MR. KELL'S SPEECH AT VERNON THUR.

Mr. Frank Kell, a member of the board of directors of the regional reserve bank located at Dallas, Texas, president of the food and feed conservation commission of Texas, and one of the leading business men of Wichita Falls and of Northwest Texas, spoke to a large audience last Thursday afternoon at Vernon, on a number of phases of America's part in the war now being waged for democracy, retribution, justice and humanity. Only a part of his speech was devoted to the matter of the production of food and feed in Texas and in the United States. At this time and for some time to come this question is and will be an overshadowing one, not only for the American people, but for the world. For our country's part in this unnecessary and brutally senseless war is, first, to furnish food, munitions, and other war supplies to those who are fighting our battles as well as their own; second, to extend credit and financial aid to them. This work our government has performed most liberally, having to June 14 loaned to the British Government $500,000,000 and to all the allies $948,000,000, or nearly one billion dollars, an enormous sum. And another thing which our country has engaged to do is to furnish an efficient and effective fighting force to assist the allied armies in "killing as many Germans as possible" whether in outposts, Belgium, in the desolated part of France, or where ever they may be found fighting for kaiserism.

For about thirty-three months nearly the whole of Europe has been engaged in consuming and destroying food and the means of food production and food supply. Production has fallen far below the actual demand; hence, food stocks of whatever kind have been exhausted. This condition called for greater exports from the United States and Canada. Our surplus has been very much decreased. And when the government's April wheat crop report was published showing that conditions, April 1, promised only 430,000,000 bushels for 1917 as against 480,000,000 bushels for 1916, 570,000,000 bushels for 1915, 1916, 570,000,000 bushels for 1915, and 584,000,000 for 1914, a food panic was produced and has continued since that date. Mr. Kell said that this panic was brought on by speculators and by scared consumers who began to buy and to store up. (He cited as proof of this the fact that in a certain large town every family on a certain block had stored in its house from 500 to 1000 pounds of flour that sugar and other forms of food also were stored in large quantities. In view of this shortage in the wheat crop and in view of the increase in exports to foreign countries it was necessary that steps be taken to increase and conserve the food of this country. At the earnest solicitation of Mr. Kell and many others in Texas and throughout the country the Department of Agriculture under Sec. Houston began to encourage the sowing of spring wheat and the planting of other food crops on as large a scale as possible. As a result of this campaign the government report for May showed a crop of 750,000,000 bushels of winter and spring wheat in sight for 1917, and a large production of other food crops was promised. A food shortage and a food panic in this country would enable Germany to dictate peace terms to the allied nations. Napoleon said that "an army travels on its stomach;" if he were alive and dealing in war stocks today he would say that an army fights with its stomach, as it has about left off the traveling. The speaker declared that we must prepare for this war whether it is to last five months or five years; that the country will be organized for the greatest possible food production as one of the most effective means of winning it; that our allies are looking to us to help feed them, and that we must supply them with the amount of food they will require of us.

Mr. Kell said but little as to the necessity of the conservation of food. This every one is learning from experience. The writer recently read a statement to the effect that one slice of bread wasted each day for a year by each family in the United States would be wasting the equivalent of the yield of 450,000 acres of wheat at 20 bushels per acre, or 9,000,000 bushels. But suppose that each family wastes the equivalent of three slices of bread each day, which is a moderate estimate; think what the waste amounts to in a single year. This lack of economy, or wasting of food, lends in two ways to increase its cost: It increases the amount consumed, and hence decreases the surplus on hand at any time; this, according to the law of supply and demand, will increase the price of the surplus. And after allowance is made for waste it would seem that there is no possible room or reason for extravagance by any family. The paramount question in this matter of food supply is not to economize to reduce its cost but that there will in this world emergency be enough to supply actual needs. Germany hopes "to bring England to her knees" soon by cutting off her food supply by the use of submarines; President Wilson says we must carry food to our allies "submarines or no submarines"; but if we have not the food to spare, submarine warfare will be unnecessary as we shall not have it to take to our allies.

