CROWELL BOY WINS SECOND IN DISTRICT ORATORICAL CONTEST

Wiley Rennels of the Crowell High school was second prize winner in the oratorical contest of the North Texas district held at Wichita Falls April 20th, the prize being $15.00. First prize winner of $25.00 was Miss Ninor Yeager of Wichita Falls.

The American Legion is backing contests held all over the United States which will come to a close in the national contest in Washington, D. C. The first prize winner of the contest at Wichita Falls and of other districts of the state will be in Dallas some time in this month for a contest and the highest prize in that contest will go to the City for a zone district contest and then to Washington for the final contest. The prizes are estimated up to $3,500.

Decorations are written on the situation of the United States, the of the American Legion being to arrange greater familiarity, of the pupils of the country with our national constitution.

The district contest Bailey Rennels reflected high credit upon himself and the school he represented. His speech was pronounced a real one and was absolutely original. Preparation for this event was with no assistance, not even any drill in delivery.

Oklahoma May Try to Put Over Big Highway Project

Others are undertaking huge projects, Oklahoma will not be outdone, if there is much credence in reports appearing from Ardmore Saturday's Dallas News. There is some hope of putting over a building proposition that will set every county seat in the state with hard-surface highways or promoters would not be talking such confidence of the possibility of that achievement.

According to the dispatch a campaign will be launched May 10 at more, the occasion being a meeting of the Lee Highway Association Oklahoma, for the issuance of $1,000,000 in state bonds in the extension that the Federal Government will put up an equal amount, making the total sum for road building in the state $150,000,000.

It is explained that this bond issue will not raise ad valorem taxes one cent, as the automobile and gasoline taxes are to take care of the interest sinking fund.

It is said that a woman's auxiliary to the Lee Highway Association will be inaugurated at the meeting. It is believed, will be the first of its kind ever to have been organized in the United States. It will have charge of the parks along the highway and the beautifying of scenery which it parallels. It seems to be a fine thing. The patriotic women of the South, who are just as loyal to the ideals and traditions of their beloved Southland, will no doubt find this a source of pleasure to them in having a hand in perpetuating the name of one of its beloved heroes.

The path of the Lee Highway through Oklahoma starts at De Queen, and goes through Broken Bow, Hugo, Durant, Madill, Ardmore, Healdton, Comanche, Duncan, Ardmore, Frederick and comes into it at Vernon.

