MOVING DAY IS EXPENSIVE

The American people spend a fortune each year in taking their furniture out riding. The moving bill in this country amounts far into the millions of dollars, according to statistics obtained from utility companies who have charge of keeping pace with the movers in changing gas, water and electric meters.

The report shows that last spring the impressive sum of $201,912,250 was required to move families in this country.

About fifteen per cent of the urban population of the country move from one residence to another every spring and another fifteen per cent change addresses in the fall, which would double the above figure on an annual basis.

Out of the total sum which is spent twice a year, $58,575,000 represents the actual cost of moving from one place to another, $117,150,000 represents the purchase of new furnishings and domestic appliances, and $11,715,000 goes to plumbers and fitters for repairs and connecting up various household facilities. Another $11,715,000 is debited to the cost of eating meals in restaurants, etc., while the process of moving is under way. Connecting and disconnecting meters and similar duties performed by the public utility companies in furnishing gas and electric service at moving time cost these companies in the neighborhood of $1,755,250.

Crowell, Texas, September 14, 1928

Our good friend, Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, is astounded that reputation of his candidate for President has been exposed. He does not understand why such stuff as has been disseminated about the candidate would be allowed to go through the United States mail. Well, for the love of Mike, since when has the press been barred from telling the truth about men. If one cannot refute the charges made against him he had better get out of the race and never offer himself as a candidate again. All the fun the people get out of a campaign is that which accompanies the shifting of men who are out for office. If they are pure gold the dross will be consumed and the real gold left uninjured.

This issue of the News, as well as most others in the past, furnishes a safe guide for the public in the purchase of their necessities. Scan its pages and you will find great bargains offered by grocery stores, dry goods stores, hardware houses, automobile dealers, tire dealers and other business establishments in Crowell. A tire dealer recently said "We have been selling lots of tires since we started our campaign and I know the people are reading the ads." People all over the country are reading the ads as never before and they are going to continue to do it because they can thereby best determine where to buy their needs.

There is no getting around the fact that this summer has been dry and a short crop is the result. The only thing to do is to make the best of conditions. It is going to rain one of these days, sure as the world, and it will give us all we want, too. We are expecting big rains within a short time and a great wheat crop next year.

Rev. Frank McNair Accepts Chairmanship

Waco, Texas, Sept. 13.—Rev. Frank McNair of Vernon has accepted the chairmanship of the Wilbarger-Foard association in district to promote the Greater Baylor University campaign for $2,000,000 in the state at large. He, in turn, will appoint city and church chairmen to perfect organization in that section. Carr P. Collins of Dallas, outstanding Baptist layman and campaign worker, declared here today that the Greater Baylor campaign was the outstanding and significant effort ever put forth by Texas Baptists. He is chairman of an important committee of the campaign.

A district conference launches each sectional campaign and paves the way for the popular campaign from Nov. 23rd, to Dec. 4th. All workers in each district will attend an all-day conference followed by a great mass meeting in the evening.

Baylor is the oldest educational institution in Texas. It is Baptist owned and controlled. Its faculty is Baptist. It has contributed one-eighth of all foreign missionaries sent by the Southern Baptist convention.

More than 5,000 workers will promote the campaign by Oct. 15, according to D. K. Martin, state chairman.

ON THE FARM

By the County Agent

Treating Seed Wheat for Smut

Hubert Brown who is farming considerable wheat land south of Crowell is making preparation to treat his wheat seed for smut. Mr. Brown says that there is not any sign of smut in the seed, but he believes that the treatment of copper carbonate dust will be an insurance against a possible development.

Copper carbonate dust is the most convenient treatment and it is also not very expensive. It is a dust and is applied at the rate of 2 to 4 ounces per bushel. It is necessary to have a container that is practically air tight and that is arranged so as to be rotated. An apparatus such as a concrete mixer, an old barrel, churn or an oil barrel with an axle through it mounted on saw horses. Rotation for three or four minutes will sufficiently cover the seed with the dust. Care should be taken to not inhale the dust.

Milk Testing

One of the local cream stations has the necessary equipment for testing whole milk for butterfat. For those who are milking a few cows and care to find out which cows are really paying for their keep the milk test will greatly benefit.

This arrangement, naturally, will not be as efficient as a regular cow testing association, but by frequent testing of cows, one may find out which are the boarders in the herd. Cow testing associations have a regular supervisor. The milk from each cow is weighed and tested regularly. The feed is weighed so in this manner, basing the butterfat production on the amount of feed consumed is the only safe way of finding out which is profitable.