The greater part of Mr. Kell's speech was devoted to three other matters relative to the war, namely, the buying of Liberty Loan Bonds, the willingness of our young men to offer their services to their country in this its time of greatest need, and the safeguarding of their morals while they are serving it. The writer will outline only the last named.

An effort is now being made in this country to raise by popular subscription a Y. M. C. A. fund of $100,000,000. That fund is to be used by that noble institution for the benefit of our soldiers in the field—its influence is, in a measure, to take the place of the influence of mother and sister in safeguarding them against bad habits. Thousands of the brave boys who will many times go through the ordeal of battle unscathed will come home moral wrecks unless they are taken care of in a moral way. The speaker suggested that mothers have their sons sign a pledge written in a book that they will not drink or gamble during their army life. He said we should contribute to this fund when called upon to do so, that in so doing we would contribute to the winning of the war and to the saving of the manhood of many of our young soldiers. In conclusion Mr. Kell said that we cannot afford to lose this war, that the cause of democracy must triumph over barbarity. He said "Germany is not a great nation; no nation guilty of the heinous crimes of which she is guilty can be called great." He also said "the Commanche Indian is a gentleman and a Christian beside the German who tied his dead soldiers in bundles with wire and shipped them to cauldrons where the grease would be extracted from their bodies." He severely condemned Germany for her treatment of Belgium and Belgium's helpless population, and particularly for her carrying away the female population of Noyon, France, when the German army was forced to evacuate that place. He said that after the war we should help to restore Belgium, that had not the German horde been held up ten days at Liege by the heroic Belgian army the war in Europe would have long since been over and we would today be fighting Germany alone.—Contributed.

Will Take Business Course
Miss Verna Mitchell, who has been employed as compositor in the News office for about two years in succession, will leave next week for San Angelo, where she expects to enter a business college and take a business course. Miss Verna has been a very faithful worker in the News office. She has always taken great interest in the paper and has furnished very efficient help, and there is no doubt that the change of employment when she shall have completed her course will be found to be more pleasant and more remunerative than that of a tiresome composition work in a newspaper office. Many young ladies are making a success of the business life and the News wants to encourage them along that line. They are just as talented as boys are, yes, and more. Then why not give them a chance.

Moved to Cool Colorado
B. J. Smith was back in Crowell this week to load his cars to ship to Colorado. They are making their home for the present in Colorado Springs, and had their paper changed to that place. We regret to lose this excellent family from our community.

FOARD COUNTY'S APPORTIONMENT 11

U. S. Army Recruiting Station,
1514 Main Street, Dallas, Tex.
June 13, 1917.

The editor of Foard County News,
Dear Sir:

Figured on a basis of 2 per thousand and population the War Department expects to fill the Regular Army to War strength by June 30, next.

It is essential to have this number to fill up the 51 new Regiments now being organized. Much valuable time is now being lost in training.

If each county will furnish its quota this district will be able to show that North Texas has responded to the President's call for Volunteers for the War only.

Your county should send 11. Each postmaster has detailed instructions as to who can enlist and the circulars giving information as to branches of service. There is also enclosed hand bills which may be of interest.

The only way we can hope to get this quota is for the local press to give all publicity possible and urge mayors, ministers, postmasters and all public speakers and other patriotic citizens appoint himself a committee of one to urge every man between 18 and 40 years of age who can qualify to enlist in the U. S. Army.

Registration is no bar to voluntary enlistment. Until a man actually gets notice that he has been selected he can be accepted.

Other counties are furnishing their quota, will yours fall behind! The War Department is recording the number of voluntary enlistments from each county and due credit will be given for such enlistment.

The first men enlisted will have advantage of the earliest training with best prospects of first active service on the battle front in Europe.

Yours truly,
M. G. Holliday,
Capt. of Cavalry, Recruiting Officer.

