WANT COOPERATION FOR COTTON ASS'N

Field Man for Northwest Texas District Spoke to Body of Business Men Here

G. R. Thomas of Dallas, field man for the Northwest Texas District of the Farm Bureau and Cotton Association, was here Monday looking after work in that connection, and late in the afternoon called together as many of the business men as could be conveniently gotten together and explained many of the details of the cotton association, its difficulties for the first year and how they had been overcome, and the present very promising outlook for a most successful year for that organization.

The burden of Mr. Thomas' mind was an appeal to the local business men for their co-operation with this movement that it might become all that it was intended to become—a successful beneficial organization for the farmers of the Southland.

The speaker pointed out the effect of co-operation would have in stimulating the greatest interests among farmers who need every assistance in helping them to bear the heavy burdens under which they have for many years labored, and that this would return untold benefits generally to those who thus manifest such spirit of co-operation. He showed how business men could be made just as safe by allowing the association to deal between them and the farmer as they would be by taking a mortgage on the farmer's cotton. In the place the farmer's contract is being. This has been tried out in the courts, and in the second place the Association is safe and responsible.

The farmer can not hope ever to get what is coming to him until the system of marketing cotton is changed, according to the speaker. The cotton, said he, is wrong, and the farmer will always be kept down so long as the price of cotton is controlled by Wall Street interests. The supply and demand do not work under the present system of marketing, the speaker claimed.

Through the Association cotton can be sold from about $11.00 to $20.00 a bale more than if sold on the open market. That is the record so far. The overhead expenses, said Mr. Thomas, will be much less this year than last on account of the fact that the office force has been cut about one-third, better shipping rates are in effect, lower warehouse charges obtained, besides some other expenses have been cut. The first year's experience brought many unavoidable expenditures that will this year be eliminated.

The Association, too, is on a better financial basis. Last year it expended quite a lot of difficulty in providing funds sufficient to handle the bulk of the finances being $15,000,000 procured from the Finance Corporation, but this year the organization has procured from the same source $57,000,000, an ample amount for its needs.

These matters as to the finance and to show the safe financial conditions that now surround the Association. Mr. Thomas thinks the farmers have learned enough to avoid repeating the mistakes their organizations have made in the past by allowing bad managers or designing leaders to get control, which has always been fatal to the organization. It is up to the farmers to steer clear of politics.

Crowell Hi Loses to Knox City

In one of the best games of the season last Friday Knox City defeated Crowell 6 to 0. Neither side scored for three quarters, then in the last Knox City counted with a long end run and center buck. Crowell outplayed her opponents in every respect, but the necessary qualifications for victor were not with them.

The team played a good game and O. Cook made several sensational tackles. The following is play by play:

First Quarter

Knox City won the toss and Crowell kicked. O. Cook intercepts pass and gives Crowell possession of the ball. Awbrey made three yards through center. Cook attempted pass to Norman, no gain. Cates called through center but no advance. Awbrey punts. Cates went through center for five yards. Cates failed to gain around right end. Burrow made one yard through center. Awbrey punts out of danger. Cates intercepts great pass returning ten yards. Cates around right end, no gain. Awbrey to Smith, twenty yards. End of first quarter, score, Knox City 0, Crowell 0.

Second Quarter

Awbrey called around right end for one yard. Cook attempted pass to Norman, no gain. Burrow made 8 yards around right end. O. Cook failed to gain through center. O. Cook intercepts pass and returned twenty yards. Awbrey made one yard through center. Burrow through center three yards. Norman completes pass from Cook gaining twenty yards. Awbrey went through center for four yards. Burrow failed to gain through center. Cook attempted pass to Smith, no gain. Cook to Smith, no gain. Shults made great tackle taking Knox City for a five yard loss. Cates made one yard around right end. End of second quarter, score, Knox City 0, Crowell 0.

Third Quarter

Knox City kicks and Crowell received. Awbrey made nine yards around right end. Burrow thrown for small loss around left end. Awbrey went through center for five yards. Cook to Smith, no gain. Cates went through center for four yards. Cates again makes 5 yards through center. Burrow around left end for 2 yards. Cates through center 2 yards. Cates gained ten yards through center. O. Cook intercepts pass and returns thirty yards. Burrow made two yards through center. Burrow loses around left end. Shults made great tackle. Burrow lost five yards around right end. Cates made two yards through center. Burrow through center three yards. End of third quarter, score, Knox City 0, Crowell 0.

Fourth Quarter

On a long end run and center buck Knox City scores. Knox City kicks and Crowell receives. Awbrey carried the ball back twenty yards. Awbrey to Cook, no gain. Cates made a great try and completed a pass from Awbrey for fifty yards. Norman completed pass from Cook for twenty yards. Burrow through center for two yards. Again Burrow made five yards through center. Cook and Norman completed a pass for fifteen yards. Cook to Awbrey, no gain. Norman takes Knox City for five yard loss. Knox City penalized five yards off side on the last play. Cook attempted pass to backfield, but it was blocked. End of fourth quarter. Score, Knox City 6, Crowell 0.

