A SENIOR'S ADVICE TO A FRESHMAN

Upon entering high school, I had the same attitude that almost all freshmen have. Have fun, cut up, follow the gang, to "heck" with books and lessons was my motto. To live a carefree life, and to know no worries were my life's ambitions. I can't truthfully say that I've changed much, and I don't think I'm qualified to be giving advice. But I can say this much: if it were possible to do it all over again, I would do it much differently. Having fun and cutting up doesn't belong in the class room; there are times and places where things like that are in place. When someone cuts up, it disturbs the whole class and doesn't help the relationship between the student and the teacher. It may seem very small, but small things can add up to a point where they are no longer trifles or slight, and serious consequences can develop. To follow the gang can be a serious step backward in your education. If your best friend takes the easier subjects and his only aim is to "get out" of school, following him can lower your foundation to the extent that what was once easy will become hard. Try to take the subjects you like and those you feel you will some day have a need for. Whatever subjects you take, you should aim for the top of the class but never be satisfied, even if your grades are the best, for there is always something you don't know.

From my four years of high school, I have but one thing to pass on to those who read this: do what you undertake as well as you can and no matter how boring or hard, do it with a smile.

JOHN WABASH

Now, this is the story of John Wabash, who at the age of nine years, learned to wave "bye bye" to his parents.

John entered grade school at the age of six. His remarkable intelligence was first recognized by his first grade teacher, Mrs. J. B. (June Bug) Doodle. At eight, John could read and spell the word, "dog." Shocked by his high IQ, they sent John to the second grade.

The years rolled by, and finally John reached high school at the age of thirty-six. His freshman year was a hectic one. He was sent to the hospital fifteen times because he kept shutting his locker door on his head. One day he even fell off the balcony in the auditorium.

His sophomore year was started off by John's joining the football team. We had a perfect season that year; we never won a game. John gave up football when in one game he stumbled during the kickoff and got his head stuck in the kicking tee.

During his junior year, John joined the band. John was considered quite a musician because he was the only person that could play a tuba and at the same time play a snare drum with his feet. John gave up band when he thought that a centipede was his drumstick, and he picked it up.

On his senior trip, Wabash was hurt seriously when he dived from the high diving board into an empty pool. He was also wounded when he fell off the roof of the Shamrock Hotel.

On his graduation night, John was going up to receive his well-earned diploma when a terrible thing happened. There he was; he was only forty-four years old. The crowd was cheering wildly. Then it happened! As John was walking up the steps, he slipped and broke his neck, thus making waste of twenty-eight years of school. (P. S. I ain't laughing either!) —by Spider Bell.

PIANO FOR FHA CHAPTER

Thursday, the organization of Business and Professional Women of Crowell gave the Crowell FHA Chapter a piano. Now, isn't that wonderful? These girls really think so. They are looking forward to better chapter meetings next year because music adds spice to what you undertake as well as you can and no matter how boring or hard, do it with a smile.

BEST WISHES, SENIORS

We, the high school faculty, wish to congratulate you, the graduating class, on the completion of your public school education, the first step in the ladder of success.

Perhaps you now feel that at times we have lacked understanding in helping you solve your problems, but as years go by and you look back upon your school days, then you'll be able to know the reason for some act, some criticism, some bit of advice offered by the faculty members.

Experience is your best teacher, and by your future experience you'll come to recognize the true values of life—those values which we hope we have helped to instill into your way of thinking.

May we extend our best wishes to each of you in the separate paths of life over which you will journey.

The high school faculty: Grady Graves, Supt., Henry Black, principal; Mrs. F. A. Dabis, Mrs. Doyle Kenner, Mrs. Ernest King, Mrs. Moody Bursey, Mrs. Earl Manard, Thayne Amnett, Gordon Erwin, Marvin Myers, Glen Taylor and Earl Hesse.

DESTINATION GALVESTON!
 At 3 p. m., Friday, May 16, we the seniors gathered at the court house square and piled into the bus—Galveston bound. It would be impossible to relate the many, many things that we did on the trip, so we'll merely relate some of the high points.

We made our first night's stop at the Tam O' Shanter Courts in Waco. Then Saturday morning we were up bright and early and off to Houston; there we headed for the Rice Hotel. Sunday we visited historical places of interest such as the San Jacinto Monument, Battleship Texas, etc.

Then we journeyed to Galveston and spent Sunday night, Monday and Monday night, there, enjoying the beach, the boat rides, and things in general.

The trip home was not so exciting, for needless to say, we were "pooped." Anyway, we got back home on Tuesday and filed in our "drawer of memories" the pleasant thoughts of our senior trip.