An Appeal to Young Men
To all those young men of Foard and adjoining counties, who are contemplating volunteering for service in the Crowell Company of National Guards, we would respectfully urge that you do not delay this matter longer, but that you enlist now, as the time for volunteering is drawing to a close very rapidly. In fact, it may be any hour, so that no one can volunteer, and if that should occur then all will be selected from the draft system. If you do this now you will be of a great assistance to the Company and will in that way be helping yourself. The Company has at this date about 35 young men enrolled, and our greatest desire is to increase this number to 75 by Sunday night. Therefore if you are interested, call now and talk this matter over and if you like, volunteer. Call and see us at our office in the ground floor of the Bell building.
Clyde B. Graham, Capt.
Jim Bomar, 1st Lieut.

Removes to Thalia
E. F. Hart has bought an interest in the drug store at Thalia and has removed his family to that place where he will be in charge of the business. Mr. Hart is a good druggist, having been in the business here for a number of years, during the pioneer days of this county, and what is better, he is one of our very best citizens. The drug business is his profession and while we regret to lose him as a citizen from Crowell, we are glad he is making his home in the county and in the business of his choice.

Shoe Shop Sold
J. A. Goff has sold his shoe shop to J. H. Thornton and will go on the road as representative of the Singer Sewing machine Co. J. W. Duncan will have charge of the shop.

CROWELL BOY AR- RIVES IN ENGLAND

Judge Cole has the distinction of having the first boy from Foard county to go to the front. He received a letter from his son, Kinloch, who has served three years in the coast artillery and went with the first U. S. troops to cross the Atlantic. Kinloch is doubtless somewhere in France at this time. The time of his enlistment had expired just about the time war was declared, and his father and family here were expecting him to arrive at home from the western coast within a short time, when he was called back to the service of his country as a reserve and did not have the opportunity of visiting his home at Crowell. His father received the following letter from him a few days ago:

Blackpool, England, May 24, 1917.
Dear father:

We arrived here from the states yesterday. I am with Base Hospital No. 5. I don't know when we will leave for France.

I thought of writing you just before I sailed, but knew you would be worried until you heard of our safe arrival. We had no trouble at all, and in fact, we had a very pleasant trip.

The people of England certainly gave us a royal reception and every one seemed to be enjoying himself very much.

Your son,
Kinloch.

Of course no one knows whether Kinloch will ever see his country again or not, but if he does, he will have the distinction of being the first to go to scene of battle from Foard county. If he does not, he will be honored as having been the first to offer his life as a sacrifice for the good of his country. And let it be said that there is no real patriotism without willingness to sacrifice, both at home and abroad. We must all join hands together in one common cause, all sacrificing that which conditions demand of us.

Ladies Aid
The ladies Aid of the Christian church was delightfully entertained from 3 till 5 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Crews. During the afternoon several vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by Mrs. Merrill, Frankie Kirkpatrick and Vera Crews. Mrs. Kincaid favored us with a pleasing story.

Delightful conversations and fancy work was indulged in till the hour of departure, when the hostess in her gracious manner served us to delightful pineapple cream and wafers. After which each one voting Mrs. Crews a most gracious hostess.

Patriotic Rally at Crowell
There will be held a patriotic rally in the District court room of the court house Saturday, June 23rd at 3 p. m. A program will be rendered consisting of speeches by Representative Cope of Childress, Prof. T. A. Taggart of Crowell, and other numbers to be supplied later.

Young men especially are invited to be present, as matters will be discussed that are of vital importance to every one. Everybody invited.

Revival to Start
In conference last Sunday the members of the Baptist church decided to start their revival on Friday night before the First Sunday in August.

More About Our Linotype
We have said but little about our Linotype, but we stated last week that likely we would have more to say about it this week. And this is what we have to say:

We have been using it one week, and of course have had some little difficulties to overcome in operating the machine. But we feel that we are slowly mastering the machine. That means a great deal. Every line of type this week has been set on it, and the reader will observe that the paper has a neater appearance than formerly. It is set in 8 point this week, while heretofore it has been set in 10 point. Each week the type faces will be new, just as much so as new type, the fact is it is new type, because it is cast each week.

We feel that the addition of this machine to the equipment of the News will be worth an inestimable amount to us in enabling us to get out a first-class paper.

