Year Has Over 15 Inches Rain to Its Credit

Whether the year 1927 shall prove to be one of more than normal rainfall remains to be seen. Up to the present time that for the year is just about what the average annual rainfall is for this part of Texas. Possibly it is a little under the average. We should expect the average to be about two inches per month, but we have had in Crowell only 15.65 inches. For the eight months of the year we should have had 16 inches.

August has been by far the heaviest for rainfall of any of the months. The month has to its credit up to the 22nd 4.25 inches. This has been fairly well distributed over the month. June is second with 3.40, while March comes in for third place, with 2.35 inches.

By months the rainfall is as follows:

January	1.60
February	0.00
March	2.35
April	1.05
May	1.10
June	3.40
July	1.90
August 10	.60
August 13	2.75
August 17	.20
August 20	.70

Taking 25 inches as the average annual rainfall for this county, and having approximately 16 inches, we must get 9 inches more before the first of 1928, or an average for the remaining four months of this year of 2.25 inches per month.

Perhaps there is not a man in the country who will expect that average, and in all probability there is not one who would like to see that within the remaining four months, for it would be damaging to cotton and would not be needed very much for small grain. If we could regulate the rain we might all be glad to get heavy rains in the late fall.

Present conditions seem to warrant the statement that good crops are a reasonable certainty this year on a subnormal rainfall. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that we had an abundance of rain last year, especially in the fall, and this has made even a normal rainfall this year unnecessary.

Poultry and Swine Specialist Here 7th

Dr. E. A. McCain, a member of the Research and Clinic Department of the George H. Lee Company, Omaha, Nebraska, will hold a poultry and pig clinic at the courthouse on September 7th. The meeting will be held in the afternoon as early as possible.

The object of the clinic, as the News stated in last week's issue, is to assist farmers and poultry raisers in reducing the loss among poultry and pigs in this country. The clinics conducted by Lee specialists have frequently been called short course schools, teaching how to readily recognize, diagnose, and treat, as well as to prevent, many of the diseases of poultry and pigs.

Farmers who have unthrifty chickens or pigs are invited to bring in specimens for post-mortem examination, and receive free instruction on the cause, treatment and prevention of the trouble. Plenty of specimens are needed to bring out the full value of this demonstration, but if hogs are sick and they are thought to be sick and have some contagious disease, they are not wanted, but it is better to notify Dr. McCain, and if practicable, he will call and make an examination. This is a free clinic and nothing is offered for sale. Every farmer in the country should take advantage of the opportunity to attend.

New Dry Goods Store Completed at Thalia

Charles Hathaway has just completed a new building for his dry goods store at Thalia and was moving in Monday when a News representative was there. The building is located on the east side of the main street and is a 22 x 50 foot sheet iron building and sheet rocked on the inside. Mr. Hathaway is one of the young business men of Thalia and is delighted to get his business into quarters of his own.

Things of Interest About Texas Guard

Perhaps many of our people are alike in that they give little thought to the Texas National Guard. There are some things of interest not to be overlooked.

Company "F", 142nd Infantry, 36th Division, returned the first of the week from the encampment at Palacios, and before anything is said about the 36th division, we wish to call attention to what Captain Que R. Miller has to say about Foard County, as compared with any other portion of the country passed over between Crowell and Palacios. It is simply this: "In every particular we are ahead of anything between here and Palacios. That includes crops, enterprise of people and progressiveness of citizenship." That is putting it in a nutshell, as reported by Captain Miller.

Here are some matters of interest about the National Guard, and especially about the 36th Division. This was the only complete division to assemble in the United States this year. About all we know about what that means is that everything was represented that would make it a complete fighting unit. Nothing was lacking. There were 6,000 of these men in camp, and Col. Adams, seed house, an office building with sleeping quarters for gin hands upstairs. The plant is as nearly fire-proof as could be made unless it were made of concrete, and it is well equipped for fighting fire.

Another matter of interest was that the movement of these men from all over Texas was accomplished on a day's time, coming as they did from distances of over 700 miles. This was an achievement that had been thought improbable if not impossible. Fourteen railroads were employed to transport all these men, cavalry horses and all the implements of warfare.

Checks were paid out to these men, 6,000 in number, amounting to $190,000, before they returned to their homes. This was only the wages paid them by the United States Government for the time they were in camp. All the expenses, including transportation, were paid by Uncle Sam and amounted to half a million dollars. The state of Texas is out nothing for these encampments.

