Has Success With Buff Orpingtons

Jim Cates has had very fine success this year with his Buff Orpington chickens. He has hatched off about 1300 chickens and has on hand now about 900, many of which are extra good ones.

A few months ago Mr. Cates bought the Donges chickens from Adam Donges at Vernon, paying what seemed to be a fancy price for them, but judging from the quality and quantity of Buffs he now has in his yard one must come to the conclusion that it was a good investment.

He has added several poultry buildings to his place, including several brooder houses, etc. He also has his yards fenced so that his breeding pens have been separated from the remainder of the flock.

He is enlarging his business in a manner that indicates success.

CAR PLUNGES INTO DITCH WITH FOUR

Late Thursday of last week the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cooper and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Cooper, were riding went into the ditch just north of the Ribble school house, breaking both windshields and causing two blowouts. The occupants in the car escaped with minor bruises.

Mrs. Gordon Cooper was driving and the car got from her control in some way.

Sewer Ditch Digging Making Good Progress

Ditch digging for the sewerage system started last week and has been making good progress since. If no serious difficulties arise the job should be completed according to the contract, which specifies a period of 60 days from the time of beginning. This would place the date for completion at about September 1st. To be conservative and allow for unforeseen hindrances, the last of September should see the sewerage system installed.

The mayor asks the News to make the explanation that a "Y" will be left for each home and business location to permit connection, this to be paid for by the city. The contractor will put in a riser, if the property owner wants it, at a cost of 50 cents per foot to be paid by the owner. This will be a comparatively small item of cost now while the pipes are going in, but if it is not done and must be done later the cost will be much heavier. It should not cost over four or five dollars at the outside now, and possibly it will be four times that amount if done after the system is put in.

About Ohio Canals One Hundred Years Ago

The following article was handed to the News by our friend, C. D. Stephenson, who was reared in Ohio, and is taken from the Sydney Democrat, Ohio. It is interesting and educative. It tells about some conditions in that country one hundred years ago. The article follows:

History of the Canals

One hundred years ago on July 21 was started Ohio's first general system of transportation superseding the mud roads—the canals.

A group of state officials and citizens some of whom were highly enthusiastic, others who were skeptical and several who looked upon the contemplated vast expenditure of money with frank hostility gathered at "Licking Summit" near Newark and watched the first turning of earth for the Ohio Erie canal, on that July day in 1825.

Gov. DeWitt Clinton of the great state of New York, which was setting the pace in canal building and his staff were the guests of honor. Gov. Jeremiah Morrow of Ohio, alternated in lifting the first few spadefuls of earth.

With ceremonies, also at the same time, the Miami and Erie canal was started. The two constituted the major parts of the public system. The romance and pathos of the building of the waterways, which were expected to bring prosperity to poverty stricken, mud bound Ohio, has been brought to the fore by the hundred anniversary.

That ramified system of connecting canals, which many a century ago, predicted would be the principal means of transportation for long years to come, is a forgotten memory today. Close to where the two paths were, where straining beasts at a comparatively snail pace hauled the clumsy canal boats, automobiles whiz by, freighted with humans and their goods. Overland air planes hurtle thru the skies, and with cargoes of freight or people.

Father, mother and the children out for a picnic, alight from the family car and spread their lunch beside a sit in the earth that might be a ditch or a hazard on a golf course. Brother advances this opinion, but sister remembers from her Ohio history that the funny looking ditch was once a link in the great chain of canals.

Historians credit the Ohio canals with "converting a wide, unimproved state into a profusion of wealth, prosperity and greatness."

The Miami and Erie canal was one of the most important factors in opening western Ohio. The reservoirs and feeders which were built to help furnish water for the canals are in use today as pleasure resorts.

The canal beds themselves are impotent stretches of weeds, crumbling locks, and in some instances, foul water. The state, through the years, has leased various stretches to municipalities and other political subdivisions, usually for public improvements. In Cincinnati the canal bed is a subway.

From 1820 to 1825 the population of Ohio grew from 45,365 to 581,295. The only means of transportation was by land, and the roads virtually impassable constituted an almost unsurmountable barrier to commerce.

