Drouth Breaking Rains Come in Time for Crops

Baird and Callahan County has really had a "million dollar rain". The rain is general over this section and is fine for the small grain crop, which was needing rain badly, and will enable farmers to plant their crop with hopes of a good yield.

We get nothing that is worth while without moving decisively toward it. We have to exhibit the intelligence that is equal to the opportunity. Just to see the good that we want and to realize that it will be ours for the taking are not enough; must really take it. We can, take, however, only through the development that comes from opportunities intelligently used. There is always something that we must do. It may be that all we need to do is just to reach out to take the prize we want. If so, this will be a mental reaching not a physical reaching. It may be, too, that we must plan, work, and wait before we possess that which we want most. Of one thing we may be certain—there is something that we personally must do before we can possess the big things in life. We get nothing that is worth while without working for it.

SPORTS REVIEW

After waiting about four months which seemed like a year, the football boys received their jackets last week. We were the happiest bunch of boys I have ever seen. Every one of us are very proud of our jackets and we wish to thank Mr. South for helping us get them. These jackets are reversible and can be worn on either side. On the outer side is a red B trimmed in white representing the Baird school and its colors. On the inside the sleeves are made of dark white satin and the body of bright red satin. All the jackets seem to fit well and look very dressy indeed. The little white stripes around the sleeves represent the number of years each player lettered.

The two Captains, Bill Wylie and Elwood Goin, have a star above their stripes which designate captains. About three or four boys have Res. printed on their letter which means they were reserves this year. These jackets will be the last ones received by Baird High boys for the duration and six months.

Lately the Juniors and Seniors have been participating in an inter-class athletic struggle. To start things off the Juniors won the base ball game by a 7 to 4 score, but Monday night, the Seniors evened things up by a win of 45 to 13 in a basketball game. Next on the schedule are volley ball and tennis games.

SIMPLE FARM PRACTICES

The Callahan County U. S. D. A. War Board is recommending that peanut growers of the County follow the practice of stubble mulching to help keep the land from blowing and to increase yields of the much needed war crop. "Stubble mulching," says the War Board, "is the use of field residues or trash such as dead grass and weeds, feed stalks, pea vines and other litter to cover the ground."

Such practice will increase yields and prevent blowing. L. L. Mansfield reports that for several years he has followed the practice of keeping maize stalks and stubble on top of the ground. He keeps them there by plowing his maize land with sweeps instead of breaking plows or listers. He says that yields are increased without the use of extra labor or machinery. In fact he probably uses less power than he would if he broke or listed his land.

M. E. Herron of the Golan Community in Jones County, says he has followed the practice for years of trying to farm with the trash on top of the ground. He find it keeps his sandy land from blowing.

W. O. Dawson, near Abilene, has changed to stubble mulch farming his entire farm this year. He operated his one-way plow to leave about three-fourths of all field trash on top of the ground. He is carrying on a special demonstration of the practice on an eight acre plot between a couple of terraces. He was able to leave almost all dead plant material on top of the ground by removing the wings from his John Deere lister and plowing with only the points. He plowed the middle and then went back and rooted out the maize stalks with the same plow.

"I understand," Dawson stated, that stubble mulching will increase the rate that water will soak into the ground from three to eight times. That means the litter should be kept on top throughout the year." In order to keep as much litter as possible on top of the ground during the spring and summer Dawson plans to kill any weeds that come before planting with sweeps, plant behind solid sweeps set flat, cultivate the crop with sweeps.

Mansfield, Herron, and Dawson are cooperators of the Middle Clear Fork Soil Conservation District. Dawson is a Supervisor of the District.

The War Board lists these advantages to stubble mulching.

- 1. Help to prevent blowing and washing. 2. Saves labor and power. 3. Reduces evaporation. 4. Regulates soil temperatures. 5. Protects young tender plants from wind damage, cold, or sun.

In order to have dead plant material to use as a mulch on peanut land, the following procedure is suggested.