Another thing of interest is the fact that within a day or two after training, which is rigid, they got into camp, through the daily picked up everything they may have temporarily forgotten, and they again present themselves for review as a fine army of well trained men ready for service.

It is these National Guards over the nation that constitute the Nation's defense, as we understand it. But in the belief of Captain Miller it is far short of what it should be, since we are not a member of the League of Nations. He thinks we should either become a member of that League or else build up and maintain a large standing army. Personally, he believes we should be a member of that body and that we should be doing everything in our power to put an end to wars.

The camp at Palacios includes 1300 acres and is the permanent camp for the Texas National Guard. It was given to the State by citizens of Palacios to be used by the National Guard. The camp fronts the bay and affords an ideal place, not only for training purposes, target practice, aerial drills and complete maneuvers, such as artillery drill and range practice, but also a delightful place for rest and recreation by reason of the fine cool gulf breezes.

Governor Moody was at the camp three days during the encampment, making inspections of conditions, etc. He made speeches in which he expressed himself as well pleased with everything and proud of the Texas National Guard.

First Bale Here Friday, August 19

The first bale of cotton for the 1927 season came to Crowell Friday of last week. It was produced by D. E. Anderson of the Thalia territory and was ginned at the Farmers Gin at Thalia. The bale weighed 470 pounds and sold at auction on the streets of Crowell, Dave Sollis auctioning the bale, and it was bought by Crews-Long Hardware Company, bringing 20 1/2 cents per pound, or $96.35 for the lint. A premium of $53.25 was made up among the business men of Crowell, which made the bale bring $149.60.

Rayland Farmers Gin Had Good Run Last Season

A visit to the Rayland community Monday afternoon by a News representative revealed the fact that cotton prospects are as good as could be expected. There are some fears that the worms may do some damage provided there is not plenty of sunny weather for the next few weeks.

In talking with officers of the Farmers Co-operative Gin at Rayland we learned that the gin turned out about 3500 bales last season, the first year it was operated. Something like 4600 bales were ginned last year, the Pace Gin ginning 1100. The Pace Gin burned down during the ginning season last year and there will be only one gin in operation at Rayland this year, and it is estimated that 5,000 bales will be ginned, provided the crop turns out as well as it promises at the present time.

The Farmers Gin at Rayland has one of the best equipped plants in this part of the state. The plant consists of a complete Murry outfit with the addition of the Hardwick-Etter Big Burr Extractor and the Quad Cleaner. Also a cotton house of 125 bales capacity and a 150-ton seed house, an office building with sleeping quarters for gin hands upstairs. The plant is as nearly fire-proof as could be made unless it were made of concrete, and it is well equipped for fighting fire.

G. T. Key, manager, says everything is ready to begin ginning and it is expected that cotton will begin to come in the latter part of next week. B. P. Abston is president of the association, and W. E. Germany is secretary.

Salvation Army Raises $50 Quota

J. C. Donley, representative of the Salvation Army, with the assistance of Judge John Myers, member of the advisory board here, raised Crowell's quota of $50 within about two hours Wednesday. Other donations were made after the quota was raised, bringing the full amount for the army up to $51.50.

Mr. Donley was mightily well pleased with what Crowell did in the matter and felt very grateful to Judge Myers for his assistance. This is a very worthy cause, as every one knows who is familiar with the work of the Salvation Army, and there has never been a failure in attempting to raise the annual quota at Crowell. For the benefit of any who may be interested in this work, the News might say that this $50 quota is all that the people of Crowell are expected to donate to the Salvation Army for the year, and any one who may solicit funds under the name of the Salvation Army hereafter does it without authority and if one is asked to make such donations, he may know that he is not making them to the Salvation Army. The authorized representatives come once a year and are accompanied by a member of the local advisory board.

Crowell Young Couple Married at Childress

Mr. Walker Todd and Miss Mary M. Bell were married at Childress Monday, August 15, Rev. W. M. Murrell, pastor of the Methodist church in that city, performing the ceremony.

After the ceremony they left for Wichita Falls where they remained until Tuesday when they went to Taylor, Texas, visiting relatives of Mr. Todd, and from there they went to Dallas, Austin and other cities in Texas. They planned to visit Galveston before returning home where they will be located indefinitely.

Mr. Todd is a teacher in the Crowell High School. The bride has been in the employ of the insurance firm of Spencer & Roberts.

Religious Revival Now in Progress at Claytonville

A religious revival has been in progress at the Claytonville school house for one week and good crowds are reported to have been attending each service and much interest is being manifested.