Besides, it places us where we can handle a class of work which heretofore has been too expensive for us by the old method of setting by hand, and yet we almost had to handle it. This includes such work as books and pamphlets. We are proud of the machine, because we feel that we can give our customers better service than we have ever been able to give them before. A number of our friends have come into the office since the machine has been in operation, and many of them have remarked that it is a great thing for Crowell. That is just the way we want you to feel about it. It is not so much an improvement for the exclusive benefit of the managers of the News. It is that Crowell may have the best possible service in the line of printing and newspaper work. And right here we wish to call attention to one fact that perhaps is overlooked by many. Every piece of machinery in the News office today was put here by the present managers. We have made greater outlays for the improvement of the plant than all the former owners of the plant combined since its establishment 27 years ago. We are doing this for Crowell because we want to see Crowell at the front in all things, and we are doing our best at this point.

In view of these things we feel that we are entitled to the strongest possible patronage of the people of the town and the county. And so far we have had good support. Our business men have been liberal in extending their patronage, and our readers of the entire county have and are now staying with us in a way that is most encouraging.

This we must have if we succeed in giving you the paper you demand. But with your patronage we will give you that service. In adding this new machinery we are expressing confidence in the fact that our patrons will continue to give us their patronage as they have done in the past. When you have done that we will do the rest.

A great many folks have never seen a Linotype. So you are invited again to call into the office at any time you wish and see this machine.

It may not be in operation, it is likely that it will be, but you can get some idea as to what it is anyway.

Oh, no, it is not anything. Thousands of them are in use all over the land. And yet it is the first one that was ever operated in Crowell. Come in. The door is open all the day long and you are welcome.

Coming! Coming!
Rev. J. W. Hunt is coming to Crowell to preach through a meeting which will begin on the 1st Sunday in July.

Rev. Hunt is one of the very best preachers in Texas. If you miss a single sermon, you will miss a treat. We will build a commodious arbor by the Methodist church and hold the first service there. It has been years since a great meeting in Crowell and the time has come when we must have it.

On next Sunday morning we earnestly insist that every member of our church come to the morning service at the Methodist church. We want a special service preparatory to our meeting. I appeal to all who are interested in any measure in the meeting to come out next Sunday morning. We will not have service next Sunday night, but go to the other meeting. Be sure to come next Sunday morning.—M. W. Rogers.

OUR LETTER FROM CAMP FUNSTON

Camp Funston, June 10, 1917.
During the past week Camp Funston has been the scene of unrelenting toil on the part of officers and students alike. The preliminaries of the new course had just been completed, equipment had been issued to all, the full enrollment had been reached, and every one was ready for business.

The most interesting new feature of this week probably was the elementary tactics introduced into our usual routine of marching, handling guns, making up the pack, etc. This work consisted in "rushes" in which we were required at a command to fall flat on the ground face downward and lie there till commands for an advance were given. In this we were obliged to spring up as one man, lean over and run like jack rabbits till the leader yelled "down" when every man must fall flat again. But this was not all. Sometimes the Germans would have our numbers so exactly that we couldn't afford to rise. In that case we lay as close to the rocky ground as was possible and crawled at the command of the leader, by the aid of one leg and the elbows, without raising the body more than an inch or two above the ground. Now if any one doubts this being work, let him try it. But he must carry his gun and equipment as he goes, because he is shooting his way along the line.

The introduction of the "skin book" has been a source of some annoyance to the "rookie officers". This is a very appropriate name for a demerit system of grading men in their conduct in the camp. Any breach of discipline, avoidable error in the performance of a duty, or inattention, or other disqualifying fault committed is recorded against the offender as a "skin."

Of course it has been explained frequently by instructors, that some men are by nature unsuited to military style and also that one should not feel offended or embarrassed if he is reported mopt. For as one instructor expressed it, the ability for war making and waging is not by any means one to be desired by an ideal people. But in our present situation, we need and must have the men who can lead others in warfare and since numbers here are unsuited to the requirements, some system, severe tho it may be, must be applied to find them.

Many of the forty or more who have thus far been eliminated from Co. 9, have shown an admirable spirit. One man, a lawyer from Denison after being rejected made the company a speech declaring himself ready to fight and to go to France if Uncle Sam called him, at the same time encouraging the men who had eliminated him from the camp.

