

The Brunswick Radiola No. 160

A complete Radiola-Super Hetrodine Receiving Set, SCIENTIFICALLY Combined with the finest BRUNSWICK PHONOGRAPH, requires no wiring of any kind, the phonograph sideplays every make of disc phonograph record made including EDISON, without anything to take off or to put on (except to change the steel needles, the genuine diamond needle to play Edison records is a permanent one.) By a simple twist one can change from one kind of record to another—no attachments whatever to take off or put on.

The Loud Speaker for the Radio side is scientifically connected with the phonograph horn—an all-wood affair, no metallic sounds—so by a simple twist of a small button, either the Radio or the Brunswick phonograph gives forth the sound clear and loud.

Understand that the Brunswick Radiola is not a simple radio, placed haphazard in a phonograph cabinet, but it is the results of the efforts and combined scientific skill of two of the largest corporations of the whole world. The Brunswick-Radiola No.

160 shown here, at your will, gives you a radio program right out of the air without doing anything but turning an electric switch and tuning in—or will play any record of any phonograph by simply placing it on and turning switch of loud speaker. This Brunswick Radiola is the sensation of the day and the better homes are going to provide them for their family's entertainment and keeping up with the best the world affords in music, lecture, grand opera, gospel sermons, gospel and sacred singing, by world renowned artists of every kin dor cult.

This No. 160 costs only $5.50.00, less than a decent looking player piano, yet it will be used and treasured for years and years after the player has lost all its attraction, and the price has been forgotten.

We have other Brunswick-Radiolas from $190.00 two-tube, $285.00 four-tube, and $450.00. All contain fine Brunswick phonographs and play all records, but they all require poles and wiring to make loud speaker effective. Yet when properly installed will give you any station the No. 160 will give. The No. 30, $190.00, uses head phones, but by paying $30.00 additional 2 more tubes will make it equal to the $285.00 Radiola.

Come to our store any time you wish and we will be glad to demonstrate both types. If you want to give a gift worth while—give a Brunswick Radiola.

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Crowell, Texas, December 12, 1924

Everybody works, even father is having his share of it these days. The News boys can speak from experience. But most of us had rather be tired from overwork than down in spirits from underwork, so we will patiently take it as it comes and do the best we can. Really, though, there are times when we wish we could go hunting for a few hours and let somebody else run the linotype, set ads, accept subscriptions, run the press, gather and write news, entertain company and look pleasant for a few hours just for a change. But that's the way with all us mortals. We think the other fellow has a snap and the other fellow thinks we have. It's all in the way we look at matters. Usually when we figure that somebody else has the good jobs we are merely theorizing and that theory is fashioned to suit our ideas. These do not always conform to the practice. So we will be content with our job and go it again when we get over our present tired and fatigued feeling. Bring us your ads and job work and we will handle them while you wait.

When a fellow comes along with an idea to give away we nearly always take it in order to keep our stock replenished. Here's one handed to us the other day. Maybe you have it, but it's all right if you do. Here it is: Crowell will act wisely if it sees to it that all street and sidewalk building is done upon a system that will give the construction of these improvements uniformity. That is to say a survey and plat of the town should be made and used in future construction work. It is a good idea. It is an easy matter to build in a hap-hazard manner and never have any building that we would be proud of.

Education Given As Remedy for Crime Cure

A very timely editorial appeared in the Star-Telegram of Monday which we think is worthy of reproduction. The caption of the editorial was "The Cure for Crime." It follows:

The Biblical statement that "money is the root of all evil" might better have been written "the desire for money." Violation of the security of property is the outstanding feature of the crime situation in this age, as it has been in all ages past. The Eighth Commandment finds expression in the criminal laws of all nations, and is the one most frequently disobeyed by men. Desire for property and the money it yields, or for money itself as the one thing by which any and every material thing can be secured, is universal and continuous. Laws against theft, fraud, and all manner of acquisitions secured unlawfully fail to deter the criminal impulse to both petty and grand larceny. Neither the lusts of the flesh nor any other human desire so forcefully attacks the morals of men.