Accompanying us were the sponsors, Mr. Black and Mr. Myers, and three room mothers, Mrs. Lee Black, Mrs. Archie Campbell and Mrs. Hulien Monks. Thanks for seeing us through on our long-awaited "Senior Trip."

THANKS, EVERYONE!

May we express our appreciation to the many people who in any capacity have helped make our high school days—especially our senior year—a success.

Of course we are human, and as such we have made mistakes, and perhaps at times we have seemed unappreciative of the things that have been done for us. But as we "turn back the pages of time," we do realize that we have been very fortunate in having the guidance and assistance of you, our teachers, parents, and friends. That we may never "let you down" as we journey through life is our sincere desire.

BY THESE NAMES WE'LL BE REMEMBERED

May be you have been reading many of the columns of the paper and have come across a nickname that you were not familiar with. Since it is the end of the year, we thought we would print a list of senior nicknames.

JUNIOR PROPHECY FOR SENIORS AT JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

by Bettie Knox

Time: 1978.
 Place: New Crowellwood, Texas.
 Our city has taken on the ending "wood" because so many stars live here now. My assistant, Roxie Adkins, and I are on North Main Street as "Your Women on the Street." We are going to interview some of the members of the '58 senior class. As we look down the street we see a very noted couple approaching. It is Kerry Brown and his partner, Shirley Fox, who now operate the Crowellwood Pansy and Daisy Shop.

The next former seniors we meet are the celebrated quartet, "The Four Fargers," who have reached stardom with their version of "Smoke Screen." This quartet consists of Elizabeth Davis, Jana Black, Carolyn Monks and Sandra Sanders.

While we are talking to the quartet, a beggar walks up behind us; we turn around to say a few words to him and discover that it is none other than the ex-president of the student council, Ray Thomson. It seems as if Ray lost all of his money on a tip from the renowned bookie, "Babyface" Morgan, alias George Morgan.

As we glance across the street, we see our famous old cannon surrounded by a crowd of swooning women. We rush over to see what is causing this commotion, and right in the middle of all of these women we find the number one bachelor of the year, our own radio and TV star, Slobberace Wilkins, and his candlesticks.

Trying to escape the crowd, my assistant suggested that we walk on down the street, and I agreed. We walked down the street three blocks and stopped in front of the "Shultzie" Theatre, owned and operated by Miss Jo Ann Shultz, starring Genger Rasberry, the illustrious "Bubbles Bubb" bubbles dancer. Also starring was LaRue Digs, queen of leques.

Strolling on down the street we see a head pop up from a hole. No, it just couldn't be! It is! It's Spider Bell! What's all over his clothes? Oh no, it couldn't be—but it is! Spider taken over the position as cleaner of New Crowellwood.

While we are recovering from the shock Spider has just given two of the most renowned traps in the United States walk up. They are none other than Jerry

by James H. Herring

Several wind storms occurred last month in the Crowell Work Unit Area of Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District. There were four of these wind storms with wind velocities up to 40 miles per hour, that lasted a duration of 33 hours. Normally these wind storms would cause significant soil blowing on 134,718 acres of cropland and 5,678 acres of other land (including field margins and roads) in Foard County.

However, farmers in this area took advantage of the moisture received since November of 1957, and provided a cover (either a growing crop or crop residue) on their land. At the end of April, Soil Conservation Service technicians in Crowell estimated that 119,448 acres of cropland had adequate cover for wind erosion protection. It was estimated that 15,272 acres had inadequate protection. This acreage included cotton stalk land that is conducive to wind erosion.

With soil moisture, most of this land has been listed and will probably offer protection throughout the rest of the blow season. This tillage operation came too late to prevent surface soil removal, surface being swept smooth, and depressions leveled and hummocks or fence row drifts forming.

T. F. Lambert, cooperater with Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, recognized the hazards that one can expect from wind storms that occur during critical erosion periods. He has maintained a growing crop on the land that he rents throughout this period. There are many cover crops that will offer this protection, but Mr. Lambert prefers Speltz because of its growth, hardness, and the large amount of trash that it produces. He uses this crop to provide protection to cotton stalk land that is highly susceptible to wind erosion.

If you are interested in Federal cost-sharing assistance on conservation practices that help provide protection from wind erosion, check with your local soil conservation office for information on the Great Plains Conservation program.

Following the program was a reception for the pupils, their families and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rasberry, with Mesdames Jack Welch, Clark Hitt and Leon Speer as co-hostesses with Mrs. Rasberry.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth. Pink roses in a silver coffee service made up the decorations for the attractive table. Punch and cookies were served to about one hundred guests. The house had many arrangements of roses throughout.

On Friday evening, Barry Barker, Mike Manard, Ronnie Sue Oliphant, Terri Thomas, Arcina Garrett, Paula Sparks, Judy Barker, Gena Adeock, Pat Brown, Sally Dixon, Jeanette Moody and Alta Nell Bartley played.

