Cheapest Rates to Colorado Ever Known.

In view of the intense interest in Colorado's attractions this season, and the rather extraordinary demands for a cheap rate excursion for the benefit of vacationists, the Fort Worth & Denver City and Houston & Texas Central roads have announced a rate from all Texas points to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver and return, of but three fourths of one fare for the round trip; tickets to be on sale July 9th and 10th, with a limit of 60 days, and to be good for stop over privileges at all points between Trinidad and Denver, in either or both directions.

This is really an extraordinary arrangement and one which will at once appeal to hundreds who could not visit that most interesting section under the higher rates ordinarily effective.

Anticipating an appreciation of the conditions related, it is understood the lines mentioned will have occasion to add considerable extra equipment to their trains of the 9th and 10th, including tourist sleepers, and arrangements to that end are perfected.

Rate from Houston will be $24.15; from Fort Worth $18.00, and from all other points correspondingly low.

Tourist Sleeper rates from Fort Worth will be $2.50 per double berth, which may be used by two persons without extra cost.

On the 1st day of July Secretary of State Hay, quietly and almost suddenly passed away. When he first arrived from his tour it was thought he was out of danger, but he was carried away by "Pulmonary Embolism," a kind of heart trouble.

Secretary Hay was one of the most noted of our statesmen and diplomats. He has had to deal with more great questions affecting the foreign policy of the government during his administration than has any other Secretary of State. Among them were the complications arising from the Boxer troubles in China, the release of Miss Hellen Stone from her captors in Turkey, the Moroccan affair, the Asphalt controversy in Venezuela, the San Domingo affair, the secession of Panama from the United States of Columbia and negotiations of the Isthmian Canal treaties, the open door in China, and the developments incident to the Russian-Japanese war. He was regarded by President Roosevelt as being the greatest Secretary the U. S. has ever had.

Few of the persons who practice throwing rice at newly-married couples have any idea what the custom means, or else they are great friends of President Roosevelt. The custom originated in China, where a small handful of rice was showered upon the bride with the remark "May your children be as numerous."

There is a strong sentiment brewing among certain republican Senators to renew the special stamp taxes of the Spanish-American war. The Republican party is great in emptying the coffers of the government, but is just as subtle in raising money from the people. There is now a deficit in revenues of $24,000,000, and a prospective deficit of $40,000,000 for the current fiscal year. Senator Dicks of Ohio, advocates the reviving of this tax on checks, stocks, bonds, legal papers and patent medicines. This tax yielded $100,000,000 for the 3 years after it was imposed. Senator Dicks knows how to raise the money.

The great number of Fourth of July celebrations all over West Texas shows that we are enjoying a wave of prosperity. There were more celebrations than ever before in the history of the country.

SAY!

Had you heard that Tim Smith had told Tom Jones that Will Shoemaker said that his uncle, Jim Brown, told Ben Snyder that his wife's brother, Jake, a few days ago met a man in the road who started to go to the Panhandle, but camped one night with a stranger who told him he started to the same country about ten years ago, but heard that three years before that time no rain fell for four months and the farmers made no corn, and—well, no difference what else he said. The question now in the minds of people is, what opportunities does FOARD COUNTY now offer to farmers or Stock-raisers, or for the combination of the two lines of business.

1st. No county in Texas can show better crops than are now growing here. 2nd. Rich land and good people. 3rd. The Antelope Pasture of 35,000 acres now owned by is now on the market in any quantities wanted, at from $4 to $8 per acre with small cash payments, long time and low interest. Buy before the railroad gets here, prices will advance. Citizens of Foard County can do their friends and kinfolks a kindness if they will notify them of the chances that are now at hand. The man who has only a small amount of money can be supplied with the land he needs. If a man wants to farm and raise stock a fine location can be secured. For more definite information, see

Joe W. Beverly,

Crowell,

Texas.

Now is the time and opportunity to do something towards inducing home seekers and moneyed men to settle in our county. Tell the people what can be and is raised here and we will get our share of the immigrants seeking homes in west Texas.

On July 2 the little town of Guanajuato, Mexico, was struck and almost entirely demolished by a terrible flood caused by a cloud burst in the mountains. The city was covered at one time by twenty feet of water, and the death list reaches 1,000.