Worms Menacing Texas Poultry

When the poultry flock gets to looking dull and unthrifty and the combs and wattles become shriveled, rough and colorless, the flock is more than likely the victim of worms. Such infestations have spread to such an extent that worms are now considered one of the greatest handicaps to profitable poultry production in Texas, and E. N. Holmgren, poultry specialist in the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service has made their eradication his major project with county agents for the year.

"A severe infestation," he says, "may altogether stop egg production, for worms slowly poison the birds, inflame their intestines and sometimes completely clog the intestinal tract. Worms so lower the vitality of the flock as to make it the easy prey of such ailments as colds, roup and chicken pox."

Round worms are much more common than tape worms but both species are best controlled by preventive sanitary measures such as sanitation of the soil around poultry premises by plowing at least three times a year; cleaning dropping boards weekly and poultry house floors monthly; and by avoiding dirty, sloppy water vessels and wet grounds on the poultry premises. Feed troughs should be designed to keep birds from getting in with their feet and from standing where droppings fall in the feed. Since young stock is more easily and fatally affected than mature birds, brooder houses should be located on grounds separate from the rest of the flock and pullets should be wormed before placing them in the laying houses with the older birds.

"While preventive measures are most effective," Mr. Holmgren says, "an infected flock may be freed of round worms by mixing two pounds of pulverized tobacco (1 1/2 to 2 percent nicotine content) with each 100 pounds of mash, and feeding this mixture to the flock for three weeks. The tobacco should then be stopped for three weeks and then fed again for the same period. For tape worms the best remedy is one No. 000 capsule or tablet of kamala to each fowl. For chickens under three months old the dose is reduced one-half and for turkeys two capsules or tablets are given for grown birds and one for poults."

More detailed information as to damage, symptoms, prevention and treatment are contained in C-69, "Common Worms in Poultry," which may be obtained by writing the Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

Altus, Okla., Jan. 12, 1908. Editor News:

I promised you that I would write you a letter when the Orient connected the North with Altus. It ran its first train in yesterday, but it will be about the last of next week, or about the 18th, before they will give general service. I haven't learned whether they will continue the work south or not. Mr. Stilwell will be here about the 20th and he may give out something as to what they will do. If so, I will write you again. There is a good deal of cotton being ginned here yet. They have two gins that gin the cracked bolls which sell at from 8 to 9 cents per pound. The banks are opening up here but things are rather dull—not much doing in the way of building. T. M. GAFFORD.

ASKING YOUTH

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

Asking favors, that's the truth. What, you ask, does one desire? If you'd know, then ask a sire. There are favors, certain ones, Sires are always asking sons.

Sires are asking sons to play in a clean and decent way. Seeking pleasures, but the kind that will leave them pure of mind. Brave of heart, and strong of will. Pure, braver, stronger still.

Sires are asking sons to spend time before the time shall end. For their hours of study, too. Doing what they need to do. That their future may be made fruitful with some honest trade.

Sires will labor, sires provide. Sires will walk that sons may ride. Asking, as each father deaves. Sons they help to help themselves. Those the favors, this the task; Does it seem so much to ask? (© 1928, Douglas Malloch)

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL

HAVE you ever thought to yourself: "What is the most beautiful thing of all the wonders that God created?"

Not the sea. It is too turbulent and cruel.

Not the sky. It is too vast for our conception and too unfathomable.

Not a flower. While it is wonderfully beautiful it has no soul.

The most wonderful thing in the world is the human being, and of these the more beautiful is woman.

One of the most worthy tributes to woman ever written was from the pen of Lafcadio Hearn—a writer whose grace of expression and splendid style entitles him to a much greater place among writers of English than he is popularly assigned.

In his "Out of the East" is an essay on "The Eternal Feminine" and in it he says:

"Whoever has once been likened to woman by art or thought has been strangely informed and transformed by that momentary symbolism. Whatever delights his imagination has fertilized—the rose of dawn—the vast caress of day—night and the lights of heaven—even the undulations of the eternal hills. And flowers, the flush of fruit, and all things fragrant, fair and gracious; the genial seasons with their voices; the laughter of streams, and whisper of leaves, and rippling of song within the shadows; all sights, or sounds, or sensations that can touch our love of loveliness, of delicacy, of sweetness, of gentleness, make for us vague dreams of woman."

One of France's most famous gossamers said: "There are no ugly women—there are only women who do not know how to look pretty."

Real beauty is in the mind and its outward expression and what goes on in the mind has an extraordinary effect on the body.

