Refrigerator Is Planned At Clyde

Clyde merchants and farmers began a movement in that vicinity last week to obtain priority rating for materials with which to build a frozen food locker plant to be located in Clyde.

A committee has been working this week to contract rental of at least sixty per cent of the plant capacity to farmers in the Clyde area.

The proposed plant will be built by West Texas Utilities Company and operated by some local concern in Clyde. The style of the plant has not been announced for publication, and it has not yet been decided what type of organization will be set up to insure smooth operation, but a very optimistic report has been made that the required number of lockers will have been rented by next week and further steps will be taken to erect the plant.

OPEN HOUSE HELD FOR NEWLY WEDDED COUPLE

Open house was held at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilliland Sunday for S-Sgt. and Mrs. Lowell Evans, who had recently returned from their wedding trip to San Antonio. Forty-eight relatives and several friends attended the open house bringing many gifts to shower the newly-wedded couple.

S-Sgt. Evans and his bride Wednesday for California where he will report for duty after a 21-days furlough. He had served with the army forces in the India-Burma theater of war for the past three years.

Just Round About

As we walked up and down the streets we saw and heard:  Met a man who has lived in the county only 2 or 3 years, C. H. Hughes, who lives south of Dudley.  J. O. Connel who lives south of the wheat prospects.  Ran upon that Belle Plain man, Bursie Miller, who was in Baird on business.  Noticed a couple of Oplin men transacting business in the county seat, both farmers, Calvin Poindexter and G. A. Gwin.  Ran upon two Eula men, both by the name of Smith, G. M. and F. L.  By the way, while we are mentioning the Smiths, we have heard that G. R. (Doc) Smith of Putnam is now located on the Ditmore Ranch located west of that place.  Saw that authority on artifacts, Cecil Nichols, in town a few days ago. Give Cecil a piece of obsidian and he will make you as perfect Indian arrow-head as the redskin ever turned out.  Speaking of Cecil reminds us that we also met his brother, B. N. who lives about twenty miles south of Baird in town on business the other day.  Roy Kendrick, well known and prominent citizen of the Denton district was in this county seat town lately.  Met Buddy Smith of the Deep Creek Valley country here on a business trip.  J. C. Steakley of Oplin says the weather has hindered the farmers in finishing harvesting their crops; says there is lots of feed still in the field.  Met C. S. Harrison of Clyde and a few steps further ran across Jess Harrelson, who formerly lived at Clyde, but has moved to Sweetwater.  C. D. Straley, of Oplin, had business in the Capital City of Callahan this week.  Well, you can't keep 'em away! Ran upon M. D. McElroy who left here sometime ago. He has moved back to Abilene.  Noticed Elbert C. Clemmer, who lives southwest of Putnam, on our streets lately.  The Rowden country was represented here lately by Bert Tabor of that community.  We saw a Cottonwood man in town this week, Floyd Coffey.  M. B. Rhodes, who lives east of Clyde, was down this way lately.  Mr. Chairman, may we nominate as one of the most obliging down town business men, our citizen, B. L. Boydston.  We noticed Jim Green back in this country after staying a spell up around Levelland. Jim says, we understand, that he may stay in this part of Texas.  Joe King, who lives out about 12 miles south of Clyde, and who worked here in town for the railroad for a while, says he is back in the country taking care of his crop.  Ran across J. A. Brashear, who lives just west of the Atwell school house.  The next man we met on our rambles was C. B. Young, Barlow lives a few miles south of Clyde. But from northwest of that town came Jimmie Christian who was here the same day.

4-H club boys, during the past year, have planted 100 acres of corn, 146 acres small grain, 58 acres peanuts, 14 acres cotton, 4 acres potatoes, and 1 acre garden. From this amount, they have harvested 1500 bushels corn, 4380 bushels small grain, 1160 bushels peanuts, 7 bales cotton, and 250 bushels sweet potatoes.

FROZEN FOOD LOCKER FUTURE CALLED SAFE

Fear that use of home freezing units after the war might be a kick in the face to the frozen food locker industry was erased by S. T. Warrington of Washington, senior economist, Farm Credit Administration, Tuesday when he said that the processing and bulk shortage can't be provided for in the home.

Warrington, guest speaker at the annual conference of the Texas Frozen Food Locker Association at the Hotel Adolphus, called the locker industry a depression-born business which is now serving 1,500,000 families, three fourths of whom are farmers.

"An additional 600 locker plants will be built during the current year," he said. "The locker plant is here to stay, and communities planning now on these plants should only plan on building the best. Something that will stand and render satisfactory service for many years to come."

"Much of the growth of the industry is attributed to the fact that families not only save money, but normally are able to enjoy a better quality of food," he said.

