East Texas Island Lures Bird Watchers

Many vacationing wildlife enthusiasts are including an island noted for bird-watching in their summer itinerary. Langley Island, nestling in the middle of 2,500-acre Lake Tyler in Smith County, offers a variety of feathered friends to interest visitors. The Tyler Audubon Society was instrumental in closing the island to camping and hunting in 1950, and has improved the area with more than two miles of trails for nature study, extensive vegetative plantings, and many nesting structures for birds. More than 150 bird species have been cataloged on the island.

1965 Wheat-Feed Grain Substitution Is Announced

To permit greater flexibility in farm operations, substitution between wheat and feed grains will e authorized under the 1965 programs, Ray Hysinger, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said Tuesday. The program determination is announced early so that summer fallow operations for next year's crop may take place

Agricultural legislation provides for such a substitution in the 1964 and 1965 wheat and feed grain programs, but it could not be put into effect for 1964 because of the lack of time.

The chairman explained that the substitution will apply on individual farms only if the farm

DALLAS' BIG 'MAIN PLACE' PROJECT

Located in the center of downtown Dallas, the model above shows the three major buildings which will be constructed in several stages on the ten-acre Main Place site. Estimated to cost $120,000,000, the first stage will be the 34-story, $41,000,000 office building in the center of the picture. Later phases will include the massive second office building on the left, which will straddle Main Street, and on the right a large department store with a 400-room Street, and on the right, a large department store with a 400-room motel on top. The development is actually one big, ten-acre "super block" tied together with outdoor plazas for pedestrian traffic 15 feet below ground level.

Three Accidents Here in May Investigated by Highway Patrol

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated three accidents on rural highways in Foard County during the month of May, according to Sgt. D. R. Dowdy, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

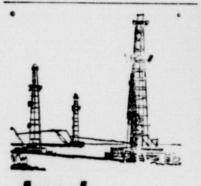

These wrecks accounted for one person injured and an estimated property damage of $1,150.00.

The rural accident summary for Foard County from January through May of 1964 shows a total of eight crashes, resulting in no deaths, four persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $3,185.00.

The sergeant expressed serious concern over the increase in fatal motor vehicle traffic accidents and CLUBS deaths throughout the state.

"For the first five months 1964, 1,025 persons have died in traffic, compared to 871 for the same period of 1963," the serwe must anticipate increasing There is an increase in all types of accidents throughout the state and it is something that merits our greatest concern," he said.

'The driving public must assist in the reduction of this trend if we are to turn it downward. Otherwise, our death count at the end of the year will far exceed the record number of 2,729 deaths in Texas traffic during 1963. If you are driving, your life literally is in your own hands, so won't you help yourself and others by resolving not to become one of our statistics?" the sergeant ask-

When a Merchant Is Fooling Himself

The merchant who is not advertising and who observes that his competitor is not advertising either, is fooling himself if he believes that competitive advertising is not hurting him.

Daily newspapers from neighboring towns come into his town every day. Some of his potential customers read them, and note the advertising messages they carry. Unless the home merchant is meeting this competition with similar advertising, he is losing business that he ought to have. If he doesn't think so, he is kidding himself, and the longer he kids himself the more business he will lose.

A certain amount of business will come to a town regardless of the efforts put forth by merchants. But there isn't enough business of this kind to make any town a good business town. It is the business that may come to a town or go to a competing town, depending upon the type of merchandising in the two towns, that keeps a business institution out of the red.

Business prosperity for one town may mean business recession for a neighboring town. Which kind of town, are you, Mr. Merchant, going to do business in in the future?

When discretionary power is granted to an administrative agency of government, there has been a delegation of legislative authority by the legislative body. Congress, in enacting laws, generally speaks in broad terms. The interpretation of the law is left, largely, to the administrative agencies, which 'fill in the gaps.'
