A. S. C. Chairman Says June 25 Vote Will Affect 1956 Wheat Price Support

The outcome of the wheat marketing quota referendum on June 25 will affect the price-support level and determine whether marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1956 crop of wheat.

According to C. N. Barker, chairman of the Foard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, if two-thirds vote "yes," the minimum support price for wheat on the 1956 crop will be 76 per cent of parity compared with 82½ per cent on the 1955 crop. If more than one-third vote "no," the support will be 50 per cent of parity. In any case, support will be available in the commercial wheat area only to those farmers who stay within their farm's wheat acreage allotment.

Another point which wheat growers should have in mind when they cast their ballot is that if the vote is favorable, marketing quotas will be in effect and those who exceed the farm acreage allotment will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of parity on their excess wheat. If the vote is unfavorable, marketing quotas will not be in effect and there will be no penalty for excess wheat.

Acreage allotments will be in effect for price support purposes even if marketing quotas are discontinued.

Mr. Barker emphasizes that the marketing quota program applies only to wheat growers in the commercial wheat states who will have more than 15 acres of wheat on any one farm in 1956. Texas is a commercial wheat state. Marketing quotas do not apply to wheat growers in states designated as non-commercial and there will be no referendum in those states. In the commercial states, only those growers who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for grain in 1956 will be eligible to vote.

FOR THAT RAINY DAY

The wise man doesn't wait 'til the rain falls before he gets himself an umbrella. Same sound sense applies to financial "rainy days." The money you meant to save—but didn't—won't do you a bit of good. Only money that will count is what you DID save . . . regularly, systematically, every pay day. Let your ever-growing account be your "umbrella" . . . and you can take life's "rainy days" in your stride.

FOR CATTLEMEN

news for cattlemen! May be looking for a "steer" in a few years. That's what an Oklahoma animal husbandry expert believes.

Stillwater school's animal husbandry department thinks that cattlemen may find themselves in the same boat with swine producers who are now concentrating on "meat type" hogs.

Emphasis in shows has been on too much fat, says Whatley. Consumers eventually will force the livestock producer to provide food markets with leaner meat for their tables.

FIRST STREAMLINED TRAIN

The New York Central Railroad introduced the streamlined train in the U. S.

By PRICE DANIEL
U. S. Senator

The Texas City disaster of 1947 is being related and relieved before the Judiciary Committees of the Congress as they consider legislation to compensate the families of 570 persons who were killed and the 3500 who suffered injuries. Senator Johnson and I and Congressman Clark Thompson of Galveston have introduced bills for this purpose. Our bills were passed by the House and Senate last year, but the two Houses did not agree upon the final form of the legislation before Congress adjourned.

The United States Government has a responsibility in this matter because the ammonium nitrate fertilizer which exploded in Texas City harbor was manufactured and shipped according to government specifications and under the supervision of our government as part of our foreign aid program. This particular fertilizer was destined for France. Both the House and the Senate committees last year were convinced that the government officials were negligent in not warning those who handled this fertilizer of its explosive characteristics.

Relief for the Victims
Since 1947 the families of the deceased and the injured have been trying to collect damages. They went through the courts up to the United States Supreme Court and were turned down on a technicality in the law. That threw the matter in the lap of the Congress. Although it will never be possible to repay in money the suffering caused by the explosions, the government, having set this chain of events in motion, owes a duty to do all it can. Every effort will be made to get prompt action on this measure to help the widows and orphans and those who bear the scars of the effort of our country to help the unfortunates of the world.

Citizens of foreign nations injured in their person or property by reason of the acts of agents of our country are immediately compensated for their damages. The most recent example of this is the payment made to Japanese citizens injured as a result of the hydrogen bomb tests in the Marshall Island on March 1, 1954. The United States on January 4, 1955, paid $2,000,000 in damages to the Japanese government for the persons who suffered injuries as well as for the fishing interests which suffered damage as a result of many tons of fish proclaimed unfit for consumption because of radioactive content. We can do no less for our own people.