Wine Breeder Is Interested in Raising of Poultry

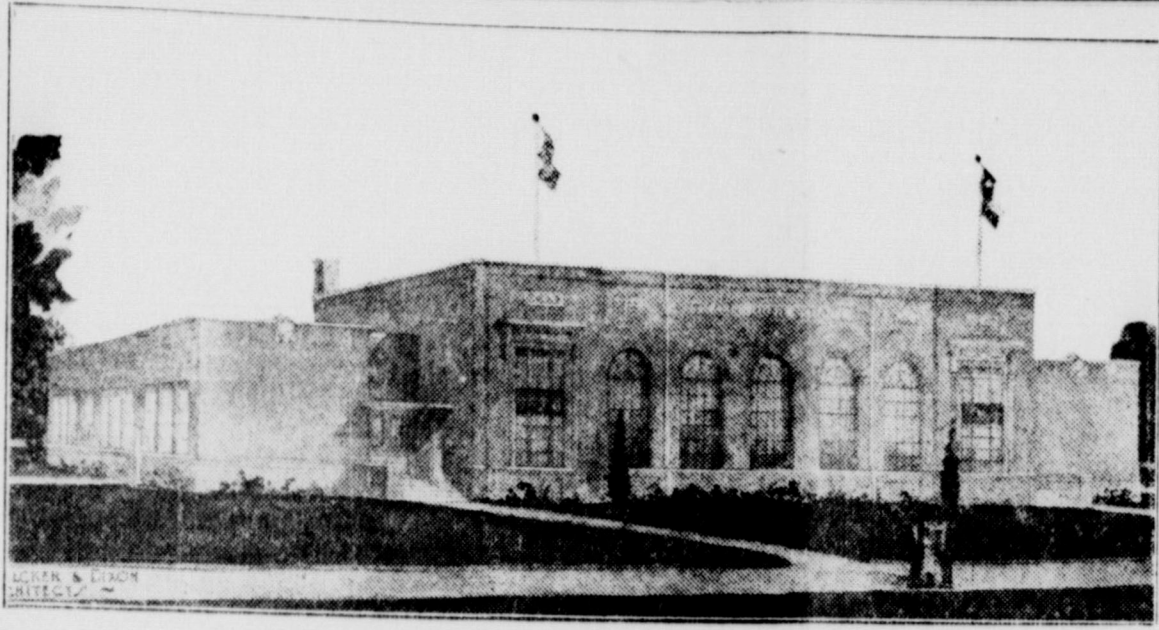

When the price of hogs began to decline, Joe Orr, one of the leading breeders of this county, divided his attention between hogs and chickens, also he enlarged his herd of Jersey cows. But quite a bit of attention has been given to poultry with excellent success.

It is not meant that Mr. Orr has left the hog business. He kept the choice of his herd and is now selling the choice stuff and expects the price to be better some of these years, when he will be prepared to get the demands in that line. But the poultry business he and his family are doing more than the ordinary family. They have more than young chickens, all thriving and doing well. These are not all of one breed, but for his foundation stock he gets to get out of the 600 the best of the Leghorns of the country, the stock having come from the Johnson poultry farm at Bowie.

Mr. Orr is highly pleased with the results he has had and expects to devote quite a bit of time to the poultry business. He believes it is worth while.

Baptist Meeting Closed Sunday Night

The series of meetings running for two weeks at the Baptist church closed Sunday night with twelve additions to the church, 9 by baptism and 3 by letter. There were reported conversions during the meeting.

THALIA'S NEW $40,000 SCHOOL BUILDING

The above is a cut of the new Thalia school building now under construction. This building will be modern in every respect.

The seating capacity of the auditorium will be 550, with sloping front, large roomy stage suitable for little theatrical productions, having dressing rooms with the stage. The auditorium can be entered directly from the outside so that it may be used at night without opening the balance of the building to the public. The auditorium is well ventilated and in addition to the large circle-head windows on the front there are transoms into the side corridors and large windows over the roof of the lower part of the building.

There will be seven large class rooms fully equipped with blackboards, sanitary wardrobes for the children's wraps, cabinets for the teachers' supplies and regulation windows as required by the State Department of Education. There are to be two smaller rooms that may be used for recitation rooms or library, also a superintendent's office and book storage room.

There will be a large roomy basement with equipment for a first class steam heating system and drinking fountains are also provided throughout the building with sanitary bubbling cups and running water.

The exterior of the building will be faced with a gray Elgin brick laid in white mortar and trimmed with natural stone. The windows will be of steel with large ventilating facilities to give the greatest amount of circulation in hot weather.

Voelker & Dixon of Wichita Falls are the architects and J. L. Scott of Ardmore is the contractor.

It is planned to have this building completed by the opening of the fall term of school in September.

This structure, a $40,000 building, is the fruits of a campaign started in the Thalia country several months ago for consolidation and Thalia and Dixie districts are now one, having a school building that would be a credit to a town of two thousand people.

These communities are to be complimented for their enterprise. They will have in a short while one of the best public schools of any community in this part of the state, not excluding those of the bigger towns.

Safety of American Ideals Depends Upon Character of the Home

Reform must begin in the home. Parental discipline must be reinstated. Lines of demarcation between the church and the world must be more plainly drawn. The first fiddler in the church must cease to be the first fiddler in the dance. A return to the principles enunciated by the leaders of the world's great reforms is absolutely necessary to our well being.