Cuts Hand Cranking Car

Usually when one carries his hand or arm in a sling from having unpleasant dealings with his car, (usually a Lizzy) it is because he has broken his arm from having cranked the machine. J. W. Bell is carrying his hand in a sling, but he did not get his arm broken when he cranked his Maxwell. The number attached to the front of his car was projecting far enough to catch his hand when it slipped off of the crank shaft by accident and cut a deep gash in the fleshy portion of the hand under the thumb. An artery was severed and it was necessary for the doctor to take a stitch or two before the blood ceased running freely. The accident happened Monday morning.

Still rading continues in the city of our country. In Dallas recently 300 gallons of mash and 20 gallons of whiskey was destroyed by the officers.

GINNED OVER 5,000 BALES IN COUNTY

More Than 800 in Excess of Amount Ginned At This Time One Year Ago

The next government report of the cotton ginned in Foard County will read 5,329 bales up to October 18, as against 4,515 at the same date last year. This is the report which has already been sent out by the Department of Commerce in advance of the Government report of all the counties.

We had ginned up to the 18th of October 814 bales more than we had ginned up to that time in 1921.

The final report for Foard County last year was around 11,000 bales. It has been predicted that the county will have to its credit even that much this year. Others think it will fall short of that amount by two or three thousand bales. They base their argument on the fact that the cotton has opened all at once almost this year, while it was several months in process of opening last year. They say far more than half of the crop has already been ginned. Some say within two or three more weeks the entire crop will be ginned.

From reports given by the public weigher here it seems that he has been weighing about as much for the last several days as he did two weeks ago, and the reports are that there is a world of cotton in the Rayland districts so that we may be agreeably surprised yet as to the crop when the last bale is ginned and counted. At any rate Foard County is making a lot more cotton than was estimated before the ginning season opened.

With each succeeding year the fact has been more and more emphasized that Foard County is a reliable cotton country, and this is not only the case with Foard County, but with the whole of West Texas. Even in the Panhandle country close to the New Mexico line where the seasons are much shorter than here they have tried cotton this year for the first time with splendid success, and that too in the face of a rather dry summer.

The thing we want to remember is that cotton is a reliable crop for this country, and we do not think it is wise ever again to cut the acreage here. We believe the country will always find itself in better condition in the fall of the year after a big acreage of cotton has been planted and the staple gathered and ginned. We do not mean that there should be no diversification, but we are convinced that cotton is the one reliable and dependable thing for the ordinary farmer.

Hallowe'en Party

On Tuesday night a jolly crowd responded to an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, went to their home and upon arriving there were directed by a spectre to go to Mr. and Mrs. Rob Cooper's. Here ghosts and goblins held sway and Hallowe'en gayeries were in evidence on every side. After an hour or more of goblin reign, the guests were asked to unmask. Forty-two was then played until the hostesses appeared with a bountiful plate of delicious refreshments. At a late hour another ghost pointed the way to the gate and the guests departed, thanking the hosts and hostesses for a most enjoyable evening.

Birthday Party

The eighth birthday of John and Furd Glover, the twin boys of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Glover, was celebrated at the Glover home here Wednesday afternoon. Gifts were carried by all those who were present, namely: James Henry Kimsey, James Loyd, Henry Ashford, Lovene Carter, Weldon Hays, George McKinney Carter, Ray Cook, Jerrel Knox, J. M. Crowell, Richard Ferguson, Dan Hinds Clark, Burl Lovelady, Leslie Thomas, Clyde Sellers. Others who attended were Mrs. Furd Halsell and son, Glenn, and Mrs. H. L. Kimsey.

Weathers-Evans

Mr. Grady Weathers and Miss Naomi Evans were quietly married in Margaret Saturday, October 28, at the home of the bride. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Electra to spend their honeymoon.

SHIPPED CATTLE TO CALIFORNIA

J. W. Bell Finds Shipments from South Texas Ranch to West-Market More Profitable

Shipment of cattle from West Texas to California markets is comparatively a new thing with stockmen here. For a year or two there has been an occasional car sent to California from the Panhandle but the Western markets are really just now opening up to stock from this country.

J. W. Bell sent his first shipment of stock, consisting of two cars of young cattle, last week from his ranch near Valentine to San Francisco. Several other cars went from the same locality at the same time Mr. Bell shipped.

Two conditions are favorable to the Western markets, shorter hauls and better prices. The haul would not be shorter to San Francisco, but this statement is made in view of the fact that Los Angeles, instead of San Francisco, is the coming market for cattle from this country. From Valentine to Los Angeles it is about 200 miles nearer than to Kansas City. Another advantage not mentioned above is that of a direct line, which permits delivery of stock more quickly and with less expense of unloading, for water, etc. One unloading is all that is necessary between the two points mentioned, says Mr. Bell. As to price he says one can count on getting about one cent more per pound for his cattle in Los Angeles than in Kansas City.

