West Texas Utilities Co. Become Owners of Crowell Property

Some weeks ago the Crowell Utilities Company and the Crowell Ice Company of this city accepted a proposition from the West Texas Utilities Company to sell their property and the deal was then closed. On last Saturday night at midnight these properties came under the operation of the new company.

Dudley U. Baker of Munday, who has been with the West Texas Utilities Company there for about a year, will be the local manager of the business in this city. Mr. Baker has been connected with the light and power business since he was a small boy and therefore knows it all the way.

Mr. Baker wants the people of Crowell to know that the West Texas Utilities Company comes to Crowell to be a part of the business life of the town and country. They are progressive in their nature and are always ready to help build and develop. Hopes to hold the good will of the people here as the Crowell Utilities Company has done and where it is possible to make improvements in the plant service or in the manufacture of ice the company will do everything it can to make such improvements and to render the service the public demands.

The company wishes to retain the present force at both the light and ice plant and so there will be no changes unless it is the wish of present employees that changes be made. Neither will there be any changes in the equipment for the present until conditions make it necessary to add further equipment.

The West Texas Utilities Company is a strong company and their purchase of these properties in Crowell the best possible service at all times and we may rest assured that these public utilities will be kept up to the demands of our city.

Mr. Porter, who has been operating the light plant for several months, has built it up to where it is one of the best in this part of the country. He has spent lots of money since he came here and at once after taking over the property put on continuous service, and there have been very few times since that we have had any disturbance in the service. It has been satisfactory to the public to a very high degree and the people of Crowell regret his leaving. Mr. Porter has been an asset to our town and wherever he goes he will continue to be. But it is gratifying to know that Mr. Baker, who takes Mr. Porter's place, will be no less public spirited and he may be assured that he will find a hearty welcome in our midst and will soon find himself at home here.

Ginners' Report For This County Far Below 1924

According to the tabulated report of the cotton ginned in this county as given out by the Government up to September 15, there had been ginned up to that time only 11 bales in the county, as against 525 bales at the same time last year.

This does not mean that our crop will be shorter than it was last year, but it means simply that the cotton is later in opening. This is due perhaps to weather conditions. The rains have come different from what they did last year. At this time the indications are that a big crop will be gathered if the frosts do not come too early. The cotton is well loaded with bolls and is opening fairly well but much of it is certain to be late. The rains within the last few weeks have brought the crop out wonderfully and many think we have as good show as we had last year.

Promotion Day at M. E. Church Sunday

Next Sunday will be promotion day at the Methodist church. The time usually used for the opening exercises will be used for the promotion exercises and will include those in the lower grades of the Sunday School work. Certificates of promotion will be awarded to those who have done the work satisfactorily and it is expected that from 30 to 40 certificates will be given.

Turn about is fair play. When you talk about your neighbors, you are sure to be talked about.

Farmer Think We Have Good Show for Wheat Another Year

The farmers of many years' experience in this country are pretty accurate in their estimates and when fall starts in with a good season they invariably say they have a good show to make wheat. And if it rains much in the fall and winter they bank on row crops. But as to the outlook for wheat another year, the experienced wheat farmers are of the same opinion, and that is that the time has turned in their favor for next year.

J. W. Bell, one of the leading wheat farmers, says he regards the outlook for another year as being much better than it was last all, and even with the unfavorable conditions of last fall and winter and early spring some farmers made a fair yield of wheat. Mr. Bell himself harvesting as much as 22 bushels to the acre.

This being the case, there is plenty of encouragement to stimulate activity and hope in farming lines for another year. Another thing that looks good is the fact that most of the wheat lands in the county are in ideal condition. That is one of the main things. There is also plenty of moisture in the ground on which to sow wheat with the expectation of its coming up and doing well this fall.

Streets and Roads Are in Need of Work

It is a common remark, not always unaccompanied by complaint, that the streets of Crowell are badly in need of work. The same thing is true, of course, with reference to the roads over the county.

It is very bad that the avenues of travel have gotten in such bad condition. Everybody knows it but who can do anything? The roads are in the hands of the State and all work is ordered from some point away from here, if indeed it is ordered at all. Nothing is being done to keep the roads up, that is the State highways, so we are just doing all we know to do, and that is to kick. The kicker may be cussed sometimes and possibly he deserves it occasionally, but there is a time for kicking and it is cowardly not to kick. And just now we feel that there should be some kicking about the streets in Crowell.

It is absolutely a reflection upon Crowell that the streets are allowed to get in the condition they are found at this time. It does not make any difference who is to blame for it, the facts are the same. Outside of the pavement around the square there is not a street in Crowell that is what would properly be termed a good street. The ditches on either side have been allowed to fill up and in many instances the water has cut through the middle of the streets and across them. When it rains scores of mudholes are made that are difficult to get through and often cars stall in them. Some of the crossings are practically impassable and the approach to culverts are cut out into deep gullies, all of which shows lack of attention. The streets have not even been dragged for some time after rains and the consequences are that there are deep ruts and bumpy places that are hard to get over. Some work was started before the last rains and left unfinished, which made the streets even worse than they would have been had no work been started.

