Things in General

On the Right Track
President Coolidge was on the right track when he told the White House Correspondents association, at a dinner in Washington, that the American people "are conscious that we have a constitution of the United States, and I know they are attached to the defense and maintenance of that great institution." He explained the three branches of government and added: "I think the American people approve heartily of that kind of constitutional government and that they want it maintained in its fundamentals."

The people are going to demand that it be supported. Political demagogues, if they desire to stay in public life, will have to change their methods. The old tricks used by politicians are out of date. This is no time for flowery speeches or partisan investigations that are designed largely for the purpose of spattering mud.

What the people are demanding is that congress support the executive branch of the government in its demand for a reduction of taxes, and that congress function as the legislative branch of the government, instead of trying to assume the prerogatives of the judicial and executive branches of the government.

Unless congress gets down to business, there are going to be a lot of strange faces in the next congress.

The Best Thing

A Crowell school teacher, a few days ago, asked her pupils what they regarded as the best and most valuable thing in Crowell. The children wrinkled their brows, looked perplexed and some of them answered the question. But they were all wide of the mark.

The teacher indicated the answers were wrong as each pupil made his or her supreme effort to find the correct answer to the knotty problem. Finally the teacher, when they were all expectant and very much excited over what really was the best thing in this community, told them that they themselves were the best and most valuable.

It was somewhat of a jolt for little folks, especially those with a keen imagination, who had conjured up many wonderful things. The teacher's answer brought them back to earth, but it gave them a sense of their importance in the world.

It should also give every person living in the community, regardless of whether they have children in the public schools, something to think about, when we think along lines of community development.

For we can not build for the future any better than by making better boys and girls who will become better men and women and make this a better community in the next generation.

We can build, for the future, not alone by teaching children at home how to live right, but by supporting the teacher, the school authorities and the whole public school system to the best of our ability and to the limit of our means.

We can not hope for our community to rise any higher in the future than our public school system.

Benefactions at Work

There comes a time in the life of every man, who has acquired much of this world's goods, when he begins to wonder what disposition he shall make of his possessions after he has no further use for them.

Men and women, who have no heirs with claims upon them, naturally look about them for some worthy cause which they can help with the money they have accumulated.

After the beneficiary is decided upon, they make a will, the terms of which are to be carried out after their death.

Why does it not occur to some of them that they could derive much more pleasure out of what they have made during their life, if they would put it to work before they die?

Why don't they realize what a happy climax it would be to their life of toil, to invest at least a part of their savings in some enterprise that would bring joy to others?

Such people probably have never contemplated the amount of services they could render the community where they have accumulated their wealth, by bestowing their bounty while they still live, and not wait for their desires to be carried out by an executor.

All too often, the aims of benefactors are defeated after their death. The only sure way to do good is to do it with your own hands.

L. D. CAMPBELL,
Sheriff Foard County, Texas.

There are so many worthy things that might be done in Crowell that would make it a better place to live in and would serve generations yet unborn.

There is no good reason why benefactors should not see the results of their benefactors.

"They can then come to the hour on earth secure in the thought that their efforts to help others had not been in vain.

No one objects to dirt so long as it stays in the place it belongs.

EXQUISITE EASTER MILLINERY

The most alluring models of the season are shown in this wonderful display. One notes with approval the graceful sweep of the larger brimmed hats and the trim appearance of the close fitting shapes—so varied are the styles that truly individual choice is possible. These exquisite models are developed of the loveliest materials. Failles and taffetas are the favorites—combined—as many are with the finest straws. Trimmed—or you could say—so untrimmed for most every model has just one adornment, maybe a beautiful flower, a wonderful rosette of ribbon or a skillfully fashioned bow—in most charming manner. All the fascinating Spring colors are bountifully represented. The hats illustrated, made of the finest of straw, and artistically trimmed with flowers and ribbons are examples of our many distinctive models. You will be surprised that such exclusively millinery should be so moderately priced.