These were some of the thoughts brought out by the Rev. O. P. Clark, presiding elder, who occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

These he disclaimed as being notes of pessimism, but were merely notes of warning. The preacher feels the imperative need just at this time of the appearance of great national leaders who have the strength of character that will justify confidence in leadership. He referred to such men as Henry Grady and others whose lives were spent in the interest of humanity and whose messages had a wonderful effect on our people, saying that our need of such characters was never greater than now. But Grady's greatest speech was that where he pictured the home as the greatest institution on earth, the place where character is formed; the place where real manhood and womanhood in their highest type are moulded.

The preacher came close home to his hearers when he spoke of the tendency of the youth of the country to go into what is called society, the light, senseless inducements that not only are a waste of time but within themselves are sinful. These, permitted by the parents, are undermining the character and stamina of the youth of the land, and unless a halt is called in some way, within another decade we are going on the rocks.

Fathers and mothers must not only possess character but they must weave character into the lives of their children. The youth are permitted to live lives free from responsibility. They are care free. They must have a good time, go the gates, drift and grow into maturity with little or no preparation to meet its tasks.

The sermon was aimed at things fundamental to our national and religious life and was delivered in a very forceful manner.

Fortunately the preacher had a good humor and many complimentary remarks were made of the discourse after it was delivered.

Citizens Anxious to See Street Paving Program Commenced

At a meeting Tuesday night at the city hall, at which a fair representation of the citizenship was present, anxiety was manifested on the part of the people here to see street paving start at an early date.

The citizens also expressed themselves as being in favor of putting down a quality of work that will stand up, even if it costs a little more than the cheaper kind. They want this work for the service it will give, and not simply for the attractiveness it will add to the town.

The engineer also met with the citizens and talked matters over with them, expressing himself also as favoring a good piece of work at whatever the extra cost might be above a cheap class. He was frank to express his candid opinion in regard to materials, and his business connection with street paving projects over the country gives him reliable information.

THALIA AND MARGARET HAVE CHAUTAUQUA NEXT WK.

The Cadmean Chautauqua people have contracted to start their chautauqua at Thalia next Sunday night in the Thalia tabernacle.

This is the same company that put on the chautauqua there and at Margaret last year and those who attended from Crowell say they put on a series of programs well worth the money they cost. And the splendid patronage they have received at both places bear out that statement. They have had no difficulty in raising the amount required through the sale of tickets, so that it is a reasonable certainty that they will have good crowds this year.

The Thalia people are advertising the chautauqua extensively in the hope that they may swell their crowds to the extent that they will realize a profit out of it that will enable them to put a concrete floor in their tabernacle. Thalia has a dandy little tabernacle and it will seat quite a crowd of people. It is just the kind of public building every town, large or small, needs for public gatherings not religious in their nature.

The same company rendering programs at Thalia will start their program at Margaret on Monday night after it starts at Thalia Sunday night.

Ferrins Writes from Leesville, Louisiana

Leesville, La., April 28, 1924. Editors News and Friends:

After having traveled nearly 300 miles in Louisiana over the finest continuous stretch of graveled roads seen in any state we reached Cravens, a noted saw mill town. As there had been very hard rains and only dirt roads from there to Leesville we stopped over one and a half days.

With the permission of the superintendent we visited all departments of the mill and lumber yards covering several acres of ground. It is low boggy ground. A framework of heavy timbers 4 to 6 feet high support all the buildings and the entire yards. The logs brought in by great train loads are dumped into an artificial lake. Men float them to the foot of a huge inclined carrier that takes them to the saw carrier and as they are sawed into desired dimensions they go up onto carriers to the desired places. All this is heavy work until they reach truck or wagon and is done by machinery, men only guiding the lumber. In the yards acres are covered with lumber piled from 4 to 10 feet high.

Cravens is quite a town but the superintendent said that all available timber would be cut in 18 months, at the longest. As yet there are only scattered settlements on this cut-over land. White clover, blue grass and bermuda seem to be native to the country, and the farmers we talked with, some from the North, seem to be quite contented.

On some of the farms the stumps had been pulled by machinery but most of the planting is done among stumps.