Hoover Commission Recommendations Named in Radio Talk

Herbert Hoover's latest nationally-broadcast address dealt with the work and goals of the Commission of Reorganization of the Government, which he heads. The Commission's reports have been coming out at frequent intervals lately and more are due. Some 400 leading executives and professional men contributed their time and experience over a 20-month period to the 20 Task Forces which produced them. The magnitude of the job is indicated by the fact that there are about 1,400 different agencies in the government, spending a total of $63,000,000,000 a year.

The previous Hoover Commission of five years ago, which was authorized by President Truman, had 70 per cent of its recommendations adopted, and substantial improvement in the economy and efficiency of government resulted. The present Commission was given much wider authority than the prior one. It considers basic questions of policy as well as of administration. As an example, one of the reports deals with the problem of government functions which are competitive with private enterprises. There are between 2,000 and 3,000 of these. Most of them, former President Hoover said in his address, "were created in wars and emergencies for some special needed task. But when the task was completed, each had aboard it an empire-seeking bureaucracy and a large pressure group which benefitted from it. He added that all of them are exempt from Federal taxes, that very few pay any interest or amortization on the capital the government has invested in them, and that they have other special advantages. He also said: "The loss is not wholly the taxpayers' money. It is also a loss by injury to the vitality of the private enterprise system. It is a destruction of freedoms."

The Commission's reports make recommendations of two sorts. One consists of recommendations to administrative agencies which can be carried out within their present authorities. The other is recommendations requiring Congressional action. In the first nine reports, there are about 250 of the administrative recommendations and about 170 of those involving legislation. Mr. Hoover emphasizes that this does not mean 170 separate laws — about nine would be sufficient.

How much can be saved from all this? In the reports so far completed, to quote Mr. Hoover again, "Our separate Task Forces estimate that an aggregate of $6,000,000,000 of savings could be made to the taxpayer. And beyond that there could be returned to the Treasury about $7,000,000,000 of money which could be provided otherwise. And there are still more to come." Here he stated that the savings would result from the elimination of waste, and "not the strangulation of either our defense or the stifling of public welfare."

Finally, the former President emphasized that there is more at stake than saving money and improving governmental efficiency. At the end he said: "Our job is to show a safe road to a balanced budget. And this is no trivial job. Its accomplishments is vital to every cottage in this land. "But over and above even that, many of these reports spell out ways to strengthen the foundations of the Republic."

Veterans Cannot Draw Unemployment and GI Pay Simultaneously

Veterans training under the Korean GI Bill may not draw GI unemployment and GI training pay at the same time, since simultaneous use of the two GI benefits is illegal, Veterans Administration said this week in answer to numerous queries.

Even though a veteran is not working while taking Korean GI Bill training, he still would not be eligible for the unemployment allowances. Unemployment payments are limited to Korea veterans actively looking for work, who are not receiving GI training benefits. A veteran who, for any reason, does draw both payments at once would be required to return his unemployment allowance to the State from which he received it. Also, under the law, he may be liable for a fine of up to $1,000 or imprisonment of up to one year, or both.

Unemployment pay—administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through the States—may range up to $24 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks. GI training allowances—handled by VA—range from $110 to $160 a month, for veterans in school full-time. Lower monthly rates are paid to part-time trainees, and to veterans training on-the-job or on-the-farm.

Right-to-Work Facts

One of the charges made by opponents of the right-to-work laws which forbid compulsory union membership as a condition of employment, is that these laws are sure to force down wages and undermine business conditions and living standards generally.

The National Right to Work Committee has surveyed the 12 states which have had the laws on their books since 1947, and so have had a chance to find out what happens (six more states have passed similar laws since). It found that these 12 states have equalled or exceeded national average gains in non-farm employment, businesses in operation, per capita income, retail sales, population growth, and other barometers of economic well-being. The right to work should be considered as fundamental as the right to breathe. Without it, there is no real freedom.

A Degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Attorney General John Ben Sheppard at Commencement Exercises of Southwestern University at Georgetown. Participating in the presentation are (left to right), Dr. C. H. Sisserson, Cleburne District Superintendent of the Methodist Churches of Texas, Attorney General Sheppard, and Dr. Wm. C. Finch, President of Southwestern University.