The good road question is before us and it is an important one. The sunflowers in some of the roads are almost impassable, and lots of places they are only a thin coat of the road and wagon can pass without turning into mud. It is ten feet high. These bad roads will be a great improvement to the State, full.

Report comes from Sylvester that the railroad bridge across the Clear Fork of the Brazos will be finished by tomorrow ready for trains to pass over it. Then it is said, active work will be commenced putting down steel, which will be continued until the Brazos River is reached where several week's time will be consumed in constructing the bridge across that stream. Knox City is to be the terminus until the big bridge is finished ready for operating of trains north of the river—Knox County News, June 29.

T. C. Richardson, of the Wheeler County Texas, has purchased another newspaper plant, The Texas Panhandle, published at Mobeetie, and will run the two papers in connection. We are proud to see Clarence pushing to the front and can say to the readers of The Panhandle that if he keeps that paper up to the standard of the Texas they will have one of the newest and most up-to-date newspapers in that section of the State.

The Russian government has decided to put a stop to the disgraceful proceedings of the mutinions ship, Kniaz Potemkine, and is making a determined pursuit after the rebellious ship with voluntary crews and officers. And unless the mutineers have enough provisions to enable them to reach a port held by revolutionists and with their aid, escape to the Caucasus Mountains, it will be only a few days until the battleship Kniaz Potemkine will be a thing of the past, as it is the irrevocable command of the Russian government that the ship be destroyed.

In Arkansas they have introduced hugging societies to swell the church treasury, and an Arkansas paper gives the following scale of prices: Squeeze, from 16 to 29, 50 cents; school man's 40 cents; another man's wife $1; widow, according to looks, 10 cents to $3; old maids 3 cents or two for a nickel, and not any limit of time. Preachers are not charged. Editors pay in advertising and subscription but are not allowed to participate until every body else is through and even then they are not allowed to squeeze any body, but old maids and school teachers. —Ex.

Lean horses and cattle will be a thing of the past in Foard Co. for the coming year. In addition to the large oat crop already harvested, the immense crops of kafir, sorghum, milo maize and millet, are a sure thing since the late rains. The corn crop is larger and better than it has ever been, and if good crops are any sign that the farmers will have fat horses, you will see old Blaze and Ballie just rolling fat this fall.

People from all over Foard and Knox counties attended the barbecue at the Hackberry Grove on the Wichita, and partook of the open-hearted hospitality of the people of the Cottonwood community at the Glorious 4th.

The pleasant, well contented expression on the countenances of these people and their eagerness to aid in making other people enjoy themselves, the pluck energy and "get up and do" with which they take hold of and pursue anything that adds pleasure and benefit to their locality, and above all the immense lot and the immense variety of good things they had to eat, showed the Cottonwood community to be a prosperous one and the people to be "livin' easy."

A ball game was pulled off in the afternoon between Cottonwood and Truscott, with the score 21 to 7 in favor of Cottonwood.

Such gatherings as this should happen oftener. They are a great factor in promoting the best interests and welfare of the people.

The Thalia Sunday School Picnic was in every way a success. The good citizens had everything nicely arranged. Good canvass arbor, well seated, and good ice cold drinks and ice cream furnished by the Ladies Aid Society. A nicely arranged program was rendered. After a song by the Sunday School, prayer was offered by Rev. S. O. Woods. Welcome address by the popular Baptist pastor, Rev. J. S. Sparks, which was followed by a Fourth of July oration by Arthur L. Leake, son of Rev. J. F. Leake, of Crowell. The young orator held the large audience of about three hundred people quietly listening for twenty five minutes. Then came a sumptuous repast. Such a dinner you seldom see anywhere—chickens piled up in great shape, fried, baked and roasted, with more salads, pickles and vegetables, together with the most delicious cakes and pies. Those from "Missouri" who were there to "see" can testify to the abundant supply.