A CORRECTION

Some weeks ago the News published an item relative to improvements that have been made in the Crowell school and one of these, it seems, has been misleading. It was an item that had reference to the fitting up of a rest room. Some have gotten the impression that that work was done by the school board. That was a mistake, the school did it with what aid it could get from the clubs. A typographical error also appeared in the item making the figures read $285, when it should have been $85. The board had nothing to do with financing the matter.

Columbian Club

Despite the inclement weather, the activities of the Columbian Club were not dampened but a large number of the members were present Wednesday afternoon, March 19th, when Mrs. John L. Hunter entertained the club in the home of Mrs. J. J. Brown.

A splendid lesson on Sidney Lanier, who is numbered with the South's most gifted sons of genius, was enjoyed under the leadership of Mrs. T. L. Hughston. Mrs. S. P. Ferguson gave a sketch of the author's wonderful ability as a musician, and Mrs. M. L. Hughston read a paper in which she portrayed Lanier as the ideal Southern poet. Mrs. J. R. Beverly read and discussed "The Song of the Chattahoochee." Mrs. Kincaid gave the "Stirrup Cup" and "The Marshes of Glynn." Following the program, the members held an interesting round table discussion.

A delightful salad plate was served at the close of the afternoon, to the club members, Meses. Ida Cheek and J. J. Brown.

Mrs. C. A. Adams will be hostess to the club April 2nd.—Reporter.

OUR UNEQUAL TAX METHODS

"Taxation shall be equal and uniform. All property in this state, whether owned by natural persons or corporations, other than municipal, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, which shall be ascertained as provided by law," says the Texas constitution.

The law requires the County Tax Assessor to assess all taxable property at a fair cash valuation; and the law further provides that the County Board of Equalization, which is the County Commissioners Court, shall see to it that such valuations are as near equal and uniform as can practically be made but in the absence of any central authority or machinery, for equalizing values as between counties, we have a tax system in Texas that is far from uniformity and equality.

The records in the State Comptroller's office show that some counties render taxable values equal to about twenty per cent of a fair cash valuation, while others render twenty-five, thirty, thirty-five and a few as high as fifty per cent of a fair cash valuation, depending upon the necessary funds to be raised for county purposes and at the same time keep valuations as low as possible for State purposes, knowing that other counties are doing the same thing.

The result of such a system is that some people are paying more than their just share of the taxes to support the State government while others are paying less. This is unfair and was never intended to be by a "government of and by the people." The last session of the Legislature attempted to correct this evil in tax valuations for State purposes, but the opponents of such a measure were able to defeat it on the ground that it would add more officers to the State's official family, which is already too large. The Herald believes, however, that if the people could understand how unfair the present places tax values for State purposes they would demand of the next Legislature such legislation as will provide a uniformity of tax values throughout the entire state.—Penhandle Herald.

Man's Conquest of Time

The progress of mankind, from the earliest recorded ages, has been marked, by a ceaseless struggle against the limitations of time and space.

Civilization is mutual interchange of thought and the product of thought. This interchange demands transportation, hence the development of civilization has paralleled the improvements in transportation.

A useful lifetime should not be measured in hours lived, but in deeds done. Doubling man's productive capacity offers the same net result as doubling his period of usefulness or doubling the number of producers.

More than any other single factor of civilization, the automobile has multiplied the producing power of man, by decimating time and distance, and by providing a broad and flexible means for the transportation of men and their products.

The amazing growth of the automobile industry could not have been, had not the automobile more than justified itself as an economizer of manpower, a stimulator of production and a creator of wealth.

for Economical Transportation epitomizes the progress of the industry to date along the line of maximum economy consistent with modern requirements as to engineering efficiency and satisfactory quality. The wonderful increase in our sales proves that Chevrolet is leading in the evolution of individual transportation which measures and records the progress of civilization.

WHERE IS THE RESPONSIBILITY?

If there is one single individual in the land who always does just exactly what his Creator would have him do, that individual has the right to say: "You fellows get right now and let's have a religious revival. If you do not get yourself in shape for such occasion, then its failure, if it should fail, must by rights be laid at your feet."

