Brothers and Sisters Mrs. J. H. Lanier Sr. Have Reunion Here

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lanier Sr. last Sunday was the scene of a happy family reunion. Mrs. Lanier and her three brothers and two sisters, the first time that all members of the family had been together in thirty-five years.

There were twenty-five members of the group, coming from different sections of the United States. One member of the family, A. L. The day was spent in visiting and reminiscing about incidents that happened in the years gone and the gathering was thoroughly enjoyed. Members of the Teaff family were reared in Knox County.

Those who were in attendance at their places of residence are listed below:

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Teaff, Panama, Fla.; L. D. Teaff, Snyder, Texas; E. E. Teaff, Knox City, Texas; Nora Foster, Burlington, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cassel, Littlefield, Texas; Mrs. Mack Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Lamas; Mr. and Mrs. D. May, nephew and niece, and Mrs. E. Rule, Arnold Hudson, Rochester; and the Lanier family of Crowell.

Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Ayers.

The outlook for mung beans this year is very promising and many cooperators of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District are seeking information on how and when to harvest their beans. Soil Conservation Service technicians from the Quannah office offer the following information on harvesting mung beans.

Since all of the beans won't be ripe at the same time they should be harvested when the most of the beans are ready. At this particular time, probably some of the beans will already have been lost through shattering and some will still be green.

The cylinder of the combine should be slowed to about 150 to 200 r. p. m. and about half of the bars removed. Pickup fingers should be put on the reel or cycle bar guards to pick up beans which are laying on the ground. The cylinder spacing should be set about the same as for peas.

Yes, it's embarrassing—and it doesn't make a good impression—to be "caught short" and not have enough funds in your checking account to write the check you want to write.

Maintaining an ample balance at all times is good business practice. Then you are always prepared for any emergency which may arise or any opportunity to make a profit by having ready cash in your checking account.

It pays in many ways to keep your checking balance above what you consider the "safety level."

Austin, Tex. — Despite "go slow" warnings from top state officials, 28 or more Texas schools have announced plans for complete or partial racial integration.

Gov. Allan Shivers, in setting up a statewide advisory committee, cautioned against "hasty, ill-advised action." Earlier Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd had warned schools against "rushing headlong" into desegregation ahead of legislative action.

Though the Texas Education Agency makes no recommendations to schools, it is keeping tabs on locally-decided policies. Its file of newspaper clippings from over the state shows that about 36 schools have definite plans, either pro or con.

In numerous other districts studies are being made by bi-racial committees. Questionnaires are measuring sentiment in some areas.

Texas Citizens Councils, similar to an anti-integration organization in Mississippi, have sprung up in some East Texas areas. Dallas and Kilgore have councils pledged to "fight desegregation by every legal means."

Austin last week was the largest city with a high percentage of Negro students to plan integration this fall. It will begin in the top three grades which are 15 per cent Negro. A liberal transfer policy is expected to ease adjustment.

San Antonio, with 7.7 per cent Negro students, is the largest school system to plan immediate integration. All grades will be included here.

Other towns adopting immediate, across-the-board integration include Corpus Christi, Lubbock, San Angelo, El Paso, Crystal City, Carrizo Springs, LaFeria, Mission and Brownsville.

More popular is a partial desegregation policy, such as Austin's. It begins usually on the high school level with a staggered schedule for lower grades. Cities favoring this include San Marcos, Robstown, Bishop, Port Lavaca, Brownwood, Kerrville, Weslaco, Harlingen, Sinton, Amarillo, Kingsville, Friona, Rockport, Aransas Pass, Karnes City, Kenedy and Runge.

When it hears of a school planning to desegregate, the Education Agency writes local officials for a blueprint of the plan. These are made available to undecided school leaders who want to know how others are solving the problem.

Vaccine Shipment Expected
Arrival of 50,838 shots of Salk polio vaccine was expected by the State Health Department this week.

This is part of Texas' allotment of 1,177,069 shots in addition to the vaccine given free to first and second grade school children. Under the "voluntary control" plan adopted by the State Polio Vaccine Committee, 83 per cent will be allocated for commercial use, 17 per cent for public agencies.

This week's shipment was to come from the Wyeth Laboratories in Marietta, Pa.

Meanwhile, Health Department figures showed polio on the increase. Forty-five new cases were reported during the past week, bringing the 1955 total to 939.

Of the victims, 45 had received Salk vaccine.

Crop Prospects Improve
August predictions for 1955 Texas farm production, though improved since early summer, fell below 1954 figures.

US Department of Agriculture forecasts showed a probable cotton crop of 3.9 million bales—one per cent lower than 1954. But the prospective 278-pound yield per acre is the highest since 1866. Improved soil moisture, irrigation and new yield-increasing practices by growers are credited for the high figure.

Texas cotton acreage is nearly one million acres less than for 1954.

Widespread summer rains have upped the estimated wheat crop by more than two million bushels. In June the USDA forecast a total of 11,883,000 bushels; by August the figure was raised to 14,212,000.

Even with the improved outlook the 1955 crop will be less than half that in 1954.

High yields of hay also were foreseen as a result of showers. Sorghum, corn and peanuts were aided.

On the unfavorable side, rains

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Homemakers are sometimes puzzled over causes for improper jelling, sugar crystallization, "weeping" and cloudiness in home made jellies.

Here are some of the causes of such problems:

Sugar crystallization may be caused by an excess of sugar, insufficient acid, overcooking or delay in sealing.

"Weeping" results when the juice used is too high in acid content.

Cloudiness may be caused by imperfect straining, or by starch in under-ripe fruit—often found in apple and crab apple jelly.

Failure to form jelly is due to an improper balance of pectin, sugar and acid. This improper balance may be caused by over-delayed insect control programs and created a critical problem in cotton fields.

Book Lists Mailed

A list of 318 proposed public school textbooks has been mailed out to county and district superintendents.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education, urged they be made available for public inspection.

Petitions and suggestions will be heard by the 15-member state textbook committee between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1. Its recommendations will be drawn up Oct. 3-8.

Actual adoption will be by the commissioner and State Board of Education. Texts chosen will be for use in September, 1956.

Schools Satisfy Parents

Seven out of eight parents either are satisfied with Texas public schools or are too uninformed to have an opinion.

That conclusion was drawn from study of 16,788 "parent reactionnaires" circulated in 59 school districts by the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Survey results were announced last week in Austin by Dr. Kenneth E. McIntyre, who coordinated tabulation.

Criticism, he said, was aimed more at high schools than lower grades. Also some parents felt the schools fell short in developing "good behavior."

cooking or undercooking the jelly, by undercooking the fruit in extracting the juice, using too much water in extracting the juice or using fruit which is too ripe.

Mold or fermentation of jelly may be caused by storage in warm or damp places, failure to sterilize glasses, imperfect sealing with paraffin, or not enough sugar.

Make sure of good results in jelly making by following recommended methods. Get a copy of Extension bulletin, "Sweets for the Family Table," from my office. It gives directions and recipes for a variety of jellies, jams, preserves, conserves, marmalades and fruit butters.

Our recipe this week is for—

Watermelon Preserves
First Part—4 lbs. prepared watermelon rind, 2 tablespoons lime (calcium oxide), 2 quarts water.

Second Part — 4 quarts water (16 cups), 4 lbs. sugar (approximately 8 cups), 2 lemons thinly sliced, 4 small pieces ginger root (if desired).

Select thick watermelon rind and trim off the outer green skin and the pink flesh. Cut the rind into 1/2 or 1 inch cubes and weigh.

Combine lime and water. Add the rind to the lime water and let stand for one hour to make it crisp. Drain and place in clear water for 1 hour. Drain and boil for 1 1/2 hours in fresh water. Drain again. Boil the lemon for 5 minutes in one-half cup water. Boil remainder (15 1/2 cups) of water.

Boil with the sugar for 5 minutes to make a syrup. Add the watermelon rind and ginger root to the syrup. Boil for 1 hour. When the syrup thickens, add the lemon and the water in which it was cooked. Continue to boil until the syrup is somewhat thick and the rind is clear. Stir to prevent sticking. Fill hot sterilized jars three-fourths full with the preserved fruit. If paraffin is to be used, add enough syrup to fill the jar to 1/4 inch of the seal, label and store.

Mold or fermentation of jelly may be caused by storage in warm or damp places, failure to sterilize glasses, imperfect sealing with paraffin, or not enough sugar.

Make sure of good results in jelly making by following recommended methods. Get a copy of Extension bulletin, "Sweets for the Family Table," from my office. It gives directions and recipes for a variety of jellies, jams, preserves, conserves, marmalades and fruit butters.

Our recipe this week is for—Watermelon Preserves
First Part—1 lb. prepared watermelon rind, 2 tablespoons lime (calcium oxide), 2 quarts water.

Second Part — 4 quarts water (16 cups), 4 lbs. sugar (approximately 8 cups), 2 lemons thinly sliced, 4 small pieces ginger root (if desired).

Select thick watermelon rind and trim off the outer green skin and the pink flesh. Cut the rind into 1/2 or 1 inch cubes and weigh. Combine lime and water. Add the rind to the lime water and let stand for one hour to make it crisp. Drain and place in clear water for 1 hour. Drain and boil for 1 1/2 hours in fresh water. Drain again. Boil the lemon for 5 minutes in one-half cup water. Boil remainder (15 1/2 cups) of water, with the sugar for 5 minutes to make a syrup. Add the watermelon rind and ginger root to the syrup. Boil for 1 hour. When the syrup thickens, add the lemon and the water in which it was cooked. Continue to boil until the syrup is somewhat thick and the rind is clear. Stir to prevent sticking. Fill hot sterilized jars three-fourths full with the preserved fruit. If paraffin is to be used, add enough syrup to fill the jar to 3/4 inch of the seal, label and store.

President Urges Caution Against Excessive Optimism

On many occasions in the months preceding the summit conference of chiefs of state, President Eisenhower and other top men in the government warned against the disease of excessive optimism. In a speech made just before boarding his plane for the Geneva meeting, the President stressed still another point. He said that too much stress had been laid on details—that is, on obtaining specific agreements covering this problem or that. The big goal at the present time, he went on, should be to improve the international atmosphere to the extent that the way will be open to take steps, however slow and halting, in the direction of a permanent peace.

In his report to the nation made on his return from Geneva, the President again warned against too much optimism. But, it seems clear, he does believe that the atmosphere between the great powers is better than it was. Now, in his view, we will need "prayerful patience" and hard work if we are to "keep alive the spark ignited at Geneva."

To some the spark may seem frail. The chiefs of state reached agreement on no issue—and on the main issue, Germany unity, the deadlock between East and West was absolute. But the Soviet leaders were willing to talk about German unification, even though their terms were unacceptable to us, and to express a desire to keep on talking and bargaining in search of a solution. That, in itself, was a great change from the past.

The overall issue, of course, has not changed—it is coexistence.

All Marxist-Leninist teachings say that coexistence between communism and capitalism is but temporary, and that in the end one or the other must be destroyed and the whole world won by the victor. Stalin held to this too, for all his occasional reassuring words. These new rulers of Russia, however, profess a different attitude—a sort of "new look" in the Communist philosophy. They say, in effect, that there is no reason why the two systems cannot keep on existing together—that the world is big enough for both.

It would be the height of folly to take this at face value. It is certainly true that the Communist leaders would like nothing better than to have the free world lulled into complacency and weakness. Yet it is conceivable that they wish to avoid a major war in this age of the hydrogen bomb. And all the evidence indicates that they sorely need the most precious of all elements, time—time to solve political and economic problems which are grave trouble-spots inside the whole Communist empire.

A high note is found in the manner President Eisenhower seized the initiative at Geneva. His international prestige and influence was vastly enhanced, if European commentators are to be believed. A French newspaper said that he is the equal of Churchill as a force and a personality, which is the highest of praise. He reached a peak of drama in the proposal that a disarmament plan be based on a reciprocal inspection system, under which the Russians could freely look over all our factories and installations, taking all the pictures and notes they want, and we could do the same thing inside Russia.

Only time can tell how much or little was attained at Geneva. Meanwhile, most seem to feel that our current policy should be one that was laid down long ago by Theodore Roosevelt, in a phrase that has become a classic: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

Why Wait?

Why wait until the grand jury or a newspaper unearths a scandal? Anyone who handles public funds should be required by law to publish a full accounting of same at regular intervals.

Frankly—both the lawmakers and the public are to blame for the mishandling of public funds. Every state in the union, with few exceptions, and Texas is one of the exceptions, require that every public official who handles public funds publish a full accounting of same at stated intervals.