Laws and their multiplicity have failed; there is only one way to stop offenses which involve theft. It is education from childhood in those qualities which bring money and property honestly. Education in industry, in earnings, in saving, and in the morals which make lawful acquisition and love of honor more powerful than temptation to steal or to defraud, is the only cure. It is probable that training of this kind in the public schools would do more to minimize crimes against property than all the penalties of the law.

Teach a youth the pleasures of integrity and the sense of harmony with righteousness, the joys of rightful possession as a result of industry and thrift, and he will not become a thief.

Setting Eggs Sold at $5 Per Hundred

San Saba, Dec. 7.—T. H. King, one of San Saba County's leading poultry raisers, whose show birds top the egg record, has sold this season 5,000 eggs for setting purposes, at $5 per 100. King operates two incubators of 600-egg capacity each, and will make a specialty of selling baby chicks another season. He is adding new houses, 18x18, to his chicken yard for housing baby chicks.

An average of 100 eggs per day the year round has been gathered from the King poultry yards. From this season's raising he now has 450 hens and pullets, and is shipping a case of eggs per day at an average price of $10 per case. The King flocks are of the White Leghorn variety.

A CHILD'S PILGRIMAGE

Eighteen hundred Iowa and Missouri school children paid homage recently at the tomb of Lincoln in Springfield, Ill. They were borne to the Illinois city in forty-three steel coaches with funds raised by the Shenandoah, Iowa, Kiwanis club.

When the boys and girls boarded the train for the trip, they probably looked upon the occasion as a joyous "lark." But before they reached home, they had learned a lesson that could not have been taught in any other way.

A visit to the tomb of Lincoln leaves an indelible impression upon the mind of a child that will ever be a part of its store of memories.

It would be a fine contribution to national patriotism if every school child in America could visit the last resting place of the Emancipator and in the silence of the tomb pledge themselves to a life of devotion to the ideals that he did not live to see realized.

The life of Lincoln can not be stressed too much in the public schools. It teaches the lesson every child needs to learn—rugged personal honesty and a sacrificial spirit that puts the good of all above self.

Quanah Farmer Exceeds 4 Bales on Five Acres

Quanah, Dec. 7.—Ray Swindell, six miles northeast of Quanah, reports he made four bales and 393 pounds of lint cotton on five acres this year. He has five acres entered in the $1,000 prize contest, and while this five-acre tract under intensive cultivation has made a somewhat better yield than his entire acreage, yet practically every acre planted to cotton this year has yielded three-fourths bale of lint cotton, and bollies yet to be gathered.
Swindell is an enthusiast on intensive cultivation and says he will plant next year only such acreage as he can intensively cultivate.

When we learn to know ourselves as others know us, we may not be so proud of the things we have done.

The primary reason for objecting to the primary is because so many second-rate men get nominated.

This may be the land of opportunity, but there are no sign posts showing the right way.

Missionary Society

The women of the Methodist church met at the church Thursday, Dec. 4, for the purpose of observing the "Week of Prayer" program. The Bible lesson for the morning session was on the "Transformation," presented by Mrs. M. S. Henry, which we enjoyed very much. Mrs. T. L. Hughston gave some interesting facts concerning the home and foreign departments, 1918-24, Board of Missions, General Work. Mrs. Sam Bell told of the school and the encouraging progress at Parral District, Mexico. A very impressive article, "Marjorie Consults the Missionary Oracle," was given by Mrs. Belle Allee and Mrs. Henry. At 12:30 we were dismissed for lunch and after an hour pleasantly spent in spreading our lunch, talking and eating, we again assembled for the afternoon program. We were glad to have Bro. Fuller with us for the noon hour. Mrs. Fuller conducted the devotional for the afternoon in a very impressive manner. Mrs. Clark, Mrs. H. E. Ferguson and Miss Purcell told of different phases of the missionary work in the coal fields of West Virginia. Mrs. George Self favored us with a special song which all enjoyed very much.