Could you conceive of a loving mother who would not be beautiful? Could you think of a woman with a baby nestled in her arms, even though that mother came from the slums and wore the habiliments of direst poverty, as being other than a supreme expression of beauty?

Madame de Staël, one of the most brilliant women France ever produced, was noticeably unattractive in face and figure, but of her it was said "She talks herself into a beauty."

Cultivate your beauty of mind and thought. Spend more for books than for rouge and lip sticks. Be sure that no outward comeliness can atone for an excellent lack of intelligence. People will remember what you said and how you said it long after they have forgotten how you looked and what you wore.

If you are a woman keep in mind always that you are in reality the most beautiful of God's creations and live up to the reputation.

Things Worth Knowing

Russia has one motor car to 6,000 inhabitants. The oldest typewriters were equipped with capital letters only. More than half the narcissus bulbs produced in the United States last year came from Florida. Success in raising the bob-white in captivity is reported from Virginia state game farm. A magnet more than twice as powerful as ordinary tungsten steel magnets can be made from cobalt. The Diana monkey is named the goddess because it has a crescent-shaped white mark on its forehead. The son of a Zulu chieftain, Albert Mula White, who was adopted by a British missionary and his wife 15 years ago, has been a successful farmer in England for the last 15 years. Thomas A. Edison has taken out more than 1,000 patents. The deepest oil well in the United States is 8,000 feet deep and is in California. Bats live entirely on insects, though one species eats fruit, and the vampire of the tropics likes blood of animals. The California valley quail has been successfully introduced into distant countries as Chile and Zealand. Modern horses on French merry-go-rounds have been supplanted by airplanes, automobiles, tanks and field guns.

An average mile of railway line in the United States last year handled seven passenger trains and seven freight trains each day. Experiments in oyster planting in North Carolina have been successful, the United States bureau of fisheries says, and young oyster have had good growth wherever planted. Synthetic oil, made from coal, has been placed on the market in Germany. A Frankfort firm, producing 1,200 tons of synthetic gasoline monthly plans to manufacture 10,000 tons monthly during 1928. A commercial tramway to carry tourists to the summit of Mt. Hood is proposed. In a test of the carrying power of city noises, a train whistle was heard by an airplane a mile and a half up.

FEEDING FISH ELECTRICALLY

Abilene, Sept. 11.—It was the State of Texas which introduced this ultra-modern feeder to West Texas. The state fish hatchery has installed forty-five 50-watt electric lamps on its fourteen fish ponds at Cisco, near the big dam. The lights hang two feet above the water and the beams at night attract millions of grasshoppers, blister-bugs, crickets and other insects. The majority of the insects fall on top of the water and are devoured by the fish. However, many of the game fish jump out of the water and nab the insects as they fly near the surface. The lights burn eight months out of twelve. In installing the lights, the West Texas Utilities Company guaranteed the state an abundant supply of insects.

UTILITIES COMMERCIAL AGENT TRANSFERRED TO GENERAL OFFICE

Abilene, Sept. 11.—T. E. Kuykendall, commercial agent of the Abilene district of the West Texas Utilities Company, has been transferred to the general office, where under the title of campaign manager, he will have supervision of campaigns and other special work. H. H. Lamb, salesman in this district, has been appointed commercial agent to succeed Mr. Kuykendall, it was announced by Joe White, commercial manager of the West Texas Utilities Company. Mr. Kuykendall has been with the company since Sept. 1, 1923, and for a number of months was in the traction department. He later was transferred to the commercial department and was made commercial agent April 1, 1926. Mr. Lamb has been with the company for a year and a half and has been one of the outstanding salesmen of this district.

Only one of the performers who appeared in the Hippodrome show in front of the grand stand at the State Fair of Texas last year, has been re-engaged for 1928. He is "Shorty" Flem, the tiny clown policeman, who made a big hit with both young and old last year. All the other 55 performers are new.

It used to be that kids got their faces washed and started to school in the fall, but nowadays they have to have their tonsils snaggled out first.