When the legislators fail to act, it is time for the people to act. It is time for the people to take a hand in drafting legislation, or electing men who will do so.

During the last session of the legislature there were two bills introduced by Representative Elbert Reeves of Matador, to force publication of financial statements by the Commissioners' Courts, the school districts, and by other groups handling public monies.

Why weren't these bills passed? That's what the people would like to know. We think the people should ask their elected representatives just why these bills were not passed.

Any state failing to pass such legislation is just as guilty as the public official who betrays the confidence of the people who elected him.

Theft of public funds is not uncommon in such states where financial reports are not required. And this condition will continue until such time as the people demand of their elected representatives that laws be passed that remove such temptations, by requiring published reports of all receipts and disbursements by all officials entrusted with the collection and distribution of public money.

Really Something

You may never have seen a drop of crude oil. But your family uses 43 barrels of oil a year (each equaling 42 U. S. gallons) in one or another of its 2,000 different forms.

To use the common slang phrase, the job of supplying that oil is really something. First of all, 13,500 companies are engaged in searching for it in the ground. When promising areas are discovered, test wells are drilled. One may cost as much as $1,000,000 or more—and only one out of nine wells drilled in approved territory strikes oil and only one in 44 produces it in commercial quantities.

From the producing well, the crude goes to one of the nation's 340-odd refineries. It travels by barge, tankship or pipeline. These refineries are forever trying to improve the quality and to reduce the cost. Their degree of success is indicated by the fact that two gallons of today's gasoline does the work that requires three gallons in 1925. Yet the price of the gas—exclusive of taxes over which the industry has no control—is very little more than it was 20 years ago.

Finished with the refinery, oil

Products start their travels once more, to all parts of the country. Some 2,400 separate companies engage in the business of moving the staggering total of about a third of a billion gallons across the nation every day.

Finally, the oil products reach the market. They are offered to you by some 200,000 service stations, and by other thousands of retail establishments of all kinds. Yes, getting oil products to you is some job. And the reason it's done so superbly well can be expressed in one word—competition. Competition keeps the oil people on their toes every inch of the way from the oil well to the final seller.

25,000 Office Workers Suffer Disabling Injuries Each Year

About 25,000 office workers suffer disabling injuries each year, according to the 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, just off the press. Non-disabling injuries probably run to hundreds of thousands.

However, the injury rate for office workers is not high. Among nearly 200 separate work classifications, injury rates for office workers are among the lowest.

The Council said the injury total is large because there are so many office workers—about 8 million.

All Over State SEASON FOR FAIRS AT HAND IN TEXAS

In many a city and town of Texas today, community leaders are making plans for an important annual event which many folks have been eagerly looking forward to all year. During the next several months it will be fair-time throughout Texas—with county regional fairs and festivals taking place in every section of the state.

The culminating event being the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 7-23. Texas possibly has a bigger percentage of large, widely patronized fairs than any other state. Several of Texas' big regional fairs attract more visitors and have more impressive fairgrounds than state fairs in some other sections of the nation.

The State Fair of Texas is, of course, the largest annual fair in the United States in terms of attendance, with over 2½ million visitors from all parts of America, and a magnificent fairgrounds with facilities valued at $35 million.

As with most fairs the country over, Texas events carry a heavy emphasis on livestock and agriculture. Entertainment naturally covers a wide range, from carnival sideshows, rodeos, folk festivals to the Broadway musical comedy "Pajama Game" which will be presented at the State Fair. Competition in making jams and jellies, succulent cakes and pies and other examples of traditional homemaking skills still occupies a big place in the program of most Texas fairs.

Fairs in Texas date back over 100 years. The first fair to be held in the state may well have been one in Corpus Christi in 1852, which featured bullfights, a circus, cockfights and fireworks. During the same decade Dallas County became the first county in the state to organize a fair. The State Fair was founded in 1886.

A good fair regardless of size can be a valuable asset to its community, in the opinion of James H. Stewart, general manager of the State Fair and vice president of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Texas' Hospital Construction to Be Planned in 30 Days

Austin—Texas' program of constructing hospitals and related facilities for fiscal year 1955-56 will be developed within the next thirty days, or as soon thereafter as approval of the revised state plan is received from the U. S. Public Health Service, the State Health Department said today. The Department said heads of political subdivisions and non-profit organizations interested in participating in the construction program should indicate prior to September 8, their intention to submit applications for financial assistance in meeting construction costs.