Citizens Poor

The state was poor, too. Its population consisted of farmers mainly. In 1825, the entire revenue derived from taxation was only $131,733 annually. In 1822 wheat was selling for 25 cents a bushel, corn for 12-15 cents a bushel and butter brought six cents a pound.

It was these conditions which boosters of the canal promised to remedy, by giving the purchaser a means of getting his products to market at a cheap rate.

A Cincinnati man, Ethan Allen Brown, who was governor of Ohio in 1818, was the first to inquire into

Mildred McLarty Marries Quannah Man Last Tuesday

In a quiet home wedding Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Mildred McLarty of this city and Wayne Williams of Quannah were united in marriage. Only the immediate families and close friends of the two young people were present.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Edith Hanna of Quannah at the piano, the bridal party entered the living room, where Dr. E. F. Lyon of the First Baptist church awaited them. Preceding the bride came her sister and maid-of-honor, Miss Blanche McLarty, wearing a model of georgette in a soft shade of yellow and carrying an arm bouquet of white carnations. The bride entered alone, dressed all in white, with a corsage of pink roses. Her dress was of white georgette, trimmed in white lace. Last came Mr. Williams and his best man, Boone Horne, of Quannah.

Out of town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Williams, his sister, Miss Christine Williams, Miss Edith Hanna and Boone Horne, all of Quannah.

Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McLarty of Vernon, an honor graduate of the local high school and former student in the University of Texas. Mr. Williams, whose home is in Quannah, received his degree in electrical engineering from the State University in the recent commencement exercises of that school where he has made a very good scholastic record.

The young people will visit for a few days with relatives here and in neighboring towns. They will be at home in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where Mr. Williams is to be connected with the Westinghouse Electric Company.—Vernon Record.

LEAGUE DELEGATE TO AMARILLO TELLS OF TRIP

I left for Amarillo Monday, the 22nd, arriving there about 1:30, staying until the 27th.

On the train I was on there were some 15 or 20 delegates. When we arrived in Amarillo there were committees at the train to meet us. We were carried to the Polk Street Methodist church where after registering and paying our fees of one dollar, were assigned rooms where we could go to rest before the night service.

On Monday night addresses were made by our conference president, Mr. A. G. Wough, and the minister of Polk Street church. After the benediction the Amarillo leaguers served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Tuesday morning we were assigned to our classes where we might take up degree work. I had the privilege of taking a course under Brother J. H. Hamblen. It was "Jesus teaching on the use of money."

During the four days very interesting platform addresses were made by the ministers of the Northwest Texas Conference including our returned missionary, Bro. King.

Thursday the Amarillo Leaguers took us for a picnic out to the "Devil's Kitchen." If the old gentleman should live in this place we certainly "chased" him out that evening. Bro. Bickley brought the message of the evening near the mouth of the cave. Only those who have visited these places and canyons can appreciate their beauty. Plainview district won the loving cup with an average of somewhere close to a hundred.

The Crowell chapter received a certificate of Red Seal Standard with an average of 72. This is very low for such a large chapter as Crowell.

I received my Christian culture certificate, having made the required degree work, receiving two units toward my diploma.

Come on folks and help us win the loving cup next year, also our gold seal certificate. We need your help. My dearest wish and my most earnest prayer is having our league up to the standard. Until that time let us keep ever before us our league prayer:

"So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

HAZEL DYKES.

White Way Will Be Installed in City By September 1st

Last week some of the citizens of the town were seeing the business men and soliciting donations for a portion of the funds necessary to install a white way in the business section of Crowell. Mr. Porter is in position to say that the proposition has made such progress as to assure the public that this will be installed and will be ready for use about September 1st. Half the expenses of putting this in will be borne by the citizens and the other half by the Crowell Utilities Company.

There will be 24 standard white-way iron posts on each of which will be mounted a 250-candle power electric light. The white way will extend around the square except on the east side and as far south as the Magnolia Station and north to the city hall. On the square the posts will be 75 feet apart and from the square north and south they will be 150 feet apart.

This will give the business section of Crowell light that will make it as bright as day and is another forward step for our town.

Also Mr. Porter has the contract to take over the pumping plant and city and will have the light plant and water pumping station connected up by August 1st. A direct line will be run from the light plant, thus making the pumping an independent proposition. One of the Fairbanks-Morse engines at the pumping plant will be taken over by the Utilities Company in exchange for motors. The other one will be retained at the pumping station for emergency purposes.