The 3rd Artillery has a band here in camp which furnishes very enjoyable programs on certain days.

The Y. M. C. A. organization has erected a building which furnishes a convenient meeting place for assemblies and programs which are held occasionally. A piano is one of the luxuries provided in the building. Some of the boys have strung instruments and others are singers. So a musical program is by no means a rare form of entertainment for the soldiers.

The "Y" also affords tables and furnishes stationery for all who desire to write letters. Many mothers owe this organization for letters their boys would not have taken time to write, had the opportunity been less favorable.

The new aeroplanes stationed at Ft. Sam Houston may be seen almost any day at Camp Funston flying over the reservation hunting for imaginary hidden reserves, or ammunition stores.

But the mess call has sounded. I shall conclude next week.
Yours truly,
J. E. Johnson.

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers

Ouch ! ? ? ! ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the High heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.

Obituary

M. J. Frierson was born Jan 25, 1888, in Milam county, Texas. Married Miss Mallie Magee, July 13, 1914. "Mike" as he was commonly called, lived in Crowell two years prior to his marriage and numbered his friends by his acquaintances, as he did everywhere he lived. He was not a member of any church but lived a daily life of kindness and good deeds to all.

Mr. Frierson had been in ill health for more than two years, and after all that could be done for his restoration it pleased God that he should be taken. He leaves a wife, two brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Geo. A. Crane, Presbyterian pastor, from the residence of Mrs. Magee and interment was made in the city cemetery.—Contributed.

Is It a Square Deal?

Are the women getting a square deal when they are compelled to get along the best they can with old fashioned equipment while the men use the latest labor saving appliances? The men have electric lights, fans, etc., to work by, but how about the women? Why don't you have that house wired for electric service and then she can iron or have a fan or vacuum cleaner or washing machine run by motor or any of the hundred odd conveniences and labor saving appliances. It will lengthen her life and make her better natured and prettier—or do you want to save your money for the children to fight over after you are dead? Do the square thing by each member of the family. Our prices are reasonable and we wire houses or sell equipment on the installment plan.—Yoder Light & Power Co.

CROWELL, TEXAS, JUNE 22, 1917

Japan seems to think that Uncle Sam should ask permission from her to write notes to China. Japan may have to be shown that Miss China is of age. As for Uncle Sam, he will take care of himself.

The fact that Liberty Bonds were lions asked for to the amount of about $800,000,000, does not indicate that the American people are entering the war in a half-hearted manner. When Uncle Sam gets into the conflict his power will hasten the end of the war. He still has billions of money and millions of men that say right must and will prevail.

Privates in the Guard receive $30.00 per month, first class privates $33.00, buglers $30.00, cooks $40.00, mechanics and corporals $33.00, sergeants $40.00, supply sergeants and mess sergeants $44.00 and first sergeants $53.00 per month. As the soldier is furnished with a home and food, his pay is practically, in the vernacular of the street, "velvet."

Hubert Hoover, the food man, is urging the preachers all over the land to prepare sermons on the conservation of food to be delivered on July 1. It would be a hard matter to get a hungry man to agree to divide rations with anybody else when he himself is hungry. In view of this fact we would suggest that these sermons be postponed until just after supper, or until the evening service.

Doubtless the subscriptions to the Liberty Loan being as they were some $800,000,000 more than was called for, will call for other statements like unto those already spoken by Kaiser Wilhelm, that the American people love their money too well to spend it in preparing for war. We have no desire to offend bristle-billed Bill by any sarcastic remarks, but the old man will have to guess again.

The Russian Duma has passed resolutions for a close co-operation with the allies against Germany. That Russia is preparing to launch an offensive and enter the war with new zeal and determination to risk everything for the safety of the Democracy is altogether an encouraging indication. At last Russia has seen the "insincerity of Germany's peace proposals. The wolf in sheep's clothing has been recognized.

