Miss Nora Glover and Archie McMillan of Crowell attended the box supper at Gambleville school house Friday night.

The box supper was well attended Friday night. The proceeds were $72.21 which go to pay for our new organ and other things.

Miss Edna Glover is at home once more. She has been staying with her sister, Mrs. A. J. Francis, who has been sick for the past two months.

Too young or too old to get married, we can't decide which. But there were some Thalia boys who attended the box supper at Gambleville Friday night who were afraid the girls would propose to them (as this is leap year) so they bought a box each and then got in a car and ran off with them. Though I guess they did not have any supper at home and were waiting to get a square meal, as there was enough in each box for two people. We hope they enjoyed their supper, though the girls would not have proposed. "I don't think."

You Don't Need to Sicken, Grip, or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

 The oat crop will be much greater than usual on account of failure to get wheat planted last fall.
 Mrs. O'Connell of Wichita Falls came up to visit relatives but when she found the conditions here she flew.

 The dear people on route 1 failed to get their mail on Monday. The train brought it on time but the agent had to deliver it and the rural man had to make his trip without it. The agent was not to blame, however. He wanted to deliver the mail but his wife made him wash the dishes and then he was tired out.
 Our people talk of petitioning to have Mrs. Thomas reinstated at the depot. Everything was well while she was in charge. She met all her customers with a smile and the mail was always on time. Now, we have a great ugly man there and things are different. We were always opposed to women holding office but we can see now where we were wrong.
 Our gin has closed down for the season and it would be well if it could be closed forever. Our people have had no service and now the old rattle trap should be dumped into the creek and the people should have a gin of their own that is not owned and manipulated by the oil men. The amount we lose on our cotton seed and the losses on badly ginned cotton would pay for a first class gin of our own.
 The railroads have been returned to their legitimate owners and now let us see what will happen. We may expect higher rates for the roads are in a deplorable condition, but if we get better service we should not complain. We will have to dig up $700,000,000 to pay for the use of the roads. We always favored Government ownership but we want no more government supervision. We have been Hooverized enough.

A ROTTEN BUSINESS CUSTOM

It is reported in several places that the habit of tipping is being adopted by many workers, who figure they can make more money that way. One report has it that railway switchman hold up cars of merchandise until they are tipped. This is a new form of the graft, but not particularly surprising.

It is related by Richard Spillane that a salesman, when the purchasing agents of large railways had great authority and control over the purchase of needed supplies, used to walk into the office of a buyer, and cutting a hundred dollar bill in half, send in one half by a messenger, with the word that the other half of the bill wished to see the buyer. In Great Britain it was the custom of lawyers, after getting their fees, to expect another "reviving" or "refreshing" fee just before the trial.

Waiters and porters are freely tipped, but if the habit is to spread we will become a nation of grafters. The cost of hats has been the cause of much complaint, but why shouldn't this bother men when they pay ten cents a tip to a porter to take care of it for them. It is recorded that a hat which cost its owner $5 when he purchased it cost him more than $30 to hat pirates to get it back.

DEFENDING AMERICA

Thousands of Americans read the dispatches of Philip Gibbs during the war. They will appreciate his warm defense in the London Chronicle, where he indignantly denies that America has turned its back upon starving Europe.

"So far from ignoring the starving peoples of Europe" says Gibbs, "America has been the one great Power which has come to their rescue, with an immense, unflinching, unexhaustible generosity." When in New York Gibbs says he found it "full of beggars from Europe who were going around with the hat and getting it filled every time. They were beggars of high rank, in uniform and accredited by their governments, and they were shameless in their demands for money to construct bombarded villages or to bolster up bankrupt societies or nations."

While Europe was "still enforcing the blockade" and lengthening the "agony of the underfed masses" America was preparing to relieve "on a gigantic scale" the distress in defeated Hungary and Austria. Denying that Americans are tired of generosity Gibbs declares they "will go on relieving the distress of starving countries, but they are tired of granting more loans to great nations like England and France, who are not starving, but whose financial condition is rotten, owing very largely to their failure to face facts and reconstruct their systems of national economy."