Jonas & Olds Will Build New Feed Store

The contract has been let to Belsher and Adams for the concrete work on a new feed store building to be erected just north of the Jonas old feed store southeast of the square. The material is now on the ground and work will commence at once. The building will be frame with sheet iron and ship-lapped inside and with solid concrete floor and the dimensions will be 24-60 with a 12-foot porch on the front. The old building on the lot south which Mr. Jonas used will be retained for storage room.

The contract calls for completion of the building by September 1st, the time when lease on the present used property expires.

Governor Neff Did Not Say It, He Claims

According to statements issued by ex-Governor Neff, he was misquoted by a Chicago newspaper correspondent in regard to alleged remarks about Mrs. Ferguson's administration. Mr. Neff says he absolutely gave out nothing for the papers and the entire story was fabricated from start to finish.

"In the name of truth and for truth sake only," he says, "I wish to say most emphatically that there was not one true thought, one true sentence, or one true word in the entire interview. No such interview ever took place in Chicago or anywhere else. It was untrue from beginning to end, without even one thread of truth to give it coloring. Some half dozen newspaper reporters in Chicago sought an interview with me. To each and all alike, as is my custom, I declined to make any statement about anybody or anything."

Valuations For Crowell District Show An Increase

According to the rolls just completed by Tax Assessor G. A. Mitchell, the valuations for the Crowell district show an increase over what was shown by the rolls for last year, the difference being in the neighborhood of $164,000.

It is not to be understood, however, that this means an increase of taxes on that difference in the valuations shown on the rolls, for a large amount of taxes was collected for 1924 which did not appear on the rolls. But the rolls this year represent the entire taxable values of the district and amount to $1,794,187. This shows nearly $100,000 more than was estimated for last year and will mean about $1,000 more taxes than was expected to be derived from the valuations of the district.

LAWN PARTY AND REUNION AT JOE W. BEVERLY HOME

The home of J. W. Beverly was the scene of a happy occasion last Thursday evening when about 60 relatives and friends met for a reunion. A long table was constructed on the lawn and this was laden with good things to eat. These were partaken of, picnic style, and heartily enjoyed but the most enjoyable part of the affair was the recounting of old days and the pleasant re-uniting of relatives and friends who have long been separated. Several hours were spent in happy conversation on the lawn.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Tom Hughton and daughter, Miss Eva, of Plano, sister and niece of J. W. and T. M. Beverly and Mrs. T. L. Hughton; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wells of Dalhart, guests of Mrs. Wells' sister, Mrs. Belle Allee; Mrs. Walter Howell of McKinney, sister of Mrs. T. M. Beverly; Mrs. J. B. There Is Woeful Need of Knowledge of Bible, Says Pastor

Rev. J. M. Fuller, pastor of the Methodist church, used as his text Sunday morning and Sunday evening a portion of the 10th verse of the 2nd chapter of Revelations, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."

The speaker called attention to the zeal manifested in business life to attain success, which is well and good, but success is not a command, he said. If it had been many people could not have complied with the command for what is generally regarded as business success is out of reach of many. But to be faithful is within the range of possibility to every one. He cited a number of examples of men who placed as the first important thing of their lives compliance with that command to be faithful in home life for the benefit are a financial success.

One should be faithful in conversation, candid and frank with fellow man, doing nothing to discredit him or wound his feelings. He should be faithful in home life for the benefit of children. The early impressions are those that make for the building of character and the child should be given truth as the only safe foundation for life. The home influence should be greater than any outside influence and should be such as to stand back of the children and make for their usefulness. One should be faithful in his church life, said the speaker, and urged his people to commence now and not wait. He advised more strict home control of children, always using persuasion, but force as the last resort. In this connection attention was called to the lack of Bible knowledge in the home. About 20 minutes a week are given to the training of children and that is in the Sunday schools. There is a woeful lack of Bible knowledge not only among the children but among adults. Too much attention is given to organizations in our churches. They are almost organized to death. The great and fundamental things are overlooked. Bible truth is not taught as it should be.