On Saturday, the 19th, we were four hours on the worst 24 miles getting to Leesville. There is no camp ground at Leesville but we received a hearty welcome at the Llano colony one and a half miles south. Here we have all the accommodations we need. Went to a fine dance the first night and to a picture show the next. The slides furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. All entertainments here are free.

We have visited most of the town industries and much of the farm, but will tell about the workings of the colony after we have been longer with them. The Kansas City Southern railroad runs through the grounds also a fine graveled highway. They purchased a saw mill with all its outfits and have the deeds for 7,000 acres with option on 15,000 more and have 700 acres under cultivation. They have many acres of fine hardwood timber, some of it three feet in diameter, and some good pine timber, enough to last for years. Lots of fruit and strawberries by the bushel. We get them for 25 cents per quart.

At the present time there are 500 in the colony, and including the various lines of farming and manufacturing, some 55 different industries. The location is 20 miles from the east line of Texas and is what is known as the highlands of Western Louisiana.

Find California Very Attractive

When L. V. Bell and his mother and little brother left some weeks ago for Elsinore, Cal., going by automobile, L. V. promised that he would send the News an account of the trip and how they were impressed with California. The News has heard from them and we are here publishing a portion of the letter, which follows:

"I have been very busy since I came here. This seems to be a great country. I have seen very little of California but all that I have seen is mountains, valleys and deserts. Can't begin to tell how beautiful the irrigated valleys are. The mountains and deserts are only a mass of waste. We can see snow all the time on the highest peaks. There are a lot of things to see in touring this country. The foot and mouth disease is playing havoc with the tourist business at present and since California depends on the tourist trade everything just now is very dull.

Brother Henry and family are getting along fine. He is making money, has a nice home, a fine family and a good garage, owning the business and building. He would not leave California, and I don't blame him. I do not think I shall leave it either. We like this place mighty well.

"Elsinore is a fine little town of about 2,500 people and is growing fast.

"As to our trip out here, we got by cheap, was out $47.00. My car expenses were $26.35, counting $4.50 for a new spring. Had one puncture and broke one spring. That was all the car trouble we had. Never ran out of gas or oil. We used about 48 gallons of gas, or 28 miles per gallon. My oil expense was quite a bit more than normal on account of a leaky gasket. I used 5 gallons of oil which was twice as much as would have been needed if the car had not sprung a leak, but I have no kick coming. We had a wonderful trip and many interesting sights to see.

If you will come out here when the quarantine is lifted you will have a wonderful trip. It will be worth your while and the price it will cost.

We came over what is known as the Sunkist trail to Beaumont and from there south to Elsinore. We came by Deming and Lordsburg, N. M., Safford, Globe, Phoenix and Vicksburg, Ariz., Blythe, Desert Center, Mecca, Beaumont and Perris, Cal. You will see from the map that this is the most direct route but some of it is fearfully rough and some of it is good."

Decatur College Ball Team Here

The ball team of the Decatur Baptist College is here for a series of games with the Crowell High school team. Some good games are expected.

Mrs. R. A. Wells of Dalhart was here last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Belle Aile, and other relatives and friends. She left Sunday afternoon for her home, being accompanied to Quanah by Mrs. Ailee and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Magee and children. Mrs. Wells and family were among the pioneer settlers of this county.

E. Swain, J. L. Hunter, S. E. Scales, Dr. Clark, Tom Reeder, B. W. Self, A. T. Schooley, A. M. Loughmiller, Grady Magee and L. A. Andrews attended the Shrine ceremonial at Wichita Falls Tuesday. Mrs. Reeder and Mrs. Clark accompanied their husbands.

The Time to Keep Ice Has Arrived

But to keep ice in a sanitary way is to have a good refrigerator or ice box. There are many refrigerators on the market--some good, others of little value. A cheaply constructed ice box or refrigerator can be sold at a less price, of course, than a well-made, honest-to-goodness, high-grade kind.

We have sold more refrigerators in Crowell in the past fifteen years than all others. We have always sold good ones. We now offer you the well-known

White Mountain Refrigerator, "the chest with the chill in it."