Elder Edmund of Vernon is assisting Haskell Hastin in conducting the services, which will continue through this week and over Sunday night.

The invitation is extended to everybody to attend these services.

J. D. Johnson and wife visited their daughter, Mrs. Will Harrison, and other relatives at Gracemont last week, returning Saturday.

Chevrolet People Will Have Caravan Here in October

Through the courtesy of Decker Magee of the Allen Chevrolet Company of this city, one of the News men was given transportation with Mr. Magee and his wife to Childress Friday where a meeting of Chevrolet salesmen was held in the city hall of that city to discuss matters pertaining to salesmanship. It was a splendid meeting and some important matters relative to selling Chevrolet cars and trucks were discussed.

It was interesting to this writer to know that in the sale of Chevrolet cars and trucks Crowell headed the list of towns in this district. Other towns in the district are Paducah, Quanah, Chillicothe, Memphis, Childress, Clarendon, Wellington and possibly some others.

It was also interesting to know that the Chevrolet people are going to have a caravan of trucks in this country in October. Crowell will be one of the towns visited by the caravan and it will be here on October 10, at noon, coming from Paducah after having the parade there in the morning of that date. They expect to make on an average two towns a day.

This will be something never seen in this part of the country before and is a part of the campaign advertising the Chevrolet products.

The Chevrolet people will enter upon one of the most aggressive selling campaigns of their history this fall. They believe they have products in both their passenger cars and their trucks that will stand up in the face of the strongest competition and they propose that the buying public shall know this.

Seven Flyers Lost in The Pacific Ocean

Practically all of the nation is grieving over the loss of the Pacific flyers with the possibility of their rescue considered hopeless and the fate of the three planes and the seven flyers will no doubt remain a mystery of the sea. The missing planes and passenger lists are: "Dallas Spirit," William P. Erwin, pilot, A. H. Eichwaldt, navigator; "Miss Doran," John A. Pedlar, pilot, R. V. Knope, navigator, Miss Mildred Doran, passenger; and "Golden Eagle," Jack Frost, pilot, Gordon Scott, navigator.

Endangers Self for Others

Texas is especially grieving the loss of its beloved flyer, "Lone Star Bill" Erwin, third American ace during the World War and one of the greatest pilots the world has ever known. Erwin was a real man, the very emblem of courage and integrity, and the man who has no doubt sacrificed his own life in order to save others. Flying dangerously low through the unexplored and perilous currents of air over the Pacific, in order that he and his navigator, Eichwaldt, might have a view of the water and possibly find the other flyers, is given by experts as the chief cause of Erwin's loss. The last message sent from the "Dallas Spirit" by navigator Eichwaldt was a stunning climax to a noble undertaking. It follows: "9:02 p. m.—We went into a tailspin—SOS—belay that—we came out of it, but were sure scared. It was a close call. We thought it was all off, but we came out of it. The lights on the instrument board went off and it was so dark that Bill couldn't see the—we are in a spin—SOS."

It is the general belief that had Erwin been flying at a safe altitude of ten thousand feet or over that he would have easily landed in Honolulu and while it was his plan to reach Honolulu, his purpose was to find the lost flyers and disregarding safety for himself, he flew at a low altitude under low hanging clouds to be on the lookout for the two lost planes, and no one could better have known the danger of such low flying than a pilot like Erwin. He was able to pull out of the first spin but naturally lost so much altitude that placed him too close to the water to pull out of the one that followed. All flyers that have crossed the Pacific state that they encountered currents of air that threw them into tail spins but were at a high alti-

Treasure Hunter Finds Human Bones

What is believed to be human bones has been unearthed by some one supposed to be digging for hidden treasures on the banks of Raggedy Creek two miles northwest of Crowell.

Our readers will remember that a few weeks ago the skull of a human was brought to town after having been found by a farmer who lives west of Crowell, and that many speculative theories have been advanced as to how came the skull on the banks of Raggedy Creek. Since that time it seems that some one has conceived the idea that there are buried somewhere in the neighborhood of the spot where the skull was unearthed some hidden treasures and in an effort to find them other bones have been unearthed.

On a little mound just west of the bridge across Raggedy from the road to Black is the spot where the bones were recently unearthed. They look like human bones, and among them and through the dirt were many small particles of charcoal. Large rocks have been removed from the spot.

