C. C. Fox and U. C. Rader hauled coal for the school, also a pretty good supply for themselves. U. C. is almost recovered from the day's work.

Last week wheat sowing, harrowing and cotton picking was the order of the day. This week, it is different, rain! rain! It looks as though we had moved east.
Some of our people say two dry years had put them in the notion never to grumble about rain. Some of them have commenced to have long faces, and we expect to hear something soon.
We certainly have a fine rural route man, although we feel sorry for him as Sears & Roebuck are certainly doing a big business in this part of the county. We regret to see this as we believe in patronizing home merchants.

Texas where he went to get help to gather his crop. He says they are not through gathering where he has been on account of the rain.

What is the use to worry over the wet weather. Last year the cry was that we need more rain, now the cry is we have too much rain. So, you see we can never be satisfied.

Luther Ward decided he didn't have time to wait for his Ford that he has ordered, so he purchased a second hand one from Ramous Wyatt.

John Adkins has returned from East.
The new oil derrick which has been put up recently on Frank Long's place has not caused much excitement yet, probably they are waiting, for of course there are going to be exciting times.

Uncle Jake and Uncle John have struck for $5 per hundred and board for cotton picking and they don't propose to let any one pick for less.

Dewie Russell came home from the U. S. Navy this week. He served on the ship, George Washington, and was with the President and friends on their trip to and from France.
Our gin has turned out 160 bales up to this time and we might say to November 1st, for there will be no more picking this month. One hundred and sixty bales of cotton means $40,000 already distributed in this neighborhood among the people and we hope to save some of that which is now under water.

When Uncle Sam took over the railroads he cut out the telegraph business and we have no way of knowing when the trains will arrive. Passengers must be there on schedule time and sit in the cold several hours waiting for trains. If they would install a phone at the depot it would be of great service to the agent and public.
The fuel question is the most important trouble at present. The miners have agreed to strike for double pay, a six hour day and Saturday to play. The President has asked the miners to please be good, and explained to them what awful suffering and damage this strike would cause in the whole country. All of which they knew and had planned the strike for that purpose. We recollect when he asked the Germans to be good and please stop sinking our ships, etc., but after waiting a year we had to go and make them be good at the cost of billions of money and hundreds of thousands of our young men, and they are not so blamed good yet. Let us have no delay about this strike business, but make them good at once.

VINSON SPEAKS IN FAVOR OF SEPARATION AMENDMENT

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 24.—"The child of the average man has only one hope for an education, and that is the State University," declared Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of the University of Texas, in an address today in support of the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the separation of the University and A. & M. College, at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club.
"If this amendment is passed," said Dr. Vinson, "I will agree to put 8,000 students in the University next year, or as soon as we have the room to care for them."
In describing the imperative need for more buildings to relieve present overcrowded conditions at the University, Dr. Vinson said that in preparing the 1919 and 1920 budget for the University he had anticipated a 10 per cent increase in the attendance.
"Instead of the 10 per cent anticipated," said Dr. Vinson, "we are called upon this year to face an increase of more than 100 per cent. And yet the budget on which the University is to be run is the same as it was two years ago."

DODSON TELLS THE HORROR OF CALOMEL

You Don't Need to Sicken, Grip, or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.
Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.
Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate. 65

THE TOWN BAND

Regardless of the undoubted progress of civic administration the country over, in quite the majority of smaller towns and communities there is one requisite seriously neglected.

That is the town band. Whether you prefer to call it the Philharmonic, the Symphony, the Municipal, or just the Town Band, it is the same. We shall refer to it as the band.

Every community should have not just a band, but a good band—a band that is the pride of the people and the pinnacle of every small boy's ambition.

A good band in the town is good, but the essential feature is that it be the Town's Band, and not a private band that demands high wages and plays only for the more fortunate who can afford to pay high prices to hear it.

It should be a band that plays for all the people—the bankers, the merchants, the laborers, the women and children alike.

And especially the children.