The fact that the California city is coming to be one of the great markets based on the fact that it is preparing to handle livestock shipments from the East. Demands there have created the necessity for such preparations and it is said that Los Angeles is soon to become one of the great livestock markets of the United States. It is the logical point for such a center, and naturally South-west Texas will profit by this because of the extensive livestock interests and with its great possibilities down there. Mr. Bell expects this industry in that section to be stimulated very much because of the opening up of this new market.

Voter's Intention in Writing Name on Ballot Rules

Austin, Oct. 31.—The intention of the voter governs on the question of writing the name of any particular candidate on the official ballot, and no matter in which column the name is written, it will not invalidate the ballot, according to a telegram sent by Assistant Attorney General L. C. Sutton to Henry D. Lindsley, manager of the Pedy campaign in North Texas.

The full text of the telegram follows:

"The questions submitted by you in your letter of the 26th instant are answered by stating that the provisions of Article 2969, Revised Civil Statutes, are directory as regards the position on the ballot of writing the name of any person for whom the voter desires to vote. The rule stated in Moore vs. Platt, 206 S. W. 958, is the correct rule. This means that if a voter writes a person's name for whom he desires to vote in any column on the ballot and scratches the regular party nominee his vote should be counted for the person whose name he writes on the ballot and the fact that he does not write the name in blank space provided for that purpose would be immaterial and would not cause the ballot not to be counted. The intention of the voter governs in this respect if ascertainable from the ballot. Voters should of course write the name of any person they desire to vote for in the blank column provided for that purpose but if they fail to do so and write it elsewhere on the ballot the vote should not be thrown out on that account."

As it is the intention of the voter that governs, the misspelling of a candidate's name would not throw out the ballot and it would be counted. It was pointed out.

Commissioner George B. Terrell has issued a statement as to the estimated cotton crop for the year. He says the indications point to a 10,000,000 bale crop, as against 8,000,000 bales last year. He urges a reduction of acreage for next year.

A Veritable Mob

Any one who read the account of the so-called Democratic rally in Dallas last Saturday night and who puts any value upon common sense proceedings will find little in that meeting to appeal to his sense of appreciation. It was nothing short of a mob. Vile epithets were hurled at George Pedy and his supporters. Not satisfied with turning loose a stream of spleen on these they ridiculed Judge Scarborough. Even the candidate of the mob, for it was nothing else, being made up of klansmen from the most part from Dallas and Tarrant Counties—even the candidate of the mob, Klansman Earle B. Mayfield, and Attorney McLean, who defended Mayfield at the Corsicana court, gave unrestrained flow to very bitter words, all of which were unbecoming and entirely uncalled for. With thousands of sober thinking people of Texas such conduct and such speeches as were made by these men will be fatal to both. The Fort Worth Record, in commenting on this, said:

"Such unrestrained and violent criticism of one of the courts of this state by a candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people of Texas, and by at least one attorney who is a sworn officer of the courts and upholder of the law, as was uttered in Dallas Saturday night, is surely not the calm judgment of those gentlemen. Certainly it is most destructive of law and order."

Does one need a better proof of a man's unfitness for the high office of United States Senator? As to the attorney, he is not asking anything at the hands of the people. May we not be permitted to judge that Mr. Mayfield is emboldened to assume the attitude he did Saturday night because he feels a strong fortification in the 120,000 klansmen now solidly backing him?

The Record further says:

"We can hardly believe that Mr. Mayfield, who has announced his withdrawal from the Klan long ago, although admitting attending several meetings since, could have meant what he said when he 'dared' Judge Scarborough to tell what the Klan told him. The Klan has repeatedly denied that it was trying to exercise any undue or unlawful influence on the courts. Mr. Mayfield's heated words would seem to affirm such influence. But we trust, and believe, that those words were not considered and that they convey a meaning not intended. So also we hope of the words of criticism of the Pedy war record spoke by another speaker. One need not be an advocate of Mr. Pedy to protest against such a reflection on any former service man."

But such is characteristic of a mob, such as assembled in Dallas, last Saturday night. The embarrassment it has brought to good men who have tried to stand by Mayfield is bound to be exceedingly painful.

COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OPPOSE THE KLAN

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, representing 20,000,000 Protestants, today went on record as opposing such masked organizations as the Ku Klux Klan.

The administrative committee of the Council has passed resolutions denouncing organizations whose methods were "masked, oath-bound and unknown and whose activities have the effect of arousing religious prejudice and racial antipathies."

The Rev. Samuel McCrea Cavert, one of the general secretaries of the council, said the administrative committee had the Ku Klux Klan in mind in passing the resolutions.

In making the resolution public Cavert said:

"This action was taken as a result of statements made from time to time that the Ku Klux Klan and other masked and secret bodies are acting in behalf of the Protestant churches of the United States."

"The motives of the Ku Klux Klan and similar organizations may be of the highest, but members of the administrative committee believe their methods not only wrong, but are dangerous from every standpoint. Action by the committee is significant when it is realized that thirty great communions with more than 20,000,000 members are affiliated with the Federal Council."