These pupils' mothers were hostesses at a reception in the cafeteria for the pupils, their families and friends.

Install the All Electric HEAT PUMP

COMPLETE YEAR-ROUND AIR CONDITIONING IN ONE UNIT

The All-Electric Heat Pump provides complete automatic "comfort conditioning" for your home the year around, using only air and electricity. The same unit that cools your home also heats it. It also removes excess humidity and filters out dust and pollen. Because only air and electricity are used, the Heat Pump provides maximum cleanliness and complete safety.

Here's How It Works

The Heat Pump operation uses the basic principle that heating and cooling is a matter of moving heat from one place to another.

In winter the Heat Pump extracts heat units from outside air (even if it is freezing) and pumps warm air into your house. In summer the heat pump reverses itself automatically and operates like any refrigerated air conditioner—it takes the heat out of the house and pumps it outside.

Call or come to see us and our air conditioning engineers will explain the Heat Pump more thoroughly to you.

W. S. (BILL) HEATLY
Representative Makes Announcement as to His Qualifications
W. S. (Bill) Heatly of Paducah, in accordance with his previous statement, herein files his complete announcement for his candidacy for re-election for 2nd District Representative, 82nd District, composed of Foard, Wilbarger, Hardeman and Cottle Counties.
Mr. Heatly, a resident of Paducah for over 10 years, was born and reared on a farm near Mart, in McLennan County. Prior to moving to Paducah, Mr. Heatly has been a resident of Northwest Texas for more than 14 years. He is married and has three boys, 10, 14 and 15 years of age. Mrs. Heatly is the former Jonnie Green Hawkins of Wichita Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Heatly and three 3 boys are members of the First Christian Church of Paducah. Mr. Heatly is a deacon and a member of the official board of the church and the American Bar Association.
Mr. Heatly has been actively engaged in practicing law, at the same time managing a small stock and cotton farm in Cottle and Dickens counties. He has been active in civic affairs in Paducah, and is past Chancellor Commander of the Paducah Knights of Pythias Lodge. He served for 2 years as vice president of the Parent Teacher Association, the first man to hold the office in Paducah.
Heatly has served on the board of directors and is a former president of the Paducah Lions Club. Under his leadership a scholarship fund of $100 to a worthy and needy graduate of Paducah High School. He has been chairman of the civic improvement committee of the Lions Club and a joint member of the Chamber of Commerce committee. Much work was done by Heatly and his committee in behalf of farm organizations, particularly in connection with drought relief.
When Cub Scouting was organized in Paducah, Mr. Heatly was the first Cub Pack Master. He is now serving on the executive board of the Northwest Texas Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, as vice president and finance campaign chairman for the entire 13-county area council.
Heatly served as a member of the steering committee directing the proceedings of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Association in its efforts to establish a water district composed of six northwest Texas counties for the purpose of building a dam on Red River in Donley County to impound water for several towns.
He served as attorney for the group when the permit was granted in 1957.
Mr. Heatly was appointed Special Assistant Attorney General of Texas by John Ben Shepperd. He also served without pay as a member of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. Since being a member of the legislature, Heatly points with pride amid the scandals and corruption within the state, that none has touched this district.
Heatly has served on many important committees since being a member of the legislature the past 3 years and is presently serving as chairman of the State Affairs Committee, one of the most powerful committees in the legislature. This committee handled approximately one-third of all bills introduced in the legislature. He was also a member of the investigating committee during the past regular session which investigated the Sellers and Larry Love. They tell us that they have made over four million dollars selling skunk pelts. While we stand talking, the most famous game warden in Texas walks up. It is Billy "Always Gets His Man" Everson. He tells us that he is after some men who have just sold a lot of illegal skunk pelts to some Canadian traders.

