Country Home Near Foard City Burns to Ground Saturday

The home of F. N. Lefevre near Foard City was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The accident happened when his wife, Miss Bessie, went to start a fire in a stove. She went out to get a can of coal oil but instead of getting coal oil she got a can of gasoline, thinking it was coal oil and as she passed her sister, Miss Bessie, who was ironing with an electric iron the blaze from the iron supposed to have ignited the can of gasoline. Miss Bessie immediately ran towards the door and threw the can out but her clothes were ignited and she fell on the bed, wringing her head in her hands and by that time the fire on her head had become so hot that she was screaming. Dr. Clark was called and the two girls were brought to the building was soon enveloped in flames and burned down before any one could be summoned. None of the contents of the home was saved. Mr. Lefevre and his son, Roland, were in the field picking cotton and were about a mile away. The house was destroyed before they could arrive. It would be hard to estimate the amount of the loss but it will run up to thousands of dollars. No insurance was carried on the home or the furniture, so the loss is complete.

When Swallows Food for Egg Production and Rushes to Nest

Ben Hinds has some hens. There are about 200 of them, it is said, but late they have not been paying for their feed as Ben would like for them to do, so one day recently he made a dash in which was his favorite egg-producing ingredient, red pepper, and fed it to his hens. That was late in the afternoon. Well, to be exact, it was supper time for the chickens, and he would ordinarily expect them to go on the roost shortly after they had taken their evening meal, especially if it is given at the regular time of day. And in all probability 199 of the 200 hens did that very thing. And all probability Ben expected them to do that, but he looked for several days without producing any revenue. Perhaps he would continue to get three or four eggs each day for a week or two, but then he would expect to note an increase in the egg production, as the result of the red pepper ingredient of the mash. He would have a right to expect an increase, for red pepper is said to be one of the very best stimulants for egg production, and why should he not expect an increase of eggs?

But coming back to the main point of the story we find ourselves in front of the hen house watching them eat the "dope," as one might speak of the feed. There they were those 200 hens, all doing justice as well as they could to the supper placed before them. One hen in particular showed a little restlessness but a good chicken judge would have picked her from the flock as the best one among them for as soon as she had finished her supper she went as straight as an arrow to the nest and laid an egg. Now we know this story is true for we have Mrs. Hinds' word for it, but what we do not understand is whether the red pepper or the hen is due the credit for the quick returns. Possibly it is only just to give the credit to both. But even in that case the hen is worth her weight in gold if she will respond to such treatment at the wish of her owner.

Official Ballots Printed This Week

The job department of the News turned out the printing of the general election ballots Monday of this week and they have gone to the various precincts over the county. There are three tickets on the ballot besides the blank ticket on the right side. These are the Democratic, the Republican and the Independent. It contains the electors for President but only the Democratic and Republican tickets bear a complete set of candidates for the state. It should be an easy matter to make out one's ballot—no job at all if one votes straight, but even in voting a mixed ticket it will be an easy matter and no one should become confused. Many people in Texas will vote the entire Democratic ticket except for Governor. In which case they will vote for Dr. Butte. In that case one will only have to mark out all the Republican ticket except the name of Dr. Butte. Leave his name and mark out that of Mrs. Ferguson. Or if one wants to vote the Republican ticket and vote against Dr. Butte, the same rule applies.

W. E. Golden of the Golden Brothers Wild Animal Show was here Monday in the interest of the show which will be in Crowell on November 15th. This show requires fifteen cars for transportation, Mr. Golden said.

Fall Pasturing Seldom Beneficial to Wheat

"Fall pasturing seldom benefits wheat; it usually causes a reduction in yield, but there are times when the benefits will more than offset the damages," says H. M. Bainer, director of The Southwestern Improvement Association. "Under ordinary conditions," he says, "the decrease in yield as a result of pasturing will often amount to as much as four bushels per acre. For the farmer who has plenty of feed there is little to induce him to pasture his wheat, and we would be ahead by not doing so, unless it shows excessive growth. On the other hand, the farmer who has a good growth of wheat and is short of feed, especially if he has dairy cows, can often make a profit from pasturing his wheat, providing he does it judiciously.

"At present there are thousands of fields of wheat that are showing entirely too much growth. If weather conditions remain favorable some of this wheat is likely to be damaged by jointing this fall. Under these conditions, pasturing would consume the extra growth and retard jointing, which would be of great benefit to the crop.

"Many cattlemen and wheat growers in the drier sections of the Southwest consider wheat pasturing secured in the fall as just that much clear gain. This, of course, is not true unless the wheat should happen to prove a failure the following summer. A reasonable amount of pasturing may not do much harm, but the danger lies in overdoing it—turning stock onto it before the plants get a sufficient start, or grazing too closely, thereby leaving the crop without winter protection and the ground in a condition that it is likely to blow. Grazing when the ground is wet will cause more injury than the value of the pasturing. Too much pasturing is sure to give the crop a setback, causing winter-killing, late maturity, more damage from hot and dry weather, and lower yields."

Vernon Boy Scout Master Has Resigned

The Vernon Record states that G. L. Taylor, scout master of the Vernon troupe of Boy Scouts, has resigned on account of the press of other duties. Mr. Taylor has been very successful in his work at Vernon, having built up from a small band three patrols. Mr. Taylor organized the troupe at Crowell and has been here in the interest of the boy scout work at Crowell twice, having come after a hard day's work each time. Those here who are interested in the boy scouts regret that Mr. Taylor has resigned. He is a very valuable man at the head of the boy scout work and it was felt that he would be a great help to the Crowell troupe.

Will Speak in Interest Democratic Campaign

Judge J. A. Stephens and County Judge Kilgore of Benjamin will be at Crowell Saturday to speak in the interest of the State Democratic campaign, according to information furnished by the chairman of the Democratic Executive committee here. The hour chosen for the speaking is 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The place has not been determined, but in all probability either in the district court room or on the street.

Crowell Utilities Company Commenced Reconstruction Work

Material is now being placed on the ground for the reconstruction of the transmission system of the Utilities Co. New poles have arrived and they will be placed in the alleys wherever it is practicable, says Mr. Porter. The entire system and the plant will be rebuilt. All the material that can be used will be put into the reconstruction. Mr. Porter hopes to have this work done by the latter part of the year or the first of the new year.