These are facts, as any one can see, and it ought not to be. If there is a lack of finances for the maintenance of the streets our city dads ought to get up some donations or ask the people to turn out in mass and work the streets and then make provisions for the future.

Parents Responsible for Children's Actions

As an evidence that parents are almost entirely to blame for the criminal bent of a boy's life one needs only to look at conditions at home. Only last week the grand jury found in the four felony cases in the district court here that all were boys up in the teens whose parents had been divorced and were living apart or had otherwise lived lives that are not commendable before their children.

This is a fact that should be impressed upon the minds of all parents. As a rule they have it in their power to rear children in such way as to make honorable citizens of them and men who would be an asset rather than a liability to their community.

The Christian Life Is Man's Biggest and Safest Business

Therefore let us also, seeing we are compassed about with so great cloud of witnesses, lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us.—Heb. 12:1

Based on this Scripture were the remarks of the pastor of the Methodist church Sunday morning. They were the words of Paul prompted by lessons he drew from witnessing athletic performances in his time. Emphasis was given to the importance of the Christian race in which all hindrances should be eliminated, but the motive should be to please the Lord with a consistent life, not merely that one might escape hell, but in living a life pleasing to him one is also living a life of service to his fellowman, and therefore one of happiness here on earth. Man must give up sin to attain such state.

The importance of such life was brought out in the fact that the world is watching progress of religion. They have a right to watch and to expect victory of the church. The world is disappointed if it fails. The same is true with individuals. The lives of Christians are furnishing ideals and conceptions of which Christianity is. They are setting in motion influences, the effect of which are limited only by time.

The theme of the evening discourse was "Good Business."

Thought was directed to an early choice of occupation and no occupation should be classed as a legitimate one that does not supply human needs. In all such businesses Christ should be taken as a partner and therefore should share the dividends. The interests of the Lord, the neighbor and one's self, should have the order as here named, according to the preacher. Emphasis was placed on the Christian life as a business and the biggest and safest one of all. Occupation, as usually thought of, is to be merely a means of paying expenses.

White Way Will Soon Be Installed

The iron posts for the white way have been mounted on the cement blocks and are ready for the lighting of the streets. This will be done just as soon as the tops and bulbs arrive, which are expected daily.

This will be a great thing for the city and we shall see a wonderful improvement in the lighting of Crowell when this system is installed.

SENIOR CLASS

The Senior Class perfected its organization Friday afternoon. The following officers were elected: Spear McCaskill, parliamentarian; Ha Lovelady and Ralph Hunter, yell leaders; Jewell Brown, Lebert Swain, Ralph Hunter were appointed social committee. A senior calendar will be mapped out some time in near future by the class with help of our sponsor, Mr. Crouch.—Reporter.

Murchison & Fain Strike Dry Hole and Are Drawing Casing

The drillers of the Murchison & Fain well on M. L. Hughston's property east of town reached the depth called for in their contract Thursday of last week and are drawing the casing and will abandon the well.

The contract called for a 3,000-foot hole and the drillers went 3,010 feet, according to information given the News. Good time was made in the drilling of this hole and the work was attended with very little difficulties. It is said that the contract depth was reached within 80 days after spudding in.

Whether Murchison & Fain will do other drilling in this county is not known as yet. It is likely that arrangements will be made to that effect before the rig is moved.

This is about the 8th hole that has been drilled in Foard County, if we are not mistaken, within the last ten years, most of them having been drilled within the last half of that time. There have been discoveries of small pockets of gas and it is said that the formations have in all cases been good. One driller is said to have stated that he believed there is oil in this country but he thinks a greater depth than has ever been gone yet will necessarily have to be reached. It is probable that future drilling will be contracted for 3500 to 4000 foot tests.

Wolf Slain in Heart of the City of Childress

Childress, Sept. 27.—A giant wolf which has been seen prowling through the business section of this city for many nights during the last few weeks has been killed. Hill Goen, town night watchman, shot the nocturnal visitor when he met him on Main street. The wolf heretofore had frustrated all attempts at capture by darting around corner of buildings and alleys.

BAPTIST PASTOR HERE

Rev. S. A. Taylor, newly elected pastor of the Baptist church, and his family arrived from Alabama Wednesday, having made the trip by automobile.

Rev. Taylor is now ready to enter upon his work with the Baptist people and he finds a hearty welcome among our people generally. When he was here some weeks ago he met quite a number of the people of Crowell and the impression made seems to have been mutually favorable. He will no doubt find this a good field and a pleasant one in which to work in his calling.

THE TEXAS COMPANY DRILLING AT 2600 FEET

According to reports, the Texas Company are now drilling around 2600 feet on the J. J. McCoy property 8 miles northwest of Crowell.

The drillers have encountered quite a lot of trouble on account of water, but experienced oil men say that is a good indication, as in nearly all instances water is encountered before striking oil.

Former Crowell Man Dies in Sanitarium at Quanah Last Friday

W. R. Vaughan, for several years a resident of Crowell, died at a sanitarium in Quanah last Friday.

Mr. Vaughan had made his home in Quanah for several years after having gone from Crowell and had resided in other portions of West Texas. He had for some years been superintending the gins of the West Texas Gin Company, one gin being located here. He was well known over this county and was one of the best ginners ever in this country.