RELIABLE ELECTRIC SERVICE AND WEST TEXAS PROGRESS

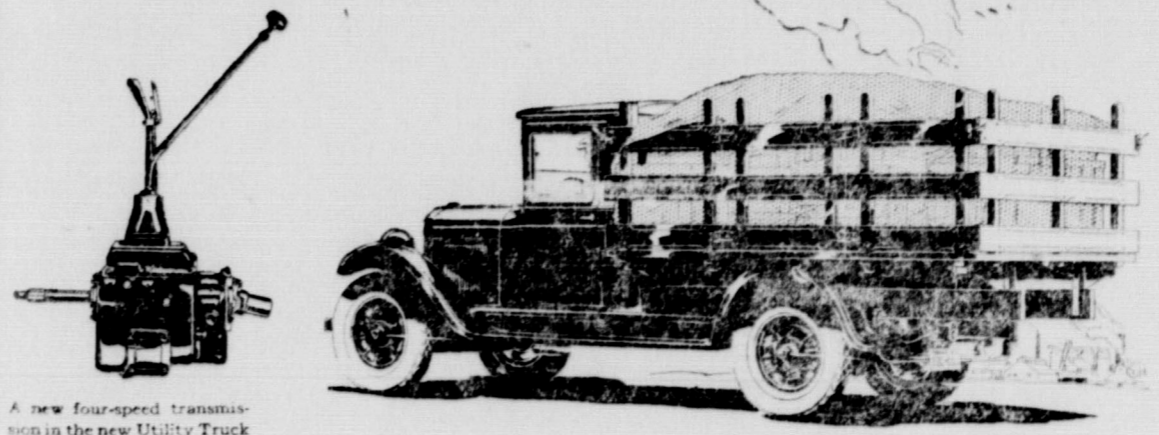

Over plains, ranches, farmlands, hills, valleys and streams, in the heart of West Texas, the electric transmission lines of this company cover 1898 miles.

These power lines carry electrical energy from large generating stations to 102 cities, towns and villages, lighting streets, homes, stores and offices.

This energy turns the wheels in oil fields, furnishes power for factories, mills and other industrial plants, and operates labor saving machinery and appliances on farm and ranch. Wherever it goes, this flow of electricity increases production and wealth, encourages industry, speeds progress, reduces drudgery and hardship, provides comforts and conveniences. The continuous, single aim of the company is to supply efficient service at a fair price. By always improving operating efficiency and constantly investing more capital in expansion and equipment it is able to do so.

This will include every variety of fine meats, chickens, fruits, vegetables, preserves, jellies, pastry, ice creams, sherbets and so on down the whole making a bill of fare that to print which would take about two columns in an average newspaper. Outside Shutters Add to Home's Appearance. It is frequently the case that when the home is first built necessarily stringent financial limitations prevent the incorporation of many features or embellishments which later can add much to the livability and attractiveness of the home. An embellishment of this sort which may seem of small, unimportant, is that of outside blinds or shutters, nowadays more useful for their addition to architectural balance and interest than for their original purpose of protection from storms. The architectural type which best lends itself to the addition of the shutter is the colonial, but if proportion permits, shutters are quite as appropriate on any modern adaptation of design. The colonial shutters may be of either the louver type or the solid blind or batten construction, usually pierced with some sort of characteristic design. Diamond, crescent, pine tree, candlestick and many other designs symbolic of the colonial era are popular and appropriate, but an individual design is probably best. Thus, one householder has pierced his shutters with the outline of a sloop, as he is a yachting enthusiast.

Proper City Planning

Individual students, familiar with the subject in all its phases, assert that city planning is hampered and seriously menaced by politics of a certain sort. Too many inferior aldermen, after voting zoning ordinances, or professing to favor them, pass orders in violation of the plan. Where favoritism and discrimination thrive, such orders threaten to nullify the zoning system. They create distrust and dislike of it. Chicago, for example, has known of instances where aldermen, by obtaining special orders out of harmony with the zoning ordinance, provided themselves with a source of private revenue. Equitable city planning presupposes clean, capable, honest municipal administration. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The musical show to be produced in the auditorium of the State Fair of Texas Oct. 6 to 21, will be the famous Broadway success, "The Desert Song," much of the beautiful music of which is already familiar to many through the radio and the phonograph. THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the sheriff or any constable of Foard County—Greeting:

D. 1928, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 13th day of August, A. D. 1928, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1367, wherein 15th Dunn Jernigon, who has been for a period of twelve months, an actual bonafide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in Foard County for at least six months preceding the filing of this suit, is plaintiff, and Herbert Jernigon is defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

Said petition alleging, plaintiff prays for a divorce upon the grounds of cruel treatment, the defendant heaped upon her studied vexations and deliberate insults, that was of such cruel nature as to render her living with him insupportable; that on or about the 25th day of April, A. CALLIN' THE HOGS

Texas has just as talented hog-callers as there are in the world. Perhaps if we were to have an opportunity to put out champion up against the champions of the states in the effort, we would win hands down.