McMILLAN ARCTIC EXPEDITION USES EXIDE BATTERIES

When MacMillan and his party left on June 20th from Wiscasset, Maine, headed for the Arctic regions, he took with him as a valuable part of his equipment several storage batteries, according to C. E. Flowers, the local Exide dealer.

These storage batteries, which incidentally are Exides, will enable members of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition not only to maintain communication with the rest of the world through their radio but will provide them with many of the conveniences and comforts of our civilization.

Besides the Bowdoin, which carries a set of Exides used for lighting and radio operation, the ship Peary, the new member of the expedition, and the three airplanes are Exide equipped.

The Exides on the airplanes will furnish current for ignition and radio. Storage batteries will also be used in the operation of the delicate scientific instruments which MacMillan takes with him.

These storage batteries will help MacMillan to listen in to the civilized world while he is cut off from it by distance and walls of ice. They will enable him to send those vivid and dramatic stories of the trip which added to the general interest of his last expedition, to Baffin Land.

Upon his return from his last trip, MacMillan said that storage batteries were practically indispensable in modern polar explorations and that a great deal of the success of his trip was due to the battery equipment.

Only those who have actually braved the dangers and hardships of Arctic expeditions realize the comfort and moral effect of good illumination. In his description of the expedition sent in search of Sir John Franklin in 1853, Dr. Elisha Kent Kane, the leader of the expedition, who was one of our early Arctic explorers, described how they had to work by the light "of muddy tapers of cork and cotton floated in saucers" after their supply of oil had become exhausted. Many times in the two volumes on the subject he refers to the demoralizing effect caused by their lack of light, resulting from the scarcity of oil.

MacMillan was probably the first explorer to recognize the value of storage batteries. It was in 1914 on the Crocker Land expedition that MacMillan through the use of Exide batteries introduced electric lights and a few years later on another expedition introduced moving pictures for the first time to the Eskimos. Fate, however, seemed to be against the Crocker expedition and it was with difficulty that they finally reached their destination in the frozen north, with their original equipment of batteries. These batteries were shipwrecked and Lieutenant Fitzhugh Green, a member of the Crocker expedition, says, they went through "4,000 miles of the toughest transportation that any storage battery has ever suffered." Every Home Should Have This Wonder Cook Stove

Every woman can now enjoy the convenience, cleanliness and comfort of cooking with gas. This new Albert Lea Kitchen-kook makes its own gas from common gasoline, burns a clear blue flame, free from smoke, soot and odor, with 50 to 100 per cent more heat than common oil or gasoline stoves.

It not only produces a hotter fire, but the flame comes in direct contact with cooking utensils. There are no heat-wasting "chimneys," no wicks; burners cannot clog and never require cleaning.

Let us demonstrate this better stove and explain the Safety Test for you

Service Is Not Expensive

In late years a great deal has been said about the amounts people can save on their food bills by trading at no service stores.

However, there seems to be something wrong, because we are hearing from people who have been convinced that the saving is very small and if their time is worth anything, there is no saving at all.

All we ask is, compare your bills, price for price, quality for quality, and you will find very little difference in your food expenses. Besides, you have the advantage of telephone and delivery service and charge accounts.

Lynch Davidson will be a candidate again for Governor. Mr. Davidson has much to his credit as a man worthy of that position. At least that is one's impression from his record and in all probability he will be a stronger man next year than he was when in the race before. The people of Texas are already tired of Fergusonism, they were tired before the present administration started, but they were choosing between what they considered two evils. It would be a fine thing for Texas if both those evils could be eliminated before the next campaign comes on.

No one can tell when we may have an earthquake in Texas, but since they have not been common here, we can rest more easily than we could if we lived in California. In that state Santa Barbara has suffered a $25,000,000 loss within the last week, and this is only one of many within the last few years, others not so damaging, however.

There are few localities in Texas that have had sufficient moisture for crops. So far we have heard of none with more promising outlook for cotton than Foard County. This is largely due to the fact that land was in good shape to start with in the spring.

According to official statistics Uncle Sam has to his discredit only 16 lynchings for the year 1923, the smallest number for a single year in forty years. From that it would indicate that we are getting better at least in one particular.

Some men are so unlucky that they have their mouth full of peanuts when it comes time to yell at the ball game.