Accidents Rank Fourth as Cause of Deaths in Texas

Accidents rank fourth as a cause of death in Texas. According to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health, 5,372 Texans died last year of this one cause, while thousands more were crippled. There are no figures available on the number of days lost because of accidents, but there can be no doubt but that it is tremendous.

Automobiles caused 2,519 deaths or 47 per cent of the total. The dangerous curves and intersections on the highways in Texas are well marked and drivers can assist greatly in reducing accidents by carefully observing them.

Many accidents could be avoided if motorists would drive below the legal speed limits when tired, sleepy, in rainy weather and when other hazards exist. One should adhere closely to the law regarding the dimming of lights for approaching cars. It is an old saying, but true, that those who drink should not drive.

Many deaths are caused by accidents in the home. A total of 650 deaths were caused last year by falls. In homes most of these fatal accidents occur on either outside or inside stairways. Of course, there are many other locations in the home where accidents can and do happen.

Disorderly housekeeping, poor furniture arrangement, slippery waxed floors, worn floor coverings, unanchored rugs, neglected repairs and dark or obstructed passageways are other fall hazards found in many homes. Short cuts and so-called time savers frequently lead to accidents. The time saved is insignificant compared to the cost and time lost from an accident. When everybody develops safety habits, accidents will not be "fourth" as a cause of deaths.

Cotton Industry Gets Stronger Competition from Foreign Growers

The Texas cotton industry, which exports most of its product, is getting stronger competition from cotton growers outside the U. S. — a University of Texas study shows.

The University Cotton Economic Research Division's comparative study of U. S. and world cottons indicates foreign growers are producing larger amounts of American-type cottons.

The average annual production of American-type cottons outside this country in 1934-38 was 4,480,000 bales, the University study shows. The figure climbed to 7,759,000 bales in 1953-54.

That means foreign countries are copying the U. S. growers' policy of supplying large amounts of American-type cotton with relatively uniform fiber properties, an important factor in mass production of textiles.

That trend coupled with lower foreign-cotton prices is one of the reasons why world-market buyers apparently are taking Texas cotton only after exhausting sources of the same varieties grown outside the U. S. Research Scientist Joel H. Hembree warned.

"The University's comparative survey of U. S. and world cottons should challenge us to improve our varieties and marketing procedures and strengthen our competitive position in the world market," Hembree declared.

Case Against Reinsurance

The proposal for government reinsurance of the voluntary health insurance plans is due to come before Congress again. It has many sincere advocates. But the perils and weaknesses implicit in it should be thoroughly understood.

First of all, the phenomenal progress made by the health insurance industry makes federal intervention unnecessary as well as dangerous.

Second, reinsurance would not make health insurance available to more people or extend the benefits unless it were accompanied by a heavy tax subsidy to make possible selling the insurance for less than the cost of servicing the contracts.

Third, insurance authorities seem generally agreed that the extent of health insurance liability is such that there is absolutely no need for reinsurance.

Fourth, the program would give government sweeping and unjustified regulatory control over the health insurance industry.

Fifth, many believe that reinsurance might prove the entering wedge to socialized or government-dominated medicine.

The last Congress refused to approve the plan. The new Congress should follow that wise precedent.

Santa Fe Railway's ultrasonic rail detector car, in operation past two months and believed to be the first of its kind on any American railroad, represents very latest technique in rail maintenance. Here detector car operators run local check with ultrasonic hand test machine at rail joint which has reflected faulty indication on car's chronograph recording tape. Pioneered by Santa Fe engineers and equipped for either rail or highway travel, new device picks up more than 95 per cent of all rail defects such as fissures, fractures, bolt hole breaks, separations and other imperfections. Rear picture window provides operators with clear view of tracks as car progresses.

At the end, Western Live Stock said: "Standing on their own feet, beef cattle producers are fighting their way through their problems toward eventual full stability for one of the country's greatest industries." More power to them!

Local Initiative and Local Needs

If anyone still believes—in the face of the overwhelming evidence to the contrary—that we need to put the federal government ever deeper into the electric power business in order to meet the nation's growing power needs, he should take a look at Northwest Washington.

About a year ago the Puget Sound Utilities Council was formed, made up of a business-managed private utility company and several municipal systems and public utility districts. Recently it issued a blueprint for future power development. According to this, some $670,000,000 will be spent over an eight-year period, and the electrical energy output of the Council's members will be more than doubled.