There may be an element of truth in what Jim Ferguson said about the fraternities of the State University and he may have said other things that were not far from the truth, yet these were of too minor importance to justify the action he took. Fraternities are common to all universities and while they are sores on the student body of any institution they should be dealt with as such. It is poor judgment to stab the patient in order to destroy the disease.

It is undoubtedly a wise move on the part of the President to take steps to control the price of food. It looks like that is going to be one of the problems that must be solved. If the people at home are to aid in the war how can they be expected to do so while the fight to keep the wolf from their door is intensified? The best thing to do first would be to capture the food speculators and put them in the pen and then pass a law prohibiting further speculation. We would not have the President regard this statement as a suggestion, yet it is, in our belief, the best way to manage the situation.

The entire Panhandle country, of which this county is a part, should have made a strong and united effort to land the West Texas A. & M. well within our bounds. Climatic and soil conditions are distinctly different here from those of any other portion of the State. They are such that successful farming must be made a scientific proposition. The State needs such school here in the Panhandle and the Panhandle needs it, but no town needs it. It looks like a costly form of trying to boost one's town, to claim that because a town is one's own, it is the only place for the A. & M. The entire country would be very greatly benefited by an agreement by all concerned as to the most logical and suitable place. Town rivalry over a thing like that often results in a mistake which works hurt to the people and for an indefinite time they have to pay the price. It is hoped that the location committee will not be influenced by men or money in finding a location.

REV. SYKES TELLS OF HIS WIFE'S TROUBLES

Minister of the Gospel Thinks It His Duty to Make Statement About Wonderful Change.

It is seldom, indeed, that men of prominence, especially ministers of the gospel, willingly express their indebtedness publicly to a proprietary medicine. However, when a medicine obtains that singular purity and efficiency that is shown by the uniform preparation, Tanlac, statements from our best citizens are to be considered thoroughly commensurate with the good that is actually being accomplished.

Rev. A. H. Sykes, pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., prominent not only as a minister of the gospel, but popular as a man and citizen who has been true to his friends and every trust ever reposed in him, said recently.

"For the past ten months, Mrs. Sykes has been in very delicate health, suffering from bad stomach and kidney troubles, which gradually developed into a general nervous breakdown. At times her condition became alarming, and I frequently sought medical advice, but nothing we could do for her seemed to bring relief. In fact, she suffered so long and so much that I feel it my duty to let everyone know what this medicine has done for her. For several months her condition was such that she had to remain in bed and as a last resort, I decided to let her try Tanlac.

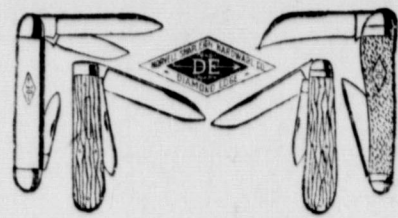

"I am a conservative man and have always been skeptical regarding the use of proprietary medicines, but this case has certainly proven an exception. I am now firmly convinced that Tanlac is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had taken only two-thirds of a bottle of this medicine when we began to notice a marked improvement in her condition. In less than a week from the time she began taking it she was able to sit up and is today able to help with the household duties. Before she began taking Tanlac she had fearful pains in her side, and suffered constantly from sour stomach and indigestion and was intensely nervous. These distressing symptoms, I am thankful to say have entirely disappeared, her appetite has returned and she seems to relish everything she eats. She sleeps better and is gaining strength and flesh rapidly. I think it only a question of a short time until her health is fully restored.

"Tanlac has certainly proven a remarkable remedy in her case and will do all you claim for it. I cheerfully recommend it to my friends." Tanlac is sold in Crowell by the Owl Drug Co.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It amkes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theford's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, and we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theford's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theford's, the original and genuine. E 78

Meeting all war expenses by taxation makes the taxpayers in one or two years bear the burden of benefits that ought to be distributed at least over a decade within the same generation.

In the second place, when expenditures approach the gigantic sums of present-day warfare, the tax-only policy would require more than the total surplus of social income. Were this absolutely necessary, the ensuing havoc in the economic life of the community would have to be endured. But where the disasters are so great and at the same time so unnecessary, the tax-only policy may be declared impracticable.