The theory has been advanced by some that these are the bones of persons who were massacred by the Indians in the early days. One of the early settlers of the county is reported to have said that there were three such massacres in this country, one on Raggedy, one on what is the Johnson ranch and one west of town on land now owned by J. R. Allee. How much credit is to be attached to the story we do not know, but it is interesting to think that there may possibly be something to the story. But we think treasure hunters are losing time in trying to find anything of value that may have been hidden by Indians or early settlers.

Another Blowout at Thalia Oil Well

The entire community was disturbed, some of them for a mile distant, Tuesday morning when there was another blowout of gas at the Thalia well.

Drillers had been fishing for tools since Sunday, August 14, and the gas blew them out and tore up a portion of the shed about the derrick. Nobody was hurt but the disturbance caused a scattering of those who were in charge of the well.

No drilling has been done on the well since Aug. 14, but it is the intention, we are told, now to clean the mud out of the well and go to the next sand, which is expected to be encountered at a depth of about 1950 feet. The drillers are now down 1875, so they are within 75 feet of what they think will be big oil producing sand.

Putting Profits Back on His Farm

John Matus, a farmer living in the Thalia country, is reported to have received about $14,000 in royalties from his land since oil activities in that locality commenced, but instead of neglecting his farm, as some might have done under similar circumstances, Mr. Matus is spending a large portion of his profits from oil royalties in improving his farm.

Evidently he regards agriculture as the basis of material prosperity in Foard County, and he is right. In some sections of Texas the farmers neglected their farms when they began to realize a little money from leases and royalties and many of them went down. It would be very hurtful to Foard County should such a thing happen here, for agriculture and stock raising will remain the foundation of our prosperity, even if we should develop the biggest oil fields in the world.

Wilbarger Starts to Survey Lee Highway

County Engineer John Nabers has started men to work surveying the highway from Vernon southwest to the Foard County line. When this work is done and approved by the Federal engineers then the plans will be drawn and sent to the department for approval. The work will probably require from five to six months before actual work of grading the road can start.—Vernon Times.

Commissioners to Meet at Munday Next Saturday

The next meeting of the association of county judges and commissioners will be held at Munday Saturday, August 27, at 10 o'clock a. m., and in a letter from W. F. Parsley, president of the association, to members of the court and county judges, a good attendance is urged. A number of very important matters will be discussed by the body at that meeting. Following is the program:

T. J. Wood Died at Thalia August 11

Thomas J. Wood died at his home at Thalia Friday morning at 11:45, shortly after having returned from the sanitarium at Crowell, where he had submitted to two serious operations for kidney trouble within the last month. He was apparently doing nicely when he fainted and died within a few minutes.

Thomas J. Wood was born in Tennessee, October 25, 1856, was united in marriage with Susan J. Phillips, Oct. 20, 1875. To this union eight children were born, three of whom, Ora, Walter and Wesley, are dead. Five are living, William, Thalia; Robert, Archer City; Mrs. Mary Thomas, Duncan, Okla.; Charley and Jack, of Thalia. All the surviving children were present at the funeral.

In 1893 he was converted during a meeting in Denton County and united with the Baptist church, of which he remained a faithful member until death. He is also survived by three brothers, James Wood, Lake Dallas; Mack Wood, Denton, and John Wood, Henrietta.

Grandpa Wood had lived in Foard County for more than 20 years and was loved by all who knew him. Funeral services were held at the union tabernacle Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. Frank McNair of Lockett conducting the services. All the children and one brother, John Wood, of Henrietta, were present at the funeral. Other relatives present were: Tom Wood and Cecil Sheldon of Matador; Mrs. J. W. Wood and daughter, Mrs. Cora Johnson, of Wichita Falls; Emily Wood and children of O'Donnell. The remains were laid to rest in the Thalia cemetery.

A precious one from us has gone, A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled. God, in His wisdom, has recalled The boon his love had given, And though his body lingers here, The soul is safe in Heaven. —Contributed.

Why He Goes Back

You phone the plumber to come and do a repair job. Nine times out of ten you don't know what is to be done, and you can't tell what repairs are needed. About as far as you can go is to say that the water is leaking in the bath room, or there's a peculiar noise in a pipe, or something the matter. The plumber arrives, works a while and then goes back to the shop. He may go back a second or third time. You can't understand why he goes back. And because you can't understand, you are apt to get a notion that the plumber is loafing on the job—loafing at your expense. But such is not the case.

This is why he goes back. There are many kinds of plumbing, and each kind has a number of different parts. To carry all the parts for all the repair jobs would require several trucks. So the plumber must first see the kind of plumbing you have in your house, then locate the particular trouble, then go back and pick out the needed parts. If, later on, he finds more trouble between walls and under a floor, he may have to make other trips back to the shop.