This sumptuous dinner was followed by an afternoon program. It seemed like we were at "meeting" when Rev. Sparks called the crowd under the arbor, all hats came off and every one quietly came under the canvass to hear, and the little folks did well indeed. Little Edna Shaw captivated all who heard her. After the crowd was dismissed, they were called together again by Mr. Dan Roberts to hear a description of "How Ruby Played" by Arthur Leake, and such laughing as followed. Every man, woman and child was happy.

The only thing to mar our pleasure was an accident that happened to the little son of Bro. D. M. Shultz, who, while playing with another boy, fell upon his arm and it was broken. Fortunately Dr. Clark was on the ground and attended the wound.

Crowell was represented by our enterprising groceryman, J. H. Self, and wife, Dr. Clark, and family, Bro. Raney, Mrs. Leake and son and Ramona.

Margaret was well represented. Everybody had a good time and Thalia is great.

CATARRH OF STOMACH
CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

Miss Genevive May, 1317 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., Member Second High School Alumni Ass'n, writes:

"Peruna is the finest regulator of a disordered stomach I have ever found. It certainly deserves high praise, for it is skillfully prepared."

"I was in a terrible condition from a neglected case of catarrh of the stomach. My food had long ceased to be of any good and only distressed me after eating. I was nauseated, had heartburn and headaches, and felt run down completely. But in two weeks after I took Peruna I was a changed person. A few bottles of the medicine made a great change, and in three months my stomach was cleared of catarrh, and my entire system in a better condition."—Genevive May.

RAILWAY MILEAGE IN TEXAS.

Some Interesting Figures on Railways by Hon. Joseph D. Sayers.

Though there were 11,232 miles of railway in operation in Texas on June 30, 1904, which put her in the front rank of the States in respect to the aggregate of mileage within their respective borders, yet we find, upon investigation, that there cannot be grouped together any States east of the Rocky Mountains and north or south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, whose combined area equals or approximates that of Texas, that does not greatly exceed her in extent of railway mileage. For the comparison a group of States is taken: Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina have a total area of 231,945 square miles, and a railway mileage as shown in the latest published reports, of 21,905 miles; while Texas, with an area of 267,539 square miles, has only 11,232 miles of railway, or but little more than one half of the total mileage of the group of states mentioned, though her excess over them in area amounts to 39,823 square miles.

To put the comparison in another form, Texas has 4.51 miles of railway to every 100 square miles, as against 5.32 miles to a like area in the group of States named. From the Report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for 1903 we find that for every 100 square miles of territory Alabama then had 8.70 miles of railway; Arkansas, 7.19; Florida, 6.49; Georgia, 10.56; Kentucky, 9.01; Louisiana, 7.63; Mississippi, 7.13; Missouri, 10.67.

North Carolina, 5.23; South Carolina, 10.84; Tennessee, 7.99; Virginia, 9.71; and Texas, 4.22.

It may be answered that the States named are much older communities. This advantage, however, in the comparison is more than offset by the conditions growing out of the Civil War and by the many and substantial advantages which Texas has over them in other respects.

Nothing further should be required to demonstrate the present inadequacy of our railway facilities, and the necessity of a larger increase, and more generally distributed mileage, that that state may reach, within the present and next generations, the development which its area and resources make possible.

As railways are both lands increase in value, diversification in agriculture becomes practicable and profitable, and the industry of the farmer on every line better rewarded. Successful development of our mineral resources is, also, made possible, manufacturers of different kinds are established, desirable immigration is attracted, the wealth of the State is increased and the social intercourse of the people greatly promoted.

These, it may be admitted, are some of the direct results of railway building.

Richard Wagner's Revolt.

Richard Wagner, the composer, was an ardent Republican in 1849. In the archives of Dresden there has just been unearthed a document setting forth a case of high treason against the musician. He was accused of having written to a friend a letter proposing to turn Saxony into a republic. "But whom shall we make president?" he asked. "Is nobody competent for the office except our present sovereign, Frederick Augustus II." Frederick Augustus does not seem to have appreciated the humor of the suggestion that he should lift the crown and content himself with the dignity of a Republican president. For this flash of unaccountable fun, Wagner had to bolt to Switzerland.

Ironing Handkerchiefs.

In ironing handkerchiefs it is useful to remember that the middle should be ironed first. To iron the edge first causes the middle to swell out like a balloon and makes it difficult to iron satisfactorily. Test the iron carefully before using it. A piece of rag should be at hand for this purpose.