Secretary McAdoo had the right instinct and highly commendable courage in deciding that a substantial portion, at least, of the revenues should be derived from taxation. But when he hit upon the plan of 50-50 per cent., that is, of raising one-half of all domestic war expenditures by taxes, the question arises whether he did not go too far.

The relative proportion of loans to taxes is after all a purely business proposition. Not to rely to a large extent on loans at the outset of a war is a mistake.

Disadvantages of Excessive Taxes.

The disadvantages of excessive taxes at the outset of the war are as follows:

1. Excessive taxes on consumption will cause popular resentment.
2. Excessive taxes on industry will disarrange business, damp enthusiasm and restrict the spirit of enterprise at the very time when the opposite is needed.
3. Excessive taxes on incomes will deplete the surplus available for investments and interfere with the placing of the enormous loans which will be necessary in any event.
4. Excessive taxes on wealth will cause a serious diminution of the incomes which are at present largely drawn upon for the support of educational and philanthropic enterprises. Moreover, these sources of support would be dried up precisely at the time when the need would be greatest.
5. Excessive taxation at the outset of the war will reduce the elasticity available for the increasing demands that are soon to come.

Great Britain's Policy.

Take Great Britain as an example. During the first year of the war she increased taxes only slightly, in order to keep industries going at top notch. During the second year she raised by new taxes only 9 per cent. of her war expenditures. During the third year she levied by additional taxes (over and above the pre-war level) only slightly more than 17 per cent. of her war expenses.

If we should attempt to do as much in the first year of the war as Great Britain did in the third year it would suffice to raise by taxation $1,250,000,000. If, in order to be absolutely on the safe side, it seemed advisable to increase the sum to $1,500,000,000, this should, in our opinion, be the maximum.

In considering the apportionment of the extraordinary burden of taxes in war times certain scientific principles are definitely established:

How Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

(1) The burden of taxes must be spread as far as possible over the whole community so as to cause each individual to share in the sacrifices according to his ability to pay and according to his share in the Government.

(2) Taxes on consumption, which are necessarily borne by the community at large, should be imposed as far as possible on articles of quasi-luxury rather than on those of necessity.

(3) Excises should be imposed as far as possible upon commodities in the hands of the final consumer rather than upon the articles which serve primarily as raw material for further production.

(4) Taxes upon business should be imposed as far as possible upon net earnings rather than upon gross receipts or capital invested.

(5) Taxes upon income which will necessarily be severe should be both differentiated and graduated. That is there should be a distinction between earned and unearned incomes and there should be a higher rate upon the latter.

It is essential, however, not to make the income rate so excessive as to lead to evasion, administrative difficulties, or to the more fundamental objections which have been urged above.

(6) The excess profits which are due to the war constitute the most obvious and reasonable source of revenue during war times. But the principle upon which these war-profit taxes are laid must be equitable in theory and easily calculable in practice.

The Proposed Income Tax.

The additional income tax as passed by the House runs up to a rate of 90 per cent. This is a sum unheard of in the history of civilized society. It must be remembered that it was only after the first year of the war that Great Britain increased her income tax to the maximum of 34 per cent., and that even now in the fourth year of the war the income tax does not exceed 42 1/2 per cent.

It could easily be shown that a tax with rates on moderate incomes substantially less than in Great Britain, and on the larger incomes about as high, would yield only slightly less than the $532,000,000 originally estimated in the House bill.

It is to be hoped that the Senate will reduce the total rate on the highest incomes to 34 per cent., or at most to 40 per cent., and that at the same time it will reduce the rate on the smaller incomes derived from personal or professional earnings.

If the war continues we shall have to depend more and more upon the income tax. By imposing excessive rates now we are not only endangering the

HOW SHALL WE PAY FOR THE WAR?

A Constructive Criticism on the House Revenue Bill.

