CROWELL SCHOOL BUILDING NOT YET IN SIGHT

ATTORNEY GENERAL POINTS OUT DEFECTS OF LEGISLATIVE ACTION

According to a letter received from the Attorney General's Department Crowell is no nearer a school building than it was when the first move was made for consolidation of three adjoining districts, and the whole matter is to be done over. This is clearly pointed out in a letter from C. A. Wheeler, assistant attorney general, to Judge Jesse Owens under date of October 25th in which he says:

"Since passing upon the record for consolidation and the issuance of bonds by the consolidated district I have been furnished with a certified copy of House Bill No. 365, entitled an act creating and establishing Crowell Independent School District in Foard County, passed by the recent called session of the Legislature. This bill undertakes to create the Crowell Consolidated Independent School District in Foard County and seeks to validate the former consolidation proceedings and to validate the bonds issued by the consolidated school district.

"The bill, however, is defective in that it does not include within the district created by the Legislature all of the territory which was attempted to be consolidated by the election and does not include all of the territory upon which the bonds sought to be validated were attempted to be voted. Therefore, the attempted validation of the district as undertaken to be formed in the consolidation by election is of no effect because it does not include one of the common school districts which was sought to be included in the election proceedings. The bonds having been attempted to be authorized by the entire territory could not be validated and made a legal charge against a portion of the territory. I am unable to approve the record for the issuance of bonds or to approve the printed bonds.

"Of course the Crowell Independent School District as created by the recent act of the Legislature may hold an election and issue bonds upon the territory included in the district created by the Legislature, but if it is desired to issue bonds against the territory sought to be included in the consolidated by the election, then I know nothing that the district can do unless it desires to either wait for the next Legislature to straighten the matter out or to go through the election proceedings again."

We are printing these paragraphs from this letter that our people may know just where the Crowell school is at this time, which seems to be just where it was before any effort was made towards consolidation. That is all there is to the matter and it is up to us to go after consolidation again. The matter of time is the biggest thing in it and the school board wants to do that which will hasten matters as rapidly as possible, and since it will require about 90 days or more to go through with the election again, the board thinks the quickest way out now is to wait until the Legislature meets in January 1927, which is only two months off, and have the district created by legislative act, and then vote bonds and go ahead with the matter. That seems to be the plan that will bring desired results most quickly.

So if that is the case we may not expect further progress for at least two months. And even then some time must be allowed at best for getting the matter through the Legislature.

We are sure that further patience upon the part of the patrons and the pupils of the school is craved by the board and nobody regrets more than they the unavoidable delay in getting the building. The way to work it out seems to be clear and it will be done.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS

Baxter Johnson shipped out fourteen cars of cows Sunday night which he had sold to Cas Paris Brothers of Oteo, Okla.

Herring-Johnson also shipped to Fort Worth Monday 3 cars of fat cattle to be slaughtered.

Shirley & Offield shipped in from New Mexico fourteen cars of cattle which they had purchased to be put on the grass here.

Rev. McDonald Is Preaching Practical Sermons in Revival

Rev. E. C. McDonald, who is conducting a ten days' revival at the Baptist church, has been preaching some very practical sermons, and the splendid crowds attending the services is evidence of much interest.

One among the most practical discourses we have heard was that of Tuesday evening in which the preacher discussed the mistakes of a business man, the basis of the discourse being that which tells of Lot's experience in the wicked city of Gomorrah.

It was pointed out that Lot made three grave mistakes, the first being that his choice of business was based on a pecuniary basis rather than the well being and happiness of his family. Lot lost his equilibrium and forgot his family. Their morals and religion were made secondary. The preacher pointed out how easy it is for the young man starting out in life to make that mistake. So far as business goes Lot was a success, but he failed in the foremost things of life. He who makes business first is headed for failure. The speaker said he who makes money is responsible not only for making it but how he spends it. Wealth, according to the speaker, is not the greatest thing in the world. It is supposed to help create happiness but does not always do it, never when it is the chief dependence of its possessor.

The second great mistake of Lot was that he drifted with the current without warning or protest. It would have been better had he thrown himself against the wickedness of the city, and if his influence had failed to effect a tendency towards reform, to have moved out. In that day, as now, men were needed who could go up stream.

The third mistake Lot made was that he left the religious training of his family to other people. The child needs the steady hand of a wise, courageous God-fearing father to guide it in right paths. Here is a lesson for the father who thinks more of the Sunday morning paper than of the Sunday School training of his boy.

The results, as in the case of Lot, are the loss of accumulations and the loss of family.

Ginners' Report of Cotton Little Above a Year Ago

According to the Government report of cotton ginned in Foard County we are just a little above that of a year ago.

The report shows that up to October 18th there had been 3,287 bales ginned, as against 3,212 a year ago, or only 75 bales more this year.

CROWELL GIRL TAKING LINOTYPE COURSE AT C. I. A.

Denton, Texas, Nov. 1.—Miss Loretta Kincaid of Crowell, a junior at the College of Industrial Arts, is a member of the Martix Club, composed of students in linotyping.

A four year course is offered at C. I. A., the students using as practice copy all news stories designed for use in the Lass-O, student weekly newspaper. The entire process of editing and printing the paper is carried out by students on the C. I. A. campus.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS

There are only two patients at the hospital at this time. Little Joan, 3 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Solomon, of Thalia happened to an accident Friday of last week while playing on an upturned pot when she slipped and fell, ramming one of the pot legs into her body. Her intestines were pierced and an operation was necessary. She is recovering.

Fred Halencek underwent an operation Monday and is reported as improving very satisfactorily.

We have too much cotton—also too much silk, judging from the expanse of it we see on the streets nowadays.

Mechanical wings for human beings have been invented but will not be needed by the high fliers.

We would hate to be rich enough to have our daughter want to run away and marry the chauffeur.

Valuations Show Slight Decrease From Last Year

The 1926 rolls have been completed and were approved by the commissioners court last week. According to the rolls there is a decrease in the county's valuations of a little more than $65,000 from last year. The rolls of 1925 showed valuations amounting to $5,077,594, while the rolls for 1926 show valuations amounting to $5,012,104. This includes all real estate and personal property.

INTEREST IN POULTRY SHOW IS INCREASING

COUNTY AGENT SAYS FOARD COUNTY POULTRY WINS IN STATE FAIR

The following interesting article in submitted for publication by our county agent and is one of special interest at this time when the price of cotton is hurting the farmers so much. It will be worth your time to read this and take note of the food formula which he gives as one of the best for egg production. The article follows:

From the interest that is being given to the poultry show at this time it looks as though we are going to have an excellent showing. The feed crops, high priced eggs and fair priced turkeys should be encouraging to the farmers and poultrymen of the county. Walter Burton has been engaged to judge the poultry show. Mr. Burton is an A. P. A. Judge and is also a successful poultryman. It was the wish of some of the breeders of this county and also the suggestion of Mr. Burton that the show be held on December 30th and 31st and Jan. 1st, 1927, on account of this being near mating time and it will give everyone an opportunity to get some information on mating their chickens and also to secure some new stock.

Culling out of the undesirable birds and bringing in new stock and breeding up the flocks have resulted in Foard County having some of the best birds in the state. This has been proven at every fair or poultry show where the breeders of this county have exhibited. In two of the biggest fairs of the state this fall Foard County chickens have been among the winners.

There are farmers in this county that are paying their grocery bills and some to spare from the chickens and eggs that they sell each week. A good flock of chickens with good care will be the best paying investment on any farm, and a poor flock of chickens properly cared for and culled will soon develop into a paying flock.

Here is a laying mash that is being fed to the flocks in the Texas National Eggs laying contest that is being conducted at College Station under supervision of the Poultry Department of the A. & M. College.

100 pounds of bran.
100 pounds of shorts.
100 lbs. of ground corn (or maize)
100 pounds of ground oats.
100 pounds of meat scraps.
2 pounds of salt.

This mixture should be kept before the hens at all times. If the birds have all the milk that they can drink the meat scraps can be cut to 50 pounds. They also need oyster shells, green feed and should be fed a grain scratch feed. Cotton seed meal is used successfully in place of meat scraps in the spring and summer months, but is not so good in fall and winter.

A good warm dry house free from bugs will also help the egg production.

At the risk of falling from grace on our determination to stay off the subject of pretty girls, in the interest of giving the news completely and impartially, it will be necessary, as well as a pleasure, to tell about a new addition to Seymour's population in the person of Miss Texia Glover of Crowell, who is now stenographer for Hon. Joe A. Wheat. Miss Glover is directly from Wichita Falls, where she finished her training in Draughton's.—Baylor County Banner.

Death Follows Operation at Mayo Bros. Institute

A message was received the first of the week by J. H. Lanier that J. W. Ellis had undergone an operation for brain tumor at Mayo Bros., Rochester, Minn., on Monday and that he was in a serious condition. Another message came Wednesday afternoon that was gradually sinking and then about 9:30 the final message came that he had died. The message did not state at what hour he died Wednesday but it was some time late in the day.

Mr. Ellis had spent several weeks at Mayo Bros. in the summer and returned for a short time to Crowell and a little more than a week ago returned to Mayos for examination of his physical condition to determine the advisability of an operation. He had suffered for several years from a brain tumor and he was told by the physicians that total blindness was a question of only a short while and that he could not expect to live but a few years. At the same time they told him there was a slim chance for him in undergoing an operation and recover his health and his vision. Mr. Ellis took that chance but did not survive. He lived from Monday until Wednesday but it is not known whether or not he regained consciousness after the operation.

Mr. Lanier advised preparation of the body for shipment to Knox City for interment, as Mr. Ellis had requested that his body be laid to rest in the lot occupied by Mr. Lanier's father at Knox City. It is expected that the body will arrive today or tomorrow.

Mr. Ellis had been associated in a business way here with J. H. Lanier for several years and had many friends here who were anxious to see him regain his health. He was about 45 years of age and was unmarried.

Crowell Football Team Defeats Paducah 18-7

In the hardest fought battle of the season, Coach Morris' little squad won its first interscholastic league game here Friday.

The Paducah squad fought hard to win. They came to win and it seemed as if they would not be disappointed. The Paducah backs broke through the line for heavy gains during the first half and always the Crowell goal line was in danger.

Crowell's offensive took a change in the third quarter, an off tackle run and a long pass to Norman placed the ball in scoring territory which was bucked across by Ashford. The third quarter held many thrills for the spectators, one in which Burrow heaved a long pass to Norman, who drew it easily from the air and sprinted twenty yards for a touch down. Another was when J. B. Crump, Paducah's half-back caught a pass and sprinted to the goal line. This was the first touchdown made by opposing teams on Crowell's ground in two years.

Crowell goes to Chillicothe Friday and will appreciate the support of all who wish to go. The Crowell team is trying hard to put Crowell on the map and if the business men of Crowell will wake up and lend a helping hand the team shall not be disappointed in their effort.

Friendship Shown New Proposed Road

It is said that the proposed Ardmore, Vernon & Lubbock railroad has received the approval of the M. K. & T. whose line the new road will cross at Ardmore, Oklahoma. This information has been received in response to a questionnaire sent out by officials of the proposed road. The Orient will be crossed at or near Crowell. The Quanah, Acme & Pacific has filed protest but the Denver and other interested lines have made no announcement, according to information now at hand.

Mad Cat Attacks Cotton Picker at Chalk Last Week

Tuesday of last week as T. C. Stinson, aged nine years, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stinson of Chalk, was working in the field, picking cotton, a mad cat attacked him, biting his left hand in several places. The child was unaware of the presence of the animal in the field until it made a leap for him. He fought it off as best he could, but not before he was bitten by the cat.

The next day W. T. Stinson found and killed the animal, and packed the head in ice, and sent it to the laboratory at Wichita Falls for examination. It was given a thorough examination and the institution wired Mr. Stinson's local physician that the cat had hydrophobia, and that the serum for the treatment of the malady was being sent out at once.

It will be necessary for the young boy to take twenty-one of these shots, and he is brought to town every morning and given one. This remedy is a proven, sure shot for rabies, and the authorities at the laboratory at Wichita Falls told the doctor here that he could administer the serum with as much effect as they could be given at the Pasteur Institute at Austin. Mr. Stinson first thought that it would be necessary to take his son there, but was informed that this would not be necessary, as the treatment could be administered at home.

It was not known that there had been a mad dog or cat in the Chalk neighborhood for several months. The cat in question had been around the home of one of the citizens of Chalk for several weeks, but there did not appear to be anything the matter with it.

The incident caused quite a bit of excitement in the Chalk neighborhood, and the folks are keeping their eyes wide open when any cat comes around.—Paducah Post.

Farmers Gin Has Fire Wednesday

A flame of fire suddenly broke out in one of the gin stands at the Farmers' Gin Wednesday afternoon and the fire department was called, but the gin crew had the fire under control when the fire engine arrived and only the chemical engine was used to finish extinguishing the flames.

Some of the cotton went into the packer with fire and was discovered after the flame at the stands had been put out. About half a bale had been pressed into the packer and several handfuls were found with sparks in them when the cotton was dug into.

The explanation given as the cause of the fire is that of matches. It was reported that matches were found in the cotton and in all probability they got into the bale when it was picked in the field.

The only damage done was that caused in the loss of a little cotton.

Will Spend Few Weeks in Valley

Mrs. Agnes E. McLaughlin has been planning for some time to make a visit to the Rio Grande Valley this fall and spend several weeks there in the hope that her health might be benefited by the change. Thursday of this week she left for Mission where she will be located for about six weeks.

Mrs. McLaughlin has arranged her work here so that she can spend that time resting. She has a five acre tract of land three miles from Mission which has been set to trees. These are a year old and all have lived but about a half dozen and they are said to be very thrifty and give promise of early bearing. While she is there she will make investigation of building costs with the view of erecting a home some time in the future.

Before she left Mrs. McLaughlin promised to send us a communication while she is in the valley giving her impression as to the country and its future. News readers will be pleased to hear from her and we shall look forward with interest to the time when she will favor us with a communication.

The sad thing about trying to be cheerful all the time is that you run out of things to be cheerful about.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO PAVE LEE HIGHWAY

PLAN IS TO VOTE BONDS IN ALL COUNTIES AT SAME TIME

Paving of Lee Highway through Texas is receiving strong advocacy in a number of the counties west of here, according to local newspaper reports, as well as statements made by R. P. Johnson, son of Dr. S. M. Johnson, promoter of Lee Highway, who was in Crowell for a short time last Saturday on his way to Plainview.

Plainview had apparently become apathetic over the matter of pushing the highway until a highway meeting was held in that city on Oct. 15, when suddenly those people awakened to the importance of the Lee Highway and they are now doing all they can to get the road paved. High interest is manifested in Floyd County, judging from a report of a meeting of the business men of that city.

While Mr. Johnson was here last Saturday he met a few of our citizens and discussed the matter of paving the highway across the county and said that the enthusiasm manifested by several of the counties west of us looks very much like something is going to be done, and he, with many others, thinks a bond election put over in all nine of the Texas counties on the same day through which Lee Highway runs would be the biggest advertisement the highway could possibly receive, that such thing would attract to the county national attention that would result in a flood of tourists and investors such as has never been dreamed of.

Mr. Johnson says we are receiving small benefits from Lee Highway simply because tourists are diverted from Lee Highway east of here because of better roads and pass over the Bankhead through Central Texas. With Lee Highway hard surfaced this would not be the case but tourists would continue over Lee Highway.

We asked Mr. Johnson if he could give us an example of where paved roads had proven a source of financial profit to the county or state which had built them and among those named was North Carolina, one of the poor Southern States. North Carolina built a system of highways at a cost of $90,000,000 in bonds and within six years had realized profits sufficient to return the bonds. North Carolina today is the strongest advocate of concrete highways and carries the slogan "Millions for concrete roads but not a dime for dirt."

We believe Foard and all the other counties through which Lee Highway passes can well afford to consider seriously the matter of paving and that at a date not far in the future. Automobile traffic is multiplying rapidly and hard surfaced roads are being built and it is over those that the bulk of the traffic is going.

NEIGHBORING POULTRY SHOW DATES ARE SET

Hardeman County, Childress County and Wilbarger County are planning poultry shows during the month of December. Wilbarger County has placed its dates on December 13, 14 and 15, Childress 16, 17 and 18, Hardeman December 21, 22 and 23. Let everybody put their birds in shape and go over to the other places and take their prizes, then come home and show at Crowell on December 30, 31 and January 1st. Let everybody make preparations now to have a good show.

FORM PARTNERSHIP

A partnership was formed last week when Dee Roberts bought a half interest in the insurance business of Leo Spencer. Mr. Spencer has been operating an insurance business for a number of years in connection with other business interests and has built up a good patronage. Mr. Roberts is also an experienced insurance man and will give his personal attention to all insurance business handled by the new firm. They expect to open an office in the near future.

THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Crowell, Texas, November 5, 1926

Of course the country is hurt to some extent on account of the low price of cotton, but much of the hurt is imaginary. That is, speaking of the country as a whole. There was a time when cotton constituted such a large per cent of the South's resources that a slump in prices, such as we have experienced, would almost ruin the country but that is not the case so much now. In the South there are more manufacturing, more mineral developments and more diversification in crops than ever and cotton today is a small per cent of its income. Even in West Texas this is true, excepting manufacturing. There is lots of money in the country, as is evidenced by the fact that heavy buying has been witnessed recently in merchandise, not automobiles, but the actual necessities of life. Everybody will feel the effect of the low prices, but this will be temporary and in all probability it will prove a benefit in the long run. That does not mean that we are glad the price of cotton is low, on the contrary we wish it might bring 30 cents a pound, but it is contrary to reason to expect it to sell that way under the circumstances, and since there are circumstances that prevent it, we wish that conditions might be forced by any right means that would free the country from dependence upon a crop the production and marketing of which is so uncertain as cotton. Everybody is agreed, it seems, that the control of the price must begin with production.

There are few, if any, knockers in Crowell, but boosters are not as active as they might be. If there is any criticism to be passed on our citizens at this point it is the fact that they do not make the opportunity as they might to boost the town and country. It helps wonderfully for every one to boost. A few can not do it all. Then, it is a mighty good plan for one to back up his boosting by action and he can do that by patronizing the home enterprises. The first step in knocking is usually taken by going out or sending out of town for the things one can buy at home.

Generally speaking our people are about up on carnivals and we believe sentiment favors the discontinuance of that class of amusement hereafter from our midst. It would be a wise thing for Crowell to put the fair association out of debt, if by no other means, by donation, and then put a peg down and start in the new with this one decision that no carnival shall ever get inside the city again. It does not require close observation to see that such carnivals as Crowell has had is not much more than roaming gambling institutions.

The automobile has well nigh eliminated distance and brought town and country together and now they are practically one and the same, so far as advantages go. That would be complete with a system of hard-surfaced roads all over the country. It is a possible achievement and not only possible but altogether probable within the next decade. With each succeeding year the demand grows for roads that are passable 365 days in the year. The only kind that will meet that demand are hard-surfaced roads.

It looks like a little thing to drop a match in a wagon load of cotton. It is, but when that match goes through the gin and sets cotton on fire and maybe burns the gin and causes thousands of dollars loss it isn't so small. Cigarette smokers ought by all means keep their matches confined so that they would never be turned loose in a load of cotton. It is very dangerous and no doubt causes much loss of property. It is carelessness pure and simple.

The little rain Thursday morning, while not needed, will do little more harm than delay cotton picking for a short while. Wheat is looking as fine as it ever did at this time of year and practically all the acreage to be sown to wheat has already been seeded.

Judging from reports from the various voting boxes in the county the election Tuesday was a thing of little interest in this county. A rough estimate is that not more than 50 per cent of the voters went to the polls. Possibly not that great a per cent.

BEST BY TEST GROCERIES

The housewife who markets knows that every time her groceries are placed on the scales, they register full weight in quality and satisfaction.

The prices we quote are Not Specials—they are our everyday prices for every day in the week.

Compare your bills, price for price, quality for quality, (especially quality) and you will be agreeably surprised at the slight difference between our prices and those of the no-service stores—and besides we buy all kinds of country produce.

Our egg price is always interesting—call us* before selling.

OIL STOVE EXPLODES

An oil cook stove sprung a leak near one of the burners at the home of L. S. Byrd Tuesday morning and was soon a mass of flames. Mrs. Byrd called the fire department and in the meantime grabbed the oil tank and threw it out of the kitchen. Quick work was done by the fire department and the burning stove was soon out of the building and no other damage done.

The Byrd family lives in the Dunn building west of the business section on California Street.

 Adolphian Club
 Miss Inez Sloan was hostess to the Adolphian Club at a regular meeting Wednesday, October 27.
 The lesson for the afternoon concluded the study of Browning's Pippa Passes. In the evening of her holiday Pippa's singing saves a young patriot from arrest and sends him on a mission to which his life and honor were pledged. When night came on, evil forces which were working towards Pippa's own destruction were thwarted by the effect of another song she was singing on her return home. Pippa, all unconscious of the results of her singing, returns home tired after her holiday, and disappointed because she has been unable to help those whom she desired to serve. The drama closes with Pippa voicing the theme of the play in the words of her hymn.

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

To be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and aching. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

REAL BARGAINS

If you would know the real bargains we are offering in Merchandise you must come and take advantage of the prices we are making to the public. And when you come you will find that many are daily taking advantage of this opportunity to purchase their winter needs.

We can not tell you about all the wonderful bargains we have. You must come and see for yourself. They are going fast but there are hundreds just as good as those that have been sold.

Let us insist that you do not let this opportunity pass, for you are not assured of its return soon, if at all.

EDUCATING PEDESTRIANS

Pedestrians are involved in two-thirds of all traffic accidents resulting in personal injury or death, according to the committee on causes of accidents, in a report to the second national conference on street and highway safety. Fatal collisions of automobiles with pedestrians seem to be increasing more rapidly than the total number of fatal automobile accidents. This, according to the committee, indicates that drivers have been making progress in learning what to expect from other drivers and how to keep out of collisions, but that no such improvement has been made in meeting the dangers when drivers and pedestrians confront each other.

This raises the question of whether the education and regulation of pedestrians, as well as of drivers, should not be given greater attention than at present.

Incompetence as a cause of automobile fatalities could be greatly reduced by development of more thorough and rigid examinations for drivers' licenses. Incompetence to operate an automobile safely may consist of: ignorance of regulations and customs; insufficient strength, quickness or skill in controlling a motor vehicle; serious defect of sight and hearing; defective intelligence; temperamental or emotional inability to do the right thing in a sudden emergency.

The committee is of the opinion that the great majority of operators are safe and competent drivers and that most accidents are due to a small proportion of all motorists. It therefore recommends that those who repeatedly become involved in accidents should be given special examinations. Such a study would go to the root of much of the evil and would probably be the most rewarding of all the ways to obtain an understanding of the underlying causes of accidents. It should lead directly to the means of reducing accidents most effectively.

Missionary Society
Mesdames Mayhew, Wright and Clark were hostesses to the Missionary Society in their social meeting for September. Several who were on the program could not be with us on account of the rain, but several came and enjoyed being together and studying.
At the business meeting the first of October we were delighted to have with us Mrs. Rollins and Mrs. Frank Potts. These consecrated women are giving their time and means in forwarding the work of the Scarrit Bible and Training School, especially the building of the Belle Bennett Memorial, which when finished will help so much in the training of our missionaries. Our society and friends paid $100.00 to place Miss Christine Allen's name on the tablet to be placed in this building.
On Monday, October 25th, Mesdames Brown, Allen and Ringgold, entertained the society at the home of Mrs. Ringgold. An interesting program was carried out with Mrs. Joe Johnson as leader. November 1st we were in a business session at the church. The reports from officers were encouraging. We feel that our past year's work has been a successful one in most all lines. Our women have been drawn closer together and to our Lord by their association together. Our financial obligations are being taken care of as they come due. Our sale last Saturday will almost finish paying our pledge to the church debt for this year. We wish to thank every one who has helped to bring this to pass. Without the co-operation of members of our church and the business men of the town we could not have done all that we did in so short a time.—Supt. Publicity.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

An enumeration of the reasons for advertising has recently been given out. There are eight reasons advanced, but there are many others, of course. However, here are eight that are very splendid and highly convincing.