We stop to buy a local paper and read that the scientific team composed of James Grady McDaniell and Johnny Odell, have devised a way to squeeze blood from turpines. This discovery made them famous because scientists have been trying to do just that since the beginning of civilization. Meanwhile, their assistant, Jimmy Weaver, has affirmed that carrots are good for your eyes. His proof was that "rabbits never wear glasses."
Turning the page we see a headline that reads "Sandra 'Prune Eater' Campbell, World's Champion Prune Eater, Defends Title."
On the next page, we read that James Choate, distinguished orchestra conductor, and his "Madmen"—Eugene Davis and George Morgan—are opening at Thelma Henry's Pink Palace, a night club that is known the world over.
Turning the next page, we read that General Abston and his wife, Patty McGinnis Abston, the first family to reach the moon, have given birth to the first set of twins to be born on the moon. The little moonlets seem to be progressing quite well in this strange atmosphere.
After reading the paper, Roxie and I decide to get a Coke. Going into the drug store, we bump into Princess Gidney. After talking to Princess, we discover that she has just divorced Gina Lollobrigida. It seems as if Princess has married and divorced more rich, beautiful and wild women than any man alive.
While we are relaxing and drinking our Cokes, we glance at the TV set. There we see Harvey Smith in a rip roaring shootup. Harvey has taken the place of "Sugarfoot" in the western movies. After the program goes off and we finish our Coke, we return once more to the streets of New Crowellwood.
Here we see Louis Rettig. The "Have Gun Will Travel" man himself and his wife, Patsy, are the parents of the eminent Octet sisters.
Farther on down the street, we meet Roy Don Payne. Roy tells us that he has come up in this world. He is now a high ranking scrub boy in the army.
Next we are approached by a peddler. It is none other than the effectively used to treat or correct special conditions or problems. No mechanical measure, no matter how costly or spectacular, however, can be fully effective unless it is used in combination with, or supported by practices that maintain a cover on the surface and maintain the soil in good physical condition.

Many farmers in the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District have recognized that mechanical practices are not "cure alls" for protection of their cropland from erosion. Marvin Myers, Vocational Agriculture instructor, uses a cover crop in combination with terraces on his farm northeast of Crowell. He planted 70 acres of Austrian winter peas this winter for protection to his land during critical erosion periods.
This cover crop not only serves as timely, emergency soil protection, but it, being a legume, adds nitrogen to the soil. Cover cropping also serves to keep the fertility tied to the zone area of plant roots. Nitrogen is lost most readily through the leaching process. Winter cover crops are very effective in reducing such losses. Land should not be bare during the high rainfall season if nitrogen leaching is to be controlled.
Organic matter is lost through both erosion and oxidation. This loss is excessive in this district where temperatures are high and the soil is bare. Usually, erosion losses of organic matter and humus from bare soil are many times that from oxidation. Erosion takes some toll on the best managed farms; so to the extent cover cropping, such as Mr. Myers practices on his farm, is needed to reduce soil erosion. This must be a part of a farming system if profitable returns are expected. If you haven't tried a winter or summer cover crop, then why not try it? It might add protection to your farm as it has to Mr. Myers.

Large Crowd Attends Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey

On last Sunday afternoon, May 18, the lavishly decorated home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson in Thalia was the scene of the celebration of the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Lindsey, whose home is also in Thalia. Mrs. Lindsey, who was Miss Lizzie Gamble before her marriage, is an aunt of Mrs. Johnson. Many of the nieces and nephews of both Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey were present with their husbands and wives to assist in the festivities of this special event.

The home was beautiful with its many lovely floral arrangements. The refreshment table was covered with a lovely white lace cloth over yellow. The floral piece for the table was a gorgeous arrangement of yellow glads and yellow carnations with foliage of gold, and it bore the inscription, "50th Anniversary." Other floral decorations were made up of various yellow flowers, among which were roses, snapdragons and iris. Golden punch, with the beautiful 2-tiered cake, was served from a large fosteria punch bowl by pieces of the honored couple, who also alternated from the punch bowl to the guest register.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey wore corsages of yellow carnations. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey came to this area in early childhood and are numbered among the pioneers. Their parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lindsey and the late Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gamble. Mr. Lindsey is the only living member of his family. Mrs. Lindsey has two brothers, Sim and Mack Gamble, both of the Thalia community, and both of them, with their wives, were present. Mrs. Lindsey has one sister, Mrs. J. H. Sansbury of Calero, Okla., who was unable to attend. The late Pete Gamble of Thalia was also present.

Miss Kincaid Honored at Dessert Bridge

Mrs. Mike Rasberry, Mrs. Clinton McLain and Mrs. J. M. Hill Jr. were hostesses at a dessert bridge Monday afternoon at Mrs. Rasberry's home in honor of Miss Marcia Kincaid, bride-elect of Paul

JOHNSON.

A doll dressed in bridal attire and an arrangement of bridal wreath and greenery decorated the mantel. The dining table was centered with an old-fashioned pitcher which held bridal wreath, and on either side were small white candles. Yellow iris were used in other parts of the entertaining area.

Small corsages made of doilies and yellow roses centered the bridge tables and were later used for prizes. Nineteen guests were present.

Miss Kincaid, daughter of Merl Kincaid, and Mr. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, will be married Monday, June 2, at the First Methodist Church.

HOME BUILDERS CIRCLE

A very enjoyable social hour was spent Tuesday evening, May 13, when the Home Builders Circle met in the Methodist Church for the installation of officers. Hymn singing in unison opened the meeting.