The Department is the state agency responsible for administering the federal Hill-Burton Hospital Survey and Construction Act in Texas. The program is entering its ninth year of operation in this state. Inquiries regarding more detailed information are invited, the Department said. They should be addressed to the Commissioner of Health, State Department of Health, Austin.

JUNCTION

The farmer had a new hired hand. Thinking to start him on an easy task, he took him to the shed and asked him to sort potatoes. He gave him two baskets and said, "Just put the little potatoes in this basket, and the big ones in the other." That looked simple and the man went to work.

About the middle of the morning the farmer looked up and saw the new man approaching him, evidently distressed. The hired hand called out, "I'm through, I'm quitting." "Well," the farmer answered, "that wasn't hard work—I'm surprised at this." "No," replied the other, "it wasn't hard work; it was making the decisions that wore me out."

Have you ever considered how many crossroads you come to in just one day? About the children, at the store, on the phone, you must constantly choose between two or more possible plans.

Most of these decisions are not too important. Whether you take your umbrella or not, whether you choose to read a book or mow the lawn (better read the book, men; your wife may mow the lawn), or which tie to wear can hardly be called great decisions.

There are some, however, that are vital. There is one junction where every man arrives and he cannot turn aside from it. This is one man's experience . . . Joshua said to Israel, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." Another will guide you; shall it be Jesus Christ or the enemy of your soul? I solemnly invite you to respond as did Joshua, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Joshua 24:15).

Number of American Workers Killed on Job Shows Decrease

Although the number of American workers has increased nearly 50 per cent since the depression year of 1933, the number of workers killed on the job has gone down.

According to the 1955 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," just off the press, there were 14,000 workers killed on the job in 1954. In 1933, with a much smaller work force, the number was 14,500.

The Council noted that 1954 was the eighth consecutive year in which the accident frequency rate of its industrial members has been reduced.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dixon and two daughters, Sally Jean and Linda Starr, returned home Tuesday from a vacation trip to the Grand Canyon in Arizona, Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., Salt Lake City, Utah, and other places of interest en route. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dixon's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tallant, and two sons of Davis, Okla.

Ether was first used as an anesthetic in 1842.

During the Civil War, the Confederate Army used Texas Longhorn Cavern, near Burnet, as an arsenal to manufacture and store gunpowder. The explosive was made from the guano of bats which inhabit the vast cave.

EXPECT HEAVY MARK

Livestock observers are looking for heavy marketing of cattle this month. Recent rains, worth while to the ranch country, delay movement of some of the animals if farmers and range men get more grazing from the rains.

Reports from over Texas indicate that crossbred heifers are being used in more and more numbers for breeding with Hereford Angus bulls for a heavy calf crop.

Texas is one of the largest feeder calf states, animals from the state showing up in the big markets all over the midwest.

The Hatfield, Pa. Times, tells the story of a busy waitress who served two patrons banana splits heaped high with ice cream. "But, alas," says the Times, "when they got to the bottom, she had forgotten the bananas!"

They'll wind up by 1959 and have some information which is badly needed to work out a long-time system of farming for this huge problem area.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

Packers again showed little liking for the fat cows at Fort Worth Monday, but boning types of cattle were strong, including canner and cutter cows. Bulls held steady. Slaughter calves and stocker and feeder cattle and calves ruled steady.

Comparative prices: medium to good slaughter steers and yearlings $16-20; choice quotable to $22-23. Commoner kinds $10-15. Fat cows $10.50-12; canners and cutters $7-10.50; bulls $10-13.75; slaughter calves good and choice, $16-19; common and medium $12-15; culls, $9-11. Stocker steer calves $20.50 down; steer yearlings $18.50 down; stocker cows $8-11.

Bumper crops of feed being produced in most sections of the country portend heavy livestock feeding operations in the next few months. Concentration will be on hogs and cattle, with heavy poultry operations likely also.

USDA officials in Washington are reported highly concerned over the whole price support program. Seems that last year only about 35 per cent of the corn crop went into the program. About the same figure appears destined to be sealed this year.