He was married in 1896 to Miss Nannie Jacobs and is survived by his wife, two daughters and one son. He is also survived by five brothers and one sister, two brothers residing at Midlothian, two at Houston and one in Los Angeles and a sister at Midlothian. Mr. Vaughan was a native of Tennessee and came with his parents to Texas when he was a mere child. He was 59 years of age at the time of his death.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

The attention of the nation is being invited to Fire Prevention Week, a week in October, during which the people are asked to exercise especial caution in preventing fires. A glance at the appalling losses in life and property as a result of fires during the past year ought to be sufficient to line every citizen up in support of this campaign.

Last year 15,000 persons were burned to death in the United States and over 15,000 suffered injuries as a result of fire. Over 80 per cent of these people were of the dependent class—mothers, children, the sick and afflicted in hospitals and institutions. In a great majority of cases calamity entered these homes needlessly, for statistics show that 87 per cent of fires are preventable.

Property valued at $549,910,659.00 went up in smoke in 1924, the greatest fire loss in the history of the nation. This is an average of $1,505,500.00 per day, or $1,044.00 every minute. Every four minutes flames deprive some family of a home.

Every dollar burned is wasted, utterly gone. And who pays the loss? The citizen taxpayer. Property burned may be insured and the loss partially met by the insurance company, but eventually every dollar that fire licks up is paid by the ultimate consumer—the tax payer.

It is an impossible task adequately to estimate the economic loss resulting from fire. It includes loss of business, unfilled contracts, annihilation of sales forces, unemployment—stops the paycheck of the family bread-winner.

It is said that the fire losses in the United States are at times greater than the average in European countries. Does this mean that we are that much less considerate of our lives and property than are the people of foreign lands? If it does, then surely the time has come to call a halt.

The most prolific causes of fire are carelessness in the handling of matches, cigars, cigarettes, defective flues and chimneys and defective electrical wiring equipment. But throughout it all the outstanding cause is carelessness.

It is a terrific indictment against a nation to say that through utter carelessness thousands of its citizens and more than half a billion of its property have gone in a single year into the greedy maw of that consuming monster—fire. But the record seems to be clear.

Therefore, I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim October 4th to 10th, A. D. 1925, Fire Prevention Week, in Texas, and do particularly urge that all property owners within this State give particular attention during this week toward cleaning their premises, removing and correcting all fire hazards. Danger lurks in every neglected pile of rubbish and disorder is an almost invariable sign of fire hazard. We should start our campaign by cleaning our own premises within and without. A well systematized and executed clean-up campaign is indispensable to Fire Prevention Week, and there can be no more opportune time to investigate the conflagration danger, the efficiency of the public fire protection and to examine existing fire protection and fire prevention ordinances with the view to proposing additional measures for general safety.

Recent Rains in Texas Result in Damage To Cotton Crop

Dallas, Sept. 26.—The Texas cotton crop has been heavily damaged by recent rains, W. B. Yearry, of Dallas, prominent cotton authority, said today. Results of heavy rains when cotton is open and ready for picking are worse than generally realized, he explained.

"Any farmer knows," he said, "that when it dries up and picking begins again the yield per row will fall short of that made before the rain. It will be short from five to ten per cent and will require about the same per cent more of seed cotton to produce a 500-pound bale of lint. This is caused by cotton being knocked out and beaten in the dirt. In picking it up from the ground some dirt sticks to the cotton, making it heavy. Most of the dirt falls out in ginning."

"The recent government report adding 191,000 bales to the estimated yield has thus been discounted by the Texas rains, even if there had been any justification for the increase. But it appears that those making the price have failed to take these facts into consideration, and have taken the report as a signal for a price slump. They now are awaiting another signal for an advance."

"The South needs to get in the position where it can put some check on these wild guesses and panicky stumps. The farmers and their business associates should unite to protect themselves."

Aged Man Returns from 1200 Mile Trip

Ordinarily it is not safe for a man 88 years of age to go on a long trip on the railroad. In the case of Mr. Gibson, however, it was not only safe but a pleasant one. He returned from a 1200 mile trip on the railroad, and he was in excellent health. He had visited Arkansas, Colorado, and Texas.

Beverly Abstracts

Mr. Gibson is 88 years of age and is fairly active for his age. Only a short while ago he was active in various portions of the states above named and home feeling none the worse for his long tour.

He said conditions in Arkansas were not the best, as they had had a pretty severe drought, but he said the orchards were full of big red apples.

Mr. Gibson says he supposes that he is the oldest member of the Vernon camp of Confederates but that there are some Confederate survivors older than he. He named one or two that were in the nineties.

The aged veteran resides here with his daughter, Mrs. E. L. Ribble.