THE PURSUITS OF PEACE

A famous character, a churchman, in a famous play lamented his fate. The burden of his cry was that if he had served his God with half the zeal he had served his King he would have been better cared for.

The world today is lamenting its tumultuous condition. International trade and finance are crumbling. World order is endangered and the center of civilization may be swept from Europe in the wreck and charred remains of a terrible warfare. Europe today may lament the fact that it has not followed the pursuits of peace with half, nor even a hundredth, the zeal it followed war.

During the World War the cost is reported to have been $212,268,000,000, or an average of $329.91 for each person in each of the warring countries. Imagine what that sum would have accomplished in the normal pursuits of peace and better living!

Europe is not alone guilty. In the United States we follow war much better than peace. So eagerly and enthusiastically did we respond to war's demands that even now European countries owe us $350,000,000 interest alone! Imagine our country devoting $350,000,000 to the pursuits of peace—say, building good roads all over the nation!

But, we give war what it demands, and we deny peace-time developments. Consequently, we bewail our condition. If we served peace with one-half the zeal that we served war we would be in better shape.

What is said to have been one of the boldest and most daring bank robberies ever known in North Texas, was successfully executed at Plano, Texas, last Friday night when the First National Bank of that city was robbed of an amount estimated at not less than $25,000. But the loss to the bank is not to be compared with that sustained by a family with a widowed mother and two fatherless children made so when G. W. Rye, night watchman, lost his life by a pistol shot when in discharging his duty he crossed the path of the robbers. The robbers made their escape by auto.

An aviator at Dayton, Ohio, recently reached a height of 36,000 feet when his supply of oxygen was exhausted. He then lost control of his machine and fell for five miles, when he succeeded in partially gaining control of his machine and making a safe landing. A temperature of 67 below zero is reported at the great height.

RESOLUTIONS

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions on the death of our brother, J. A. Johnson, beg leave to report:

Resolved, that in the death of brother J. A. Johnson, our lodge has suffered the loss of a member whose every-day life exemplified the principles of our noble order, the community a neighbor who can ill be spared, and the country a citizen of the highest worth. We submit without murmuring, but not without grief, to this dispensation of an inscrutable Providence and tender to his bereaved companion and son our sincere and heartfelt sympathy.

S. C. AULD, MRS. SALLIE E. WOODS, MRS. ROBERT COLE.

BROKE ALL MULISH RECORDS

If Animal Committed Suicide He is the First of His Tribe Thus to Shuffle Off.

We are not prepared to accept without mental reservation the story from Brooklyn, that a mule, perhaps an ex-service mule, committed suicide by plunging through the plate-glass front of an undertaker's office, after imbibing freely of 2.75 per cent beer. We know the mule; have known him from an early age, and we know the decimal stuff that passes for beer. That is to say, we have heard about it. No self-respecting mule—particularly if he came from Missouri—would drink 2.75 in the first place, and in the second place, if he did drink it it would not go to his head. It might go to his legs, his hindlegs, which are naturally of a nervous temperament, and likely to reach out at any time. We can imagine no better way to put a "kick" in the brew than by first putting the brew in a mule.

The average mule is looking for an excuse for kicking, anyway. Feed him up on the beer of commerce and leave the rest to his natural predisposition. He will register disgust in the obvious way.

And then again mules never commit suicide. We have heard of men committing suicide by twisting the mule's tail, but the hybrid himself is much in love with life. There's even a rumor in the South and Southwest that mules never die; that, barring accidental dissolution, they live forever. Be that as it may, we do not recall that we ever saw a mule suffering from age, or that was feeble in his right hind shoe.—New York Morning Telegraph.

MAGIC IN GOLD AND HUMOR

How Happy Combination of the Two Put End to "Run" on Famous English Bank.

A story is told, with some reservation, by a London paper, concerning the grandfather of the well-known Quaker peer, Lord Peckover. The story goes that, during a run on the bank of which he was a principal, at one time known as that of Gurney, Birkbeck, Peckover & Co., he exhibited, within sight of the counter, bags full of gold, surmounted by a peck measure, also filled with sovereigns. "You see," he explained to the depositors anxious to draw their balances, "that there is enough money for you all, and a peck over." This is said to have terminated the run. Such is the magic of gold, and of humor. One feels by no means certain that stacks of "fivers" would have achieved the same happy result. Or, to revert to the time of George III, when the sum of two-pence was represented by a solid two-ounce coin, would a large pile of these weighty "cartwheels" have allayed the fears of the small depositor? No! Not even a warehouseful!—Christian Science Monitor.

Hope Not All Abandoned.

Miss Threeyears was watching the grizzly bear in his new cage to the northwest of the lion house. A recently constructed chain of bear and other animal cages there has added immensely to the attraction of the place.

Somebody threw the old grizzly a peanut, and then another, but both nuts hit the bars and fell just outside the cage. The bear reached his paw through and tried to scoop the tempting nuts in, but his long, yellow claws seemed to be in his way.

He had to use his claws as a sort of rake, and the spaces between the prongs of his rake proved too wide, so the peanuts slipped through.

Miss Threeyears was most sympathetic. The poor bear couldn't get his peanuts. But there was yet hope. The keeper would be around shortly with the bear's dinner, and then— "Maybe he can get it wif a fork or a 'poon," she said.—Washington Star.

PROMINENT MERCHANT

FOUND LASTING RELIEF

In a South Carolina county-seat a prominent merchant suffered for years with eczema. Money was not a consideration if he could only be relieved from the terrible itching, burning, and irritation. He scratched his back at nights until it bled, but the soreness only became worse. He visited Western Springs, and consulted various physicians, but never found a permanent cure until a friend brought Zemerine to his notice. He tried this great treatment, and now sings its praises highly. Zemerine is a wonderful treatment for diseased skin, especially eczema, tetter, rash, itch, and similar disorders. It is sold upon the fairest basis imaginable. Your money will be returned if it doesn't help you after a fair trial. You can't get Zemerine at your drug store. Send $1 or 50 cents to the Erie Chemical Co., Orangeburg, S. C. A jar will be sent you direct.

Kitchen Needs

Preparedness is the good housewife's slogan. From the time she starts to cook the meal til the time she washes and dries the last pan she has frequent need of many things; she will be hindered greatly if she does not have them right at hand.

For instance, there are lards and cooking oils; there are flavoring extracts and other seasonings; there is flour and meal; canned goods and bulk goods; vegetables and fruits—all of this she will need in the run of a day.

There are soaps and cleansing compounds that she needs for the cleaning up afterward. For all these and other kitchen needs she can rely on us.

A DANGEROUS SITUATION

During 1919 Europe did a big business with the United States. When the books were balanced for the year Europe owed this country $4,435,000,000. To pay it she had gold to the amount of $3,354,000,000. The question arises how can Europe repay?

It is proper for this country to take pride in its great strides during the war, but at the same time it is not to our advantage to have such a tremendous trade balance. Europe must furnish goods in exchange for goods. It is the only way that she can repay.

Thousands of Americans have gloried over the declining rates of foreign exchange without seeing what it means. Whereas, before the war, when Europe bought in this country she paid at the normal rate of exchange today she must pay a high premium. This is how it works:

Pound sterling is off almost one-third. An article, made in this country, which was sold in 1914 for $4.86 cost the British one pound. Today, if the same price prevailed, and the same article sold here for $4.86 the British buyer would have to cover it by one and one-third pounds.

France is worse. Her franc is off two-thirds. The article above referred to, which sold in this country in 1914 for $4.86 cents would have cost the Frenchman slightly more than twenty-five francs. Today it costs him, without any rise in price here, over seventy francs.

In 1914 a British pound was equivalent to $4.86 and it took only 5.18 francs to equal a dollar. Today the British pound is equal to $3.34 and it takes 14.5 francs to equal the dollar. Italian currency is worse, and German and Austrian coins are much worse.

MORGAN NOT ALWAYS HARD
Great Financier Proved He Had Kindly Heart as Well as a Keen Business Mind.

There is no better test of a man's bigness than his way of handling subordinates who make mistakes.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the elder, had a clerk who, living beyond his means, sought to make up the balance through speculation; and, having failed, helped himself to the firm's money.

The culprit was called into Mr. Morgan's private office.

He expected arrest. Instead he was told to go home and tell his wife all about it. "And tomorrow morning," said Mr. Morgan, "see me again."

The clerk obeyed, and Mr. Morgan, to the young fellow's amazement, handed him in bills the full amount of his peculation—$5,400—with: "Put that back where you took the other from. It is a loan from me, and I expect you to return it as soon as you can. None of the other clerks know anything about it. Let me see if you can't be a man."

After many months the youngster restored to Mr. Morgan the last dollar of the debt.

After counting the pile of bills on his desk, to which he had added those just given him, Mr. Morgan observed: "Well, my boy, it was a bit harder saving it than losing it, I'll warrant. Now take it home and give it to your wife. It's a safe bet that she saved most of it."—Boston Post.

One Car to 24 Persons.

There is a motor vehicle in the United States for every 24 persons; in Canada the proportion is probably one to each 50; in England, one to 200; in Denmark, one to 300, and in France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Germany about one to every 400, says the Compressed Air Magazine, New York. In 1917 it was estimated that Italy had one car to each 1,000 of population; Portugal to each 1,000, Spain to each 1,500, Austria-Hungary, to each 2,350, and Russia to each 5,000. In Australia there was one for each 140 of population, and in South America, as a whole, one for each 1,430.

Many a minor city in the United States has more cars than the whole of China or Japan.

Animals Warned by Instinct.

An animal will often manifest the wildest alarm at the sight of a snake, or on hearing one hiss, although it has never before come in contact with one of these reptiles. This power of transmitting experiences is a wonderful provision of nature, for if every living creature had to learn entirely by its personal experience to avoid its enemies and ascertain what kinds of food were wholesome or the reverse a great number of species would rapidly become extinct.

SOME FACTS AND FANCIES ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

There Has Been Much Misrepresentation in America About People and Conditions.

By MAXIMO M. KALAW,
Secretary of the Philippine Mission.

A certain lady at the St. Louis Exposition saw at a ballroom a brown complexioned man in faultless evening dress and accosted him with the inquiry, "I suppose you are Japanese, sir?"

The man addressed replied, "No, madam."

"Then you must be Chinese," she said.

"No, I am not. I am a Filipino," he replied.

"How's that?" asked the lady. "I thought they were all savages living in the woods."

"Well, I'll tell you how I came here," he said. "A month before I left the Philippines I was living in the woods, but the American Governor decided to catch as many wild men as possible, train them and send them over here. So here I am, just as you see." And the St. Louis lady actually believed him.

That is what you would call fancies about the Philippines. The fact is, however, that the 11,000,000 Filipinos and their ancestors have been civilized and Christians for 300 years; that the non-Christian population, according to the census of 1918, is only 500,000, and even these are not all uncivilized.

Another fancy is that not until the coming of the Americans were school buildings seen in the Islands, roads built, or substantial houses erected. Do you know that for hundreds of years the Filipinos have had colleges and schools and that the University of Santo Tomas is only twenty-five years older than Harvard? That as early as 1803, out of a population of 4,000,000 people, there were 841 schools for boys and 833 for girls? That in 1802, eight years before the coming of the Americans, there were 2,137 schools?

"To grant self-government to Luzon under Aguinaldo would be like granting self-government to an Apache reservation under some local chief." Thus spoke a former President of the United States during the Filipino-American war. Exaggeration could be an excuse at a time when the dignity of the American people demanded the extinction of Filipino opposition, but do you know that the Philippine Republic, before the American occupation of the Islands, had the approval of prominent Americans who were on the spot—like John Barrett, Director of the Pan-American Union, who compared it favorably with the Japanese government? That Admiral Dewey considered the Filipinos better fitted for self-government than the Cubans? That they had drafted a constitution at Malolos which elicited the approval of distinguished Republicans like the late Senator George F. Hoar? That before the coming of the Americans they had produced national heroes like the martyred Jose Rizal, pronounced by a Republican congressman, Representative Cooper, as the noblest victim that has ever fallen into the clutches of tyranny?