- 1. Strip crop. Harvest only the grain from strips leaving the stalks on the land. Let grass come in the strips after August 1. 2. Allow some grass to grow in the peanut row. 3. Plant peanuts in 42 inch rows and allow a strip of grass to grow in each middle. 4. Mix peas with the peanuts when you plant.

Fields should not be grazed or burned. Peanut land should not be plowed until after April 1st if it is well covered with dead plant material. Several Callahan County farms along Highway 36, west of Denton have shown that to be true this year. Early plowed fields have filled the road ditches with soil. Unplowed fields, covered with trash, have not blown.

Lots of the cover can be kept on top of the ground throughout the year by plowing with sweeps, busters with the wings removed or moldboard breaking plows with the moldboard removed.

Stubble mulching will lose much of its effectiveness where the side delivery rake is used. The War Board believes a cover crop of Abruzzi rye is highly desirable on such land.

If the peanut grower will strip crop, stubble mulch the feed strip, and plant early rye as a cover on the peanut strip, he will reduce his damage and increase his yields.

The coming year will be one of strain, uncertainty and confusion for everyone.

How well do you know your War Bonds?

Q. Why does Uncle Sam want you to put money into War Bonds— ... to pay for equipping our fighting forces? ... to help keep prices down? ... to give you extra money after the war?

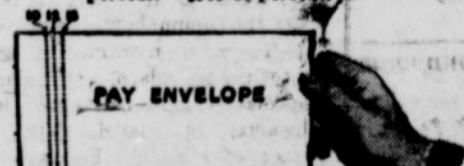

A. Check all three! The money you lend in War Bonds works hard—for the government and you! It helps pay for victory, helps keep prices down. And it comes back with interest!

Q. If you put $3 into War Bonds, how much do you get back— ... $3.00? ... $3.50? ... $4.00?

A. For every $3 you put into War Bonds you get $4 back when the bonds mature! And how those extra dollars mount up! Look at this: You buy a War Bond today at $18.75. In 10 years you get $25.00. You buy a War Bond today at $37.50. In 10 years you get $50.00. You buy a War Bond today at $75.00. In 10 years you get $100.00.

Q. How much money should you put into War Bonds— ... 10 percent of your pay? ... 12 percent? ... 15 percent?

4-H CLUB GIRLS

Age is no determiner of the quality of 4-H work being done by the 4-H girls of Callahan County. Beverly Jo Edwards of Denton, and MaJaunta Jo Betcher, Oplin, are proof of this. Each of these girls is 10 years old.

Ma Januta Jo says, "I am doing my best to help win the war, for I am buying war stamps every week and helping my mother and father on the farm." Typical of the spirit of 4-H members. This year she is raising a frame garden and two lambs and is now starting with some baby chicks. She helps her father with the sheep and her mother with the house work.

Beverly Jo, who is also interested in growing food for her family, has two small gardens. One is planted in onions and the other has beets, carrots, radishes, and lettuce. She has 25 baby chicks being raised with a hen. Of these she plans to eat a few and sell the rest.

FARM EXPERIMENT

Having their farm yard serve as an experiment in cooperation with the Southern Great Plains Field Station is the purpose of the Silas Havens family in their yard planting and improvement.

The Southern Great Plains Experiment Station carries on such experiments for the purpose of gathering facts of value to the people of the region, the commercial nurserymen, and the state and Federal activities concerned by making studies of actual experimental plantings in various parts of the region. The Southern Great Plains Region includes the plains section of Texas, parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado.

Yard planning to make best use of the plant material available is under the supervision of the county representative of the state Extension Service who is the county home demonstration agent. In such plantings it is the intention to determine the best methods of planning, pruning, training and general management as well as to see the varieties of ornamentals adapted to the locality.

Only those farmers are selected who have an interest in, and a knowledge of how to handle such material and who are willing to enter into the undertaking as experimenters. They must be established farmers and have the intention of operating farms personally for a number of years to come. Farms of these cooperators must also be located on main highways or otherwise located so that the plantings may be of great value to the greatest number of people and passers-by.

