

The Crowell High

WILDCAT

EDITORIAL

Take Heed!

As I sat down to write this, my last editorial, I had in mind to give some advice to you, my underclassmen. No, I may not seem to be qualified, but I have lived through four years of high school, and that in itself is enough qualification for this particular advice!

As I have said many times before, attending high school is a wonderful experience. The years are very precious because they can never be recaptured. Once they are gone, they are forever lost. They represent joy and sadness, success and failure. They are a time for having adventures, for making new friends, for learning.

During these four years, attitudes change along with ideals. Yes, you too change—from a child to a young adult. The change is difficult; the road is rough. There are threats and temptations, but you can overcome them. Make your high school years ones to be proud of, not ones to be hidden with guilt and shame. Learn to rely upon yourself. Since your high school years, perhaps, mold your future and determine the kind of adult you will be—"watch out!" Keep your actions in balance. Don't tip the scales the wrong way!

In addition, learn to live—to live each day to its fullest. Accept the good without questions; improve the bad. Prepare for that day when you will graduate. So—in closing, I say, make the most of your high school years. Oh, by the way, study once in a while!

Best Wishes, Seniors

CHS seniors, you are departing now after eleven years of association with us, the CHS juniors. We should like this message to be taken as a personal good bye and a true expression of heartfelt gratitude to you who have worked so faithfully with us all these years. May we offer our thanks and appreciation for your past assistance and our best wishes for your future success, prosperity, and happiness.

The 1960-1961 Juniors,
Lynda Harris, Reporter.

tin. Sam Hannacke, who has driven for many senior trips, will be the bus driver. Arrive at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin about midnight.

This is truly a very exciting, interesting, educational way to end 12 years of school. In addition to the seniors, those making the trip are the sponsors, Mr. Black and Mr. Welch, and mothers, Mrs. Darvin Bell, Mrs. Ross Johnson, Mrs. Jack Hickman, Mrs. Harold Barry, Mrs. Cecil Carpenter, a class mother, unable to make the trip, was presented a gift from the class for her many hours of work.

Now What?

As the seniors go out into life, these are their plans:

Barbara Goodwin Griffith, Janice Morris Pritchard and Joyce Latimer Howard will be keeping house for their respective husbands.

Leaves Vacancies

As we think of the 1961-62 school term, we realize that there will be many vacancies in the numerous organizations brought about by the graduation of the 1961 seniors. Those to be replaced are as follows:
