and Gordon of Seymour. Besides merely stating the facts as to the birth and death of a character like that of Mrs. Witherspoon, we always want to speak our real sentiments regarding the life, but in the case of one like this we feel unworthy. We can not say just what ought to be said, for we feel that such is beyond the possibility of human expression. Let it be said, however, that a life so great and good can not be lived without making its impression for good. If there is any one who deserves the highest praise for a well-spent life it is a mother who has been a real woman in every sense of the word, and Mrs. Witherspoon was such a character. Her life is known to have been one of devotion to her Maker and to her family. What more could be said for any one? Such

We have had dozens of inquiries as to why we failed to get out last week. Many of our friends learned even before publication day what was the matter and so they did not expect the News to issue. Others did not learn until this week, many of whom came into the office and others phoned wanting to know what was the reason they did not get their paper.

know. The entire News force was put out of commission so far as publishing a paper was concerned, and so there was nothing to do but to let it go by. It looked like the first of the week we might come out, though crippled we knew, when half of the Kimsey family were in bed at one time, but it looked worse when T. B. Klepper came down with the flu, and then even worse when the entire Kimsey bunch, except the writer himself piled up with the disease. That was the situation on the morning of ABOUT AUSTIN | Thursday, the busiest of all days with Leo Spencer made a trip last week us. "UNCLE" JOE JOHNSON DEAD

On Thursday, Jan. 22, J. A. Johnson died at his home in Crowell after an illness of a few days from pneumonia.

Mr. Johnson was one of the pioneers of this country, having come in the early days, and for the most part he had been engaged in the cattle business. At the time of his death he owned a half interest in the Worsham & Johnson ranch in this county.

Mr. Johnson had made his home in Crowell for some ten years, having resided formerly at Chillicothe. He lived to a ripe age, being in his 68th year. Had he lived until April 2, he would have been 68.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. J. A. Johnson, and one son, Baxter Johnson. He also has two brothers living in Tennessee.

The remains were shipped to Chillicothe Friday following his death where interment took place under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity.

MYSTERIOUS WIRELESS SOUNDS Before the war wireless operators noted mysterious undecipherable signals, which could not be explained. These interruptions "occurred simultaneously" at New York and London with "identical intensity" which leads Marconi, the wireless inventor, to believe that "they must have originated at a very great distance."

It seems that "the Morse signal letters occur with much greater frequency than others" but nothing has yet been picked up that "could be translated into a definite message.' The spectacular mind dwells on the possibility that the attempts of other planets to communicate with the Marconi, "would not rule out the possibility of this but there is no proof," as we "have not yet the slightest proof of their origin," which may be due to "natural disturbances at a great distance," as for instance, 'an eruption of the sun causing electrical disturbances.'

At any rate we may dwell on the idea of exchanging thoughts with other worlds. Even so, can that help us? And how could the signalmen of space know that we "get" them. If their message came through how many people would believe what they said, if it failed to agree with their prejudices.

Liver Tone is taking its place. "Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteeed by every druggist. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasanttasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

Scaw Fell Pike, Cumberland's mountain summit, is to be the property of Englishmen in perpetuity. The highest hill of England is the very to the men of Cumbria who fought in the war, and as a token of gratitude to those who gave their lives for the cause of the world's liberty. Truly a gift in the spirit of Ruskin and one which causes the Manchester Guardian to utter deepest appreciation-a gift, it says, through which "even we common people may get a momentary entry into the ecstasies of the poets and see the earth and everything in it mystically appareled with 'the glory and the freshness of a dream." Scaw Fell Pike has the venerable distinction of being among the most ancient mountains of Europe, outdistancing the Alps in point of years.

Shifting Misery.

C. Winslow, a Terre Haute business man, recently went back to his home town for a visit. While there he met an elderly village character in the street. The man was bent and complaining. "Why, how are you?" began Mr. Winslow, genially.

"Not very well, fact I'm pretty poorly," whined the man. "You see I have the most terrible misery here," and he indicated his stomach.

"But I thought it was in your neck when I was home last," Mr. Winslow commented. "Yes, it was there then," the man agreed, "but you see since then I swallowed that misery and it's been in my stomach ever since."

Boom in Lobsters. Very extensive lobster catches are reported off the eastern coast of Canada. Recently the boats were taking these faster than the factories could pack them. The catch was divided over the various canning factories. One boat, belonging to a well-known fleet, took as many as 4,400 fish. A resident of Escuminac reports that he put 9,000 live lobsters, which he was unable to pack at the time, into a boat which he had transformed into a cage, and sunk it in order to keep the fish alive until such time as he could use

KEEP THIN AND LIVE LONG

The search for eternal life has continued for a long time. The best available authority, the life insurance tables, seem to show that the key to longer life is in keeping thin. This is valuable information to those of our readers who are already attempting to lose several, or more, pounds. In the present day of high priced clothes and revolving doors a slim figure saves money and means easy manoeuvres.

Another good way to live long is to keep young. This is so because a youthful spirit helps one bear the aging years. Work as hard as you please, but never worry. If your business worries you, cut it out. Get at something that you like, and seek a side-line in the business of being young. Play as much as you can, and in the open if possible.

This is good advice, but as another editor remarks, it is mere piffle, compared to what can be accomplished with the miraculous operations of monkey glands, our glands and brains.