LOANS BETTER THAN TAXES

Five Reasons Why Excessive Taxes at the Outset of War Are Disadvantageous—Great Britain Example Worthy of Emulation—How the Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

By EDWIN R. A. SELIGMAN, McVickar Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

On May 23, 1917, the House of Representatives passed an act "to provide revenue to defray war expenses and for other purposes." In the original bill as presented by the Committee of Ways and Means, the additional revenue to be derived was estimated at $1,810,420,000. The amendment to the income tax, which was tacked on to the bill during the discussion in the House, was expected to yield another $400,000,000 or $500,000,000.

In discussing the House bill, two problems arise:

I. How much should be raised by taxation?

II. In what manner should this sum be raised?

I. How Much Should Be Raised by Taxation?

How was the figure of $1,800,000,000 arrived at? The answer is simple. When the Secretary of the Treasury came to estimate the additional war expenses for the year 1917-18, he calculated that they would amount to some $6,900,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 was to be allotted to the allies, and $3,900,000,000 was to be utilized for the domestic purposes. Thinking that it would be a fair proposition to divide this latter sum between loans and taxes, he concluded that the amount to be raised by taxes was $1,800,000,000.

There are two extreme theories, each of which may be dismissed with scant courtesy. The one is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by loans, and the other is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by taxes. Each theory is untenable.

It is indeed true that the burdens of the war should be borne by the present rather than the future generation; but this does not mean that they should be borne by this year's taxation.

future, but are inviting all manner of difficulties which even Great Britain has been able to escape.

Conclusion. The House bill contains other fundamental defects which may be summed up as follows:

- (1) It pursues an erroneous principle in imposing retroactive taxes.
- (2) It selects an unjust and unworkable criterion for the excess-profits tax.
- (3) It proceeds to an unheard-of height in the income tax.
- (4) It imposes unwarranted burdens upon the consumption of the community.
- (5) It is calculated to throw business into confusion by levying taxes on gross receipts instead of upon commodities.
- (6) It fails to make a proper use of stamp taxes.
- (7) It follows an unscientific system in its flat rate on imports.
- (8) It includes a multiplicity of petty and ungenerative taxes, the vexatiousness of which is out of all proportion to the revenue they produce.

The fundamental line on which the House bill should be modified are summed up herewith:

(1) The amount of new taxation should be limited to $1,250,000,000—or at the outset to $1,500,000,000. To do more than this would be as unwise as it is unnecessary. To do even this would be to do more than has ever been done by any civilized Government in time of stress.

(2) The excess-profits tax based upon a sound system ought to yield about $500,000,000.

(3) The income-tax schedule ought to be revised with a lowering of the rates on earned incomes below $10,000, and with an analogous lowering of the rates on the higher incomes, so as not to exceed 34 per cent. A careful calculation shows that an income tax of this kind would yield some $450,000,000 additional.

(4) The tax on whisky and tobacco ought to remain approximately $230,000,000.

These three taxes, together with the stamp tax at even the low rate of the House bill, and with an improved automobile tax, will yield over $1,250,000,000, which is the amount of money thought desirable.

The above program would be in harmony with an approved scientific system. It will do away with almost all of the complaints that are being urged against the present. It will refrain from taxing the consumption of the poor.

It will throw a far heavier burden upon the rich, but will not go to the extreme of confiscation. It will obviate interference with business and will keep unimpaired the social productivity of the community. It will establish a just balance between loans and taxes and will not succumb to the danger of approaching either the tax-only policy or the loan-only policy. Above all, it will keep an undisturbed elastic margin, which must be more and more heavily drawn upon as the war proceeds.

 PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

 Sense in the Sickroom.
 Every one who goes into a sick person's room should be bright and cheerful. Sick people are extremely sensitive to the manner of those around them, and any depressing influence has a most injurious effect. Hope is the best medicine. Unfortunately the sick person's relatives often take the worst view of the case, and their anxiety is unmistakably manifested by their looks, voice and general manner. They even talk despairingly in the room, thinking that because the patient is quiet and dull he does not understand. But his perception of everything relating to his illness is markedly acute. Note the good effects of the visit of a cheery doctor. For hours after the patient seems better and is better. Of course it does not do to be flippant, but if relatives would force themselves to take a hopeful view and show it in their manner they would in many cases actually save the sick person's life.