About 2:45 we were dismissed and went to our homes feeling that we could say with the Psalmist—"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

Monday afternoon, Dec. 8, the Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Herbert Edwards with Mrs. J. A. Wright and Mrs. Rude Magee, assistant hostesses. The meeting for afternoon was led by Mrs. T. L. Hughston, and the following program was rendered which was both interesting and instructive.

Prayer.—Mrs. J. M. Fuller.
China's expanding church.—Mrs. Sam Crews.

Wage earning mothers and their children.—Mrs. J. A. Johnson.

Missionary news from the Bulletin.—Mrs. Henry.

They lead and serve.—Mrs. J. A. Wright.

At the close of the program we were dismissed by repeating the Lord's prayer in concert after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments, and we went home feeling we were glad to have been there.—Pub. Supt.

THRILLS

So many of us are in a hurry and don't know where we are going. It is characteristic of the age—constantly seeking a new thrill, a new sensation.

A young man bought a new automobile, had it a few months and boasted that he had run it ten thousand miles.

"Where have you been?" he was asked.

And he answered, "Oh no place in particular—just around."

Around expresses it—traveling around in circles.

He was out in search of a thrill that he had never experienced before. And he had been no place.

And many folks not so young are endeavoring to live on thrills.

There are people who literally tremble at the thought of being left alone at home one evening with themselves.

The art of enjoying an evening of relaxation with a good book has largely been lost, because of the nervous unrest that abounds, and the demands of the multiplying activities that take us away from home.

As a people we very generally have ceased to form opinions of our own, based upon sound judgment, but are content to accept second-hand views, being moved by selfish appeals that are based upon prejudice or greed or pettiness.

We may have wonderful machines to do our work and for our amusement, but no machine will ever take the place of the mind.

The greatness of America will spread and have a benign influence over the world, due to our per capita intelligence, rather than from our per capita wealth.

Thalia School Notes

The parent-teacher association met last Friday night and rendered a short program. Judge Owens, Mrs. M. S. Henry and Miss Inez Sloan, all of Crowell, were present. Mrs. Henry made a fine talk on P. T. A. What it does for community, parent, teacher and child. We were very fortunate indeed to secure Mrs. Henry. Miss Sloan gave two piano selections which were very much appreciated.

I am sorry that more of the patrons were not present, because we need you to make this organization go, and we mean to make it go. We mean to make this one of your best schools, if not the best, and co-operation is all of it.

Give us your co-operation, your good will and a little time, and we will show you what a good school means to a community.—President P. T. A.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED AT FOARD CITY

Judge Owens, Mrs. C. P. Sandifer and Mrs. M. S. Henry of Crowell, met with the parents and teachers of Foard City at the school building last Friday afternoon.

After several helpful and interesting talks, particularly one by Mrs. Henry on her Alaskan trip, a parent-teacher association was organized with the following officers: President, Mrs. J. H. McDaniel; secretary, Miss May King; program committee, Mrs. Claud Stone, first vice president, chairman, Mr. W. C. McClellan, Mrs. Ernest King; membership committee, Mrs. R. L. Taylor, second vice president, chairman, Mrs. E. V. Halbert, Mrs. Hugh McLain, Mrs. John Lilly; ways and means committee, Mrs. Claud Callaway, third vice president, chairman, Mrs. George Canup, Mrs. Frank Welch.

The next meeting is to be held at the school building Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, at 7:00 o'clock. A splendid program is being arranged and the public is cordially invited.

The association is very enthusiastic and expects not only to accomplish much good for the girls and boys but to receive great help and pleasure for themselves.

Come one and all and help us. We need you. "In unity there is strength" and "In service there is joy."—Reporter.

DON'T SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

Someone we know is going to pass on to another world some day. No one knows the time or the way of their going.

Their good deeds will appeal to us and will be emphasized when they are gone. We will all vainly attempt to say with flowers what we left unsaid while they were on earth to hear it.

Before the grass begins to grow over them, we will utter many kind words about them. Their sterling qualities will be extolled and their faults, which we once enlarged, will be written upon the sand.