This will all be local money—not federal money. The Council's program proves—whether one is for or against either private power or public power—that local enterprises, local communities, and local people can accomplish the biggest jobs. From a purely practical point of view, the Council is on the solidest possible ground. Congress has grown more and more chary of appropriating the money that belongs to all the people to pay for and subsidize socialized regional power projects. And that is why the possibility of power shortages is greatest in those regions where a federal monopoly or near-monopoly exists. Finally, this is in the American tradition. Let local initiative meet local needs.

Korea Learns a Lesson

It seems to be a hard and fast rule, applicable the world around, that government-in-business means waste and inefficiency.

Finance Minister Yi Chung Chae of Korea recently said: "We have reached the conclusion the efficiency of government-controlled enterprises is far below that of private enterprise." In view of this, he added, "the government gradually will sell its holdings to private business."

In our own country, the exhaustive Hoover Commission reports have shown that government-owned businesses, for the most part, are not only enormously wasteful of the taxpayers' money, but aren't needed. Korea's new policy could be followed profitably here.

Roundup of Rules for Korean GI Bill Training Announced

A roundup of rules dealing with the three-year starting deadline for Korean GI Bill training was issued this week by the Veterans Administration. Under the law, veterans actually must start their GI courses within three years from the date of their separation from the armed forces, in order to continue afterwards.

VA said it is not sufficient for a veteran to file an application before the deadline with the intention of starting afterwards. He must enroll in and begin his course in advance of his deadline.

Furthermore, having started in time, he must be in training on his deadline date, unless his attendance has been interrupted by the summer vacation or for some other excusable reason.

Such an excusable interruption would be the up-to-12-month suspension of training allowed by the law. In some cases the suspension may last even longer, if the veteran can show VA it was impossible to have resumed training within the 12-month limit.

Special rules go into effect for veterans in Korean GI training courses after their starting deadlines. VA said: Before the starting deadline, there is no requirement for continuous training. But after that date, there is; training must be continuous, except for the up-to-12-month suspensions that are permitted.

Also, before the deadline, the veteran-trainee has the right to make one change of course. He could switch, for example, from accounting to medicine, or from carpentry to shoemaking. After the starting deadline, however, he no longer may make a free change of course.

If he has not changed courses before the deadline, he may be allowed to change afterwards only if: 1. The new course that he wants is a normal progression from the course he already is taking, or 2. He is not making satisfactory progress in his current course due to no fault of his own, and vocational counseling discloses that he would make a better go of it in a different course.

SOURCE OF MILK

The source of milk used in Greece will surprise most Texans.

Of the 1,841,000 pounds produced in that country last year, more than 682 million pounds came from sheep. Cows produced 587,500,000 pounds and even buffalo got into the milk production picture, producing 57.5 million pounds.

The Greeks put a lot of their milk into yogurt, the health food which became popular in this country some years ago.

Ancient Windmill Placed in Museum at Texas Tech

An old sentinel of the Plains—a wooden Eclipse windmill—has been installed as a permanent exhibit in the South Plains Gallery of the Museum at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Location of the Eclipse this past month near Lockney followed a somewhat desperate appeal over a Floydada radio station by Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, chairman of the Museum's collection committee.

Museum staff members had been seeking an old-style windmill to round out the South Plains Gallery for more than two years. The windmill's importance in the development of the South Plains territory cannot be over-emphasized, according to Dr. W. C. Holden, Museum director.

With little surface water, man could not use the fertile grasslands until a means was found for getting the subterranean water to the surface. The windmill provided that means.

Of particular interest in the Museum's model are the types of woods that went into its construction, Dr. Holden said. The vane is made of cypress, while the framework is spruce. The cross arms are of white oak, the sucker rod is native ash, and the 4-4 pieces are of long leaf pine.

The wooden Eclipse mill, patented in 1867, was widely used on the South Plains until about 1920 when it was superseded by the faster-running ball-bearing geared steel mills.

Entry Fees for Cowboy Reunion Rodeo Are Set

Stanford—Cowboys who compete in the rodeo of the Texas Cowboy Reunion will find the entry fees moderate, declares A. M. G. Swenson, rodeo chairman.

Calf ropers will pay $12.00 (two go-rounds and finals); wild cow milkers, $12.00 (two go-rounds and finals); saddle bronc riders, $6.00 (two go-rounds and average); bull riders, $8.00 (two go-rounds and average); bareback bronc riders, $10.00 (two go-rounds and average). Open cutting horse entry fee is $12.00 and the old time calf ropers' fee is $4.00.

The Texas Cowboy Reunion attracts the largest number of contestants of any in the world, more than 500 in number. All contestants are real cowboys who, in most cases, have come in from the ranches to compete and will go back after the rodeo is over.

Entries and entry fees in roping events must be received in the rodeo office by 6 p. m. June 20. Entries in riding events will be accepted until 10 a. m. each day for that day's contest, or un-

Treated Wheat Sold by Food and Drug Administration

C. N. Barker, chairman of Foard County Agricultural, Extension and Conservation Committee, advises wheat producers that a number of cars of treated wheat have been sold by the Food and Drug Administration in the area served by the Chicago CSS Community.

This is an extremely serious problem, Mr. Barker stated, or treated wheat may not be used for human food or feed use. The only authorized disposition other than for purposes is certain commercial outlets for non-food and non-feed use. These commercial purposes as a matter of policy, will buy treated wheat so that it usually no market outlet.

Wheat Marketing Quotas for 1956 to Be Decided on June 25

The final decision on whether or not marketing quota controls will apply to wheat produced in 1956 will be made by wheat growers on June 25.

According to the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, if two-thirds of the support for the 1956 crop will probably be between 75 and 82 per cent of parity—the exact level will be announced before the referendum. If more than one-third vote "no," the support will be 50 per cent of parity. In any case, points out the committee, support will be available in the commercial wheat states only to those farmers who stay within their farm's wheat acreage allotment. Texas is a commercial wheat state.

If points out the committee, the vote is favorable, market quotas will be in effect and growers who exceed their farm acreage allotment will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of parity on their excess wheat. If the vote is unfavorable, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalty for excess wheat.

Acreage allotments will be in effect for price support purposes even if marketing quotas are disapproved. The national acreage allotment for 1956 is 55 million acres—same as for 1955—which is the minimum established by law.

The State ASC Committee urges all eligible voters to study the situation carefully and make their decision. County ASC offices or committees can furnish detailed information on the referendum and polling places.

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 HP V8

180 HP V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder? You can iron it out, flat as a flounder... and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire")... and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-r-o-o-o-OOM!

Mister, you got you a flat mountain! ... At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can ladle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo... built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

An engineer instantly understands why these V8's are so hyper-efficient... how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more... how big valves let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, and point the nose at the nearest hill. These V8's can do their own talking... and nobody argues with them!

Austin, Tex. — Now that the legislature has adjourned — all eyes are turned to the next political campaign. It is anyone's guess who will be in the 1956 races, but many are guessing.

Hardly had the gavel of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and House Speaker Jim Lindsey sounded the end of the 54th legislative session, when one widely known political figure took the adjournment as the starting signal for the 1956 races. He is former Speaker of the House Reuben Senterfitt, of San Saba.

Senterfitt was the first announced candidate for Governor in 1954. But he withdrew when his father passed away, and Governor Allan Shivers announced for re-election. He took no sides in the bitterly contested campaign last year, nor in the presidential campaign of 1952.

Senterfitt's announced intention to run in 1956 set tongues wagging about other possible contenders for the Governorship. Mentioned were Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey of San Augustine; Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard of Gladiolus; U. S. Senator Price Daniel of Liberty; Associate Justice of the Texas Supreme Court Will Wilson of Dallas; Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White of Wichita Falls; and State Senator Otis Lock of Lufkin, Jimmy Phillips of Angleton and Jerry Sadler of Pevilla.

Labor publications have said that Ralph Yarborough of Austin will make a third attempt to land the job. He campaigned against Shivers in 1952 and 1954.

Others talked as "possibles" include Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston, wife of Ex-Governor W. P. Hobby, and present Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Roy Hofheim, mayor of Houston; Robert B. Anderson of Vernon, U. S. Secretary of Defense; and County Judge Jim Sewell of Corsicana.

Prospects appear strong that State Senator A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris will run for lieutenant governor if Ramsey does not seek re-election. Probably in the running for that same office will be Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

Mentioned frequently as a candidate for Attorney General is House Speaker Jim Lindsey of Texarkana.

Capital talk continues on the subject that Governor Shivers may step out of office before the end of his present term to accept a high federal appointment. This rumor cropped up again after Shivers' first assistant, Maurice Acers, was appointed by the Governor to serve on the Texas Employment Commission.

Should Shivers resign, Ramsey would become governor automatically. He then would have the inside track in the 1956 campaign.

Wagoner Carr of Lubbock, third term member of the House, emerged as the un-contested prospect for Speaker of the 55th Legislature. When the 54th session adjourned, Representative Carr held signed pledges of support from more than 100 members of the present legislature. No opponent had announced.

Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota, only woman in the Texas Senate, was elected President Pro Tem of the upper chamber for the period between sessions. This means that she will have an opportunity, under precedent, to sit in as acting Governor for a day.

When this happens, she will become the second woman in Texas history to serve as chief executive.

Beach, Calif., Mrs. Emilie Palm of San Antonio, Mrs. Ruby Griedenwise and daughter, Jo Katherine, of Beaumont, and the Streits' daughter, Mrs. James Bowen, of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Laura Mauldin of Amarillo and Mrs. Lee Rennels of Crowell spent the week end with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Key.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Key visited Sunday afternoon in Crowell.

News from the Congress

By Congressman Frank Icard

Recently Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, met with the Texas delegation for the purpose of discussing the Salk polio vaccine. As a result of this meeting we learned that polio vaccine is expected to be available for mass inoculation with greater safety in the near future. As more of the vaccine does become available, it is indicated that areas with the greatest number of polio cases and earlier seasonal dangers will receive first consideration. The new testing methods proposed by the government have been accepted and are being instituted by those who produce the vaccine. Tests in the past were considered complete when a live virus could no longer be found in the vaccine for a given period of time. The new test will run considerably beyond what was once considered safe, thereby creating a wider margin of safety. The tests will also be made on a portion of each batch of serum after bottling as an added precaution.

Those children all over the said evidence showed they had no part in the mishandling of the program.

Despite all the hullabaloo over Governor Shivers' appearance in California to make the commencement address at the University of Southern California, and threats to boycott the exercises, an overflow crowd of 14,000 attended.

The Texas Legislature had condemned California's "intolerance" and defended the Governor's record.

It made notable progress, he said, in such fields as insurance reforms, hospital improvements, public welfare and health, safety, and necessary financing for highways, old age pensions, education and general operations.

"On the whole," said Shivers, "this has been one of the best and most constructive sessions of the legislature in recent history."

It handed him a new tax bill, raising $28,500,000 a year for state operations and $20,500,000 a year for highways.

Both the House and the Senate set up committees to continue the Veterans Land investigations. Investigating committees filed reports. The Senate committee said that Governor Shivers and Attorney General Sheppard, members of the Veterans Land Board, hadn't been too punctual in attending board meetings. But it

Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and pearl earrings.

Mrs. R. H. Cooper III of Memphis attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Her waltz length gown was of blush pink nylon organza over heather rose taffeta. Her head piece was of matching materials trimmed in drop pearls, and she carried a nosegay of pink split carnations.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

On June 6, the Foard City W. S. C. S. met at the church and plans were made for an installation service for incoming officers. Mrs. F. M. Rader opened the meeting with a prayer and Mrs. Blake McDaniel presided over the business meeting.

A resume' of previous lessons and a forum on recent events and articles written and told about India and Pakistan proved interesting since the study concerning these countries is about half finished.

Mrs. McDaniel brought an interesting account of "Your prayers can change the world." Mrs. Grady Halbert led the prayer service with a discussion on the merits of expenditure of effort. She said, "An idle life is death anticipated," quoting Goethe, and repeated the truth that no true success is ever enjoyed without sacrifice and effort.

The women gathered in a circle, and, holding hands, prayed silently and concluded the prayer service with each one offering an oral prayer for guidance, wisdom and courage.