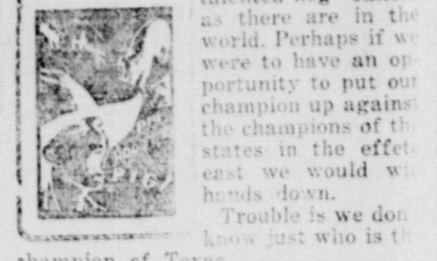

Trouble is we don't know just who is the champion of Texas.

That difficulty will disappear, however, because a hog-calling contest is "on the slate" of the State Fair of Texas this Fall. Besides the money prize for the winners, there will be a gold medal for the champion.

Applications to enter this contest which will be the first to be held in Texas, are coming in already and strange to say, the very first entry was a "city fellow," Bob Pool, one of the assistant managers of the Adolphus Hotel at Dallas. But Bob is nationally proud of the fact that he was brought up on a farm in Milan County, where, as he says in his application, "the hogs roamed about in perfect freedom and had to be called at feeding time."

Pool says he may need to "rehearse" a little, but that by the time the fall opens he will be in shape to out-compete to any and all comers from the state of Texas.

The "points" which the judges will take into consideration in determining the winner will be: Individuality, expression of call, volume, distance, tone, persuasiveness, and effectiveness. Entry blanks and prize list for the contest may be had by addressing Re Rupard, Secretary of the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Texas.

WALTER BURTON SAYS

Walter Burton, known to every poultry man in America as the superintendent of the Poultry Department of the State Fair of Texas, has a message for his Texas friends. He asks us to say this:

"Boys, take my word for it, the State Fair this Fall will be so much better in every way than ever before that I am urging you, with all the earnestness that I can command, to begin right now to get your birds in condition for the greatest poultry show you ever saw!"

No matter what your past experience has been, be sure to show this Fall. If you have been winning, don't be content to rest upon your laurels. A win this Fall will mean more than ever before.

If you have not been entirely successful, try again next October. Begin to look your flock over at once. Pick out the best birds and get them in shape. You may win a higher prize than last year.

And if you have never shown, don't miss this chance. Get into the game when it will mean the most to you."

One Secret of Success

A great deal of nonsense is written about success. More poor advice, we believe, is given to the young on this theme than on any other. The Courage Brother type of magazine and the Sympathetic Syndicate Sisters have perfected mass production on the secrets of success.

Recently a plain newspaper reporter, interviewing a great author, asked if he wrote only when inspiration came. "My dear fellow, no," said the author. "I go to work each morning at nine o'clock and pound away seven or eight hours. If I wanted for moods and inspirations, I would do very little writing."

Most essays on success could be written in two words as follows: Hard Work—Harry Daniel, in Thrift Magazine.

The men who design the bathing suits must all have been born in Missouri.

County Agriculture Exhibits This Year Are Greater Than Any Heretofore

The county agricultural exhibits at the State Fair of Texas this year will be far ahead of those of any other year, according to J. A. Moore, superintendent of the agricultural department, who has been at work ever since the close of the 1927 State Fair in his plan to offer a perfect agricultural show in October.

County agents in all parts of the state as well as the officials and field men of the Texas Agricultural College have been giving Mr. Moore every assistance in this work and all concerned are freely predicting that the displays at the 1928 State Fair, the displays of which are October 6 to 21, will be the most instructive and informing ever shown.

"The whole object of the State Fair and the one aim of the directors is to give every ad possible to the upbuilding of Texas agriculture and live stock raising," says Mr. Moore. "Hence the State Fair should be looked upon as a great broadening station, sending out information on agricultural and live stock topics to all the southwest but to all Texas in particular."

"It spreads this information by means of actual demonstrations. The farmer, for instance, can come here and see what other farmers have done. He can talk with the men in charge and learn how it was done. Then he can go home, full of information and in a position to get the same or even better results himself."

"Every time a farmer carries home information and puts that information to work in raising more and better crops he is helping the whole state and not merely himself. That is why many persons believe that the State Fair of Texas is one of the greatest influences for the upbuilding of the state, that we have within our boundaries."

Dairy Cattle Judging Contest for Boys to Be Held at State Fair of Texas

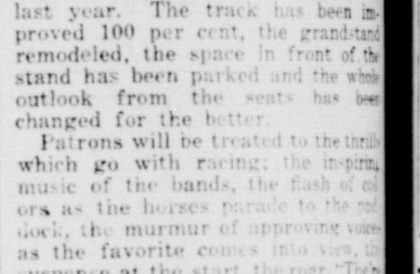

The Southwest Dairy Association announces that plans are being formulated for a Dairy Cattle Judging Contest for Boys to be held during the Southwest Dairy Show at the State Fair of Texas, October 6 to 21.