In order that this work be made more effective, and that more good may be accomplished, I urge that members of the City Government, the Fire Chief, City Fire Marshal, the Press, Women's Clubs, Fire Insurance Agents, Chamber of Commerce, School Officials and Teachers, Ministerial Association, Boy Scouts, Merchant's Association, Civic Organization, Fraternal Organizations, all of which being hereby concerned about the welfare of their community, contribute their time during Fire Prevention Week, towards bettering their conditions and helping to stamp out their portion of this awful fire waste.

I furthermore urge that all theatres, schools, public halls, asylums, hotels, private institutions, homes and all places of assembly be carefully inspected during this week, looking to the elimination of all fire hazards. I call on the Mayors of all cities, towns and villages, to issue and publish their proclamation, calling to the attention of our people the importance of Fire Prevention Week, and requesting strict observance of same.

Let us all work and resolve that we will co-operate with the State and City Fire Marshals, in keeping down fire, and that we will lend our moral support to our public officers in running down incendiaries and stamping out the crime of Arson.

Let this be the week when we shall all catch a new vision of our individual duties with regard to the fire-waste problem and agree to help in every way to minimize its evil results.

In testimony hereof, I hereunto sign my name and cause the seal of the Ability to make people laugh, good, clean comedy, plenty of excellent music and real entertainment features, are qualities possessed by this unusually good troupe of players. They came to Cherokee highly recommended from Anthony where they played last week and to date they have lived up to the advance notice in every particular.

"While the company is presenting some clever plays, they are especially strong in vaudeville acts. Ray Howell, one of the managers, is the comedian and kept his big crowd in uproar of laughter in "Toby's Trip to New York," presented Monday evening.

"L. G. Hulett has the lead parts and possesses dramatic talent such as is seldom seen in Cherokee. Miss Smiley is leading lady and nearly got murdered by a number of the crowd who were "knocked out" by her acting as a female villain in the initial performance. Jack Lathrop takes care of the character parts excellently.

"Numbered among the vaudeville acts are the Sutherland Saxophone quartet which in itself is a rare entertainment. This company has recently played the larger theatres in Los Angeles, San Diego and Honolulu. Stanford and Barton, dancers and singers have recently come off the big time vaudeville circuits to join the Howell Players.

"The entire company is unusually high class and clean. It is rare that Cherokee and Alfalfa county have an opportunity to attend a performance such as the company is giving."

See their ad in this issue for special inducements for the ladies on Monday night, the play presented, prices, etc.

LET THE REDS STAY AT HOME

The secretary of state, Frank B. Kellogg, revoked the visa of Shapurji Saklatvala, communist member of the British house of commons, from India, and thus barred him from entering this country.

This step was taken because of Saklatvala's inflammatory statements in England regarding his visit to this country. He was quoted as declaring that he was "out to work for a revolution and for the day when the workers will control the world, but before this comes you will have to face cold steel!"

The United States has enough of this type within her borders at present without knowingly permitting any more to enter. There is no place in this country for men guilty of making such utterances, and instead of adding to the species, we want to take from.

Some men in public life have disagreed with the secretary of state on the theory that refusal to admit an alien for revolutionary statements is a restriction of free speech.

But there are limits even to freedom—both of speech and the press, and the individual. It ceases to be freedom, and in turn becomes tyranny, when it does not take into consideration the public good and the freedom of others.

There is always a grade-crossing chance that the prodigal son will not get home all together.

Sincerity is valueless unless you get sincere about something worth while.

Every Home Should Have This Wonder Cook Stove

Every woman can now enjoy the convenience, cleanliness and comfort of cooking with gas. This new Albert Lea Kitchen-kook makes its own gas from common gasoline, burns a clear blue flame, free from smoke, soot and odor, with 50 to 100 per cent more heat than common oil or gasoline stoves.

It not only produces a hotter fire, but the flame comes in direct contact with cooking utensils. There are no heat-wasting "chimneys," no wicks; burners cannot clog and never require cleaning.

Let us demonstrate this better stove and explain the Safety Test for you

THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Crowell, Texas, October 2, 1925

The county judges and commissioners association at Amarillo became an interesting affair when they came very nearly having a row with the State Highway Commission over the matter of letting contracts. The members of the State Highway Commission appear to want to do the square thing, but the trouble is the commission has tackled a job too big for it and some of the counties are suffering on account of it, and Foard is one of them. The Legislature should repeal that law when it meets again. An important part of that body's work is repealing laws and so long as they make such laws the demand for their repeal the first year after their enactment will be imperative. At the present rate of highway deterioration in this county it will not be five years until Foard County will have no roads, except those that are maintained by the county. We have turned over to the commission $150,000 investment and are supplying the funds for its maintenance. What we are getting in return is plain to any observer. Under the circumstances it would be a sin not to kick.

Foard County's fair now going on is a credit to the county and to the men who have taken upon themselves the burden of putting it over, but we are still going in a crippled manner. There is too much risk on the part of those who are behind the proposition and should there be a heavy loss they are badly hurt. We are still confronted with the necessity of having a permanent fair association but we are no nearer now than we were a year ago. The time will come, if we do not perfect some kind of organization to take care of our county fairs, the few folks are going to get tired of bearing all the responsibility and we shall come up one of these years without any fair. We can't afford it.