Don't Work.

A new soprano was needed to fill a vacancy in the church choir, and there were a lot of applicants. Each chose her own music, the idea being to allow the candidates to show off to the best advantage. One young woman sang a "piece" which began, "Turn me not away." She was turned away notwithstanding.

"For two years my neck was covered with sores, the humor spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the sores, inflammation and merciless itching made me wild. Friends advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after a few applications the torment subsided, to my great joy. The sores soon disappeared, and my hair grew again, as thick and healthy as ever. I shall always recommend Cuticura. (Signed) H. J. Spalding, 104 W. 104th St., New York City."

"Peruna is the finest regulator of a disordered stomach I have ever found. It certainly deserves high praise, for it is skillfully prepared."

"I was in a terrible condition from a neglected case of catarrh of the stomach. My food had long ceased to be of any good and only distressed me after eating. I was nauseated, had heartburn and headaches, and felt run down completely. But in two weeks after I took Peruna I was a changed person. A few bottles of the medicine made a great change, and in three months my stomach was cleared of catarrh, and my entire system in a better condition."—Genevive May.

Evolution of the Canary.

The evolution of the canary of today from its ancestor—or should it be ancestors?—of some centuries ago is as wonderful as the bringing of our present queen of the garden from the humble plover, the wild rose of our hedgerows. There surely could hardly be a contrast more striking, says a writer in Cage Birds, than that 'twixt the modern crested canary with its wonderful head feather, or the giant Linnachire and the greenish yellow little creature who fluttered and sang in the orange groves of the sunny islands whence they take their name. The writer sees no reason why canaries may not become the size of the song thrush.

The Doctor in the Duel.

A medical man in France was asked to be present at a duel in his professional capacity. He got up early, traveled some miles, "dressed" the swords and ministered to his client, who was slightly wounded. When both honor and wound were healed he looked for his fees and sent in a bill for $10. The patient replied with the following verse: "I am told that between men there is a question of delicacy which forbids even the slightest appearance of trade in such a matter. Neither the doctors nor the seconds are brought on the ground for money. You persist in your claim I shall to my great regret, be obliged to leave to others the duty of settling this fine point with you."

WOMAN WON POLITICAL PLACE.

Miss Estelle Reel, who has recently been appointed national superintendent of Indian schools for the third time, was the first woman to be appointed to an office by President Roosevelt, and the only one to be given a place of importance. She is probably the only woman holding office under the national government who carved her way to it by her own political efforts.

Tokio, June 22.—The following official dispatch was received here yesterday from the headquarters of the Japanese army in Manchuria: "In the direction of Wei Yuann-ping our detachment occupied Lienwhan on June 18 without encountering resistance. It also occupied Yungulintun, twenty miles west of Wei Yuann-ping, and drove the enemy back on his positions on the Kirin road.

"Further north another force the same day dislodged the enemy from Yangtsu Pass, ten miles north of Wei Yuann-ping, and occupied a line of hills northwest of Shihun-tsun and those several miles north and northwest of the same place.

"In the Changtu direction our force advanced along the railroad and dislodged the enemy's cavalry and infantry, holding an eminence two miles north of the Shihotzu Railroad station, and took possession of a line of hills south of Suimantun and eighteen miles northwest of Changtu on June 19. The situation was found to be demoralized. Our casualties were four wounded. The enemy left ten corpses, including the body of an officer, and three horses killed. Our force captured one machine gun and one rifle. The enemy's loss must have been heavy.

Our force, advancing on the Fonghwa road after a vigorous fight with infantry and artillery from 3 in the morning of June 19, dislodged the enemy from Peifangchengong, nineteen miles southeast of Hsien-shien, and occupied at 8:40 the same morning Tiantoukun, sixteen miles north of Changtu.

The satirical and speeches were made by Socialists. Up to this point the police had not interfered. ## Light Fiction.