We have the Alaska Cork Lined, also.

Let us show you some of the features built into the White Mountain Refrigerators that no other refrigerator has.

Sellers Mastercraft

This week and to the 17th of the month is Sellers Kitchen Cabinet National Advertising dates. We have a nice representative line of both the Hoosier and the Sellers Kitchen Cabinets. The Sellers is now being advertised nationally. The new feature is the white porcelain bottom shelf called by them the "Klear Front." We have a big white "Klear Front" in our display window. This small cut of Sellers Kitchen Cabinet does not do it justice.

Why should a woman worry about the long hot summer days just ahead if she has a Sellers Kitchen Cabinet, a big six burner Red Star Oil Stove, Gold Seal Congoleum Rug on the floor and a White Mountain Refrigerator handy?

MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 11th

Gifts that Mother will appreciate

MOTHER

I hold you, dearest Mother mine,
From all the world apart.
Thoughts of your goodness softly shine
Like sunlight in my heart.
Truest friend above all others,
Gentlest, kindest, best of mothers.

—Walter Jones Willson.

Every day is the birthday of some mother, but it is especially fitting that one day in the year be set aside when the nation at large knows motherhood.

This day of special recognition originated in Philadelphia on May 9, 1907, being the idea of Miss Anna Jarvis who, in honor of her own mother, dedicated the anniversary of her death as Mother's Day. In that year the churches and local organizations of Philadelphia co-operated in putting on a Mother's Day program. The House and Senate passed a resolution in 1913 as a result of the spread of the "Mother's Day" idea and purpose, making the day a national holiday, "dedicated to the memory of the best mother in the world, your mother."

Remember the day, May 11th. Come to your Rexall Store for suggestions and the appreciated Gifts for Mother.

"American Beauty" is a very fitting name for the famous flour that has stood the severest test of millions of housewives for the past several years. It makes beautiful, light, snow-flake, crisp biscuits because it is made right and made from good material.

"American Beauty" has a reputation to guard and for that reason its makers seek not only to keep up its high quality but to improve it if that ever becomes possible.

"American Beauty" is the flour that appeals to those of an appreciation for quality bread, and one of the best things is that they always find it the same.

We handle this celebrated flour. Let us put you on our list of customers who always call for "American Beauty" first.

We will buy your produce and pay you the highest market price for it.

Of course delegates to the National Convention will not object to instructions since they cost nothing.

But the angels tell us that they did not want their hair bobbed but they had to have it done so that they could wear the season's hats!

For the life of us we can not understand why Henry Ford wants Mussle Shoals for 100 years when he ought to know that he will not live half that long.

If we could get by with paying as we go we would have little cause for complaint, but when we have to pay as we come, also, that's what we call gettin' em a-comin' and a-gwine.

The fishing season is here, but our experience in the past does not justify the hope of success on a fishing trip. We have always carried more meat to the creek in the form of bait than we ever carried away in the form of fish.

The more rest one gets the more restless he becomes, and the restless person is besieged by one temptation after another until he falls a victim and does something he ought not do. Happy is the person who must work and who has it. Miserable is the person who has a strong body and mind but does not need to exercise them.

Some "orators" whose sound has the preponderance over sense would do well to practice punching the air and stamping the foot before they come before their innocent victims, the suffering public, and learn to put on the soft pedal. There is less danger of turning loose dust germs. Besides, it is usually a scrub steer that paws the dirt.

There is not much doubt that Congress frames many bills that are not worth the time and the framing material. But we are not criticising Congress. That body may make some mistakes, but they are not all mistakes. If we thought so we would either try to get to Congress or help send some friend who tells us that he just wants a chance to turn the rascals out.

Pat Neff, (we call him "Pat" because he wants us too)—Pat Neff came very nearly committing the unpardonable sin by exercising his privileges as a citizen of Texas. Why, he went around over the state and said things against McAdoo. Suppose he had taken the stump for him. Oh, that would have been alright. After all, it depends on whose steer gets horned, don't it?