And do you know that the Filipinos have not had for hundreds of years any caste system, blood distinction or royal families, and that, unlike their oriental sisters, they are the only Christian people in the Orient?

People have pictured an ignorant mass of Filipinos, illiterate, poor, living a life of servitude for a few wealthy land owners and foreigners, with no houses or farms or property of their own. Do you know that 70 per cent. of the people above ten years of age can read and write and that this percentage of literacy is almost as high as some of the states of the Union? That it is higher than in any country of South America, higher than the literacy of the Spanish people, and unquestionably above that of any of the new countries recognized in Europe? Do you know that there are a million and a half farms in the Philippines and that 98 per cent. of these farms are owned by Filipinos. In other words, that out of the 11,000,000 Christian Filipinos, 8,000,000 of them at least live on their own farms, with houses of their own, independent of any absentee landlord or foreign master? That 91 per cent. of the urban property consisting of houses and lands is owned by the natives of the Philippines, and only 9 per cent. is in the hands of foreigners? Yet these are facts cabled by Acting Governor Charles Emmett Yeator to the War Department from the recent census estimates.

Having solemnly promised the Filipinos their independence and having gone before the world as the champion of self-determination, the Filipino people cannot understand how America can consistently refuse to make good these promises.

The Philippine Islands have a mild tropical climate. The nights are cool and sunstrokes are unknown. The temperature record for the past thirty years shows an average of 80 degrees.

MEAT MARKET

Carries everything in the line of an up-to-date meat market, together with packing house meats such as Boiled Ham, Mince Ham, etc., except beef. Will also carry pure hog lard, the kind your mother used to make during hog-killing time.

Come in for a fresh tender steak of beef or pork for dinner, or maybe its pure hog sausage you want. If so the City Meat Market is the place to get it.

with this Curtis built-in ironing board. It is always ready for use, always clean, always handy, never in the way, no flimsy folding legs to worry with, no need for chairs or props, no heavy boxes to lift. Equally convenient to iron the week's wash or a single piece.

If you have flat irons, build the cabinet into the wall by the range so as to save steps in using the irons. If you use an electric iron, put the socket inside the cabinet.

This board is made of light, white pine which will not warp, crack or split. It is contained within a built-in case made of durable yellow pine.

The board can be raised or lowered to suit the height of the person working at it.

If you build a new home you want to be sure to include this extraordinary convenience. But you can remodel your old kitchen and equip it, too, with this work-saver.

The cost is hardly worth mentioning compared to the backaches it will save you.

Decide where you want this ironing board in your kitchen and have it built-in. Begin now to save work, time and steps in the kitchen.

EGYPT AND COTTON
Most of us regard cotton as Nature's gift to the South, and have never thought much of the possibility of a strong competitor in the world's markets. Of course, most of us knew that Great Britain was attempting to introduce cotton production on a large scale in Egypt, but never bothered much with following its success. A recent dispatch from a correspondent of the London Daily Express at Cairo tells of the unrivaled prosperity of the Egyptian cotton growers as follows:
"Illiterate natives living in mud huts have made 20,000 pounds sterling out of cotton deals. Some have made 100,000 pounds. They are buying land at inflated prices and paying off mortgages which are regarded as family heirlooms. One British official says that the country has made at least 100,000,000 pounds. Naturally there is an influx of new millionaires in Cairo with a huge demand for automobiles, jewelry, new houses and all kinds of luxuries, but in the provinces many of the newly rich have not changed their standard of living at all."

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH AMERICA?

An unknown author asks and answers the question as follows, and he may be right about it:

What's the matter with America these days?

Too many diamonds, not enough alarm clocks.

Too many silk shirts, not enough blue flannel ones.

Too many pointed-toe shoes, and not enough square toed ones.

Too many serge suits and not enough overalls.

Too many décolleté and not enough aprons.

Too many satin upholstered limousines and not enough cows.

Too many consumers and not enough producers.

Too much oil stock and not enough savings accounts.

Too much envy of the results of hard work and too little desire to emulate it.

Too many desiring short cuts to wealth and too few willing to pay the price.

Too much of the spirit of "get while the getting is good" and not enough old-fashioned Christianity.