Pastor Delivers Last Message Here Sunday Evening

It was a very timely parting message the pastor delivered at the Methodist church Sunday night on the subject "What is a Christian?"

In this, his last sermon before going to the conference and possibly the last one for Rev. Willett at the Crowell church, he used as the basis of his message the Scripture, "And they were first called Christians in Antioch." The speaker said the three things by which a Christian is to be known as such are creed, experience and a life. Every Christian has a creed. There may be small differences in those creeds but there is no quarrel with any one where the fundamentals are held to. These are the foundation of the Christian life. Every one must have an experience. He must have the consciousness of the power of Christ in his life. He must have been touched by the quickening of the Holy Spirit and must have realized it. The life is the fruitage of the creed and the experience. The noble and the useful and the serviceable life.

The speaker spoke of the proper teaching and training of the youth as essential to a useful life. He must be given a creed. It must be worked into his life and he must have been taught the beauty and the blessedness of a life of high aims and noble purposes. Right thoughts instilled into the young life are the making of the right kind of a man. Rev. Willett is attending the conference but of course does not know where he will be sent for another year. He expressed himself as ready to accept whatever work is placed upon him. He says he has never sought a place and never expects to, but will go where he is sent and will render the best service of which he is capable.

He has served the Crowell Methodist church faithfully for the last two years and has done good work. He has been faithful to his trust and has made many friends here. Bro. Willett is not an orator, as we understand the term, but he is a student and a splendid thinker. He is unassuming and humble and we believe does work that is fundamental to the rebuilding of the cause of Christianity at whatever post he may be placed in the work of the ministry. He is therefore a leader worthy of the confidence and support of the people with whom he is placed.

SEARCH FOR MISSING CHILD

That nothing stirs the heart and blood of human beings so much as the cry of "Lost Child," was demonstrated last Sunday night when the little five year old girl of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cundiff disappeared from the services at the Methodist church. The little tot growing weary of the service left the building and climbed upon the back seat of what she thought was her father's car. Unfortunately for the parents, it proved to be some one else's car and when the Cundiff family were ready to return home the child was missing. The alarm was given and a big host of citizens, together with about 30 autos began searching the town and surrounding country for someone who had inadvertently "kidnapped" the little girl. Every highway leading out of Littlefield was traveled and people asked to look into the back seats of their cars for the sleeping child. After some two hours searching, F. A. Butler returned with the glad tidings of a search rewarded, and bringing the child with him also, stating he had found her all snuggled up and peacefully sleeping on the back seat of the car belonging to C. A. Joplin. Mr. and Mrs. Joplin had driven home from church, put the car in the garage and gone to bed none the wiser for the little passenger they brought home with them, and great indeed was their surprise when, upon searching their car, they found the missing child. The relief of the parents at finding their little girl no worse for the nocturnal ride can only be realized by other parents who might imagine a similar situation in their own home.—Lamb County Leader.

Oklahoma Couple Married Here Monday

Mr. Marshall Cole and Miss Selma Wagner, the former giving his home as Oklahoma City and the latter from China, came into the Clerk's office Monday morning and procured a marriage license and immediately found Justice of the Peace N. P. Ferguson, who spoke the words that made them husband and wife. The young couple went on their way rejoicing after the ceremony was spoken.

J. L. Scott Went to Crosbyton Wednesday to Figure on Construction of New School Building for that City

Mr. J. L. Scott went to Crosbyton Wednesday to figure on the construction of a new school building for that city to replace the one which recently was destroyed by fire. He has just finished the Thalia school building and it is now being occupied.

Presiding Elder O. P. Clark Preached Here Sunday Morning

Rev. O. P. Clark, presiding elder of the Vernon district, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church here Sunday morning while he was on his way to the conference at Abilene.

After having preached an interesting and helpful sermon he used a few minutes time in raising cash donations to cover the shortage of the conference assessment of the Crowell Methodist church amounting to $285. Something like $1100 was the amount to be raised by the church and all but the $285 had been subscribed or paid in. Rev. Clark said only two churches in his district were behind and that was Quannah and Crowell. The full amount was soon raised here.

This is Rev. Clark's first year in the Vernon district and he is pleased with the report he can make at the general conference. It is said that more than 1,000 additions have been made to the membership of the churches in the district this year. The financial reports are also very satisfactory.

The presiding elder left here Sunday afternoon for Seymour where he was to preach Sunday night. He served as pastor of the church there for a number of years prior to going to Plainview where he was pastor before receiving the appointment to his present post.

Rev. Clark is a very fluent speaker and his sermons are uplifting and helpful.

The Best Cotton Picking in Texas Is in This Country

Farmers have reported that it has been difficult to hold transient cotton pickers because they have had a desire to go further west. There has been a note of complaint on the part of some farmers who were anxious to get their cotton gathered as load after load of pickers would pass their fields snow white with the staple ready to be plucked. "Going to the Plains," was the answer to every reasonable inducement to get them to stop. But according to some of the papers they are now coming back. They have found that the rot of gold was passed over "back east," and they think it was somewhere in this part of the world. The Paducah Post, in speaking of the matter, says:

For the past week people have been dropping into this office and making the statement that the cotton crop here is the best they have seen this year. These statements have come from pickers who have been traveling over the country for some time. One man who stated that he had been out since the first of July said that from Vernon west to Memphis and down to King County was the only territory he had been in that had not cotton picking. People who have been going to the Plains country are now coming back with the same story to tell. This means that the cotton crop in Texas and Oklahoma has been badly overestimated. It also means that cotton is not going to be so hard to get gathered as people have been expecting.

First Touch of Winter Friday Morning, Oct 24

The morning of October 24th was the coolest morning we have had since last spring gave way to summer. It was so cool all over the country that the daily papers took note of the fact and said in big headlines that Texas was the coolest state in the Union at that time. Whether that was correct or not we do not know, but we do know that there was frost in several places and one man reported a little ice. But notwithstanding the cool spell, which was scarcely noticed, no damage has been reported to late feed.

Crowell Will Play Knox City Boys Today

Last Saturday the Crowell foot ball team suffered defeat at the hands of the Knox City team on their grounds. They will play the boys here this afternoon and they are planning to give them just what they need, that is a severe defeat. Our boys have been working hard to hand it to them today and the indications are that they will not be disappointed.