The resolutions follow in part:

"Any organization whose activities tend to set class against class or race against race is consistent neither with

OUTLOOK FOR THE ORIENT IS BRIGHT

San Angelo, Texas, Oct. 26.—The outlook for a sound and equitable rehabilitation of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad is brighter now than in many months, if not in its history, said Clyde Reed, chairman of the Kansas Public Utilities Commission, when he, with a party of experts from connecting lines of the Orient, stopped in San Angelo early today. The party was returning to Wichita, Kan., after inspecting the Orient to Alpine.

The larger lines are not unfriendly to the Orient, which is a "feeder" to them, Mr. Reed asserted. He said they loaned their men for the inspection of the Orient only to give disinterested advice on problems confronting the management. The Orient has never been and is not now a dividend-paying road, being operated with Government aid solely for the benefit, Reed explained, saying that to reduce expenses and increase earnings so far as to eliminate the existing deficit, decisions will be made as to whether 400 bad order cars should be repaired at a cost of $1,000 each and whether Orient engines should be converted from coal to oil burners at an estimated cost of $1,750 to $2,000 each.

The Orient has sixty locomotives, but only twenty-four are needed, Mr. Reed said. Oil can be obtained from Wichita refineries and fields near Altus, Ok., at a cheaper cost than coal, which comes from more distant sections.

Mr. Reed said it is unlikely that any recommendations concerning rate changes will be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Reduction of tax valuations of the road to $100 a mile by practically all counties penetrated by it has helped materially, he said.

The special train, carrying the inspection party, ran from San Angelo to Fort Stockton, 164 miles, in four hours and twenty-five minutes yesterday, showing, the officials said, that the line has a good roadbed and fair equipment.

the ideals of the churches nor with patriotism, however vigorous or sincere may be its professions of religion and Americanism.

"Evils of lawlessness and immorality, however serious, can never be remedied by secret, private and unauthorized action. They must be handled by the recognized forces of education."

"Any body of men, unidentified and banded together to achieve in sectional, political, racial or a sectarian group is almost certain to fall into the very evils of mob rule against which the spirit of Christian democracy and Americanism makes vigorous and constant protest. Even if they resort to no unworthy deeds themselves, their practice of carrying on their plan in disguise or under cover encourages others to do likewise and so affords the opportunity for all manner of lawlessness to be carried on with impunity from arrest or punishment. However true it is that in some communities religious organizations seek a control over municipal administration which is undemocratic and highly undesirable, yet for another body of men, secret and oath-bound, to undertake to get control is equally intolerable, even if they seek with all sincerity to wrest it from the control of other groups."

"No such movement has the right to speak in the name of Protestantism, and the churches are urged to exert influence to check their spread."

YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED AT VERNON SUNDAY

Mr. Marion Brock of Vernon and Miss Lucile Erwin of Crowell were married last Sunday at Vernon. The groom is unknown here but the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. W. Erwin of this city and is one of the popular young ladies here. The newly married couple will make their home in Childress. Mr. Brock will manage a gasoline filling station there.

The death of Judge W. F. Ramsey occurred at Dallas Friday night of last week. Judge Ramsey was one of the outstanding figures in the public life of the State. At the time of his death he was Federal Reserve Agent for the Eleventh Federal Reserve District.

Hugh Heaton and family accompanied by Mrs. Heaton's mother, Mrs. H. H. Hopkins, all of Vernon, spent Sunday in the Mrs. J. M. Adkins home.

A veterinarian was called from Vernon Saturday to see a sick mule belonging to Sam Lawhorn. He arrived too late to benefit the mule, as it died soon after his arrival.

Mrs. G. W. Adkins and sister, Catherine Williamson, visited relatives in this community the latter part of last week. They returned to their home at Vernon Saturday.

A large crowd gathered at the Rayland school house to enjoy a Halloween program which was rendered Friday night instead of Tuesday night. The hour was well spent in enjoying the amusements and a nice little sum was realized from the sale of the pies.

Little E. C. Wheeler, son of Eric Wheeler and wife, has picked from the second week in September up to date, 1609 pounds of cotton. He is only six years old and weighs 39 pounds. The highest number of pounds picked in a single day by E. C. was 102. This is what we call a fine record for one so young. Who can beat it?

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

"Mudder, I always wins the race when I carry home Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some quick, mudder!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the delicious kind of Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Dose May Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Crowell, Texas, November 3, 1922

The "Invisible Eye" must have got knocked out.

The News would like to have half a dozen robe patterns of the latest styles for some of its friends.

Mayfield says McNamara was not fired by him. Since we come to think about it he is right. McNamara fired Mayfield.

There are lots of things to learn in this notorious political campaign, and one is not to allow yourself to be small enough to have to be seined for with a sheet.

The emblem of the Republican party is the elephant; that of the Democratic party is the donkey, but the klan is trying to steal the donkey and substitute a goat.

A man was shot to death near Henryetta, Okla., last week by a band of masked 100 per centers when the latter tried to force the man to get into an automobile with them.

We do not believe in waiting until one is dead before you hand that one bouquets. That's why we are throwing them at the klan this week. A few days from now may be too late.