Lots of people, the Irish and pro-Germans, get a great deal of fun out of comments that Great Britain is bankrupt as a result of the war. She may be, but she got, either by cession or mandate, Samoa, the German East Indies south of the equator, most of German East Africa, the whole of southwest Africa, parts of Kamerun Togoland, the suzerainty of Egypt, also Zionist Palestine, Mesopotamia, and one might add, Persia. The New York Herald has been bought by Frank A. Munsey. This brings to mind the response of its late owner, when a syndicate offered to buy it. Bennett was cabled "Is the Herald for sale." He replied "Yes." "What is the price," cabled the nibblers. "Three cents daily, five cents Sunday," was the response.

A leading financial writer says last summer any one with half an eye could tell that money would be tight this winter. That is nothing at all; we could tell it was going to be tight this winter, next summer, next winter and several more to come.

The harnessing of natural power will be the secret of future progress, according to Arthur J. Balfour, British statesman. This will have to be done to conserve the coal and fuel reserves in the Earth.

whose remains now lie in the cemetery near Tepic, in the newly made state of Nayarit, gave the key to the whole Mexican problem by his strategy in organizing armies, declares Charles Johnston, in The Atlantic. Lozado was notable because he waged war Diaz, and because he raised and enough to attack great cities like Tepic from 1870 to 1877.

It was Lozado's custom, when a new campaign against the central authorities was in contemplation, to send his thus destroying the chief food supply of the native villages.

The peons starved for a while, and watched their women and children starve, then they came up the mountains in a body and begged Lozado to enroll them in his army of bandits to lead them forth to plunder, which for them meant simply food.

This gives a clew to the situation, shows that banditry and plunder are the last resources of hungry peons, pressed beyond the verge when their merger sustenance is cut off.

MARKS RICHELIEU'S TRIUMPH

Why Eleventh Day of November Is Known in French History as the "Day of Dupes."

Few people know that the whimsical title, "The Day of Dupes" has been reputable game of politics. given to the 11th of November, 1630. and that it was so named on the occasion of the triumph of Cardinal Richelieu over his enemies, who imagined they had cast him to the ground, never to rise again.

Marie de Medici had prevailed upon her weakling son, Louis XIII, to dismiss him from office as prime minister, and this scheming woman had no difficulty in persuading the fickle and weak-minded king to carry out her wishes, and, furthermore, to raise to that dignity Richelieu's mortal enemy, the Marshal De Merillac.

Richelieu was prevailed upon by his friends to make one last effort to prevent the ruin which seemed ready to fall on him. With this view he proceeded to Versailles, then only a small hunting lodge recently purchased by Louis, where he had an interview with his sovereign.

The result was that the king again surrendered himself into the cardinal's hands, and Richelieu succeeded in binding the chains on Louis more firmly than ever, establishing himself with a sway which was absolute. He did not fail to take vengeance on shal De Merrillac was brought to the scaffold.

Football Language in Britain.

However the ordinary journalist may have to curb his pen, the descriptive reporter of football can still give rein to his fancy and his rhetoric with little fear of the sub-editorial blue pencil.

To him a match is usually a "tourney," and the ball lends itself to such varied description as "the leather," "the oval," "the globe," or even the "bounding sphere." If the players hail from Sheffield they are "knifegrinders;" from Northampton, "cobblers;" from Luton, "strawhatters;" from Reading, "biscuiters;" from Devonshire, "cider drinkers," and from West Ham, "hammers."

The swift runner is "twinklefooted." or has "brilliant hoofs." If a player is skillful in head play, he "uses the cranium with brilliant effect," or does "good brain-box work." If the ball hits a man on the nose, he "receives a smacker from the spheroid on his proboscis."

Brother Dutton's Noble Work. The American secretary for the Mission to Lepers estimates that there are not fewer than 2,000,000 lepers in the world, 6,000 of whom have been converted to Christianity. Apropos of this, the Hawaiian legislature has offered to pension Brother Joseph Dutton, who succeeded Father Damien at the leper settlement on Molokai. Brother Dutton has not been off the leper Island for 33 years, and has spent $10,000 of his own money to relieve the poor creatures among whom he lives. But he refused the pension, wishing no reward and expecting to work on to the end in the cause to which he long ago devoted his life. The world has heroes of whom it rarely hears; and it cannot be otherwise than that such self-sacrifice must win a higher reward than governments or the plaudits of peoples can confer.

Jewelry Awaiting Purchasers. A note of interest from London concerns a pearl necklace, valued at $1,-500,000, which is in London awaiting sale. It is probable that the necklace will be offered by public auction. The pearls are remarkable not only for their size, but for their delicate tinting. There is at the present time much very valuable jewelry in process of realization on behalf of Russian and other owners, who have no option but to convert it into cash.

CUT PREDICTED IN CLOTHING PRICES

Howard E. Figg, Special Assistant Attorney General, after a conference recently in New York City with the representatives of the dry goods retailers, made the statement that material reductions in clothing prices may be expected from nation-wide adoption by the clothing trade of suggestions put forward by a committee of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. The suggestions of the retailers, will be made public soon. One of the retailers' proposals is said to be that the manufacturer stand the entire increase cost due to any future advance in wages, the retailers taking the position that increased prices incident to advanced wages can no longer be passed on to the public.

At the conference between Mr. Figg and the members of the special committee of the retailers' association the questions of labor, middlemen, brokers, jobbers, stabilization of distribution, and all other questions affecting clothing prices were gone into.