Every man in Crowell, whether he has children in the Crowell schools or not, should be an advocate of improved school equipment. We have special reference to a building. This is a matter that has been in the minds of some people for some time and is not nearing a solution rapidly. We are woefully behind in this one particular. We have been expecting some of our good friends who fought the road proposition by injecting the school building proposition into the campaign to get busy, but they have not been heard from since. They should have had the foundation laid by this time. We are all ready to join hands with them any time.

The fact that another dry hole has been brought in should not be discouraging in our efforts to find oil in Foard County. We have never heard of the first hole being a wet one in any country, and, in fact, in most oil fields numbers of holes were drilled before oil was found. The work has only commenced in Foard County. Some of these times somebody will go deep enough to reach the liquid gold and then we shall see what we shall see.

Amarillo tried to run her movies on Sunday but the sheriff promptly arrested the manager, and there was no show. So long as the Sunday laws are on the statute books, it will be well to observe them, whether one likes them or not. Respect for law is one of the first duties of a good citizen!—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

Spend your money for newspaper advertising, if you would be wise, and place little or none into schemes that are gotten up to put money into the pockets of some traveling jake that does not care a straw for you or your business. He is the only one benefitted.

Crowell has not had a boom in many years, yet it has continued to experience a steady growth and today is one of the best little cities in West Texas. That's what visitors say.

The churches of today need more active members and fewer honorary members, or "onery" members, as the case may be. Too many either want to drive or ride and that leaves only a few to pull and push.

BIG RAIN VISITS CROWELL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

One of the hardest rains we have had came yesterday about noon. For about 20 minutes it rained and blew and the streets became flooded and the roofs of many houses allowed the water to come in freely. The rainfall amounted to 1.4 inches. It was over for some minutes when a head-rise came down the draw from the E. G. Campsey place and flooded the lower portions of the city.

Just how much the rain will interfere with the fair one can not tell yet. It is probable that the sunshine will dry the roads and good crowds will be here today and tomorrow.

NOTICE TO LIGHT CUSTOMERS

September 30, 1925.

To the Citizens of Crowell: We sincerely regret that a most pleasant business relationship between ourselves and the citizens of Crowell must, due to our selling out, be ended. The writer has never, in his nine years of utility experience, found any larger percent of good people in a community than Crowell has. From experience we know the value of "desirable" citizenship, and hereby express our appreciation of your many kindnesses.

Our successors in the utility business here deserve your hearty support. They are in excellent repute wherever they operate, and the officials are men of high ideals, and sterling character.

Arrival of white way posts is expected daily and thereupon, a street lighting system as good as any in West Texas will be put in operation. The list of subscribers, who made this worthy civic improvement possible, will be published as soon as the very few outstanding obligations are collected.

We hope to finish our collections early this month, and will greatly appreciate your paying your bills as soon as possible. With kindest regards and best wishes for the success and betterment of the community, we are,

Yours truly,

The Ability to Draw

Nothing gives one a feeling of security and independence quite as much as the ability to draw on the bank when the occasion arises.

Dollars have wings. The money you earn is fleeing in these days of high prices. It is harder to save than it is to get.

For that reason it is the better part of wisdom to adopt some systematic method of saving. Then the dollars stay tied until you have an actual need of them.

You can keep them securely until the rainy day when they come in handy, by starting an account in this bank.

USE OF THE RADIO

When radio was perfected to such a degree that its use was not limited, some narrow-visioned people honestly believed that the future of the newspaper was doomed; that its usefulness as a disseminator of news would largely cease because of the universality of the radio and its speed in carrying news.

But all of this has been found to be untrue. Instead, the newspaper is converting the radio to its own purposes and is an effective agency in providing information about radios and in printing programs to be broadcast.

In fact, the newspapers have gone farther in turning radio to their own use. The London correspondent of an American press association wanted an immediate interview with the commander of the S. S. S. Seattle at Wellington, New Zealand, 14,000 miles away—and he got it by radio-telephone.

The radio interview, which perhaps is but the forerunner of a news-gathering method soon to be more generally relied upon, enabled the correspondent to correct some misapprehension concerning the fleet's New Zealand visit by establishing the fact that there had been no rioting or fighting between American sailors and New Zealand police.

THE SUNDAY OF TODAY

The modern Sunday begins at the break of dawn with a rush to the fishing and swimming places, the parks and the golf courses.

As the sun rises, the stream of automobiles lengthens and by noon the places of amusement are fairly well crowded.

Everybody seems to be intent on going some place except to church, in the vast majority of instances.

By mid-afternoon most everybody has arrived some place and is "doing something."

The baseball teams entertain the biggest crowds and the moving picture theatres in the middle-sized towns and larger cities have a line of people crowding for admission.

Sunday has changed largely from a day of rest to one of recreation and rolling on wheels.

Those who stop to think wonder where it is leading to; whether people can still hold on to their religion without darkening the doors of a church.

FREE AUTO RIDES

The motorist, as a rule, is notoriously unselfish in sharing his machine with wayfarers. The method of young men "beating their way" across the country has changed from railroads to automobiles and scores of them now boast of traveling many states without cost and with very little walking.