This will be open to 4-H boys and students from the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico, who are interested in further judging contests in state college contests in their respective states.

The purpose of the new contest is to hold the interest of these juvenile experts until such time as they are ready to enter the Agricultural College train boys who have been selected to represent their states in the National Dairy Cattle Judging Contest at the National Dairy Show at Memphis, Tenn., in October.

All breeds will be judged in the contest and the high man in the contest as well as the high man in each individual breed will be awarded a suitable prize.

State Fair Horse Races and Horse Show Attracting Interest

One of the features which pleased a great number of people at the State Fair of Texas last year, was the program of horse races and horse shows. Interest in the horse is reviving throughout the United States and nowhere shows greater vitality than in Texas.

This is true not only as to the saddle horse but as to the work horse as well. Dobbin is bucking right into the shafts again. And with this revival comes more and more interest in horse breeding for speed and for races as trials and proofs of speed.

Therefore, at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21, there will be thirteen days of horse racing, with even better and faster ponies than were engaged last year. The track has been improved 100 per cent, the grandstand remodeled, the space in front of the stand has been parked and the whole outlook from the seats has been changed for the better.

Patrons will be treated to the music which goes with racing, the inspiring music of the bands, the flash of the jock, the murmur of approving voices as the favorite comes into view, the suspense at the start, the roar, "Tack off!" as the ponies leap from the barrier and then the rising tide of excitement as the horses and their riders fight for the leadership around the course and up to the finish.

There will be no races on Sunday afternoons, as those dates have been assigned to the Horse Shows.

Amusements at State Fair Will Be Greater Than Ever

There will be plenty of fun at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 6 to 21, as well as plenty that will be instructive. For while the director will know that the main object of a properly conducted State Fair is the improvement of the farm industries, they realize also that the men, women and children who attend the Fair expect to find some amusement as well.

They realize also that the entertainment must be of the very highest type—clean, moral and elevating. To find such entertainment and to charge it—better it, if possible—from year to year, is no child's task. The amusement world is combed each winter morning to find the shows and acts best suited to State Fair presentation.

This year the directors in charge of amusements and entertainments have succeeded beyond the ordinary. Besides the big musical show in the Auditorium and the daily race program, they have provided a really first-class carnival attraction and placed it in a permanent setting—a space through which now runs a continuous paved highway, 25 feet wide with the shows and rides on both sides.

In front of the grand stand each evening there will be offered a hippodrome or open-air circus and dance review, combined. It will offer the most thrilling of bareback, trap and bar acts, animal acts of surprising excellence, tumbling and acrobatics by world famous acrobats and will close with a stage show, "The Window Garden Revue," an entirely new show in open air entertainment. After the show the entertainment will conclude with a dazzling display of fireworks.

Besides the above briefly mentioned attractions there will be dozens of free shows, bands galore, music broadcasting and fun enough to engender and sustain "the fair spirit" that intangible something which makes such an event a success.

Texas has the largest state fair in the world. In 1927 the attendance was 1,028,317.

The largest day's attendance at the State Fair of Texas in 1927 was 866. This was on the second Sunday and broke all known records.