Congress wants the Japanese excluded from America. There are those who think the Japs are desirable people in our midst but unless they can be thoroughly Americanized we do not think so. People who have seen colonies of the Japs have been impressed with their skill in certain lines of agriculture and of their thrift, but not much else is seen in them to commend them to this country. They live with the hogs and horses but do not seem to possess very high ideals. We doubt if any community is benefitted by their presence, except in rare instances where they have adopted American ideas. But while Congress is shutting out the little man with yellow outside, let them not overlook thousands who are yellow on the inside.

Woman's Missionary Society

The hospitality of the home of Mrs. C. P. Sandifer was extended to the members of the missionary society last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John Hunter led a very interesting program on the subject, "New Neighbors from Lands Afar." The scripture readings were 2nd Cor. 8: 1-12; 1st Cor. 16:2, after which we were led in prayer. Each member took part in the program stressing our need of love for, sympathy with, and understanding of the foreign neighbor when he lands on our shores planning to make our land his own. He wants to be Americanized but oftentimes he cannot overcome the difficulties of language, customs and lack of co-operation on the part of American Christians. We must remember that they are citizens, loved and respected, in their native land as we are in the land to which they have come; and thus remembering let us not forget the gospel injunction of "doing unto others as we would have them do unto us."

At the close of the above program our delegates, Mrs. T. L. Hughston and Mrs. J. A. Stovall, gave a most helpful report of the Missionary Conference just closed in Vernon. Reports show an increase in all departments of the work over the previous year which inspires us to make the present year the best we have ever had. Mrs. Wells of Dalhart but formerly of this place, was the delegate from her church to the conference, coming on to Crowell to visit her sister, Mrs. Belle Allee, was a very welcome visitor, indeed. She gave us her account of the conference and we felt much benefitted by the message she brought.

After the lesson of the day was ended each one present repeated a scripture verse on immortality before being dismissed. Mrs. Sandifer was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Willett and Tuttle. An ice course was served members and visitors.—Reporter.

Adelphian Club

The Adelphians met with Mrs. Jeff Bruce as hostess in the home of Mrs. A. Y. Beverly, May 1, 1924.

The Short Story is still proving to be a very interesting study.

Three stories, representing the spirit of the place and communal consciousness were studied, namely, "The Girl at Duke," representative story of the arid Southwest, in which the local color was very strong; "Love of Life," one of Jack London's stories of Alaska. Mrs. Henry discussed the points of the story that proved to the reader that had ever visited that country that his data was secured not through reading but close observation of the country. The third story, "By the Rod of His Wrath" was a strong story of communal consciousness, and you felt that the name of Biblical origin, 3rd chapter of Lamentations, was extremely fitting. Discussions were very interesting.

The club lesson was ended with a vocal solo rendered by Mrs. Baxter Johnson.

Mesdames A. B. Beard of Anson and J. Frank Potts of Hereford were visitors which we enjoyed very much.

A well planned as well as a tastefully arranged plate was served as a pleasing aftermath to a delightful afternoon.

The club will meet May the 14th with Mrs. Couch as hostess.—Reporter.

THINGS IN GENERAL

Penalizing Bobbed Hair
School officials of an Indiana community have agreed that no school teachers with bobbed hair shall be engaged next year.

In a Pennsylvania city, a different course is being pursued—teachers who bob their hair will likewise bob their salary. By the edict of the school board, a raise of $100 will be paid only to those who wear a full head of hair.

According to the best evidence obtainable, there are no restrictions as to the kind of hair worn—it may be real or artificial.

It seems to have resolved itself into a question of respectability. These particular school officials have concluded that children have less respect for teachers with bobbed hair.

It may or may not sound the knell from short hair among the feminine instructors, in these particular communities, the decision of the school authorities notwithstanding. It all depends on the trend of the style in hair dressing.

Not even school boards, though they may sway the destinies of school teachers, are capable of controlling feminine styles permanently. They need only to look back into pedagogic history for the answer.