The Ku Klux Klan won the governor's race in Arkansas by a majority of two to one. This is mentioned because we think our readers are entitled to know it. No reflection is intended either on Arkansas or on the klan.

A good friend of ours writing in the Dallas News rises to say that Mr. Peddy is a good man but is not a Democrat and that he can not there fore vote for him. In the face of recent developments may we ask whether or not Mr. Mayfield can lay claim to either?

Rest easy, dear people! Mayfield's election is assured.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

Oh that you could get that feeling into the bones of Mayfield himself, maybe he would cease to spit out words of profanity over the newspaper publicity he is getting. Examine Komrad Klansman Mayfield, brother editor, and see if you can administer to him some soothing syrup. The masses of the people don't need it.

Two hundred citizens of Graham and Young County have petitioned the Railroad Commission to reinstate Mike McNamara as deputy oil and gas supervisor of Young County. Mike lost his job after he told the truth on Mr. Mayfield down at Corsicana, and the people of Graham, McNamara's home town, want to see McNamara given justice. So do thousands of other people over Texas. It looks mighty bad for Mr. Mayfield, since he still holds his position with the commission. People will be hard to convince that Mayfield is not responsible for the discharge of McNamara. His denial will carry about such weight as it did about the $200.

Klansman Mayfield charged that the Corsicana court was a kangaroo court. Mr. Mayfield ought to be eminent authority on kangaroo courts since no doubt he has been associated with the hooded bunch when they conducted their courts in the creek bottoms. If any man in Texas has a right to know when a court inside the brick walls of a temple of justice is running true to the pattern applied in the pasture Earle ought to be that one.

The Ku Klux Klan wants your vote for its candidate. What pledge has the klan made to the people of Texas to be redeemed? What promises has it made which would entitle its candidate to your vote? None. Neither does it claim to have made any, but the klan would have you believe that your vote is mortgaged because of a primary pledge and that you are bound to deliver your vote. What affrontery! Does this organization presume that men have lost all their political rights and independence?

"The breweries are backing Peddy with unlimited capital," says the Quannah Tribune-Chief, "which is a good reason why this ambitious young man should be kept at home." Which, of course, nobody believes, but even if it were true it would be no worse than that which Atticus Webb is doing in that he is spending the contributions of the public to the Anti-Saloon League in order that he may strengthen the chances of the Ku Klux candidate, which is a good reason why all this money should be kept at home. Next.

That Mr. Mayfield perjured himself in the Corsicana court when he swore that he did not receive the $200 sent him by Mike McNamara is the belief of thousands of people over Texas. It was evident that there was an effort to camouflage the truth, but if he gets by with it and wins the election the stain will hang to him as long as he lives. This, added to the very wide belief that he is a weak man, will by no means stimulate pride in him as a United States Senator. This is not an admission that he will ever see the Senate chamber. It is the belief of a great many people that should he win the election in Texas the door will have opened to the most difficult portion of the way to the Senate. There the klan will find itself powerless to come to Klansman Earle's rescue.

"I don't know that the klan is a bad thing." We have heard these words from the lips of good men. They have come as a surprise. If the klan is not a bad thing it is a good thing. It cannot be both. If it were possible for the good and the bad to be equally divided, it would necessarily be a bad thing because of the useless expenditure of human energy connected with it. If it is a good thing it would be right for everybody to be for it, and if everybody were for it we do not see how it could exist because it finds sustenance in the hate engendered for its opposers. Prohibition thrives best among its friends, but Ku Kluxism would die in a short time if everybody in Texas could stultify his conscience to the extent that he could hug the thing to his bosom and call it a blessing. The Devil would find himself miserable in company where he has no opposition.

The Tribune-Chief takes notice of the fact that the News does not agree with it about Peddy's company being bad, and, speaking with reference to Mr. Peddy's speech at Quannah, adds that "the applause came almost wholly from antis and Republicans." "The same thing is happening," says the Tribune-Chief, "everywhere else, which is sufficient proof that what we said is correct." It looked to us like the house at Quannah was almost 100 per cent for Peddy. If there was a klansman present he was ashamed to own it when Mr. Peddy asked them to show their hands. Not a hand went up. If it was a house of antis and Republicans there were about 600. (That is the seating capacity of the Texan, as given by the Tribune-Chief man himself.) The house was full, and if there are that many in Harde man County, it would seem that the Tribune-Chief's preachments for prohibition and Democracy have not had the effect they should have had. But what puzzles us is how the Tribune-Chief knows that it is the antis and Republicans alone that are applauding Mr. Peddy "everywhere else."

DR. CRANBERRY CRITICIZES DR. WEBB'S COURSE

Today's News contains a report of Mr. Peddy's Canyon City speech in which reference is made to me in connection with the Rev. Atticus Webb and the Anti-Saloon League of Texas. As it is given, the meaning is not quite clear, and I take this opportunity to explain my interest in the matter.