Kelly Woodall Came in This Week from Knox City to Accept a Position with the Crowell Utilities Company in the Erection of the New Lines Now Under Construction

Mr. Woodall came in this week from Knox City to accept a position with the Crowell Utilities Company in the erection of the new lines now under construction. Mr. Woodall is well known in Crowell, having been in the employ of the Haskell telephone some months ago when they reconstructed the telephone system in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hanning of Burkburnett came in Friday of last week to visit till Sunday with Mrs. Hanning's sister, Mrs. C. Q. Crawford, and family. They were accompanied home by Rosemary Crawford.

Work Being Done on Road to Wichita River

Work was started this week on the road to the Wichita River with the aim of making it possible for the Gilliland people to come to Crowell to do their trading.

The biggest part of the work and the most expensive is the bridge to be constructed across the river. Just now work is being done on the road this side of the river where culverts are to be made and grading to be done. There are a few places that will have to be bridged and looked after this side of the river, but with a little attention after big rains the road can be kept in good repair.

The Gilliland people, it is understood, will look after the road on the south side of the river. They have already done quite a lot of work and their road is said to be in fair condition now.

The river will be the main thing. When it can be crossed there will be little difficulty in reaching Crowell unless it is after a terrible flood.

Material for the reinforced concrete bridge has already arrived and the bridge will be built and finished up as soon as possible, according to statements made by the committee looking after the matter.

A number of the committee were working on the proposition Tuesday taking subscriptions and procuring money with which to have the work done. Practically all the business men of Crowell are giving the matter their support.

Thalia School Opened Monday Morning

The Thalia school opened Monday morning in the new school building with 140 pupils present and a full corps of six teachers.

On account of the fact that the building was not completed sooner the opening of the school had to be postponed a few weeks. The teachers are: A. D. Boyd, superintendent; Lewis Selvidge, Miss Nettles, Mrs. A. D. Boyd, Miss Cora Carter and Miss Matty Reid.

A formal exercise will be held today at the new building by patrons and pupils of the school assisted by some persons from Crowell. This will be a kind of get-together meeting at which some of the school problems will be discussed and a parent-teacher association organized.

Although the school is opening a little late a good faculty has been employed and with the advantages offered in having a modern building a successful year is expected.

Expects to Go to Ariz. after Conference

Rev. R. F. Russell, who has been serving on the Crowell circuit for the past year, goes to the conference at Abilene this week but does not contemplate taking work in this country another year. He stated to the News representative that he was going to Arizona for the winter. He does not know what he will want him to do, but he says since he is a Georgian, and Georgians have a reputation of doing as they please, he may exercise his pleasure as is characteristic of the natives of that state and go out West. Rev. Russell is a typical Southerner and a Georgian and has been doing good work here. He is a good preacher and a good man.

Sells Out to Go to Plains Country

An announcement of his sale will be found in this issue.

Cotton Weights May Reach 5,000 Mark Here

C. W. Thompson, public weigher, had weighed 3,000 bales the first of the week and was weighing up towards 100 bales a day at that time. He thinks there is no doubt but that he will get 5,000 bales before the season is over.

In accord with that belief he has ordered another thousand scales tickets to be printed.

Miss Cassie Dockins, head nurse of the Knox City sanitarium, spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dockins, of the Claytonville community, returning home Wednesday night. She also visited friends in Crowell Wednesday afternoon.

Some folks never exercise their judgment enough to keep it in training.

Foard County Farmer Takes First Prize on Oats at State Fair

In the general exhibit at the State Fair Rob Cooper took first prize on red oats. The oats tested 37 1-10 and were said to be as fine oats as was ever exhibited in Texas.

This item should have been mentioned in last week's paper in connection with the mention made of the Foard County exhibit but it was overlooked. It is worth much to the county to have it said that this county produced the best oats of any county in Texas this year. It's a good advertisement for the county and the fact should be made known all over the state.

California and Commerce Streets Being Graded

The big tractor buzzed most of the day Saturday pulling a plow that tore up the surface of the street between the Bank of Crowell and M. S. Henry & Company, and then Monday that between the old rock building and Ringgold's. The work was being done preparatory to the grading and surfacing of the streets with gravel.

This, if properly done, will put these streets in fine condition. The fact is it makes a street as good as paved while it lasts. Repair work likely will have to be done more often than in case of brick paved streets, but it will be of valuable service for a long time if looked after.

The work of street and sidewalk building has only commenced here and will likely go on indefinitely. Miles and miles of sidewalk building ought to be done right now. It will be done in the course of time.

Opening a Garage and Filling Station at Foard City Mon.

A. W. Lilly was here from Foard City Monday and placed an order for stationery for the new business which he is opening up at that place, a garage and filling station.

This is the only establishment of the kind at Foard City and Mr. Lilly feels that he will be a trade that will justify the outlay necessary to start the business. He plans to make his garage one that will meet the needs of the community in every respect and will carry a full line of accessories.

No doubt Mr. Lilly will have a good strong patronage and this establishment will be a valuable asset to the community.

Wichita Falls Student Drowned Sun. in Lake

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 25.—Clyde Taylor, 19, drowned late Sunday afternoon near the diversion dam of the Wichita County irrigation project, thirty miles southwest of here. The lad with a party of friends had been spending the day at the lake. The youth was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Taylor of this city, and was a student in the local junior college.

Hoof and Mouth Disease Found in Herd Near Alvin, Brazoria County

Houston, Texas, Oct. 27.—An outbreak of the foot and mouth disease was discovered Monday in a herd of 300 cattle belonging to J. M. Taquard and located on his ranch about three miles north of Alvin, in Brazoria County. This is twenty-five miles from the place where the infection was first discovered and is the first outbreak in Texas outside of Harris County.

To Whom It May Concern

After two years you'll come back. It doesn't matter who is elected governor of Texas. If Dr. Butte is elected, you'll come back. If you have subsisted on Republican talk for two years, you'll come back. Your countenance will be as pale and sorrowful. Your poor, emaciated form will come tottering along leaning on a staff with one hand and your hat in the other. Poor fellow, there won't be much to you. You won't look like anything, but we'll take you back and the little that is left will be enough to start with. We will take that and do our best to make something more substantial out of you.