Callahan County is eligible for two such experiments. The second family has not yet been chosen.

A COOPERATIVE AFFAIR

Raising food at home is a cooperative affair in the home of MaryBelle Franklin, demonstrator in garden work for the Denton 4-H Club. Mary Belle, who lives about two miles east of Denton, says, "In working together this year, my family plans to raise all our vegetables, meat and chickens and some fruit. As a 4-H club girl, one of my goals is to preserve food for victory."

The family, consisting of 4 girls Mary Belle, Maxine, Billy June and Betty who are all 4-H members, their mother and younger brother, has worked out plans for the production of food on their farm. They keep records on expenses and receipts of products sold from the farm.

When she visited the Franklin home, the county home demonstration agent found Mary Belle using a team and harrow in preparing land for planting potatoes. A planting bed for tomatoes and pepper had already been started. Two tub gardens for tomatoes and pepper had been prepared near the house for having these vegetables for fresh table use.

Maxine claims the three pigs being raised for home use as her project and has a nice start with them. She as already experienced the use of crankcase oil for treatment of parasites on the pigs.

Billy June and Betty are raising chickens. They now have 150 hens and 300 baby chicks are in their brooder house.

Of their younger brother, Mary Belle says, "He is too young to be a 4-H boy, but he is helping by doing odd jobs for the rest of us."

BABY CHICKS

How to feed and take care of baby chicks was the subject of the program held by 4-H members of Bayou at their meeting at school, March 17 at which Charles Sargent presided.

Feed for chicks of different ages was shown by the county home demonstration agent, Miss Marjorie Brown, who also showed home-made feeders made from scrap lumber. "Baby chicks must have clean feed and water given to them in clean containers," said Miss Brown. Keeping chicks warm and conditions about them sanitary were points made by W. M. Meador, county agriculture agent. Making a small home-made brooder burning oil when no brooder house is available was pointed out as a means of taking care of little chicks. Correct heat, ventilation, and sanitation through providing a satisfactory litter are necessary if a good percentage of the chicks are to be raised.

Joyce Parker, recreation leader in songs. At the end of the meeting the group participated in a game for the girls' club lead the group game, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Take Care of your WATER HEATER

Drain the sediment from your water heater tank about once a month.

Don't set the thermostat too high; not over 150 degrees. (This is best for the plumbing, too.)

★★★ Modern gas water heaters are practically fool-proof, and many of you have models with tanks of solid Monel, factory-guaranteed for 10 years against corrosion. But they do need simple care; and new ones are mighty scarce till we win this war.

CIVIL SERVICE

Nine million forms will be saved during the next year through the use of a revised and simplified appointment form made available to federal agencies by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, according to information received here by Mrs. Elva L. Smith, acting local secretary for the Commission.

As a result of this innovation considerable personnel and time will be saved in processing papers and getting new employees on the job, Mrs. Smith said, citing this as only one of the instances where the Commission has slashed red tape to place manpower quickly.

"Take the new recruiting methods, for example," she said, "whereby clerical workers for Washington, D. C. and skilled tradesmen for navy yards at Mare Island and Puget Sound receive appointment the same day they make application."

Mrs. Smith further pointed out that in cases of critically needed applicants for such difficult positions to fill as aircraft factory inspectors who must have had experience in the mechanical field of aircraft manufacture or repair, applications are processed by the Commission's Washington office for immediate use.

NOTICE—GENTLEMEN!

WILL YOU PLEASE look through your neckties and any that you are tired of wearing, or you might think are worn out—will you send them to me or let me know you have them and I will call or send for them; or if you are too far away, pack them up and send them to me by mail. I will gladly pay the postage.

I am using old ties to make quilts for the Presbyterian Orphans Home. Ties make very pretty quilts and very warm ones—and it takes quite a few neck-ties to make a quilt, hence I have use for many ties.