If we understand one iota about the Christian religion one of the essentials of its practice is repentance. That fellow who needs not repent is dead. As long as one continues to breathe the breath of life he is a sinner and owes repentance. How much better then, would it be to say, "Let's all get right and have a revival."

In this connection the News may be pardoned for saying that it feels "impressed" to say that when Crowell has a real revival of religion it will be preceded by real repentance on the part of Christians. May it be said that this seems absolutely necessary in face of conditions that exist? Maybe these are no worse than in any other town. It makes no difference about that. What we are trying to say is that Christianity is not prospering as it has a right to prosper where people have lost the spirit of genuine fellowship for each other. No one can get by with the assertion that he has too much Irish, or Dutch, or German, or anything else in him to face his brother in acknowledgment of a wrong done. We say that he can not get by with that statement and have the confidence of his fellowman. He needs to repent.

No man or woman can deliberately wound the feelings of a fellow man and hold his confidence and love. He is not entitled to either. He needs to repent.

No man or woman can falsify about and belittle to others his brother and expect to be an asset to the church to which he belongs.

No one can trample under foot the rights of others and get by without creating a spirit of resentment.

When men and women meet and pass on the streets of our town with pleasant thoughts about each other it is going to become necessary for them to bring that old self under subjection. It will require repentance and manhood and Christianity. Formalities will not suffice. Appearances will not satisfy.

If there is any one in our little city whose skirts are clear of any of the sins here named, or any not named, he is too good a fellow to live among us and ought to be in heaven.

If there is to be a real religious revival at any time in this town there will have to be a John-the-Baptist call to repentance. And that call must be answered. The call may be the "still small voice" within. It may have been made and as often rejected. It must be heeded some time. A half-done job of it would be a mockery. Better do it right or not at all.

Say, Mr., Mrs., or Miss Reader, what are you thinking about right now? Let's be honest. Are you not thinking of some one other than yourself who ought to come to the mourners' bench? And yet you are looking for a religious revival, aren't you? Let us turn the searchlight on ourselves and we may be able to discover our own weakness.

The political campaign in Texas is certain to be a lively one this year. The klan has come forth as a real political organization, notwithstanding its former claim to the contrary. Whatever one may want to think about the matter some facts stand out that can not be denied. One of these is that the klan is rapidly absorbing the Democratic party of Texas. That organization will hold its primary within its own ranks and perform an eliminating operation, the result of which will be to leave only one klan candidate in the field and that one will get the entire vote of the klan. He will be called a Democrat, of course, and will poll enough votes in the primary in all probability to get into the run-off. Jim Ferguson will be in the second primary, no doubt, and will poll his usual vote, which is not enough to elect. If there should be a fusion of the Republicans with the Ferguson Democrats, which is not likely at all, Ferguson might be elected. The chances look mighty favorable for the nomination of a klan candidate for Governor, and unless there is a mighty political upheaval of some sort to thwart the purposes of the klan what has already been indicated here seems not at all improbable. It means simply that the old donkey may have a new rider this year and how it will suit the meek little animal remains to be seen.

Sunday will be a day of rejoicing for the membership and friends of the Christian church of Crowell. This will be our first service since we began the remodeling of our church several weeks ago. We have prepared a special program and we earnestly invite the general public to enjoy these "praise services" with us.

Rev. Lewis P. Kopp of Vernon will be with us and will preach both morning and evening. Other visitors will be with us if the day is favorable.

We urgently request the attendance of every member, and will be grievously disappointed if you are not in your place.

Let us try to have one hundred in the Bible school. We can if we will.

Preserving Charm

To be a grandmother and yet preserve the lovely skin and charm of youth is the duty of every woman, according to a famous actress, who is not a grandmother, but who has tried to look like a girl of twenty, though she is three times that age.

"It is an antiquated idea that the ravages of advancing years should play havoc with a woman's beauty," she says. And again: "No woman of sixty or more advanced years need be without that beauty and charm of youth if she will but use the aids of beauty preservation at her disposal."