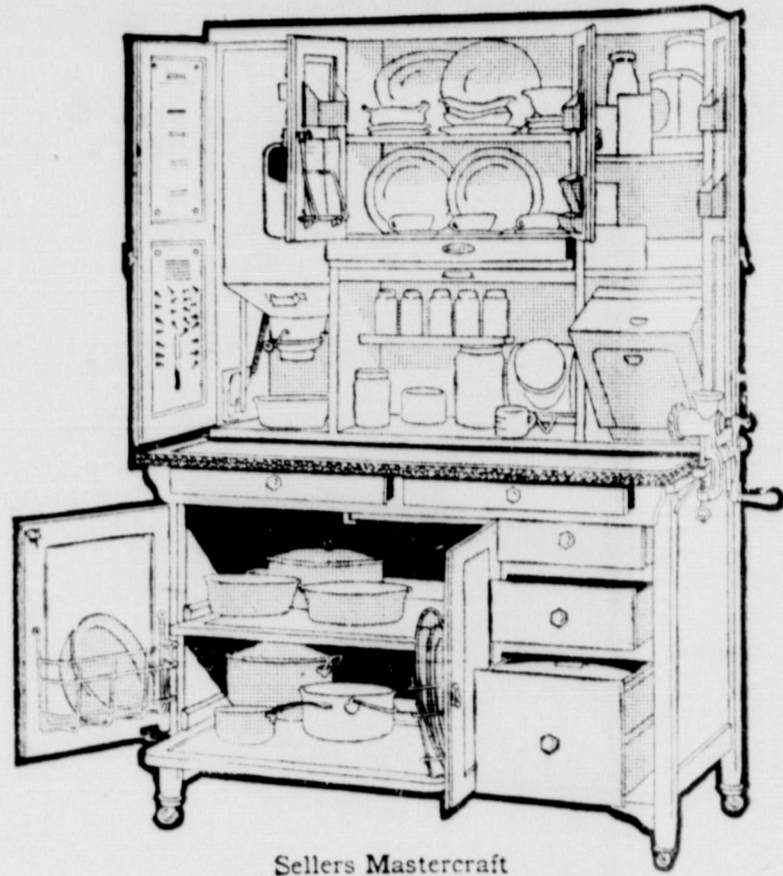

If Ma Ferguson is elected we will take you back. Yes, we will see you coming afar off. We will put shoes on your feet, a ring on your hand, and a robe on your body to cover your nakedness, and Ma Ferguson will fall on your neck, kiss you on each cheek and cry saying, "These are my children which were lost and are found, which were dead and are alive again. A WOMAN'S PARTY

A woman influential in national politics says that there is no need for a woman's political party; that the political parties formed by men and in existence for years are sufficient for the needs.

Women generally have come to realize this fact, although many were of the opinion, when first granted suffrage, that a woman's party was the only means of expressing themselves.

With their increased knowledge of politics, gained since the suffrage amendment was adopted, women recognize that there must be two great political parties and that unless you belong to one or the other of them, your vote is wasted.

They know that to be an independent voter is to throw your vote away for no candidate can succeed unless he has an organization back of him. They know that to scratch your ticket is "to give aid and comfort to the enemy," since the candidate on the ticket you do not believe in will stand by his party for the things you do believe in.

Suppose you were in a battle, and across from you in the ranks of the enemy, was a woman for whom you had only the greatest respect; while fighting for the same principles you were fighting for was a woman for whom you had only the utmost contempt. Would you give your favors to your opponent and train your guns on the woman who stood for your cause?

Parties are bigger than individuals. They represent ideals and policies which live long after individuals are dead. If we want to help with their program, we can not afford to damage our cause by throwing our influence to the enemy or putting into power those who will do all they can to hinder the things for which we stand.

Candidates are human and are temporary, but party aims are better because they are permanent and can be carried on by succeeding generations. We do best by aligning ourselves with the party going in the direction we want to go.

Very soon there will be nothing for self players to do but talk about the way they are going to improve their game next summer.

KEEP THE MONEY AT HOME

Several financial newspapers and magazines have been warning the American investing public against being lured into buying German securities, with which this country is now being flooded.

There never was a time when it was necessary for an American to seek investment elsewhere. There are plenty of opportunities in this country and they are worthy of support because money invested in American securities will build up American enterprises.

Many investors are persuaded to place their money in foreign securities with the promise of large returns. But there is danger for the United States if Americans in any considerable number invest their money in stocks and bonds of Germany or any other foreign nation.

If the investments should prove unprofitable, there is a chance that international bankers and influential investors might seek to compel our country to enforce their payment.

If they prove profitable, Europe would be even more infuriated at the United States and would set up the

Crowell, Texas, October 31, 1924

Dr. Fosdick, a Baptist preacher, has been serving a Presbyterian church in New York City as its pastor, but recently resigned because of the pressure that was brought to bear upon him by the heads of the Presbyterian denomination. The church, however, has recently invited him to continue to preach for them. At the same time they endorse the views expressed in his sermons. Dr. Fosdick is neither a Baptist nor a Presbyterian in the strict sense of the word, for both denominations attribute to Christ divine power, which is denied by the doctor. Fosdick should be expelled from the Baptist denomination and the church he has been serving should be excommunicated from the Presbyterian denomination.

In another column in this issue we are mentioning the work being done and the efforts being put forth to get a bridge across Wichita River for the benefit of the trade in the Gilliland country. We are going to publish a list of the names with the amounts contributed to this work by each Crowell business firm or individual in next week's paper. We think the public has a right to know who is making it possible for this work to be done. We think the public ought to know who the men are who are trying to bring this trade to Crowell. It is a proposition that every one is or should be interested in and it will benefit every business interest in Crowell.

It is thought by some who have kept close tab on matters political that Congress will be called on to elect a President and Vice President. In that event they see the possibility of a deadlock. The House votes for a president by states and the Senate votes for a vice president by members. Political prophets foresee the possibility of the failure of the House to elect, since they say Coolidge would get 21, Davis 21 and La Follette 1, with five states tied. In that event should the House fail to break the deadlock, it would mean that the Senate's choice of a Vice President would be the solution, as he would become President.

Ferguson has one tremendous advantage over Dr. Butte. Nothing can be added to his reputation that will hurt him, while much damaging influence can be set in motion against Butte. We wonder which is the biggest scoundrel.