All parts are gradually being standardized. This pleases you, and it also pleases the plumber.

About all the oil news we have is that which is picked up on the streets and is as follows:

At the Thalia oil well a fishing job has been on for two weeks and the lost tools were finally blown out by gas pressure Tuesday morning. It is understood that drillers will go on down in the hope of picking up the Fluhman sand at a depth of 1950 feet. They are now down 1875.

The Humble, 15 miles northwest, is reported to be drilling at around 3500 feet, expecting oil sand at about 3800.

Drilling by the Texas Company at the Watkins well 6 miles south of town continues, but no excitement has been aroused by discoveries there and not much information is obtainable. From the best information we can get they are down about 2000 feet.

tude and were able to pull out of them.

Bravery Shown in Letter

Erwin's character and courage are reflected in his letter to his sponsors, which follows: "To my sponsors: Tomorrow begins the great adventure. Flying personifies the spirit of man. Our bodies are bound to earth; our spirits are bound by God alone, and it is my firm belief that God will guide the course of Dallas Spirit tomorrow over the shortest route from the Gloden Gate to the Isle of Oahu. I want to thank each and every sponsor for the opportunity of doing this thing. If we succeed it will be glorious. Should we fail, it will not be in vain, for a worthy attempt could never result in a mean failure.

"I believe with my whole heart that we will make it. I believed in it when I first conceived it, and I believe it more strongly now. We will win because Dallas spirit always wins.

"But if it be His will that we should not make it, and from the exploration of the Pacific we should suddenly be called upon to chart our course over the Great Ocean of Eternity, then be of good cheer. I hold life dear, but I do not fear death. It is the last and most wonderful adventure of life. If something should happen to me, I know I don't have to ask you to look after Mrs. Erwin. It broke her heart that she could not accompany me. She is my wife, gentlemen, and the sweetest, finest, truest girl the Almighty ever created.

"Knowing that she is safe gives me confidence and vigor for the trial. We will make it because we must, but whatever comes, I am the master of my fate, and, God willing, the captain of my soul.—William P. Erwin."

Excellent War Record

Erwin was one of the foremost American pilots during the war and was credited officially with bringing down nine German planes and was awarded the Distinguished Service with the oak leaf cluster for gallantry in action at Chateau Thierry and during the fighting at San Mihel. Erwin was very famous for his activities in ground strafing and for wiping out machine gun nests and in spite of the time given to these activities he also was able to shoot down third to the largest number of planes of any American pilot. Many times he would return from battle with his plane so riddled with bullet holes that it could be of no further use and also had several observers killed in his planes, however, Erwin always managed to return safely and for that reason was known as "Unkillable Erwin." He was once attacked while alone by ten German planes and through his remarkable skill was able to resist their attack and return safely. Many other times he was attacked by many times his number. One day while celebrating his birthday in France, Erwin volunteered to make an afternoon trip over the lines, assuring the squadron commander that he would not only fulfill his assigned mission but would add to his birthday festivities, the destruction of an enemy ship. True to his prediction he even passed over his objective to fly over an enemy airdrome where an enemy plane was just taking off to later be shot down in flames in the fight that followed.

Likable Man

Erwin was a true Christian gentleman and one of the most interesting persons that one could meet. His broad grin, penetrating eyes and good humor will be of lasting memory to those who knew him. His humor prevailed in the face of death and unto the last as shown in radio messages from "Dallas Spirit" such as telling of the lack of toothpicks at dinner, requesting information as to the location of the noodie factory, reporting passing a rum runner and telling of Eich's determination to go abroad.

Several Crowell people have heard Erwin play the piano, when before the war he played at revival meetings for his father, W. A. Erwin, who is a Presbyterian preacher and who is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Pawhuska, Okla., at the present time. Erwin was regarded as a great pianist and played before Royalty in Europe after the war before returning home.

Trust your meter
as you trust your watch

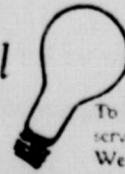

YOUR electric meter is one of the finest and most accurate instruments made—as accurate, indeed, as the timepiece of a railroad engineer.

Repeated tests have shown that not one meter in a thousand shows any appreciable inaccuracy—and when one does it is usually the consumer who is favored, due to the slowing down of the mechanism.

If electricity were measured by the pound, your meter would be as easy to understand as the scales of any reputable store.

But since we have to use electrical terms, we ask you to have faith in your meter and have faith in us.