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing in answer to a recent article in the book department of that paper by James Lane Allen, makes the following statement that there is only one thing for the best writers of fiction in this country to do, and that is to cater to the present demand for the soap-bubble novel. People no longer read for artistic enjoyment; they want to be amused and gently excited. Mental massage is, in the candid writer, the mission of the novelist. Ergo, since men will read tales of festive princesses in impossible German states and their recalcitrant lovers, let them have these Turkish sweetmeats in their best form. Mr. Howells should abstain from writing stories of any adventures, and Mr. Allen should forego the problem for the phantasia. Since men will not read a good story well written, give them a bad story well written rather than allow them to spend their entire time on bad stories badly written.

The propagator of such a theory forgets that the psalms are not satisfactory either in life or literature. Such compromises end only in the direct disaster from a purely practical point of view, to cast aside for the moment the artistic crime thus suggested. In the first place, the people who read persistently fiction of the kind indicated, cheap, flimsy, false, untrue to every principle of good nature, do not read well written books; they prefer the bad ones. It is idle to fancy that such is not the case. They like the literary garbage heap; it is both more highly colored and more strongly scented than the food served on a dinner table. Is it reasonable to think that they will realize the difference between garbage in its natural condition and garbage which has been prepared in the semblance of a meal by a French chef? Hardly can so unnatural a proposition as this receive credence from those familiar with the nature of popular taste.

To Remember Boynton.
Leading citizens of Chattanooga, Tenn., are agitating a movement to erect a memorial to General H. V. Boynton, late dean of Washington correspondents and head of the Chattanooga and Chickamauga national park commission. He is recognized as the originator of the idea and it was he who drew up the bill for the creation of the park commission and pressed its passage through congress. The idea has also been urged that General Boynton should be buried on Missionary ridge, where he was wounded. That he was Chattanooga's best friend was a common remark when the news of his death was received there.

"Bat" Leads Quiet Life.
"Bat" Masterson has been a deputy United States marshal for three months in the New York district, and so far he has not increased the number of notches in his gun stock. The fact of the matter is that "Bat" does not carry a gun and never has since he struck New York several years ago. He may be seen any day along Broadway peacefully discussing the chances of a horse or a prize fighter. He is a quiet, amiable fellow and very popular among those who know him best. Mr. Roosevelt know all about him before the appointment was made, and so did Marshal Henkel. Neither has been disappointed since "Bat" began his official duties.

Butter by the Yard.
From time immemorial in Cambridge, a town noted for its university, the dairymen roll the butter so as to form a long stick weighing a pound, which they sell in halves. If there are eight very exactly. And it appears that the customer is never given short measure.

Woman to Rule.

Woman's condition today is not only very much better than it ever has been, in point of healthful and happy environment and individual consideration, but it is shown by statistics, both national and municipal, that woman's environment apparently is better than man's. This conclusion may be reached as a result of the study of the figures that show that men in the United States are dying faster than the women.

In this country just passed, woman's condition underwent a tremendous change. Partly through the efforts of the splendid leaders of her own sex, and partly through the better understanding by man of the relative rights and obligations of the sexes, woman has acquired ever-increasing power, until today, if she does not enjoy the suffrage, she exercises a tremendous influence over those who do.

There are not wanting observers of the growth of woman's power, through the development which has been permitted to her, who say that the twentieth century will see an ever greater change in her relations to society than modern conditions. Cable has said that "the private home is the public hope," and woman today enjoys supremacy in the home such as perhaps she never enjoyed.

The development of the woman's club has shown the possibilities that await woman's profitable use of her energy. It is within her power to be far more thoroughly informed than the average busy man on all important matters of civic interest, and this fuller and clearer information she can employ in directing, even if she does not exercise, the suffrage.

Woman always has had her share of influence, but modern conditions, which the statistics argue insure to her longer life than man, give her also a greater opportunity to make the most of her intellectual and spiritual powers, and thus enable her to become the real ruler of the world.

West Point Class of 1855.

Gregg, Chief Justice Nichols, of the supreme court of Louisiana, and General Samuel Breck. These men graduated when the late Robert E. Lee was at the head of the Military academy. In that class were the brilliant and able leaders, General J. E. B. Stuart and General Hood.

American Gamblers.