Some folks who would not violate their pledge at the primary for anything in the world are not concerned in the least while the groceryman worries about how to get what he owes him.

Just how the "recreation" the school children have been receiving from visiting attractions will affect their school work is to be reflected in future school examinations.

The man who when a boy burned midnight oil in a brass lamp over his English theme has a son who burns gasoline in a tin flivver while he recites his.

One can't help getting "sorry" for the klan as its opponents keep proving it on 'em, but one can hardly become sorry enough to join.

Maybe you never thought about it, but what is to become of him who is commissioned to feed the lambs and goes and milks the goats?

The church which has degenerated into a mere society has dwarfed its soul and destroyed its power for good.

Foundation work for any achievement worth while is to clear the ground of selfishness.

Notice to Ex-Service Men
On November 11th, 1924, the cornerstone of the First Baptist church of Crowell will be laid with ceremonies befitting such an occasion and the Gordon J. Ford Post of the American Legion of Crowell has been invited to attend and take part in these ceremonies.

It is the desire of the Post Commander and all members of this post that every ex-service man in the county turn out in a body on this day and help make the Legion's part of the ceremonies a success.

All ex-service men and legionaires will meet at J. Co.'s armory in the Thacker building at 10 a. m. where they will be given an official badge, and will go from there to the church in a body.

A basket dinner will be served at the church. November 11th should be a day sacred to the hearts of every one and especially so to the ex-service man, so let's not fail to have a large representation of legionaires and ex-service men on this occasion. Let's all stop work for the day and help out in this good cause.

Regular civilian clothes will be the official uniform for the day.

Franklin and Masonry
The first American newspaper item concerning a lodge of Freemasons in the western hemisphere, according to a recently published book, "The Beginnings of Freemasonry in America," appeared in the Philadelphia Gazette for December 8, 1730. This paper was published by Benjamin Franklin.
Oddly enough, says the Detroit News, the item consisted of an alleged exposure of Freemasonry which had been circulated for some time in England. Franklin afterward became a Mason and held the position of grand master of the province of Pennsylvania.

Much Heat Wasted
Nearly a billion and a half dollars go up American chimneys every year in wasted heat, according to engineers who have been studying the fuel requirements of the country. This great loss is blamed on extravagant and inefficient methods of firing and on faulty standards of construction. About 90 per cent of the heat produced by burning coal is said to escape through the tops of buildings.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Uncharted Rocks Are Terror to Mariners

Uncharted rocks and islands of the sea have mysterious ways of dodging and befouling mapmakers. Sometimes they are dangerous.

One of the worst, Lamb rock, was found about thirty years ago coming straight up to the surface in water 200 feet deep. It was like a cathedral spire and rose straight into the middle of the Canadian liner lane into the St. Lawrence river. In calm weather its tip was 33 feet below the surface. This is a bare margin of safety, but in rough weather the rock was a lurking peril to any big ship that might come along.

The Avocet rock, in the southern end of the Red sea, also stands in the middle of the steamer lane to India. The steamer Avocet struck it and sank in 104 fathoms. It looked like pure carelessness on the part of the captain.

The British vessel Flying Fish was sent to investigate. It could find no trace of any rock. Then another ship, the Teddington, sank at the same place. Another British vessel went to investigate, and it, too, could find nothing. Then a third vessel nosed about in the vicinity for six weeks with equal ill success.

Finally H. M. S. Stork made an investigation and located the rock only three hundred yards from the place where one of its predecessors had anchored. The rock was covered by a bare fifteen feet of water at low tide.

Surveying the Seas
Plans for the most complete survey of the ocean ever attempted have been inaugurated by a conference representing scientific branches of the United States government and allied institutions.

One or more ships will be fitted out with a complete laboratory and equipped with the latest scientific apparatus for the first cruise. The sea bottom will not only be mapped, but the composition of the water, its density, temperature, and currents which affect the distribution of marine plant and animal life, will be studied at all depths.

Five-sevenths of the surface of the earth is covered by water. This water area can produce more food than all the land can ever be made to yield, and one of the purposes of the expedition will be to take an inventory of such food possibilities.

Some whirlwind campaigns stir up so much dust that the fellow at the helm can't be seen for the dust. In the long run, interest in the bank will net you more than interest in a race track bet.

On Growing Old
 When we become old, we want to get off the streets. We always sympathize with the old men who have nothing to do, who are not wanted anywhere and who have no place to go. When we become old and useless, we want a place of our own to go to, a place that is absolutely our own and which we can manage as we please. We hope it will be a little place where we can potter around with fruits and flowers and vegetables and chickens, and keep busy. We don't want to give people the opportunity to show neglect nor idle time in which to see visions of the grim monster. Old men who loiter about the streets, it seems to us, make a mistake.—Arkansas Thomas Cat.

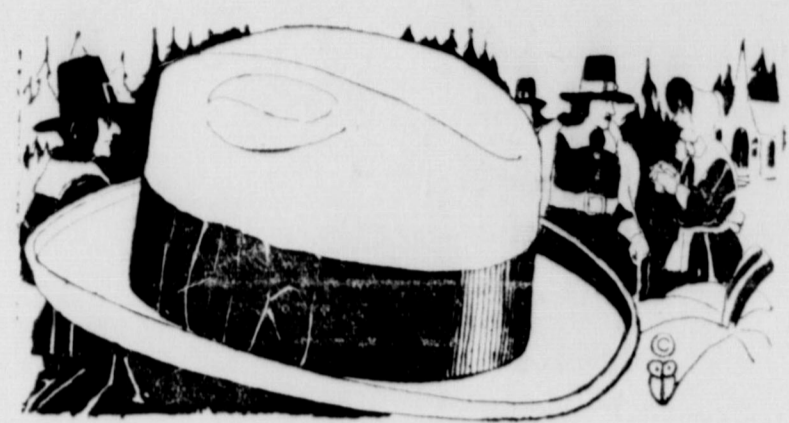

Origin of Silk Culture
 Although silk culture originated in China and the very name China finds its birth in a term meaning "silk people," the United States looks to Japan for most of this raw material. American mills are weaving nearly 50,000,000 pounds of raw silk annually, of which about 80 per cent comes from Japanese mulberry orchards, says the Detroit News. The ugly little silk worm is treated with great respect in the Orient, for it brings to the far eastern peoples more than $300,000,000 from the United States alone.