Methods of preserving the bloom of youth are not enumerated, but the actress probably counted this as wasted words because no home is complete without that which brings the red glow to the cheek and beautiful lustre to the hair.

And the subject of hair is not even mentioned. Whether it is essential that grandmother have her gray locks bobbed in order to essay the roll of granddaughter is probably regarded as trivial, because the modern woman who never lets any grass grow under

Brief Bits of Wisdom

Honesty is a great asset but some folks seem to get along fairly well without it.

Charles Schwab says that Germany will pay. Why not ask him to endorse her note?

People who practice self denial soon get to a place where they don't want everything.

The world doesn't need something new half so much as it needs something better.

"Remember the days of thy youth"—the days of hard work and little pay—when you want a small fortune for doing nothing.

The newspaper tells of a man who asks a divorce because he had to do the washing. It all came out in the wash.

The old-fashioned rolling stone that gathered no moss has a counterpart in the rolling dollar that gathers no interest.

The girl of today is so afraid she will become the girl of yesterday that she tries to become the girl of tomorrow.

THE BIG POWERFUL
8 1/2 Pound Cast Iron Burner

COOK AS FAST AS GAS
(We mean natural gas)

Please come to us for the truth about the RED STAR oil stove. We will not deceive you. We will answer all your questions freely and frankly. We have right here in and around Crowell about 40 families using the RED STAR oil stove. We can give you their names, practically every one of them have told me they liked their RED STAR—in fact, we do not know of a dissatisfied owner.

The RED STAR oil stoves, on account of its all-iron burner—no wicks or wick substitutes of any kind—uses small quantity of gasoline to heat the iron until it will take the raw kerosene. This small amount of gasoline is in a pint can so arranged that one can only pour just enough. One has to deliberately pour the second time to get more than needed. After burner has been heated, then never needs priming—lights any time you please. It is not true that if a burner is turned out or goes out, one can not light again without priming. It can be lighted any time.

Note the all-white porcey-iron, one-piece roll top shelf, the curve back wall back of burners. Note the new, easy to clean grates.

No screws or bolt heads or any scroll work of any kind to catch and hold dirt.

1924 MODEL RED STAR

The Finest, Most Beautiful oil burning stove in America. Anyone can see it's beautiful lines. It is easy to keep clean. We know it is all we claim for it, but you do not know it. We ask that you call for a demonstration, or you may try it in your own home.

Backache Is a Warning!

Crowell Folks Are Learning How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, weak and depressed? Then you should help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of failing kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, before it is too late. This Crowell resident tells an experience: Chas. Loyd, prop. Orient Hotel, says: "My kidneys were in bad shape and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. My back also loathed me with a dull, mean hurting. I began to use Doan's Pills for the trouble and they soon regulated my kidneys and rid me of back-ache."
Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Loyd had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

"BLACK JACK" LIVES LIFE OF A HERO

Paris, March 23.—General John Pershing, busily writing his war history, has become a mystery man to his friends. He has lived a hermit-like existence for the last few months. Now that word has gone forth that he has turned author, the General, withdrawn still deeper into seclusion. Even his best friends in Paris do not know his address, as Pershing sends his secretary to the American Embassy to collect his mail which is addressed to him there.

"The General is not receiving any one and desires the utmost quiet," he is concentrating on his writing, was said at the Embassy. Officers there said they were forbidden to give out Pershing's address.

Pershing has traveled hundreds of miles along the battlefield during his visit to France, minutely studying war areas.

His only companion is his chauffeur, an American ex-doughboy, who was hired in Paris. Pershing started on pilgrimage with a French chauffeur but dismissed him when the chauffeur doing a zigzag course along the road almost ran the car into a tree.

Peasants along the Hindenburg have wondered at the tall, broad-foreigned with square jaw and pleasant eyes, who prowled the lonely battle field staring into the plowed land, where craters, mounds and rain-filled hollows mark trenches and shell holes of war.

Triumphant processions would welcome him if they had known he was "Black Jack" Pershing, the General carefully hid his identity.

It is understood his book will deal with American participation in war, laying particular stress on military and strategic phases of American participation.