The driver of an automobile will naturally sympathize with a lonely walker on a country road, but the results of giving strangers a lift show that it is a hazardous practice because of the number of robberies that have been committed by chance pickups.

That is not to counsel against "picking-up" a friend on the way down town. That courtesy is due every walker from friends who drive machines.

It is the stranger in a strange country that is to be avoided. He may be above injuring a benefactor, or he may be the most desperate criminal out of prison. This is a fact that the motorist can not determine and the safest policy is to give no heed to the hailing sign of the pedestrian who is unknown to the driver.

Examine the "guilt-edged" securities offered to make sure they do not have a sharp edge that will separate you from your money.

An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but an onion a day will keep everybody away.

The nimrod who insists on describing his fishing trips has a winter counterpart in the man who talks about his cold incessantly.

As a general rule, the American people are opposed to war, but they never object to a little gasoline war now and then.

The cash register is heralded as a great invention for business, but it makes it hard for a poor struggling clerk to get ahead.

OH, WHAT'S THE USE

"Oh, what's the use of trying," some people say when confronted with a difficult problem.

And that ends it for them. They see no benefit, they never try again and they never accomplish anything worth while.

If enough people take this stand—get into this mental attitude in regard to every public problem—the whole community suffers from it and eventually will die of dry rot.

But there is every use in trying, even though ultimate failure is the result. No great things are ever achieved without some failures that serve as lessons in making success possible.

The man who tries is giving vent to the spirit of progress that is within him. The effort he puts forth, though it may be in vain, convinces him that he does possess the ability to do things.

The partial results he obtains, though he falls short of the goal, go far toward showing him the weak spots in his plan, and that knowledge gives him faith and courage to try again—and eventually succeed.

The same is true of a community. If its leaders are easily discouraged at failure, are not willing to try again when a chance to improve presents itself, then there isn't much hope.

But when a community has men who are ready and willing to devote their time and energy to things that will bring improvement, regardless of the mistakes of the past, there is some hope for it.

May we have more of such men—those who are anxious to profit from the errors that have been made and climb on them to greater things.

A successful marriage is one where the wife is boss but doesn't know it. And where the husband doesn't know it either.

The improved Ford Runabout, with its all-steel stream-line body, is an unusually good-looking car.

It hangs low to the ground, and the body has been lengthened and re-designed for greater comfort and convenience.

The gas tank under the cowl is filled from the outside, and the weather-proof storm curtains open with both doors.

Under the sweeping rear deck is an unusually large compartment designed for convenience in carrying luggage.

Standard equipment includes four cord tires, nickeled head-lamp rims and windshield wiper.

There's little rest or peace for the backache sufferer.

Days are tired and weary—Night brings no respite. Urinary troubles, headaches, dizziness and nervousness, all tend to prevent rest or sleep.

Why continue to be so miserable? Why not use a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys?

Use Doan's Pills.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read this Crowell case:

A. G. Ketchersid, pron. barber shop, Crowell, says: "My back was giving me trouble and I suffered with a dull, throbbing ache. At times, sharp, knife-like pains cut into my kidneys. If I stooped over, my back was so sore and stiff, it was a hard task to straighten up again. Someone recommended Doan's Pills for backache and I am glad to say upon using them all backache left me."

Lucky Noodler

It is reported that a noodler has found a valuable black opal in Queensland. The black opal is one of the costliest of gems, as it is also one of the most elusive. This is being exploited today by men, mostly Chinese, termed "noodlers" who rake over the heaps of debris from old abandoned workings in search of opals thrown away through not being seen. On the face of it this sounds rather like looking for needles in haystacks. Yet many noodlers, it is asserted, earn good money.

Ring With a History

The museum at Versailles now has the ring with which M. Clemenceau sealed the famous treaty in 1919, and it is a ring that had an interesting history even before that. Charles Naundorff, who maintained that he was Louis XVII of France, gave it to Jules Favre, who became foreign minister, and M. Favre used it to seal the armistice of 1871 at Verselles, because Bismarck was unwilling to wait until the state seal could be brought from Paris.

Window No Barrier to Flight of Hawk

R. E. Bidlake supplements the tale of a hawk following a bird into a house by relating the following incident which occurred in a house in County Donegal a few years ago, says the London Post. "The straggles went up straight in front of the hall door and turned abruptly about twelve or fourteen steps up. At the turn there was a very high window reaching almost to the ceiling. As I went up the stairs a swallow flew over my head from the door, followed by an immense hawk, which came along with such fearful impetus that it went right through the window like a shot and all the splintered glass fell around me.

"I had just time to duck my head and got the most of it on my back. We found the swallow upstairs in the landing and let it out through a window and then went round thinking, perhaps, we should find the hawk stunned in the garden. But it had disappeared. Only the hole in the window was witness to the tale."

Perfume by the Ton

A Sunday paper states that Grasse, in the south of France, is the chief center of perfume manufacture, and that nearly 2,000 tons of orange blossoms, about 1,000 tons of roses, 100 tons of violets and 120 tons of jasmine are handled by one company each season. It is stated further that the area of flower farms producing for the perfume industry is over 100,000 acres, says the Flower Grower.