SUPPORT THE TEACHER

There are approximately eight hundred thousand school teachers in the United States, not including superintendents, supervisors and principals.

Here are eight hundred thousand opportunities for service that can not be measured in ordinary terms, if they are appreciated.

Teachers who live up to their possibilities do more than teach children facts that may be learned from books.

They teach them to appreciate the good things in life; tolerance for others; that joy comes not from selfish pursuits, but by making others happy, and that the well-rounded man or woman is not self-centered.

Though they have a powerful influence over children, school teachers can not accomplish the results most to be desired without the aid of parents in providing the proper environment at home.

Every community is proud of its schools and its boys and girls. The measure in which their lives redound to the glory of their home community depends upon the support which the teachers receive.

Back them up for results that count in later years.

THREE GOOD STORIES

The Foard County News' Magazine Section for November will feature three especially good articles. "The Battle of Dove Creek," written by Austin Callan, will be one of the three articles, the "Forestry of Texas," written by E. O. Sleeks, State Forester, will be the second article, and "Chicken Raising for Pleasure and Profit," by Mrs. Margaret Stone, will be the third article.

"The Battle of Dove Creek" was fought in 1863 on Dove Creek, south of the Concho River, in Southwest Texas, between 200 white men and 900 Kickapoo Indians. The fight was a deplorable mistake, as the Kickapoos were peaceful Indians, passing through Texas on their way to Old Mexico to take up land for colonization purpose. The Indians were victorious in this battle, and had they followed up their military advantage, a repetition of the Custer massacre on the Little Big Horn would undoubtedly have taken place.

Now is a good time to renew your subscription to the Foard County News. But, if you are not a subscriber, start your subscription now and you will get the issue which contains the interesting Dove Creek fight.

HISTORY MAKERS

When Ezra Meeker, who blazed the Oregon trail seventy-two years ago, rode with a United States army air service pilot from his home in the international air races in Dayton, Ohio, transportation history was being written.

It was a marvelous story of achievement—from the ox team days to the period of conquering the air. It calls to mind the daring trip that Meeker made through the wilderness, the marauding Indians and the cholera scourge which he endured.

The Meeker movers were joined by others who turned their faces toward the new land and no story of the wild west has more incidents of comedy and tragedy than the now famous journey into the unexplored northwest.

Where this pioneer battled with mud, Indians and plagues, automobiles now travel with ease, motorists finding paved roads and conveniences on every hand, that civilization in its sweep through the west has brought along. The old National Trail which Meeker traveled in that early day appeared as a white thread as he flew in the air conveyance.

The astounding developments that this bare three-quarters of a century has brought makes the blood tingle in the veins of an American citizen

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

The commission on evangelism of the Federal Council of churches has started a campaign, to continue through the winter until Easter, which is designed to win converts for Christ through individual appeal.

Getting back to the plan of the Savior, it is proposed that congregations everywhere shall send their members two by two into their neighborhoods to persuade people to take up Christian living, and in so doing acknowledge their belief in it by joining church, or attending if they already belong to some faith.

This appears to be the proper way to attack the problem of declining church attendance. The layman evangelist, if he himself lives the kind of a life that is an example for others to follow, can be much more effective in winning new recruits for Christian living than any other method.

The mass appeal lacks the personal touch that wins men and women to the cause of Christian living. Nothing is so powerful as good example. When deeds stand behind the invitation, it will be convincing. Otherwise such a campaign will accomplish little.

NAVY DAY AGAIN

On October 27 the third Navy Day was celebrated throughout the land. The day was called upon by proclamation of the president and the governor of the state to display the national flag and dwell in our thoughts on the achievements of that wonderful navy of loyal, valiant fighting men piloted our soldiers through dangerous, U-boat infested waters with the loss of a single life.

The navy won new laurels in America and sustained the tradition of John Paul Jones. It was United States navy which in the war and demonstrated that reports could be successfully defended against the unexpected attacks of German submarines. The navy system was attempted against the vice of the British military and who said that British military was safer going it alone than destroyers accompanying them.

The American navy amply justified its existence and any attempt to reduce its strength, in the face of lack of desires by other nations disarm at sea, should be frowned upon by all loyal Americans.

A MILLION MILES OF PROOF

An automobile is economical only when a low selling price is followed by low operation costs.

Continual repair jobs change a low-priced automobile into a most costly one. In reliability of operation and freedom from repair bills the Star has acquired recognized leadership.

Ninety-five Star owners drove 1,100,307 miles and spent $563.68, about 1-20 of a cent a mile, for mechanical repair and replacements, according of letters received at our New York offices.

Star owners who made this record live in various States of the Union and in Canada. The record represents Star car performance under all the variable conditions of road and climate that exist in the United States. It is average performance of average Star cars under average conditions every day work.

SEEING STARS

With the visit of Mars during the past summer, when it was only 34,000,000 miles away, and nearer than it has been in a century, a remarkable impetus has been given "star gazing."

November is the month of meteors, according to astronomers, and during that time you will recognize in the east old acquaintances in the Pleiades and Hyades in Taurus, and Aldebaran, the fiery-red eye of the bull. November was known in ancient times as the Pleiad month and it was then the ancient kings of Persia never failed to grant any request presented to them on November 17, the day of Pleiades came to the meridian at midnight.

The beautiful little group, with five stars forming a tiny dipper, and two additional stars visible to keen eyes, will be one of the most noted groups in the heavens. The V-shaped cluster of the Hyades is scarcely less famous. And star after star, and many groups of stars famous for their brilliancy, might be enumerated.

Mars, our old friend who intrigued us into searching, with straining eyes, the heavenly canopy, during the summer, is passing off the earthly stage. This planet, which was especially bright in October, moves rapidly eastward during November and recedes from the earth.

To Mars we may be indebted for whatever interest that has been aroused in the earth's neighbors, but Mars pays its visit so infrequently, that we are very apt to have forgotten all we learned this time, before he returns.

The downtrodden people, whom some of our politicians commiserate, are spending two and a half million dollars a day for gasoline, a million a day for radio equipment, not to mention the million spent daily for amusements and other luxuries.

The downtrodden masses, about whom some of the candidates speak, are never in that condition except when they get in front of a speeder.