The policy of the Anti-Saloon League, with which I have been connected since its foundation, is that of neutrality on all political questions in which the liquor issue is not involved. There are at present in Texas two candidates for the United States senate. One is the "regular" nominee of the Democratic party. The other is the nominee of anti-klan, independent Democrats and of the Republican party. Both candidates are prohibitionists. Home and State is the organ of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas. Both the September and the October numbers praised the "regular" Democratic candidate and heaped ridicule and insult on the candidacy of Mr. Peddy. In each instance I protested earnestly to the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas and editor of Home and State against this violation of the principles of the Anti-Saloon League. His defense is that Mr. Peddy is using the Klan issue only as camouflage; really his candidacy represents an effort of the liquor element to destroy the eighteenth amendment. The only support for this charge against the sincerity and integrity of men prominent in public life that he has yet brought forth is that a number of the men prominent in the Peddy cause have long been known as anti-prohibitionists. If that is the aim of these men, what can they hope to gain by putting a prohibitionist in the field? It must be that George Peddy is either a dupe or a willing tool of designing tricksters on Mr. Webb's fantastic theory.

I know George Peddy. His record as a prohibitionist from the standpoint of both his public activities and his private habits compares favorably with that of his opponent. So far as I know, Mr. Webb is the first to cast reflection on George Peddy's prohibition record and general character.

What, however, I am primarily interested in is the defense of the Anti-Saloon League, which is discredited by the partisanship of Mr. Webb. Had he through Home and State and in the name of Anti-Saloon League advocated the election of Peddy and the defeat of Mayfield I should have considered it a serious blunder on his part. When Atticus Webb as a citizen expresses his political preferences, it matters not in how strong terms, no one has a right to criticize him. But when he speaks in the name of thousands of good men and women, using for his time, office facilities and organ their contributions to the fight against liquor, it's another matter.

The Rev. Atticus Webb is a good, well-meaning man. He thinks he is right. But he has already used his office of trust to poison the minds of hundreds of citizens, and even if he were now disposed to correct this grievous injustice it would probably be impossible fully to do so. However, he has taken a position, and he must do everything possible to maintain it. Protests from Mr. Peddy, from me, from others, will avail nothing. The cause of prohibition has not deserved this misfortune.

Buying Foundation Breeding Stock

By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College of Texas

The past year, as well as now, many people every day are starting in the poultry business on a small scale. First, let us call your attention to the fact that it is not wise to start on a large scale. Those that do, soon meet with grief. It is always best to start small and grow up with the business. It is also unwise to spend any great sum at one time in improvements or on stock, because some of it is sure to be wasted. The kind of foundation stock that is purchased in the majority of cases will mean failure or success. The foundation stock is the most important part of the investment and for this reason do not invest all of your available capital in improvements, and then have to save when it comes to buying the foundation flock. Many people do that, but it is a very great mistake. It pays to start where the other fellow left off. If we could only get all beginners to truly believe that and then put it in practice, we would have very few, if any, failures. It is important that you buy the best you can get and that your finances will allow. It is better to buy a small flock of good stock, than a large flock of poor stock.

Scrub or Mongrel Stock
Many people believe that it is well to start with mongrel hens. We wish to be very plain by saying that is the greatest mistake that you can possibly make. If you buy mongrel stock, you will find it money wasted and you will become discouraged in the poultry business because the mixed or scrub hens can not and do not yield a profit. It takes net profit to make things go in the poultry business and mongrel hens do not have the reputation of yielding anything but losses. Mongrel stock may be a little cheaper in the beginning but will certainly be the most expensive in the long run. We would not try to keep mongrel stock and feed them for a profit if some one would be kind enough to give them to us for a present. We would not be willing to have them on the place. Mongrel hens produce a mixed and inferior lot of eggs. Mongrel stock lay but few eggs, and the most of these, when eggs are cheap and anything that has feathers is laying. Mongrel stock as a whole are very poor layers. You can not enter exhibitions with mixed chickens, they do not want them, and further won't take them. Mongrel stock lacks uniformity in meat and egg-production. You can not hope to sell eggs-for-hatching or breeding stock from mongrel stock. If mongrel stock is so good and profitable, why don't some of those keeping mixed, duke's mixture, crazy quilt, just eating chickens, dung hills or cross breed chickens advertise them in such leading farm papers as Semi-Weekly Farm News, and Farm and Ranch, both published, at Dallas. You can look all through the advertising columns and not see a single mongrel advertised for sale. If those mongrels are so good why don't you enter some in a poultry show and see how far you will get with them. Really, the mongrel chicken is a bad investment from every standpoint. Don't you think that some of the people that are making a living from poultry, and that get their entire income from chickens would have discovered before now that there was more money in mongrels than standard-breds. You cannot find a single poultry farm, a farm where they make the entire living from chickens, in the entire State of Texas or any where else, that keep mixed or mongrel chickens. We shall have more to say about this in a future article. Let it be sufficient. The wise man keeps standard-bred chickens, and the other man keeps mongrel chickens.