With the manufacture of synthetic materials of many kinds the natural perfume industry of southern France will doubtless suffer, as have other industries dependent on the natural product; but it is a question whether the manufactured perfumes can be made to take the place of the natural ones.

Sir Robert's Destination

A Londoner went north to attend the funeral of a local magnate who had not been too popular by reason of not paying very large wages. After the ceremony, he returned to the hotel before leaving for London. There—over the smoking room fire—he encountered the head stalker of the estate, who had not attended the obsequies. "Well, Duncan," said the traveler, "we had an awful day of storm and rain for the funeral. Would you believe it, we had to let the coffee down into two feet of water." "Ay," said the stalker, "Sir Robert will need all the water he can get where he's gone to."—San Francisco Argonaut.

KENNER-DAVIS FILLING STATION CHANGES HANDS

Some weeks ago a contract was entered into between M. N. Kenner and F. A. Davis, owners of the Kenner-Davis Filling Station, and G. W. Harrell whereby Mr. Harrell would become owner of the property and business on the first of October. The deal was closed yesterday.

It is understood that Mr. Harrell's son-in-law, R. M. Fox, will have an interest in the business and will be connected with its management.

Messrs. Kenner and Davis had not made known their plans but it is likely that they will devote a part of their time to farming interests.

Mantis' Odd Attitude

What are called in some parts of the world the "Praying Mantis" are insects belonging to the family of Mantidae, somewhat similar to the grasshopper, with large protruding eyes. They are found in many countries and endowed with many supernatural qualities by the credulous. The mantis seizes its prey with its fore feet and to devour pulls the prey in front of it with its fore legs assuming an attitude of prayer. In Japan the mantis are sometimes kept in cages and trained to box, being placed on exhibition for this purpose. They are quite common in the southern states.

UNDERGROUND CAVE REAL WONDERLAND

Cavern of Rare Beauty in New Mexico.

An underground wonderland, surpassing in size, sublimity and beauty anything of the kind hitherto known, has been discovered by Dr. Willis T. Lee, who has just returned to Washington after a summer spent in surveying and mapping a portion of the caverns which run under the Guadalupe mountains, near Carlsbad, N. M.

Doctor Lee and his associates, working under the auspices of the National Geographic society, traced the ramifications of the main cavern, an underground avenue about a half mile wide, for two miles under the mountains. How much farther it extends is not known.

A great number of the smaller avenues branch off. No attempt was made to follow these. There is every indication, Doctor Lee said, that the discovery of the Carlsbad cavern is just a start of the wonders which further exploration of the Guadalupe mountain region in southeastern New Mexico and western Texas will disclose.

Texas has already taken steps to set aside her section as a state park. It is probable that the mountains are honeycombed with subterranean recesses, Doctor Lee said.

The most striking feature of the Carlsbad cavern is the extreme delicacy of the architecture of the stalactites and stalagmites in the mammoth chambers. All sorts of fantastic, beautiful designs are worked into the onyx marble.

Doctor Lee found the caverns of Guadalupe mountains the home of a prehistoric civilization. Two skeletons have been sent to the Smithsonian Institution for identification. Other skeletons, buried in baskets, were found on shelves in the walls.

The people who inhabited the caves are believed to have been close relatives of the basket-weaving people farther west. The caverns are a geological and biological treasure house. There are literally millions of bats, blind crickets and worms and spiders of hitherto unknown species.

Entrance to the cavern now is very difficult. It is necessary to climb 1,000 feet up a mountainside and then go down through a hole in the roof in a guano bucket for 170 feet. A walk of about two miles is then necessary over very difficult flooring before the end of the main cavern is reached.

The avenue leads downward through great chamber after chamber, until one is 500 feet below the surface of the earth outside. At this point the avenue drops off abruptly 90 feet. This has to be negotiated with a wire ladder. Mr. Lee explored a series of basement chambers never before seen by human eye.

The cavern is in dense darkness. The temperature remains all the time at 56 degrees Fahrenheit.

Those planning all along to get back to work this fall will put it off until winter.

Dutch Frows Not All "Stay-at-Home Bodies"

Though the crullers and cheese-cakes of the Dutch housewife of Nieu Amsterdam are far famed, it is not generally known that the Dutch women had other capabilities than those of a housewife's character. For they were very successful in trade.

Many of the Dutch frows (women) owned stores in Nieu Amsterdam. Helen Guitar writes in the New York Telegram. The wife of a "dominie" (preacher) of that early day owned a store; and, unlike her reverend husband (needless to say), had an income comparable for those days to the income of a present-day prize fighter.

The Dutch women were also unusually successful traders with the Indians. A record has come down to us of a certain "female trader" of 1679 which serves to show both her sagacity and the disfavor with which it was regarded:

"This woman, although not of openly godless life, is more wise than devout. She is a truly worldly woman, proud and conceited, and sharp in trading with wild people as well as tame ones. She has a husband, who is her second one. He remains at home quietly while she travels over the country to carry on the trading. In fine, she is one of the Dutch female traders who understand the business so well. If these be the persons who are to make Christians of the heathen what will the latter be!"