When the baby boy is born you can't tell whether to give him a name that would be suitable for a football coach or a member of the faculty.

Men and Instincts

Writers of the last century regarded instinct as almost non-existent in man, whereas reason was denied to animals. Later scientists hold differently, among them having been Prof. William James, who maintained that man has as many instincts as animals. He further maintained that instinct played a leading part in the determination of all human conduct. McDougal, the eminent philosopher, goes still further and says that man's organism would become incapable of activity of any kind if instinctive dispositions with their powerful impulses, were taken away.

Chivalry

It was this which, without confounding ranks, had produced a noble equality, and founded it down through all the gradations of social life. It was this opinion which intrigued kings into companions, and raised private men to the fellows with kings. Without force, or opposition, it subdued the fiercest of pride and power; it obliged sovereigns to submit to the soft collar of social esteem, compelled stern authority to submit to elegance, and gave a dominating viceroyship of laws to be subdued by manners.—Edmund Burke

Earthworms Valuable

Earthworms play a very important part in the formation of soil. Indeed Charles Darwin demonstrated that they are of incalculable value to agriculture. Anglemoors feed on vegetable matter exclusively and in burrowing they take more or less earth into the alimentary canal where it is mixed with the vegetable food of the worm. Nearly all of this passes out with the castings which are always voided on the surface. Thus the worms are continually engaged in spreading a "natural compost" over the land. The process is called the formation of vegetable mold which is fertile both because of its composition and because the worms keep it stirred up and well aerated. Of course many other creatures are beneficial in the formation of soil, but the earthworms are the most important.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Polo Has Long History

There is no game today, with a longer history and one so consistently romantic as that of polo. Over 100 years ago polo was first observed in Persia by early European travelers, like Sir William Ouseley and Sir Anthony Shirley. The latter quoted his forerunner, the Italian Pietro della Valle who, in 1618, had found polo under the patronage of Shah Abbas, and remarked that "it was a favorite recreation of kings and chiefs, and originally, I believe, considered as almost peculiar to illustrious personages." The French traveler Chardin says the Persians played with 30 or 40 on a side, though the Persian miniatures remind us that even then three or four-sided teams were common. Another traveler calls it "the game of Canes."

If we could get all of the community axes on the grindstone at one time, what a wonderful place this would be!

Missionary Society
The Woman's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Baxter Johnson Monday afternoon, Madams Baxter Johnson, J. A. Johnson and Steve Roberts, hostesses. Mrs. George Self as leader for the afternoon brought out many beautiful thoughts in the Scripture lesson taken from the 58th chapter of Isaiah and 10th chapter of Luke. The following women assisted in the program, Madams Sam B. H. A. Y. Beverly, Sam Crews, Thomas Hughston, Belle Allee and T. L. Hughston, bringing out many interesting facts concerning the missionary work in the home and foreign fields. One thing of especial interest was that the Methodist dormitory at the State University was ready for occupancy at the opening of school on Oct. 3rd. Ninety-seven girls were in the dormitory with only one vacant room. This dormitory was built by the Woman's Missionary Conference of Texas. After the program dainty refreshments were served to about twenty members and Mrs. T. B. Klepper as guest.—Publicity Supt.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

PIERCED COINS

IF YOU should find a pierced coin, or receive one in change, be sure and keep it; it will bring you good luck. This is a very common superstition everywhere and its causes are obvious. A pierced coin suggests an amulet—has evidently been worn as one, the hole on it having been made to pass a string or ribbon through that it might be suspended about the neck. And an amulet protests against the evil eye, witches, evil spirits and malign influences generally as everybody knows. Therefore keep the pierced coin and you keep the advantages of its protective virtues. Or the coin may have been pierced and worn by some one simply as a "lucky piece." A lucky piece is a little different from an amulet; an amulet wards off bad luck, a lucky piece brings good luck. The pierced coin, then, is evidently an amulet or a lucky piece and both are good things to have about one.

In the power of the lucky piece we see the operation of that primitive idea, contagious magic. The lucky piece has possessed its beneficent qualities inherently or has acquired them by contagion and therefore from it we can "catch" the contagion of good luck. The pierced coin superstition has its counterparts among all savage peoples today and its ancestry reaches back to primitive times.

Preventing Floor Scratches

Those who have hardwood floors in their houses know the difficulty of keeping them free from furniture scratches. Pushes and slides overcome the difficulty for furniture that has straight legs, but these will not prevent rockers from scratching the floor. The best thing to do with the bottom of a rocker is to glue on a strip cut from an old felt hat. Don't let the joints come where the rocker rests when idle. The felt lasts a long time and can be renewed easily when worn.—Popular Science Monthly.

SPOILING THE BABY

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MY BUSY mother has to sit
And hold the baby quite a bit.
It's wrong, my aunt says, doing it.

My aunt, she says the more you hold
A baby, then the more they scold
To have you take them. Mother told

My aunt she simply wouldn't try
To cure the baby of it—why?
She simply couldn't let him cry!

My aunt, she says—no matter what—
My aunt, she says; if right or not,
It's Mother's baby Mother's got.

And Baby is so very small
He cannot walk, but has to crawl;
He can't amuse himself at all.

But, my, how easy it would be
If he was only big, if he Could just read pictures just like me!

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

LOVE is like home-made wine: one
Kiss too much, one ruin too
Many—and poof, crash—there's nothing left!

It is hard to say which suffers worse:
A woman holding her breath
While her husband hunts for the hooks
On the back of her evening gown,
Or a man holding his breath while his Wife tries to repeat his favorite funny story.

A perfect evening of "soul-companionship" is one after which the girl and the man go home each feeling that the other has been thoroughly and successfully "vamped."

All a girl needs in order to be a perfect stenographer is the tact of a divorce lawyer, the patience of Job, the rapidity of a fireman, the coolness of a surgeon, the acuteness of a mind-reader, the nerves of a clam and the temper of an angel. And yet men wonder why a girl possessing all those virtues would rather be a young man's "slave" than an old man's office fixture!

Alas, if a woman tries to restrain a man from indulging in his little follies, she is "nagging him to destruction," and if she doesn't she is "letting him go to destruction." So, what can a poor wife do!

The art of preserving love consists in never permitting the flame to become either too dim or too intense. Love, like a pudding, should be neither frozen nor burnt out, but kept just "simmering" forever.