It is trite to say that music is beneficial to children. Every one knows that. But perhaps all have not thought how much a really good band, under a competent leader, playing the very best of the world's music, can stimulate the child's ambition to know and to play good music.

No child who understands high class music will ever care greatly for "jazz" and the general run of low class dance hall music.

And dance music can be of just as high quality as church music—if one be properly educated in what is music and what is mere trash.

We suggest to the people of this community that they give this matter serious consideration.

Why have we no band?

Here we have our full quota and over of musical talent, but to train that talent cost money. One can not expect the individual to bear the expense of this training and then give his services free of charge.

Since the band is for everyone, let everyone pay for the band.

It is just as important as sanitation. Pay for it the same way—municipally, by taxation.

Who's for a real band?

A Good Grain Drill Will Pay Big Dividends

The advantages of drill seeding over broadcasting are fast becoming admitted. No matter what kind of seed is to be sowed, the drill shows by far the larger returns. Broadcasting is wasteful and subject to failure from the start.

In recent tests made at various experiment stations throughout the country the drill-sowed field showed an average increase of from four to six bushels per acre over the field sowed broadcast. In some instances where weather and soil conditions were unfavorable, the field sowed by drill yielded as high as ten bushels more per acre.

And farmers experienced with drills say that there is nearly as much difference in results obtained with different types of drills as there is between drilling and broadcasting.

Kentucky drills have the various types of furrow openers necessary to do the right kind of work in any kind of soil, and feeds that can be regulated for just the correct amount of seed per acre. They can be had in any size you desire from a five to twenty-four marker.

Bag a few more bushels from each acre of grain this year. A Kentucky drill will help you do it.

J. H. SELF & SON

No self respecting person wants to demean himself by flipping such small change.

Speak gently, think sweetly, and your own home town will rejoice in your presence.

The young man who learns to depend first upon himself will seldom have to appeal to others.

When you want a thing and haven't got it, the obvious thing is to go out and get it. It will not come to you.

Truly great persons are often insignificant in their own estimation. But not so with the peewee who apes the giant.

The idle and the feeble appeal to fortune for succor. The man of resolution carves it out for himself.

Editors and preachers are presumed to be the most holy men on earth. And, incidentally, their pay is the most unholy.

With the prices of women's gowns prowling around in the skies, the old fashioned sewing circle should become again an aristocratic feature of feminine life.

The most fortunate man in all the world is he who has achieved the greatest success through his own honorable and unaided efforts.

Every one denies any responsibility for the high cost of living. Of course. No one is guilty. Prices just naturally jumped of their own accord.

Marriage is a lottery only when one or both of the contracting parties insist on making it such. One must not expect perfection in his or her mate unless willing to accord the same in return.

Fortune has deserted many a man because he left it to its own device.

The preacher ties the knot, the judge unties it, and between the two it's a merry-go-round performance from one act to the other.

Of course, everybody longs for peace and tranquility in the U. S. A. And, likewise, everybody wants the other fellow to be the one who is flattened out by the steam roller of individual prosperity.

Before attempting to overcome an obstacle it is best to carefully gauge its height. Many of the wrecks of life are the direct result of a failure to give reasonable consideration to obstructions which seem slight but are in reality momentous in their possibilities for ultimate disaster.

No person ever really profits from a gift unless he makes an effort to deserve it. To accept and forget is but to forge another link in the fetters which chain you to a future without hope and without reward.

If women's dresses were ever so short, the present long prices would abundantly make up for it.

Fortune usually works wonders when aided by resolution and purpose, but by itself it is a failure to start with.

There are two races of people we don't like, because they are always giving us trouble—the negroes and the strikers.

Personally we don't intend to support any candidate for president who wasn't born in a log cabin and studied by a pine-knot light.

If it is raining in all the land areas of the world like it is in Foard County one ought to be able to cross the Atlantic before long on dry land.