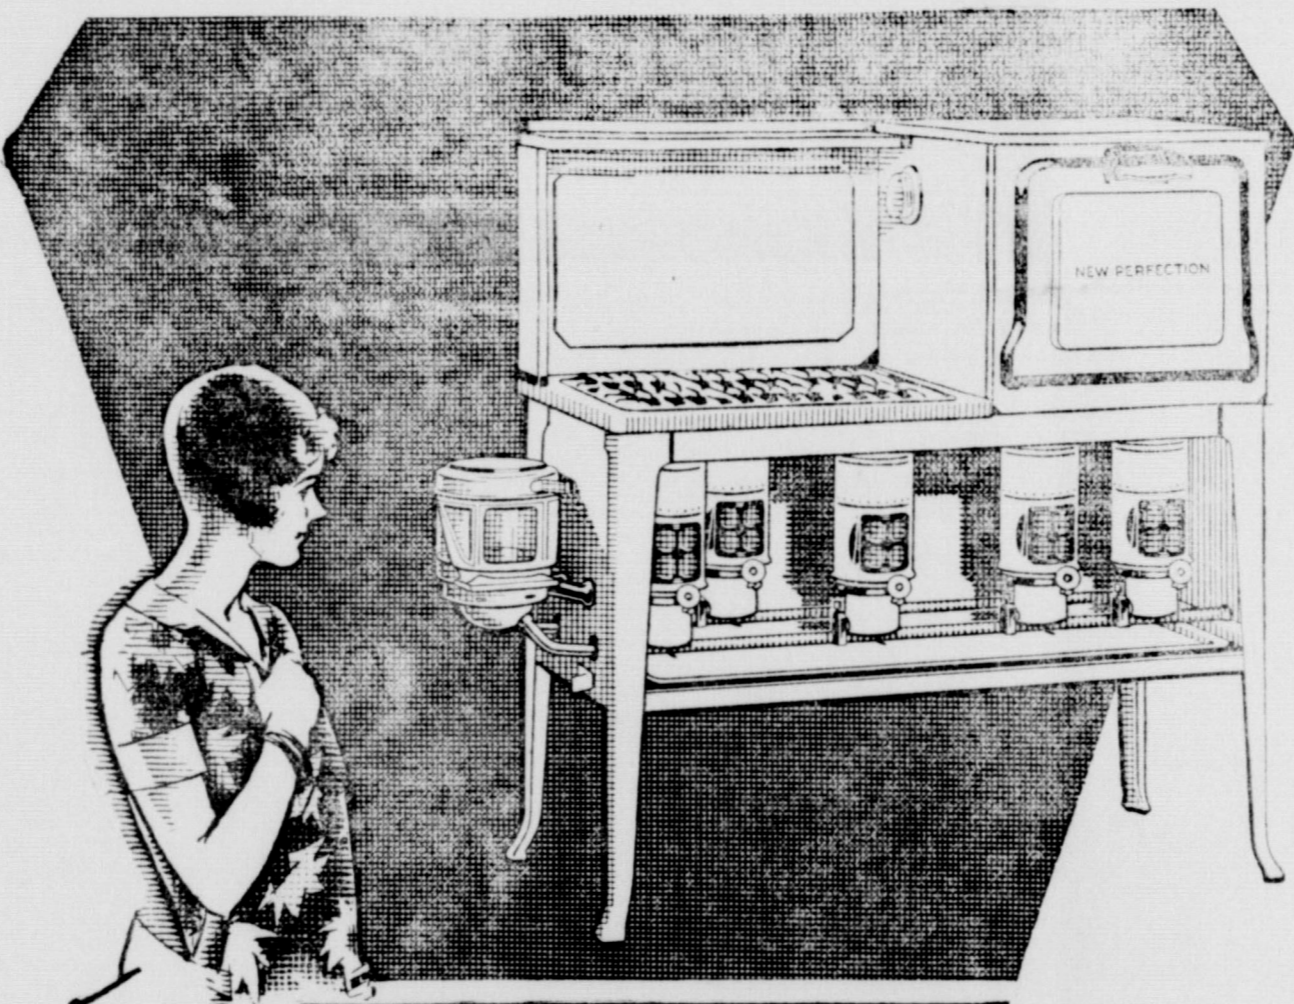

Horse racing will be one of the leading attractions at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21, 1928, as it was in 1927.

WHO WEARS SHOES?

There are approximately 300,000,000 pairs of shoes manufactured annually in the United States. Women get over a hundred million pairs of them; men about seventy million pairs; boys and youths, nineteen million pairs; and misses and children, over thirty-five million pairs. So that it is evident that the answer to "who wears shoes" shows that mothers and matrons get their full share of this merchandise.

Few persons ever stop to think that the leather of a modern shoe was once a hide on the back of a cow, or a steer that roamed the ranges of Texas, or possibly Argentina; and that the nails, eyelets, lace tips, counter, and the heel plate, as well as the boxed toe, was once iron ore in a mine of Northern Michigan; while the "spiffy" buckles and heel coverings were made in practically the same manner that gun cotton is produced. With slight chemical changes the manufacturers are able to turn this near-explosive into beautiful pyralin, and use it as it is in vogue today for ornamenting the shoes that men, women and children are wearing.

Folks are stepping out nowadays, but there aren't many of them who stop to realize the stress of human brain power that has been devoted to the production of a modern pair of shoes.

AN INDIVIDUAL CHALLENGE

A challenge has been issued to every employe of a well known concern, and to others who take the time to read his challenge. He says:

"A hog is a hog today, just as he was a thousand years ago. If a human being can not profit by experience of others and help to make this world a little better place in which to live, he might as well be a hog."