FREEZING TEMPERATURE CRIMPS FLOWERS

The below freezing temperatures of the past week put a crimp in the flowers and shrubs that have added charm and beauty to the residential section of Baird during the past warm months. Leaves are turning and falling under winter's blast. It is a sad occasion, this fall, because the shrubbery that decorates the landscapes around Baird homes is accredited with playing the most important role in beautifying our city. The evergreens will stand by through the winter months to lend a touch of color until spring-time when buds begin to pop again and Baird home-owners demonstrate justified pride in planting flowers and cultivating their lawns. Continuous efforts to beautify our home grounds is making Baird one of the neatest, most attractive little city in Texas.

Two small children, one three and the other only one year old were playing with paper near the gas heater, it is reported, and caught fire to a window curtain. Mrs. Tollett had stepped across the street to the neighbors, it is said, and her first knowledge of the fire was when she saw the house in flames. Her first thought was of her children, and it was with difficulty that those who were at the scene of the fire convinced her that the children were safe. The three-year-old child had carried the baby out of the house to safety when the fire started. Mrs. Tollett's husband is in the service, and she and their six children are making their home here.

Coffee Flavor Good In Cake

Both batter and frosting are made with coffee in new cake recipe.

Coffee, which continues to become more popular as America's favorite hot or iced drink at all hours of the day, is one of the finest flavorings for desserts.

Here is a new, tested layer cake recipe in which coffee is the only liquid used. To make the right amount of proper strength brew for Coffee Layer Cake, use 6 tablespoons of coffee and 1 1/2 cups of water. Brew in a small-size coffee maker, if you have one.

Or, boil the water and pour over the coffee which has been placed in a warmed saucepan. Stir, let stand for three minutes and strain. This method will give the required amount of strong coffee for both cake and frosting. In either case, for full-bodied coffee flavor, use vacuum-packed coffee from a glass jar in which freshness is held intact under the resealable lid.

Coffee Layer Cake: (Makes two 8-inch layers) 2 c. cake flour, 2 1/2 t.

baking powder, 1/2 t. salt, 3/4 c. shortening, 1 c. sugar, 3 eggs, 1/2 t. vanilla, 1/2 c. cold strong coffee.

Sift flour. Measure and sift together with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually, creaming after each addition. Add well-beaten eggs. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Add dry ingredients alternately with the coffee to the creamed mixture, stirring just enough to blend thoroughly. Pour into well-greased pans and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Boiled Coffee Frosting: Combine 1 1/2 c. sugar, 1/2 c. strong coffee and 1/4 c. bottled light syrup in saucepan. Bring slowly to boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue boiling without stirring to firm ball stage (250°F.). Remove from heat. Pour over 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly until frosting stands in peaks. Add 1/4 t. salt and frost cake.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS
By Boyce House

I expect the Ranger Times was the first paper in West Texas to charter an airplane in order to "cover" a football game. The Bulldogs were playing the Steers at Big Spring; so Publisher Walter Murray, because of the publicity value of the stunt, hired a plane; and your columnist (who was then the editor, managing editor, city editor, sports editor) climbed aboard.

All went well until we sighted Big Spring and then Pilot Travis Boggs made a sharp right hand turn without taking me into his confidence and the plane tilted at such an angle and with me not strapped in that I found myself looking into the upturned faces of a telephone line crew on the highway below. I really "pulled leather" and barely escaped joining them.

When we landed, Editor Stanley Norman who was on hand to greet us, remarked: "That looked like a sharp turn to us on the ground." My reply was that I was like the negro who went for a "hop" over an airport and the pilot cut all kinds of fancy turns and then, after one particularly sweeping loop, straightened out and yelled, "I'll bet 50 per cent of those folks down there thought we were falling then." His dusky passenger answered, "Yes, suh, and 50 per cent of them up heah thought the same thing."

On the return flight, before we reached Ranger, darkness had fallen and the landing field was not equipped with lights. The pilot had arranged, however, for a pool of gasoline to be in readiness, with the airport mechanic to set a match to it when he heard the motor approaching. The blaze looked mighty comforting to me.

We made a perfect landing. Next day, the flier confessed: "That blaze was so bright it blinded me and I had to land by guess."

Anyhow, the Times had made newspaper history by chartering a plane to cover a high school game.

How's that? Oh, Ranger won. Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "If a man wants to be a success in life, he should" choose grandparents with care."

H. W. Plowman, prominent stock farmer on the Bayou visited the editor this week. While here he subscribed to the paper for another year.

NOW Ammunition of WAR!

★ Out on the Western Cattle Ranges... many an old-timer has taken to the saddle again... releasing a man to fight... and lending a hand in today's miracle of meat production, which is a "must," in spite of wartime difficulties.

To America at war... beef is more than "just something to eat"... beef is a food we must have on which to fight, on which to work, and on which to win.

From stockade to packer, The Texas and Pacific has served the cattle industry from its very beginning. We salute them, and are proud to do our part to serve, in peace, as well as in war.