Sir Thomas Dewar, in recounting his impressions of this country, says he was especially impressed with the universal interest taken by Americans in all sorts of contests. In illustrating this characteristic he tells of seeing a ragged newish boy cold afternoon with his eyes glued on the display in a baker's window. Sir Thomas slipped a dime into the little fellow's hand. The boy exclaimed: "Say, if dis ain't no 'lucky dime'!" "What did you want the cent for?" asked Sir Thomas. "I 'uz goin' to buy an extra to see what won. I've a dollar on de third race."

De say'n' is, friendship is gets a name; but, half of time, when you gets in trouble it tells de judge it ain't got no name at all!

It was the "Iowa Idea."

Director of the Minneapolis is telling a story on an Iowa friend with whom he recently visited the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds at Portland, Ore. The Iowa man had been accustomed to traveling railroad passes and deadhead tickets at theaters, so when he was confronted with a sign announcing the admission charge of 50 cents to the grounds he was inclined to balk. "Here," he said to his friend Roberts, "I don't like the idea of paying 50 cents to get in there. Wait a minute and I'll hunt up these fellows who are running the show, Lewis and Clark, and see if I can't get a pass."

"Nerve" and "Nervous."

Sir Frederick Trevelyan's testimony that the Japanese "have no nervous system," and that "nerves," as we know it, is an untranslatable term in Japan, invites a reference to the rather mournfully graphic history of the words "nerves" and "nervous," says the London Chronicle. A "nerve," by derivation from Greek and Latin and by earlier English use, is really a sinew. When Pope speaks of "nervous arms" he means exactly the "brawny arms" of the village blacksmith; and this sense survives metaphorically in a "nervous style of writing," which is very different from "nerve" in the same sense. But now the "nerves" no longer mean sinews, but—well, nerves—"nervous" in the common use has almost reversed its old meaning. In Johnson's time "nervous" in the modern sense was still only "medical chat." There were more men of "nerve" (strength and courage), no doubt, and fewer of "nerves."

More men get sore eyes looking for trouble than looking for work.

Don't be irritable.

"An irritated skin makes an irritable person, and an irritable person gathers much trouble unto himself or herself, as the case may be. Moral: Use Hunt's Cure, one box of which is absolutely and unqualifiedly guaranteed to cure any form of skin trouble. Any kind of itching skin is relieved at once and one box cures."

The Pope's Watch.

The favorite gossip of Roman training rooms centers around the pope's simplicity and sweetness of character. During a recent interview the pope took out his watch and looked at it. It was an old-much-rubbed, much-battered nickel watch, attached to his waistcoat by an ancient leather bootlace. One of the noblemen present, who noticed the humble timepiece, could not restrain his horror at the thought that the head of the church should have so poor a watch. He instantly took out his own watch—a valuable lever with a monogram in jewels on the back—and begged the pope, as a great favor, to exchange watches with him, that he might carry away a souvenir of the visit. But the pope refused the offer with great reluctance.

"My mother gave me this," he said, carrying the old nickel timepiece, "when I was a boy. I fastened it on with this very bootlace, and vowed that I would wear it so long as it would go at all. A vow, which his holiness, retaining the watch to his pocket, which I always believe to have been the cause of the admirable time that my chromometer keeps to this day, and never gets out of order."

Is the Bayonet Complete?

Many military critics have declared that the South African war demonstrates that the bayonet is an obsolete weapon, but Colonel C. B. Mayne, an English officer, who has for twenty years been known as an authority on infantry weapons, thinks otherwise. Even in South Africa, which he considers an exceptional case, he says that the British bayonet often kept the Boers from coming to close quarters, and thus taking full advantage of their victories. Nor does he think long range firing likely to be the decisive factor—"it is the short range firing, including the bayonet assault, that decides." However, as he calls 800 yards "short range," it will be seen that with magazine guns and plenty of ammunition no bayonet is likely to be stained with blood. If the cold steel is retained it will be chiefly for its moral influence, and for possible use in a night charge or against a foe that is short of cartridges.

"Sr." and "Jr." Prescribed.