Think of the bangs, "rats," bustles, tight corsets, big sleeves, hoopskirts and other horrors that have characterized the teaching profession in the past along with contemporary femininity, and left the awful record in old family albums and framed photographs of country school rooms.

If long hair comes back, school teachers, in common with all members of the feminine sex who want to be in style, of course, will wear it with a relish. But, unfortunately for school officials who disapprove, hair seems to be coming off more rapidly than ever.

From large and small cities alike come increasing reports of shedding locks. The age-line of sawed-off tresses is advancing with dizzy rapidity. Already some grandmothers have their feet on it. The time may not be far away when children may think school teachers who are not bobbed are old-fashioned.

Who knows?

Wets Die Hard
The wets are dying hard. Their battle to nullify the Volstead act, and eventually the eighteenth amendment, is now centered in congress where there are no less than fifty-nine bills pending.

The wets are still hiding behind the smoke screen of light wines and beer. They are hoping against hope that they can gain this entering wedge. The problem confronting them is to be able to delude enough people into believing that light wines and beer would be an improvement over the present "bone dry" law.

Beer advocates claim that they have not placed all their eggs in one basket, so that if all of their fifty-nine bills are unfavorably reported by congressional committees, they will still have a card to play.

The new rules of the House provide that if a measure is not favorably reported by a committee, it may be brought upon the floor by petition. Signatures of 150 members are necessary to force a committee to discharge bills.

Wet congressmen admit they have little chance in the House judiciary committee and they are pinning their faith to the new House rule.

In the meantime, dries should be alert, for it's barely possible that wets are not making public all of their battle maneuvers.

At the Christian Science Chapel Sunday services 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Testimonial services Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. Subject for Sunday, May 11, "Adam and Fallen Man." The public is cordially invited to attend.

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blake-more, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again." Theford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

May 12th Designated National Hospital Day

The 12th day of May is designated National Hospital Day throughout the entire Nation.

The reason for selecting this day is that it is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the noble woman, who first showed the world the great value of training women for their ministrations to the sick and of reorganizing them for the same purpose in time of epidemics or war.

On that day we are inviting you to pay tribute to the life of a self-sacrificing woman and to plan advancement of the wonderful profession she loved, and we, of the same profession will use every effort to familiarize you with the workings and aims of the hospitals, and to bring to the attention of every citizen of Knox County and especially those of the Knox City community the hospital facilities that you now have at your service and the additional equipments we require to properly meet the needs of this locality.

On May 12, 1924, the fourth anniversary of National Hospital Day, the doors of the Knox City Sanitarium will be open to the general public and an invitation issued for you to make yourselves acquainted with the protective resources your community possesses; this is the privilege which observance of the National Hospital Day offers every citizen and not only a privilege but an opportunity for service.

We wish to emphasize that co-operation in your community toward the proper observance of this day will be a direct contribution to the cause of public health and welfare, and that it will furnish you an opportunity to familiarize yourselves again with your community needs and to ascertain how these needs are being filled.

We want you to see that hospitals are not primarily places of sorrow and pain, but places of relief where disease is studied and where women are trained to make their contribution to the saving and lengthening of human life.

The hospital of your city, your county, your community or district is partly your institution, built in a large measure by you and for you, and to display an active interest in this institution is a civic responsibility, important enough to be assumed by each and every citizen.

Hospitals constitute a necessary part of the material equipment for saving human life. As citizens you are interested in seeing that adequate equipment of this kind exists in your community and that it is the best that can be procured.

President Coolidge's message to Mr. Foley, instigator of National Hospital Day, says:

"I extend my earnest wishes for the wide observance of the day and my hope that it will be productive of results calculated to the further advancement of the American Hospital System."

The United States Public Health Service endorses National Hospital Day and invites all to participate in the benefits derived from observing it in the widest possible way.

We will have open house from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., May 12th, 1924.

A very interesting program will be prepared by the nurses.

Refreshments will be served to all.

All hospital necessities will be glad-