Too much discontent and it vents itself in mere complaining and too little real effort to remedy conditions.—Clarendon News.

WHICH IS CRUSOE'S ISLAND?

Opinion Seems to Favor Tobago Above the Claims Made by Adherents of Juan Fernandez.

For many years Juan Fernandez, a Chilean island off the eastern coast of South America, was known as Crusoe's island, because another adventurer had spent five years there in solitude, and it was thought for some time that Defoe had recorded this hermit's experience. But following Crusoe's directions that he landed on an island in a latitude of 11 degrees nearer the mouth of the Orinoco river, and in sight of the Island of Trinidad, one comes upon the Island of Tobago, the only one answering the description.

An interesting discovery which gave prominence to Tobago as the real Crusoe's island occurred some years ago, when the skeleton of a goat was unearthed in a cave on the island. This coincided remarkably with Crusoe's statement that he found a dying goat in a hillside cave and later buried it there. "Crusoe's goat" became for a time an object of great popular interest and figured as a prominent exhibit at the Chicago World's fair.

Tobago's failure to obtain greater recognition of its importance as the "only authentic Robinson Crusoe island" is doubtless due to the fact that it is a retiring little island, concerned chiefly with its plantations and trade. Leaving Crusoe out altogether, Tobago has had an eventful history, from the time it was discovered by Columbus, on his third voyage, until England took it from France in 1803, and started to turn it into a profitable colony.

REPEATED HIS GREAT WORK

When Thomas Carlyle Proved Inevitable to the "Stings and Arrows of Outrageous Fortune."

In 1835 there occurred an incident which would have deranged an ordinary man. Thomas Carlyle was living at 5 Cheyne row, Chelsea, near London. He had not earned a penny, says he to himself, "by the craft of literature for 23 months." But with the push of a tiger he was plowing his way through his "History of the French Revolution." The first volume was finished. It had taken him five months to write it. He loaned the Mss. to John Stuart Mill. On a certain morning Mill called upon Carlyle, his face as white as ashes. After two hours of awkward fumbling Mill managed to tell it—he had left the priceless Mss. on a desk and the housemaid had taken it to light the morning fire in the grate! Carlyle was like a stricken man. But one day, as he sat dumbly at his window, he saw cheery bricklayers building a house, brick by brick. He burst into tears and, sobbing like a child, he cried: "I, too, can bring back thought by thought!" He did. He recalled all of the Mss. and rewrote it. What torture!

Snow Houses in the Arctic.

A snow house is the most adaptable of dwellings. If it gets too warm either for the comfort of the inhabitants or because the roof begins to thaw, you can lower the temperature by enlarging the ventilating hole with your knife. If it gets too cold, you make the hole smaller by stuffing a mitten into it. If the roof begins to thaw because it is made of blocks that are too thick, you send a man out with a long knife or machete, and he thins them down until the frost without neutralizes the heat from within, and the thawing stops. But if you have made your roof too thin, and hoar-frost begins to form from your breath and from the steam that rises from the cooking, then a man goes out with a shovel. Instead of a knife, and throws a little soft snow on the roof, to blanket it from the excessive cold.—Harper's Magazine.

The Proof.

I may not rise to wealth and fame and hear the millions praise my name. Not many do. But just the same, I'll do the best I can. If someone else excel my work, let in my breast no malice lurk. That is no reason I should shirk or curse creation's plan. In life's great race where all must run, we cannot all be number one; but someone when the race is done must be an "also ran." And if the man who lost can smile and say "I'm beaten by a mile, but still I'm glad I made the trial," he's proved himself a man.—Kansas City Star.

Important Italian Industry.

Announcement has been made of the formation at Rome, under the auspices of a leading bank, of a large company for the manufacture of safes, vaults and other equipment for insuring the safety of money, securities and valuables. This new industry will fill a long-felt want in Italy, which has always been dependent upon foreign sources of supply for safes and similar equipment.

The Real Trouble.

"The pulling down of the temple was the case of Samson's remarkable feat."

"Remarkable feat? I should call it a case of fallen arches."

Plenty of Them.

"Did Jones get any damages in that assault case?"

"You ought to have seen him when they took him to the hospital!"