But that is the way of the world. It might be different, however. We might commend their good traits while they are here to reap the benefits of compliments that would stir them on to greater efforts.

A kind word means much to those who are striving to do right. It encourages them in their laudable undertakings, to persevere in the path of honor, and to help those who are wavering.

Say it to them in life; they can't hear you when they are gone.

Among useless things list the family tree after financial reverses have come.

An Amendment That Should Quickly Go to the Scrap Basket

That the Child Labor Amendment to the United States Constitution to be submitted to the next Texas Legislature for ratification will be defeated when it goes to the voters of the State is as certain as that the sun shines. And it ought to be defeated. It has already met defeat in Massachusetts where it might be expected to get more favor than in the South. The following portion of the proposed amendment is sufficient to assure its defeat. Here it is: "The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age."

If it went no further than that and if it permitted the states to regulate child labor the submitting of such measure would almost be an insult to the voters of any commonwealth in the Union.

It matters not what the aim of this proposed amendment is, it is not entitled to the favorable consideration of the voters. If it assumes to regulate by legislation the right of parents to rear their children it is bad. The worst thing, as we see it, is the infringement upon that right and the assumption it carries with it that they are incapable of rearing them. Possibly some are incapable, but legislative measures are the poorest methods of correcting that condition. It would be a step in the direction of the Government's taking over the youth of the land as property belonging to the nation.

There ought to be certain legislative measures, such as we already have, for the protection of the children to the extent that sorry and worthless parents do not cruelly work their children. Our present laws are sufficient to guarantee a fairly safe degree of protection.

This proposed amendment is said to have had its origin in Russia and is purely a socialistic idea. When our people become such fools as to accept any idea that has its origin in that woe-begone country it will be time for us to become alarmed about ourselves.

Texas will never favor the adoption of such amendment, at least not until we have retrograded for several hundred years.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

MARIAN

MARIAN, which is the root of numberless feminine names of simple dignity, is responsible for romantic Marian. Like her forerunner, Marian signifies bitter, but a sweeter name would be difficult to find. Maria was probably its direct progenitor and Marian came about through the introduction of the French diminutive "on," thus forming the name of

A bonny fine maid of noble degree, Maid Marion, by name.

The delightful story of Robin Hood gave fame to her name and as early as 1332 she was given a unique place in popular favor by the play of "Robin of Marion" by the students of Angors, one of them appearing as a "fillette seigneur." The origin of marionettes is thus explained: puppets disguised to play the part of Maid Marion. Another explanation is that the term comes from the custom of calling the small images of the Blessed Virgin Mariettes or Marionettes and several streets in Paris where these tiny figures were set up were called the Rues des Marionettes. Gradually all puppets came to be called marionettes and the bauble carried by a court jester was a morotte or marionette.

In France Marion became very popular; indeed that country rarely accepts Marion. Marion was speedily contracted to Manon and also expanded into Marionette, as a poem written in the Thirteenth century gives proof.

Scotland has always loved Marion and "Maid Marion, fair as an ivory hone" is popular in rustic pageantry there. They call her Menie occasionally.

Marlan's jewel is the agate which insures an agreeable persuasive manner, averts danger, and gives a bold, courageous heart. According to an old poem:

Adorned with this thou woman's heart shall gain, And by persuasion, thy desire obtain: And if of men thou aught demand, shall come, With all thy wish fulfilled, rejoicing home.

Sunday is Marlan's lucky day and 2 her talismanic number. Her flower is the wild rose.

HOW GARDENS GROW

And fish have fins to move around, But seeds just stay right underground And never move—and yet just see What seeds will do for you and me!

For put them in the ground, what then? Some day you're in your yard again And, see, those seeds just overnight Send up a little sprout of white And then, about next day I mean, Send up a little leaf of green!

And then some day those seeds so wise Send up the prettiest surprise!— Sweet peas of pink, or maybe flox All dressed in white or purple frocks! Just how they do it I don't know, But that's the way the gardens grow! (©, 1924, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

AGAINST THE TIDE

BESSETTING you on every hand is the invisible tide which is hourly sweeping humans from their charted course and carrying them into unknown waters.