Love is a beautiful symphony—to which a man insists on adding innumerable little interludes.

Advice to the friends and families of a bridal pair: "Keep off the grass" in the matrimonial Garden of Eden.

Through the Glad Eyes of a Woman

By Jane Doe

WHEN I WAS A FLAPPER—

I WAS warned that the complexion of most flappers is a thing of beauty until they study the literature round the cold cream jars.

I remembered what Solomon said about painting the lily.

I never indulged in face massages or electrical vibro treatments for the skin. I am leaving that to the thirties.

I only used powder on special party occasions and then my ma always rubbed it off at the last moment.

I lived out in the open as much as I could and neither overate myself or underate myself.

I went to bed early and rose fairly early. Ten to eleven hours of sleep is not too much for a growing girl.

I indulged moderately in outdoor exercise, but did not make myself a slave to tennis, rowing and such like violent exercises. Many a woman can trace an enlarged heart to overindulgence in sport in her flapper days.

I remembered that beauty is not only skin deep but health deep.

I did not make candy and ice cream my staple diet.

I did not invite rheumatism or pneumonia or the flu by wearing silk or other inadequate underwear in winter.

And I made a little prayer for myself. It was this: "Please, God, make me true blue—to others and to my self."

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

ALWAYS FEELING POOR

YEARS ago, when Carrie was a young thing of fifteen running about barefoot on her father's farm in Virginia, she had been richer than she was as Mrs. Leonidas Grimes with her establishment up the Hudson. Everyone knew then that she had no money. How could they help knowing with the holes in the carpet covered up by the rugs, and the children's mother turning the colonel's aid snits? But Carrie spent money with some pleasure in those days when she had hardly any to spend.

Then she married Leonidas Grimes, doing business for a big cotton firm, and from that moment Carrie began to feel poor.

One day Aunt Eugenia received an invitation from Carrie to luncheon. Aunt Eugenia, who had had a brilliant career, was reduced now to dividing her time among several more or less eager relatives. Everything was on a lavish scale from Carrie's note of invitation, to the number of courses served. Then, as the guests sat about the finger bowls, the butler passed on a heavy silver tray, a tightly tied and sealed box of candy.

"Do have some," urged Carrie. "It has to be opened some time, you know!" And Aunt Eugenia traveled at this survival of childhood experiences in the rich Mrs. Leonidas Grimes.

Aunt Eugenia began to hear of the Grimeses as "entertaining royally." One day an elaborate missive looked her for a week-end. On her arrival, Aunt Eugenia thought that Carrie seemed worried. Immediately she began, sitting there with her velvet dinner gown ablaze with jewels, to tell how poor she was feeling. "We have to keep up our position," she wailed, "but, oh, it takes so much money! Imagine what keeping up ten cats means!"

And everything those two days was on the scale of "ten cats"—house, grounds, entertainment, guests! Then came the time for Aunt Eugenia's departure. Carrie was on the terrace with her as a chauffeur and second man drove up, polished and shining, their liveries gleaming in a dither.

"You are one of the family," she see, and gasoline is so expensive," sighed Carrie.

Aunt Eugenia decided that Carrie had asked her to the castle simply because it was a solace to see someone who was really even poorer than she herself, among all her riches, felt. Aunt Eugenia thought of Carrie's mother and father who, with nothing to their names, had always somehow managed to give other people a great deal. Carrie with her plenty would never know the happiness of generosity. The habit of feeling poor would cheat her to the day of her death, and then it would cheat her in that place where a bank account mattered not at all.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

EMMA

FEW feminine names have a simpler origin than Emma. It is one of the many names derived from Teutonic forefathers. Tradition assigns its origin to the hisping of a child since Emma was nurse in Germany and eme is translated housekeeper in Spain. Emma was quickly transposed to Emma, probably from a latent sense of euphony.

The Karling daughters of Teutonic fame were first to use the name. Later a daughter of Charlemagne was so called. A romantic story surrounds her to the effect that she is said to have carried her lover, Egimund the Chronicler, on her back over the snow that his footprints might not betray his visits.

Emma was popular in France, where it was the name of the sister of Hugh Capet, who married Richard the Fearless of Normandy. Her grandmother was first the wife of Ethelred the Unready, then of Knut. It was in this way that Emma became much in vogue in Saxony. There were also Emmes among the daughters of the Norman Dru de Baladon, who came over with William the Conqueror.

Prior, in his beautiful ballad of the "Nut Browne Maid," which was supposed to be the history of the shepherd, Lord Clifford, called his poem "Henry and Emma," which fact brought Emma romantic fame and spread the popularity of her name. Emmeline, curiously enough, bears no relationship to Emma, but comes rather from Amaline, the progenitor of Amy.

The bloodstone is Emma's talismanic gem. It has medicinal qualities and was much used by the ancients to stop hemorrhages. It is said to preserve the faculties and the bodily health of its wearer, bring consideration and respect, and guard her from deception, especially of lovers. Tuesday is Emma's lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

GIVING HIM A TIP.

Jack (at 11:50 P. M.)—Can I get you to say "yes?"

Maud (stiffing a yawl)—That depends on your question. Try asking me if I am sleepy.

Catty

Patience—I don't look like myself at all in this new hat.

Patricia—No, my dear; I think you made a very wise selection.

What Your Eyes Tell

We are told that the eyes of the intellectual man are gray, and it is a fact that most men of genius have gray eyes. Brown eyes are said to express temperament rather than intellect.

Although brown eyes flash with anger, light up with joy, and change swiftly with jealousy, blue and gray eyes can express greater softness.

Green and black eyes are supposed to be the most wicked. Becky Sharp's green eyes played an important part in her various conquests.

The "vamp" in modern fiction usually possesses flashing eyes of either green or black. Actually, there are no black eyes; dark brown or dark gray eyes have the appearance of being black in certain lights.

Human Mind Beat Machine

A French lightning calculator, M. Inaudi, was recently pitted against twelve of the latest types of calculating machines. The human machine carried off all but one of the honors.

M. Inaudi easily beat his mechanical competitors in the speed with which he solved problems in addition, subtraction, division and finding the square or the cube, but in the first round—extracting the square root of a number—a machine came out first. In the third round, which consisted of complicated problems, the man won easily.