Newspaper reading is a universal daily habit; newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches each day virtually all who buy.

Newspaper advertising is the life blood of local trade because it touches all consumer sources in every community. It gives the national advertiser the same opportunity for complete consumer appeal in any locality.

Newspaper advertising cuts selling costs because it entails no waste in locality of circulation. Manufacturers use it to cover markets where it is profitable to do business.

Newspaper advertising insures quick, thorough and economical dealer distribution and dealer good will, because retailers are willing to sell products advertised direct to consumers.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to tell where their products may be bought.

Newspaper advertising can be started or stopped over night, can be prepared between days to meet certain developments and to obtain immediate results.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to check advertising results and costs in every market which they enter.

Newspaper advertising costs less than any other kind.

The merchant or other business man who is not taking advantage of the opportunities offered by newspaper advertising to boost his business now will still be facing readjustment problems when his competitor is back on a normal business plane.

Christian Church Notes

Next Sunday November 7th, is our regular preaching day. The pastor's subject at the 11 a. m. hour will be "What all Christians should know about stewardship and tithing." The subject at 7:30 p. m. will be "A Quartet of Fools." We hope for a good attendance at both services. Come, we are expecting you.

Feed for Hogs Is Discussed by County Agent

(By County Agent)
At the Dallas Fair the Swine Division of the Experiment Station had several exhibits showing the results of feeding different rations. Some of these feeding experiments dealt with cotton seed meal. One of the rations was:

Ground milo maize	75 parts
Wheat shorts	10 parts
Prime cotton seed meal	15 parts

Total 100 parts
To this mixture was added 1 1/2 pounds of air slacked lime or bone meal or lime stone, and one pound of salt to the 100 pounds. This ration was fed to a brood sow continuously, that is, the amount of cotton seed meal for six litters of pigs. It was also kept in a feeder and fed to the pigs before and after weaning. A creep was built for the pigs in one end of the lot so that they could have access to the mixture and it certainly showed good results as a feed for the sow and also for the pigs.

A great many people here do not have a pasture for their hogs and are more interested in dry lot fattening rations. Green pasture or green feed will help almost any fattening ration, however, the rations below have been very successful in dry lot feeding:

90 parts of ground milo maize.
10 parts of tankage.
Total 100 parts.

This was fed in a dry lot with good results.

85 parts ground milo maize.
15 parts of prime cotton seed meal.
1 part salt.
Total parts 101.

This ration was fed for 120 days and showed some good results.

Tests were made with these rations above side by side with hogs on dry milo maize. The results were very convincing that it pays to add something to your grain feed. One lot that was fed ground milo maize and tankage at 7 months old weighed 250 pounds, while those fed on ground milo maize alone, same age, breeding, etc., weighed only 70 or 75 pounds.

Those that have access to a feed mill for grinding their feed will find that some of these rations will prove profitable. Under most conditions if a hog cannot be finished ready for market at 6 or 7 months old they are not profitable.

The span of life is increasing and so is the upkeep.

Run-Down gave out easily

"MY health wasn't any so-so at all," says Mrs. H. L. Cayton, of Washington, N. C. "I would start to do my housework and I would give out before I had done anything at all. I did not have any strength, and if I did the least thing it seemed to tax me so I could not finish. I was run-down sure enough. Several of my friends had taken Cardui and they said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' I knew I needed something to build up my general health and to increase my strength. Finally one day when I was recovering from a spell of sickness, I decided to try Cardui. I got a bottle and began to take it. I could notice that I was improving as my appetite got better and I did not give out nearly so quick. I took several bottles and I felt lots better. Two years ago I decided to take it again. It built me up and made me feel like a different person. It is the grandest medicine for women that I know anything about."
