him of it—the idea, for example, that "government should run such and such—a business, a service, an institution." You have only to remember the people in socialist nations to know that when government controls more and more things, there is less and less freedom and independence for the individual!

You can use your woman-power to discourage this idea that "the government should run it." When you hear people talk that way, point out that the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business, and powerful people are pressing it to take over more.

James H. Williams and Ruth Hudson Wed in Harlingen Saturday

The marriage of James H. (Jimmy) Williams, a former Crowell resident, and Ruth Hudson, both of Harlingen, was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Harlingen on Saturday, April 12, at ten o'clock in the morning. Rev. Harry B. Hamblen, pastor of the church, officiated at the marriage.

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. Jane Rabel. Troy McDaniels was best man to the groom and the bride was attended by Miss Nancy Hudson as bridesmaid. The church was attractively decorated with Easter lilies.

Mrs. Williams wore a powder blue slanting suit and a white orchid corsage. She is the daughter of Mrs. Lillie Montgomery and the late W. U. Montgomery of Matthews, Mo.

Mr. Williams is the son of A. E. Williams of Long Beach, Calif., and the late Mrs. Willie Long Williams. He was reared in Crowell in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Long, and is a 1940 graduate of Crowell High School. He is also a graduate of the University of Houston. He served in the United States Army Air Force for 4 1/2 years, 2 years in West China.

He is at present news and program director of radio station KGBT in Harlingen, where Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their home.

The bride and groom visited in Crowell Tuesday and Wednesday with his grandmother, Mrs. Long, and other relatives.

Grandson of Mrs. Tom Dockins Wed in Dallas

Myrtle Tucker, grandson of Mrs. Tom Dockins of Crowell, was married to Miss Margaret Hawkins in a recent wedding ceremony performed in the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Dallas. Rev. Noble Tucker, father of the groom, conducted the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hawkins of Dallas and the groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Noble Tucker, also of that city.

Miss Linda Norrels, Miss Shirley Wallace and Miss Margaret Woodall were musicians. The bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over white slipper satin of floor length with lace fitted sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and streamers.

Miss June Lane Sals was maid of honor and Allen Tucker, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Bobby and Doug Thomason.

A reception was held following the ceremony.

HENRY CIRCLE

The Henry Circle met Monday afternoon of last week in the home of Mrs. Mark Henry.

Mrs. Fred Youree was chairman of the program subject, "Youth Must Serve." Mrs. Dwight Campbell presented a most appropriate Bible lesson. Thoughts on how to aid youth in their time of development and training for leadership was given by Mrs. John Rader.

The social feature of the program was given by Miss Dorothy Erwin on "The Easter Egg," and the interesting history of its being used down through the centuries.

Mrs. Henry carried out the Easter theme in the refreshment plate, served from a decorated Easter table.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Foard City Methodist Church met on Monday, April 14, with Mrs. Grady Halbert. This was the second lesson from Albert E. Barnett's book, "Disciples to Such a Lord," with Mrs. Virgil Johnson as teacher. In a careful study of chapters 5, 6, 7, and 8 of Mark, contrasts were made of the reception given Jesus in the various villages. In His own hometown, the people, having known Him as a child, accepted His healing touch, but turned deaf ears to any teaching He tried to do.

Mrs. Jack Welch brought a devotional dealing with padlocks on the soul. Fear was listed as one type of padlock, illustrated by the man given one talent which he buried for safekeeping "because he was afraid." Selfishness and procrastination could be padlocks, as well as cover vicious or even secret sin. The soul's freedom can be won only by the complete removal of the aforementioned padlocks and the subsequent opening of the soul's door to Christ and His way.

The group was dismissed with a unison prayer.

MARGARET H. D. CLUB

Margaret Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. W. F. Bradford April 11. The meeting was opened with a song, club collect was read in unison, and roll call answered by a joke. Business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hugh Shultz. Club voted to buy 12 chairs for the community house. They are to meet Wednesday and paint the screen doors. W. H. Tamplin hung the screen doors for the club. Mrs. Joe Bledsoe resigned as THDA leader and Mrs. G. M. Moore was elected to take her place.

Lula Bradford had the program on "How to buy more for you money," which was very interesting.

PINK AND BLUE SHOWER

Mrs. Joann Pointer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Burgess, was feted with a pink and blue shower on Thursday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. Leonard Welch at Gilliland.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Welch, then directed to the dining area. Mrs. Hewitt Simmons and Mrs. John Jameson alternated at the coffee, then pink punch was poured from a crystal bowl into matching cups.

The table was covered with a cream lace cloth, over pink linen. The centerpiece was pale pink baby-doll roses. Tall pink candles stood in white milk-glass holders. An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Pointer's grandmother, Mrs. J. L. Wartes.

A lovely array of gifts was displayed. Musical renditions at the piano by Mrs. Sam Stone included Brahms' Lullaby, favorite hymns and Vivacity.

Thirty-five ladies registered in the guest book.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

"The fourth meal is the meal we eat for fun. It may be a TV snack or refreshments you serve at a club or party." This demonstration was given and served by Mrs. L. G. Simmons when the West Side Home Demonstration Club met April 8.

A prayer by Mrs. E. A. Dunagan opened the meeting. "Consider the Weatherman," by Mrs. Baylor Weathered, was the opening exercise. Roll call was answered by "Our favorite TV snack." Minutes were read and approved and business discussed. The next meeting will be held April 22 at the home of Mrs. Henry Ross.