The words "senior" and "junior" are rapidly going out of date in fashionable society in Gotham. These suffixes have never been popular in England, the country that New York patterns a good deal after, and for the last couple of years there has been a noticeable dropping of the "Sr." and "Jr." from cards here. After much discussion it has been generally conceded that the senior members of families of the same name shall be called Mr. or Mrs. S.—and So, and the next in line of the same name shall be called Mr. or Mrs. J.—and Smith, or whatever the family name may be. To speak of "Mrs. Smith" means that that lady is the acknowledged head of the female side of the house, also takes precedence in social affairs.

German Lies About America.

The German press has evidently made for itself an international grievance of the damage done to Frau Wagner's feelings by the production of "Parsifal" at the Metropolitan opera house, in defiance of her wishes. Not content with editorial blackguarding of Herr Griedel, the Metropolitan opera house, the New York public and the "Lantern press" generally for "the desecration of Wagner" prior to the production, they maliciously falsified their reports of that event so as to make it appear to their readers that the New York "Parsifal" was a burlesque on the street and a riot in the audience. The New York correspondents of German newspapers evidently wrote under instructions to vilify the performance and the audience, for their reports now reaching this country are made up almost entirely of ridiculous and malicious falsehoods.

The First Shoemaker.

It is said that the first American shoemaker was Thomas Bicker, who came over in the Mayflower with "hides, both upper and bottom." The governor gave him lodging and diet and fifty acres of land. Some of his descendants are making shoes. But the "gentle craft" of St. Crispin is about wiped out. The lap-stone, waxed thread, hog bristle and awl of olden time have been replaced with the most wonderful machinery. There is a machine which sews the soles on 550 pairs of shoes in a day. There are enough of these machines in use to sew 200,000,000 pairs in a year. There are hoisting machines which press into a solid mass the leather heel and set the nails ready for driving. One man today does the work that twenty men could not do by old methods.

Married and Bachelor Bishops.

Several of the English bishops were not married. The bishops of London, Lincoln, St. Albans and Worcester are all bachelors. On the other hand, several of the bishops have married twice, though there is none living who has achieved the record of the late Bishop Ryle of Liverpool in marrying three times. Two or three of the bishops have large families. Dr. Shephanks, bishop of Norwich, has had sixteen children, of which twelve are living; the bishop of Ripon has a family of eleven and Dr. Bickersteth, late bishop of Exeter, is the father of twelve children, one of whom became a bishop, while several other sons entered the church, and some of his daughters married clergymen. The bishop of London gave a singularly interesting dinner party last week. He welcomed as his guests at London house, St. James square, the several couples whom he has united in matrimony since he was preferred to the see of London. Each lady was garbed in white, and, with one or two exceptions, the costume was the one the bride wore on the day that had made her a wife. Very appropriately the gathering closed with a short service of thanksgiving.

Presidenta Polk's Papers.

The congressional library has received from Mrs. G. W. Fall, of Nashville, Tenn., a large box containing the papers and letters of President James K. Polk. The letters were bequeathed to the owner by the wife of President Polk, and have been in her possession for a number of years. The congressional library has been trying to gain possession of them for some time, as the collection is a very valuable one. Recent Mrs. Fall consented to turn them over to the government. The library officials decline to state the price paid for them, but it is understood the figure was $10,000.

"Rack Renting" in New York.

"Rack renting" in Ireland is a national issue, but in New York, where it has finer refinements of cruelty, it is hardly noticed. In the year just closed there were 60,463 heads of families unable to pay rent, and consequently evicted. The total of 60,463 evictions is larger by far than that of last year or any other year in the history of New York courts. During the eviction period in Ireland, when the whole world rang with stories of the poor turned out of their homes by landlords, there was no one year in which the number of evictions was one-twentieth of those in Manhattan during 1903. It is not generally known that such good paying properties as the Imperial hotel, the Waldorf and hundreds of good rent-yielding buildings in Broadway send their earnings to England. Yet this is a fact. Many a stately manor house abroad would give up its big entertainments the moment its New York rentals were cut off. The Astors, the Golets, the Martins—all of whom have expatriated themselves—live in magnificent style in England on their New York rentals. They never inquire into the equities of the situation, but instruct their agents to collect "all the traffic will bear." It is "rack renting" all over again, but not subject to the odium of a political issue.