Breed to Select
We hold no brief for any particular breed. We do not think it wise to recommend any particular breed. We know that there are a good many profitable breeds. The old saying that the breed that you like the best is the best for you is partly true, but not entirely so. The way to select a breed is to make up your mind as to what product or products you want to produce and then study the popular breeds. In so doing, you will find that some breeds are better adapted for some things than others. Study the breeds and varieties very closely and thoroughly, and then let your likes help you select your choice. We have every color and color combination, many types and sizes, many plumage patterns and varied dispositions, standard-bred fowls. We are in position to please the most fastidious. Remember that there are good and poor layers in all breeds. After you have selected your breed, then select the best strain in that breed. The money in the poultry business is made keeping chickens for egg production, meat production or both. Raising show chickens is more or less of a side line and not as profitable as it used to be. People that are interested in poultry keeping now days are interested from a business standpoint. Use judgment in the selecting of your choice of chickens. Do not let fancy, imagination, or oddity influence you. Remember that such breeds, as the Houdans, Silkies, Buttercups, Games, and others of similar characteristics and peculiarities are unprofitable breeds to select. If egg-production is the primary object, then select one of the small varieties, like the Leghorns, Anconas, etc. If a combination of egg-production and meat production is desired, the Rocks, Reds, Orpingtons, and Wyandottes, etc., are good. If meat production is the sole object which does not appear to be profitable in Texas, then the Brahmas, Cochins and Langshams should fill the bill. The small and medium breeds are today the most profitable in Texas. Our advice would be to confine your selection from among those breeds, namely the small or medium weight breeds.

Buying Foundation Breeding Stock

As a strictly egg farm breed, the Leghorn heads the list, especially the White Leghorn, followed closely by the Anconas. As an all around general purpose or dual purpose breed, the Reds and Rocks are today the most popular, especially the Barred Rocks of the Rock class. The Reds are perhaps more popular in Texas today than the Rocks. This does not mean they are more profitable. Other varieties like the White Rocks are very beautiful and profitable. The White Wyandotte is also a very beautiful and profitable breed. You cannot make a mistake to select any of these popular money making breeds. After you have selected the breed, then investigate the strain you want. The Strain or Family of Fowls

As previously stated, there are good and poor individuals in all varieties of standard bred fowls. Some Leghorns may not be as good layers as some Rocks. In the Texas National Egg-Laying Contest at College Station this year, a single comb R. I. Red has established a new state egg record. She has already laid more than 230 eggs and is still laying and the year is not up until the first of November. She is a wonderful layer. No doubt she is from a good laying strain. A strain is a family all of the same variety, having established race character distinguishing it from other stock of the same variety. If a line of fowls have been selected and bred for egg-production, as an example by one breeder for a long time, in fact, so long that egg-production is so well established in the family of the variety that the offspring as a general rule are prepotent in that they transmit the egg-production power to the offspring to a very large extent. A 180 egg strain, is a family of fowls, in which the largest number of the offspring will produce 180 eggs or more in a year. The family is noted and has been for a long series of years to produce better than 180 eggs per hen per year. Careful selection for many years for this purpose has succeeded in establishing that strain. In buying eggs, chicks or stock from such a strain, the buyer would be expected to get many 180 egg producers in the offspring.

Advertised Merits
Beginners that study advertising columns of poultry journals and farm papers can only become confused, because many breeders make exaggerating claims for their stock. It is too bad this is true, yet breeders in other kind of stock are subject to the same weakness. We do not believe that there is today a 300 egg strain, although some such are advertised. We know that there are only very few 200 egg strains. We read an advertisement of a Texas breeder one time in which he claimed to have a yard full of 300 egg hens, when we feel reasonably sure after examining the flock that it did not contain one single individual that had ever laid 200 eggs in a year or is ever going to. The work or performance of one hen does not make a strain any more than one swallow makes a summer. Egg records are something that too much guess work is being indulged in. We have observed that those that do not have trap nests are always the ones that make the most remarkable egg records. The number of eggs is not as important as the cost of producing the eggs. The hen that can produce a dozen of eggs the most economically is the most profitable.

Color of Plumage Means Very Little
In selecting a breed do not place too much emphasis on the color of the feathers. Many breeders have spent more time adding color to the plumage than eggs or meat producing ability. That is a great and fundamental error from which it takes the poultry business a long time to recover. The varieties that have a complicated plumage pattern as a rule are not as popular today as the one with a simple plumage pattern. That explains why the White Leghorn is today more popular than the Brown Leghorn. The same applies in most other varieties and breeds, but strangely enough it does not apply in Rocks, because the Barred Rock is more popular than the White Rocks. The White Rocks are rapidly gaining in popularity. The fanciers have almost ruined some breeds, because they have made an effort to breed extremes, either color or type. It does not pay to breed extremes in either for egg-production, or fancy points.