The captains of courage who have gone before, weathered the treacherous currents and reached a secure haven, are the only ones who can tell you what this opposing tide means to the young or the inexperienced, or the overconfident.

They will tell you how difficult it is to keep your honor bright; how hard it is to steer away from temptation or the habit of loose thinking; how perplexing it is, to avoid the sucking shoals when you should keep cool.

You may pose for a hero before the world, but be careful lest the tide pull you under and expose the fraud.

If your colors are false, beware! for the tide knows them.

In spite of its purring voice and shining face it is a restless foe, a bearer of no tales, a silent destroyer of ambition and a wrecker of hope when your star seems to glow the brightest and you stand puffed up in conceit before an admiring world.

Alas! for the man who in such a moment plunges headlong into the tide without first reckoning his endurance. The water is icy cold, swift and treacherous.

How many men do you know who have gone down in such a plunge, never again to show their head?

Their pride and pomp, their wealth sank from sight and left only a few empty bubbles behind, bursting and disappearing.

Be honest with yourself, sincere with others, practice the Golden Rule, steer your craft by the unflinching compass of faith, and though the waters snarl about you, your frail little boat will at the end of the journey find a friendly harbor where Truth and Mercy will welcome you and give you peace.

Sail on! you who are half discouraged, because you are not shining in the show-places, riding in automobiles, living in mansions and blazing your name in the Blue Book.

The earth is reserved for the meek, and this inheritance is for you, for you who through simple faith are stemming the tide and making the final port!

KENTUCKIAN TYPICAL AMERICAN SOLDIER

His Record Speaks, but He Himself Is Silent.

Kentucky has the most modest hero of the World war.

She also has the "heroest hero" of the same war in the self-same individual, and her claim to this distinction is attested by General Pershing and Marshal Foch, says a special dispatch from Lexington, Ky., to the Washington Star.

Kentucky's star hero is Sergt. Willie Sandlin, from Devil's Jump branch, Hell-fer-Sartin creek, Leslie county, and he looks the part, with a wiry frame, determined jaw and keen eye, fearless as a fighter, but extremely shy at all attempts to exhibit his deeds.

Willie—not a nickname, but a full-fledged monicker—was induced to come to Lexington for a celebration as the honored guest of Hugh McKee post 677, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and was introduced by R. E. Lee Murphy, state commander.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars elected him to membership in that organization for 20 years without payment of dues, with the promise that his membership would be renewed at the expiration of that time "if he lived longer than 20 years on the $10 a month allowed him by the veterans' bureau for the support of his wife, two children and himself."

Here is the story, as it happened in one day:

The general advance was on. Six divisions were participating. Sandlin was in command of a platoon.

About seven o'clock in the morning the advance was checked by a hot fire from a machine gun nest. An order to halt and lie down came along the line. Sandlin's men heard it and obeyed. Sandlin did not. He advanced directly on the machine gun nest, and at 30 yards threw a grenade. Three others followed, and he then jumped into the pit. Three of the eight men were alive and gave battle. Sandlin killed all of them with his bayonet.

The line came up and Sandlin resumed command of his men. Half an hour later machine gun fire again caused the order to halt. Sandlin did not. He rushed this nest as he did the other, employing the same tactics. This time, when his grenades were all spent, there were four men still defending the nest. Another single-handed battle—and they were all dead except Sandlin when the line line came up.

The third nest encountered was not reached until two o'clock. Just as before, Sandlin advanced upon it. His grenades in this instance wounded every man in the pit, but he had to dispatch two who still gave fight, as well as the others whose wounds had not proved immediately fatal.

Later that day Sergeant Sandlin participated in taking the strong point which was German battalion headquarters.

Vegetable Gains Favor

The chayote, a popular vegetable in Mexico and Central America, is now finding favor in the Atlantic and Gulf states. It has been grown for more than a generation, under the names "vegetable pear," "mirilton," "mango squash," etc., in certain sections of the South. Being of vigorous growth and prolific yield, a single vine in a garden or yard will produce more than enough chayotes for an average family. It is an excellent fall and winter table vegetable.