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Zigfield Folies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

The Hero of the War

Ever since the War was over Nations have been arguing over "Who won it." And if the discussion is not stopped we may have to have another War just to decide who won the last one. If we ever do go into another War, have it understood there is to be a Reteree, and at the finish he is to announce "Who Won and how much." In the last War we paid Transportation both ways and rental on the grounds, and now all England and France say, "We didn't get there soon enough." Germany don't seem to ever have uttered any complaint on the lateness of our arrival, so that just shows you, you cant please everybody, even for Humanity's sake. I must bring the word "Bull" Durham in this even if I have to drag it in by the horns. It just struck me, and after careful examination of complaints and statistics, I find that "Bull" Durham was the only thing connected with America during the War that France and England haven't been able to criticize. It must be good.

Will Rogers

P.S. There is going to be another piece in this paper soon. Look for it.

SIXTY-FIVE YEARS AGO!

In 1860 a blend of tobacco was born—"Bull" Durham. On quality alone it has won recognition wherever tobacco is known. It still offers the public this—more flavor, more enjoyment and a lot more money left at the end of a week's smoking.

SAFE AND SANE SWIMMING

If all of the safeguards for a good swim, advised by medical authorities, were followed to the letter, comparatively few of us could ever know the joy of a refreshing dip, unless we were so fortunately situated that a lake or the seashore were available.

There is no intention of ridiculing common sense rules that should be observed in indulging in this fine summer recreation, but to every boy and many men who are still boys at heart, the old swimming hole ever has a lure that can't be resisted.

While it is true drownings do not account for all the deaths from swimming each summer, there are many who have no access to sanitary pools, and must take a chance when they enter the water. They can be reasonably certain as to its purity, however, if the water is moving and is cleansing itself. Of course, the risk that accompanies swimming in stagnant water should not be taken.

Aside from the water's purity, there are other simple rules for safe and sane swimming that every boy should know and understand, else he may pay with his life for his folly.

No one should go in the water when overheated because of the danger of cramps. Neither should one swim immediately after eating; an interval of at least two hours should elapse.

The splendid tonic effects of swimming are lost when the swimmer remains in the water until over tired and an undesirable reaction is substituted. The beneficial effects of a swim can best be felt by not remaining in the water longer than thirty minutes.

Allowing wet clothes to dry on the body is regarded as a dangerous practice that may lead to serious complications. It is much better to enter the water several times daily, taking a brisk rub after each swim and changing into dry clothes.

About Ohio Canals Hundred Years Ago

the possibilities of canal building in this state. He corresponded with De Witt Clinton and became so enthusiastic on the subject that the entire project was jibed at as "Brown's Folly."

To Alfred Kelley, a Cleveland lawyer, and chairman of the board of canal commissioners, however is given credit of being the "father of Ohio canals."

After a great deal of preliminary discussions and investigations, usually marked by heated and personal debate, the necessary legislation was enacted to permit the start on July 21, 1825. The canals were estimated to cost $5,715,203 but before the system was finished it cost the state $13,967,552, a sum to stagger the imagination in those days.

The Ohio and Erie canal was finished in 1833, but the Miami and Erie was not completed until 1845. Both connected Lake Erie and the Ohio river, but the former linked up Portsmouth and Cleveland and the latter ran thru the Miami Valley. Celina reservoir, known as Lake St. Marv's, built in Mercer and Auglaize counties near the watershed of the state, is one of the largest artificial bodies of water in the world. It covers 15,749 acres and cost $582,222.

The Loramie and Lewistown reservoirs, which compose Indian Lake were located in Logan and Shelby counties. The Licking reservoir was constructed in Licking, Perry and Fairfield counties and the Portage in Summit county.

Canal building in the state ended in 1847, when the railroads started to come in, and at that time there were 813 miles of the waterways. For 30 years they served as carriers of freight and in 35 years their receipts exceeded the expenditures by $7,073,111.

The total cost of the system was $29,023,663 and the gross receipts up to the present time, it is estimated, will total around $18,000,000 or $19,000,000.

Of late years, the lease and grant of canal lands has become a subject for controversy in the general assembly, the dispute usually centering around the terms of the grant.