Constitutional Vigor
The breed that possesses the most constitutional vigor is the most profitable in the long run. The same applies to strain. In buying your foundation stock, buy from a responsible firm that recognizes the importance of preserving the health and vitality in all breeding operations. Constitutional vigor is the foundation of profitable poultry keeping. Stock that has year after year been bred in a small back yard, under more or less unnatural conditions, or more or less artificial conditions and surroundings is not healthy, strong or as vigorous as farm raised stock. This is important and every beginner is urged to bear it in mind. (Copyright, F. W. Kazmeier, 1922)

Again—The Pledges
Col. R. M. Johnston of Houston has thrown new light on the sacredness of the primary pledge in an article in the Dallas News, in which he produces further proof that Mr. Mayfield, when a member of the Texas Legislature, refused to abide by a party nomination and the pledge which went with it, to vote for Joseph W. Bailey for United States senator.

In which case how, in good conscience, can Earle B. Mayfield or any of his campaign managers, denounce the man who now, and for good cause, hesitates about voting for the nominee in the November elections? For, in reason, if Mr. Mayfield had the right to denounce his pledge, then, any citizen may do the same thing now and defy criticism from him.
O tempora; O more politics.—Van Alstyne Leader.

A HEAVY BURDEN
A Bad Back Makes Life Miserable For Many Crowell People

A bad back is a heavy burden. A burden at night when bedtime comes. Just as bothersome in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it? Know they are for kidney back-ache—and for other kidney ills? If you don't, some Crowell people do. Ask your neighbor! J. K. Woods, machinist, Crowell, says: "Lumbago and rheumatic pains had me in bad shape. Nights my back hurt so I could hardly turn and I couldn't sleep. My back ached and pained all the time and was so sore and lame it hurt me. My back and shoulders were lame and stiff, and when I stooped to pick up anything a sharp, knife-like pain caught me. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills put me in fine shape."

Light-Six Roadster

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crankshaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cowl lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cowl ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate-glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

A Special Offer

We are happy to announce a reduction this week on yearly News subscriptions of 50 cents, making the price $1.50. This offer will be extended for an indefinite period and may be withdrawn at any time. It will apply on new subscriptions and renewals. This will be the best proposition we expect to offer on subscriptions to the News alone. Later we shall announce some attractive combination offers with the Star Telegram and possibly some other dailies.

The News is very much pleased with the way its readers have stood by it through the periods of extremely high prices of news print when it could have scarcely survived at a subscription rate less than $2.00, and now we are going to give them the benefit of a reduction that will mean a small saving to them and we trust that each and every one will take advantage of this offer. We expect also to receive many new subscriptions at this rate.

The News, as every reader knows, is better than it has ever been, not only from the standpoint of a local newspaper, but it also carries some excellent features the cost of which aggregates quite a sum. These are for the readers. One of them is the magazine section, issued monthly. That itself is worth the subscription price of the News. In addition to this we are carrying a series of articles on poultry prepared by the best poultry man in the South. These are of value to every farmer and farmer's wife. Then, the advertising news of our business men means a saving of hundreds of dollars to every reader in the run of the year. This is a feature of the News that makes it valuable to the reader.

Come along and give the News boys $1.50 for another year and see how they will appreciate it by giving you the best paper next year ever issued from this office.

Adelphian Club

The Adelphian Club met at the home of Mrs. C. P. Sandifer Wednesday, November 1st, at 3 o'clock.

A short business session preceded the study of the afternoon. The lesson consisted of reports of plays read by different groups of members which were to supplement the plays to be read in the regular course.

The first of these plays was "The Lie," by Henry Arthur Jones, a tragedy having as its foundation an attempt to use a lie as a substitute for acknowledgment of guilt. A synopsis of the play was given and comments were made as to characterization, dialogue and the theme.

The next play discussed was "Mid-Channel," by Arthur Pinero. In this play the author presents a phase of the marriage problem, "Mid-Channel" being that channel into which every marriage finally drifts and which if crossed successfully, determines the happiness for all parties concerned.

The last play considered was "The Gay Lord Quex," also by Pinero. A summary of the action of the plot was presented and criticisms as to the dramatic and literary value made. The "bed room scene" from this play accepted by critics as the greatest scene in modern drama in technical art was read.

At the close of the lesson tempting refreshments were served.—Reporter.

Social Evening Enjoyed

On Monday evening the men's Bible class of the Methodist church held open house in the basement of the church. In spite of the inclement weather, a large number of the members and their wives were present and they were fully repaid for a most pleasant and profitable evening was spent. It was planned to have as the main speaker of the evening, Mr. Thompson, a member of the class, but in his absence on account of weather conditions, the teacher of the class, T. L. Hughston, Prof. Campbell and Bro. Murrell made splendid substitutes. Mr. Hughston gave a history of the class from the time of its organization in 1908 to the present time. An interesting feature is the class retains as its teacher the organizer and first teacher and three of the charter members were present.

Prof. Campbell stressed the importance of the Sunday School as a factor in the molding of character. He said that the school and the Sunday School were the places where the training for real manhood was given. Bro. Murrell spoke of the benefits to be derived from such get-together meetings as this. Mrs. Adolphus Wright, accompanied by Mrs. Arnold Rucker, sang beautifully "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," which was enjoyed and appreciated by all, and Miss Hopkins favored us with a reading given in her charming way. Next followed the social hour at which time delicious refreshments were served in the dining-room.