To profit by experience of others is to profit by their mistakes as well as their achievements.

The successes of others we should emulate; their failures we should avoid.

Yet this trait which distinguishes men from hogs is not very often operative. It is restrained and submerged in the rush for profit and pleasure.

Everyone has seen the dismal failure of lives that are ruled by greed, yet how few profit by their mistakes?

The greed that does not allow any time or effort for unselfish public

Tree Grows Rapidly

The red pine, also called Norway pine, is one of the most important pine trees native to North America. It is found from Nova Scotia south to central Pennsylvania and west to Michigan and Minnesota, says the American Tree association. The red pine has few enemies, grows rapidly, and if given care and protection will produce large quantities of high-quality wood. It is one of our most attractive and useful evergreen trees.

Consider Color Scheme

Next in importance to painting is the use of the right kind of paint and point of the right color. Color intrigues our interest. It draws us toward or repels us from a home. It is never inactive. It is always working for or against your interests. So the color scheme should be decided upon most carefully. And let us not think we can avoid all pitfalls by painting in all-white, regardless of the type of house.

Trying to keep up with some neighbors, is a good way to get behind.

service for the good of all, but is all centered in self—that is the type of greed that holds back communities and prevents them from making the progress they should.

Shall the challenge be accepted or passed by unanswered? Are we as a people no better than the hog, or will we profit by the experience of those who made the mistake of placing self above service and failed?

Carry Their Hobbies With Them on Train

Most people think that commuters spend their time on the train reading the newspapers or chatting about business. Playing cards is also a well-known club-car pastime for men who must journey an hour or more on their twice-a-day trip. But there are other occupations.

Girls knit and sew on their way to the office and sometimes write letters on the morning express. Incidentally, women seem to prefer novels to newspapers as they shuffle to and from the job. Then cross-word puzzles keep some members of both sexes busy, some of them eagerly entering the puzzle mazes on the station platform before the train pulls in.

Now and then a chess addict may be observed with a pocket folding board, working out profound problems of the game. He wears, consciously or unconsciously, a mantle of superiority in the presence of the cross-word puzzlers.

There is considerable study done on the commuters' trains, usually by younger commuters.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fire Hazards

Fire prevention is not a matter of one week out of fifty-two. It is a constant problem that is with us, asleep and awake, all hours of every day. We can afford to sacrifice half a billion a year on money, because of America's wealth; even though the existence of such wealth does warrant the people in throwing it away. We cannot afford to sacrifice human life or to permit, every year, a veritable army of our citizens to be injured and many handicapped for life.

There are many questions, economic, political, moral and what not, before the American people. There is probably none that comes nearer to every one of more than 100,000,000 citizens than the fire hazard.

A famous fireworks firm, said to be the largest in the world, is to supply the day and night exhibitions at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21.

Five From Quanah at Rotary Luncheon

Special musical numbers by Roy Sloan, Paul Wallace and Mrs. Ella Rucker, and an address by M. S. Henry featured the program at the Rotary luncheon Wednesday. A unique event of the program was the introduction of five visitors from Quanah by one of their representatives, Carl Guin, who exposed many incidents concerning the private lives of the men he introduced and asked the Crowell club to not judge Quanah by such "awful" men as he was introducing. Rev. H. H. Neeley was given an opportunity to answer the charges made against him and the others by Mr. Guin, which he handled in a very amusing manner.

Roy Sloan rendered a few vocal numbers accompanied by Mrs. Rucker at the piano and Paul Wallace on the sousaphone. The numbers were thoroughly enjoyable and the musicians responded to an encore. Mr. Henry gave an interesting address concerning various phases of Rotary and the proper type of Rotarian.

A knocker is a mortgage on his home town, and every other citizen is paying interest on the mortgage.

We are getting ready to remodel our office and we are offering our 3-8" Acme Wall Board for $2.50 per hundred in order to reduce our stock. We have it in various lengths and if you have a room you need to cover, come in and look it over. We also have some good bargains in various doors.

The rising generation against which you hear so many complaints got many of its faults from associating with its parents.

We handle the famous No. 61 Pratt & Lambert floor varnish. It can be used on wood work the same as floors and there is none better. It is also good to put on linoleum to make it easy to clean and last longer.

We were disturbed from writing by the fire alarm which looked as though it was going to be a good one, but the fire boys controlled it. The large truck was out in town working on the water lines which is something we sure need, but this time we needed two large trucks in order to have one both places.

Lots of people are buying their winter supply of coal now. This is a good idea, for there is already talk of another strike in Colorado.