One's Ideal Residence as Viewed in Dreams

It will be a colonial cottage in the Tudor Gothic style, revealing the French chateau influence and embodying the best features of the English manor, California bungalow and Adirondack lodge. Other the Kansas City Star. It will be heated by hot air, hot water, steam, electricity and gas; it will have a tile, slate, shingle, terra cotta, asphalt, asbestos and thatched roof and will be painted in quiet tones of purple, green, red, yellow and pink. The house will contain many bedrooms to encourage one's relatives, and very few to discourage them. The living-room will be long, low, high, wide and narrow, treated in the empire, Italian renaissance and late Flemish manner, with straight lines, a broken frieze and a footless pediment.

Your home will be situated on a wind-swept hilltop on low ground in the midst of dense woods, ten miles from the station and within easy walking distance of your office.

Cornish Bull

Two Cornish miners coveted a cow which belonged to a neighbor and had plans to steal it. On their chosen night it happened that a traveling player with a trained bear had asked for and obtained lodging at the neighbor's house. The owner put the cow in a shed in order to give the bear the run of the barn. The thieves arrived; one went to secure the cow, while the other watched. A clamor of cries and blows came from the barn. The noise filled the night and the lookout cried: "Hae gotten 'im, Tam?" The horror of the unknown was in Tam's voice as he replied: "Hae gotten 'im? Nay! Ees gotten I!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Public expression that does not square with deeds is meaningless.

Might Be, You Know

A certain sour spinster always became annoyed when asked a question the answer to which she considered obvious. Thus on the last night of April last she asked the girl at the hotel desk to call her early the next morning by ringing her telephone bell in her bedroom.

"To catch a train?" asked the girl, pleasantly.

"For what other reason does one wish to be called early?"

"Sometimes one is to be queen of the May," suggested the girl, still pleasantly.

Plague of Locusts

Locusts in Persia practically destroyed the entire grain crop in the Mosul district. This was followed by a winter of extraordinary severity, which killed off 50 per cent of all live stock. Now the locust is in greater numbers than last year, and another failure of harvests must be expected. The shortage of grain in the Mosul area is so great and the price is so high that the movement of Mesopotamian artillery to Mosul was canceled on account of the extra cost of feeding the horses. The locust has never been known to be so far south before.

Grow Underground

Queer green plant algae that live and thrive in complete darkness nine feet deep in the soil are being investigated by Dr. George T. Moore, director of the Missouri Botanical garden, St. Louis. In spite of the fact that millions of them inhabit a clump of earth, their true function in life is unknown. One species of these subterranean algae is surprisingly ubiquitous. Dig a hole three or four feet deep in any part of the world and there the algae can be found.

IF YOU GET UP NIGHTS YOU'RE OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME

Frostate and Bladder Trouble Makes Many Men Feel Twenty Years Older Than They Are.

It is said that fifty per cent of men past forty and many younger ones are victims of prostate trouble. One of the commonest symptoms of this dangerous disease which saps vitality and makes you old before your time is the necessity of getting up several times a night. Other symptoms are dull, dragging, aching at the base of the spine, pain in groin, burning sensation of organs, lack of vigor and frequent attacks of the blues. But there is hope for you, no matter how old your case, from a wonderful new formula. It seemingly brings new health, vigor and freedom from these troubles to both old and young. This wonderful treatment is known as Walker's Prostate Specific, and is prepared in convenient, pleasant tablet form. All you need do is take one tablet after each meal and the symptoms seem to vanish like magic. To prove these statements the Walker Institute, 1888 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., generously offers to send a $1 treatment under plain wrapper, postpaid and free of charge to any sufferer who will write for it. If it cures you, tell your friends and pay whatever you think is fair, otherwise the loss is ours. Remember that you are the judge, and you pay nothing now or at any time unless you wish, so send your name today before the introductory offer is withdrawn. It is good for only 10 days and guaranteed in every way.

Useful Brief Case

Few brief cases are used to carry briefs. Watch the crowds going to and coming from work—boarding trains or leaving ferries during the commuting hours—and it will soon become apparent that the city could not possibly contain so many lawyers or so many briefs as the cases indicate. As a matter of fact, the brief case has become a sort of carry-all for men and women alike in New York, and is found useful in the transportation of a surprising variety of objects. The brief case is a very general article. Observe the shopping crowd, especially in the better neighborhoods. A large proportion of women shoppers will be found carrying brief cases. Toward the end of the day's purchasing expedition these bags, ordinarily flat, show many mysterious bulges. If they contain sausages or onions the public will be none the wiser.

The Oxford bags the college boys wear are for the purpose of dispensing with luggage.

Niagara Long Magnet for the Foolhardy

The first of Blondin's brave but foolhardy feats at Niagara was performed about sixty-six years ago, when he walked a rope stretched across the gorge between the falls and the whirlpool rapids. He carried a balancing pole 40 feet long and weighing 45 pounds. Several times thereafter he repeated the performance, once trundling a barrow across, and on another occasion carrying Henry Colcord, his manager.