The chayote is related to the cucumber and squash. It weighs from eight ounces to a pound, has a smooth surface, a fiber-free flesh and a delicate, agreeable flavor. It makes an attractive ornamental vine for training over porch or outbuilding, as it flowers profusely. The fleshy underground tubers are used in some places much the same as potatoes in temperate regions. Its foliage is devoured by cattle and poultry.—Pathfinder.

Africa Has Diamond Rush

When the government's commissioner recently uttered the last word in formally opening a new public domain and a line of flags fell to the ground there was a great rush of bronzed African runners for the banks of the Vaal river, the scene of Africa's latest diamond rush. A farmer had turned up sparkling stones with his shovel and soon was working on a claim that netted him $10,000 a week. The government proclaimed the area a diamond field and set a day for the rush. Along an 80-mile stretch more than 1,000 prospectors were at work within a few days.

The Why of Superstitions

By H IRDING KING

BUMBLEBEES AND NEWS

ALL over the United States and Canada it is a prevailing superstition that bumblebees flying into a house is a sign of news. In some localities it is said that if the bee flies in in the morning the news will be good; if in the afternoon, bad; while others say that it is a bee which flies high on entering the house which brings good news and the low-flying bee which brings bad. As a rule, however, any bee entering the house in flight at any time and whether flying high or low, brings good news.

Among the Greeks and Romans the bee was especially sacred to Ceres and Diana and a bee appeared on the statue of Artemis at Ephesus. The Romans identified their Diana with the Greek Artemis and Ceres as the mother of Proserpine, which latter goddess is considered by learned authorities to have been the same goddess as Diana. The bee being thus connected with Ceres and her daughter its connection in superstitious lore with the idea of news is apparent; for Ceres—the Greek Demeter—wandered all over the earth seeking news of her daughter Proserpine and obtained it at last.

Logically the bee should be the seeker and not the harbinger of news; but myths and the superstitions deduced therefrom have nothing to do with logic. The bee, symbol of Ceres and Proserpine, suggests the idea of news and a harbinger of news the bee has been considered in popular superstition from remote ages—as it is today.

The SANDMAN STORY

MR. FOX GOES CALLING

MR. FOX stood in front of his looking glass smoothing his coat and turning his head from one side to the other. He was admiring his fine looks and thinking no one would be able to resist him when he invited some folks he intended to call upon for a moonlight walk.

"I am a pretty slick looking creature," said vain Mr. Fox. "Miss Goosey will never be able to say no when I ask her to go walking. I have had my eye on her for some time and I think she is about right for my breakfast."

Mr. Fox was so sure he would bring Miss Goosey back with him that he put the kettle over the fire before he went out and locked the door behind him.

When he reached the farm where Miss Goosey lived it was all still. "Everybody is asleep," said Mr. Fox. "Now, if only I can awake Miss Goosey without letting the others hear me all will be as easy as tumbling off a log."

"He Wants Us to Go for a Moonlight Walk."

Mr. Fox walked up to the house where Miss Goosey lived and looked in the window. There she was as plump and handsome as he could wish. He tapped on the window softly and Miss Goosey stretched her neck and caught sight of him.

"A caller," she said. "I just knew how it would be if I went to bed early. I will never listen to those old geese again, telling me that early to bed brought beauty sleep. What is the use of being beautiful if you are never seen?"

Miss Goosey was making her way to the door to unfasten it when an old goose caught her by the wing.

"Don't you know who that is?" she said.

"I know he is a very interesting looking creature and I am going to see what he wants," she answered.

"Good evening, my dear Miss Goosey," said Mr. Fox in a soft tone of voice. "It is such a beautiful evening I came for you to go walking."

"I don't think I should go out with you alone," giggled Miss Goosey through a crack in the door.

"Oh, the more the merrier," answered Mr. Fox, trying hard not to laugh and show his sharp teeth, and thinking he might get two, instead of one plump goose for his breakfast.