They say that at least 45 to 50 per cent should be in the program, or it cannot work. It is a case of the tail trying to wag the dog when such a small per cent of the producers cooperate in the loan her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Self, while her parents are on a vacation trip.

and support program.

Situation is aggravated by huge barley, oats, grain sorghum crops. Soy beans in excessive supply, the last estimate on cotton indicated more protein there than anticipated.

Professional feeders, who buy everything, are expected to slow operations if the situation remains the same. However, farmers with fed stuffs are expected to market it as meat or poultry.

Corn Belt reports oats selling at 50c, and predicts $1 or cheaper corn in liberal supply. Grain sorghums are now selling around $1.50, may go lower. We heard about 500 tons laid down near Fort Worth at $1.02 1/2 this week.

Demand for feeders should be tremendous as Fall progresses.

Top hogs scored $17.50 at Fort Worth Monday. This was 50c higher despite pressure on swine prices reported at northern markets. Good and choice butchers sold for $17.25-17.50, sows drew $12 to $15. Underweight hogs failed to share the better market and closed $1 or more off.

Good and choice fat Spring lambs topped at $18 to $19.50 at Fort Worth Monday. Medium and lower grades sold around $12 to $17. Feeder lambs cashed at $13 to $15.50, strong to 50c higher. Old ewes sold for $4 to $5.50; old wethers drew $7 to $12. Fat yearlings cashed at $14 to $16, lower grades $8 to $13. Old bucks sold around $4 to $4.50. Breeding ewes scarce and in very strong demand.

9 Foreign Countries to Have Exhibits at State Fair of Texas

Nine foreign countries will exhibit at the 1955 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-23, imparting a world's fair spirit to America's largest annual exposition.

The nations which have reserved space in the fair's new International Center are Japan, Belgium, India, Egypt, Sweden, France, Great Britain, Finland and the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany). Fair General Manager James H. Stewart has announced.

Many of the foreign governments are making elaborate plans for their exhibits. Products for which their countries are best known will form the nucleus of most of the exhibits.

For example, Sweden plans to display business machines, sewing machines, high-powered rifles, hand tools, clocks, and gift items made of glass, copper, brass and ceramics.

Belgium will show a wide variety of goods ranging from delicate table crystal and kitchenware to electric motors and barbed wire. Japan will feature its new precision-made cameras and India will concentrate on textiles.

One entire end of the General Exhibits Building, second largest on the fairgrounds, is being completely redecorated to house the international center.

Adjacent to the governmental exhibits in the International Center will be a series of model rooms decorated with furnishings and art objects collected on a world-wide shopping tour by William Parker McFadden, who designed the rooms to illustrate how Texans can be "at home with the world."

The nine foreign exhibits will be more than any other state fair in America has ever had before. In 1949, Great Britain, Belgium and the Philippines had exhibits at the State Fair of Texas, first

Texas Tech's Red Raiders to Face Tough Football Schedule

Lubbock — Texas Tech' Red Raiders open with two Southwest Conference foes in facing probably their toughest schedule in history this fall.

University of Texas, whose Longhorns have never lost an opener in Memorial Stadium, will be the Raiders' opponent in Austin Sept. 17, a night game. Just a week later, Sept. 24, DeWitt Weaver's Raiders must play dark-horse Texas Christian University in Lubbock.

No brothers are to be found on the card. Two terrific obstacles to the Raiders' winning their 11th Border Conference championship in 17 tries will be the best Texas Western and University of Arizona teams in those schools' histories.

Besides Texas and TCU, the Raiders' non-conference slate includes tough Oklahoma A&M, rebuilding Tulsa and Houston, and College of the Pacific, best independent on the Pacific Coast.

Conference games are with Texas Western, West Texas, Arizona, COP, and Hardin-Simmons. In Tech's own Jones Stadium the Raiders face TCU, West Texas State, Arizona (homecoming), College of the Pacific, and Hardin-Simmons. To see these five games, a record breaking number of fans, 7,000, are buying season tickets.

Jimmie Wilson, business manager representation at any U. S. state fair. Last year, Great Britain and Finland were represented.

Japan will be represented with two exhibits at the 1955 fair. In addition to the government-sponsored exhibit in the International Center, there will be a display in the Women's Building sponsored by the Japan Trade Center.