Miss Young Hen jumped down from her roost. She never missed anything, and she wanted to find out what was going on. "He wants us to go for a moonlight walk," explained Miss Goosey.

"That will be such a lark," said Miss Young Hen; "we can get back before the others are awake."

"You won't get back if ever you go out with that creature," warned the old goose. "Listen to me, you silly young things, and go back to your beds."

"I beg of you, my dears, not to listen to that old granny who has forgotten when she was young and liked to have a jolly time herself. She is old now and no one would think of asking her to go walking, and she wants to keep you young things from having a pleasant time."

"You are right, you wicked old creature," said old goose, "you don't want me because I am old and too tough for your breakfast, but if you could not get these silly young ones you would take me fast enough."

"Don't listen to her," said Mr. Fox. "She is spiteful, that is all. You will be back in the morning laughing at her for trying to keep you from having a good time."

So away went the silly hen and the goose with sly Mr. Fox, and that was the last that was seen of them, but a few days after when old goose was walking she saw Mr. Fox caught fast in a trap which the farmer had set for him.

"You won't take any more moonlight walks for awhile, Mr. Fox," she said, "or turn the heads of silly young geese with your flattery. And speaking of heads you may get yours turned soon, but not by flattery."

Mr. Fox looked at her after she walked away with a revengeful look in his eyes. If he did happen to escape, he thought the first one he would call on afterward would be old goosey.

Old-Fashioned Home Had Good Qualities

Talking to the New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Association at Atlantic City, Miss A. L. Marlatt, director of home economics of the University of Wisconsin, said that the old-fashioned home, with the family grouped together in harmonious assemblage and not as a "scientific sanitary machine," was better than any modern school for training children.

Being, presumably, herself a teacher of what is called in educational vernacular "domestic science," Miss Marlatt's opinion is testimony to the influence of the home upon family life that can fairly be called "expert." If a woman who is immersed in the "scientific" atmosphere feels that way about the home, it must be that those persons who still believe that the place of family habitation should be something more than a lodging house, a "filling station," as another advocate of the home called modern apartment house life, cannot be so far wrong.

One of the dictionary definitions of the word "home" is "The abiding place of the affections, especially of the domestic affections." Passing over all that could be said of the home as a place for training for children in the principles which make for good men and women and good citizens, those of the younger generation who find pleasure only away from the family circle might be asked to give a moment's thought to the affection that is theirs in the spot from which they so often hasten.

Those friends who share their pleasures, will any one of them give them the unselfish love and devotion they receive at home? Will any one of their friends be interested enough in them to point out their errors and blunders to them, that they may be saved from sorrow and suffering, possibly from disgrace? Will any one of them deny themselves anything?

The best friends of any boy or girl are to be found at home.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

'Twast Her Name

The woman had just won the decision in her divorce case. Then she asked that her maiden name be restored.

"And what is your maiden name, madam?" the dignified judge inquired.

"Guess," she replied.

Somewhat taken aback, the judge cleared his throat, grasped his gavel and asked again, and got the same answer.

Rising to his feet and leaning across the desk, he shook the gavel in the woman's face. "Madam, this is no guessing contest," he said. "Another flippant remark, and you will be guilty of contempt."

"But that's my name—Susie Guess," the woman replied meekly.—Exchange.

Almanac Season

"I've brung home a couple of omenicks for you," said Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge upon returning from the county seat, flinging them into his wife's lap.

"Aw slucks!" returned Mrs. Johnson. "Omenicks are all alike these days and none of 'em much account."

"Well, I read considerable in 'em as I came rotating along, and both of 'em are all right. The green one has got the best weather in it, but the folks in the yellow one were cured of the most horrible diseases."—Kansas City Star.

Got Pup Out of Well

Patrolman Lavelle of Carrick, Pa., was stuck when he was called to assist in the rescue of a pet dog that had fallen into an abandoned well. A rope and a basket were suggested and tried but the pup wouldn't fall for the basket, keeping on swimming. But a bit of meat hung dexterously over the floating basket finally tempted him in and back to his tearful master.