The young married man who first learns to depend upon his wife will save himself many a care that might otherwise disquiet and ultimately undermine a peacefully-inclined disposition.

One of the paragraphs says the wise man permits others to judge as to his worth, but the fool appraises his own. But that does not apply when one has business with an equalization board.

The young man who is content to remain stationary will never be a success in life. If he fails to press forward he will soon find himself slipping to the rear, and the devil takes care of the hindmost.

Again we take issue with the man who says: "If you would serve as an example to others, you must see that no one forges ahead of the example." That depends upon your station in the procession. Maybe you are bringing up the rear.

THE WORLD'S NEWS

Many German Troops in Baltic States Become Russians.—General von Goltz, late commander of the German troops in the Baltic provinces, stated during a recent interview that half of the German troops lately under his command have already left for Germany, but that the others have renounced their German citizenship and become Russians.

Mexico Prepares Land for German Settlers.—Definite evidence of German colonization plans was revealed at Mexico City with the announcement of an enterprise for the irrigation of 200,000 hectares of land in the Fuerte River Valley, in the State of Sinaloa, where thousands of German emigrants are expected to buy small parcels of ground on a twenty-year payment plan.

Heavy Losses by Russian Reds.—A Washington dispatch states that Russian territory totaling 124,000 square miles was freed from the Bolsheviki by the Russian armies between September 10 and October 1, according to a resume of the military situation made public by the Russian embassy. In the same period more than 85,000 Red prisoners, with 700 machine guns, 90 heavy guns, and four armored trains were taken, it is stated.

Japan Warned Against Imperialism by Ex-U. S. Senator.—Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, former United States Senator, in a speech delivered at a banquet tendered him by the Bankers' Club at Tokio a few days ago, told the Japanese financiers that what the United States most desires is that Japan should do everything possible to promote peace among the nations and "avoid the spirit of imperialism which has so disturbed the world." Mr. Burton also said: "What America asks of Japan in the Orient is a fair field for competition in trade and no policy of aggression toward other countries. We ask only that no political control or special privileges shall exclude us from entry to the ports and to the trade of the Orient."

France Needs Huge Loans.—From a statement made by M. Klotz, French Minister of Finance, during a debate in the Chamber of Deputies at Paris, it appears that it will be necessary for France to borrow about $400,000,000 a year during the next two years to balance her budget. The bill authorizing the first loan will, it is stated, be presented in January or February.

Small Planes Make Good in Cross-Country Race.—One of the outstanding results of the army ocean-to-ocean-and-return air race is the remarkable success of the small single-seater scout plane. Only six planes of this type took part in the race, as compared with fifty-six planes of the two-seater type; and yet of this six, one—that driven by Capt. J. O. Donaldson—made, according to latest reports, the best record of all entrants as to actual flying time, and four others crossed the country without difficulty; whereas only a very small percentage of the fifty-six larger planes succeeded in completing even the first half of the race, and these same planes were responsible for all of the eleven fatalities that occurred.

Drys Claim Ontario by Big Majority.—Prohibition forces claim a majority of at least 100,000 in Ontario. Rural districts sent in big figures for the dry columns, and even Toronto, according to late returns, seems to have given a majority for prohibition. Hamilton and Windsor, both on the American border, returned anti-prohibition majorities.

Strike Order Has Already Increased Price of Coal.—There has been placed in effect all over the country, an increase in the price of coal since the issuance of the call for the miners' strike on Nov. 1, according to a report from Indianapolis, the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America. A statement issued by the headquarters says that the consumer is already being forced to pay one dollar more a ton for coal than a week ago although the strike has not yet gone into effect. It is intimated that this action in arbitrarily increasing the price of coal in advance of the strike is for the purpose of prejudicing the public against the miners.

German Delegates to Have No Vote in Labor Conference.—According to Secretary Wilson's interpretation of the Peace Treaty, the right to vote in the International Labor Conference to be held in Washington during the latter part of this month, will be limited to representatives of nations mentioned in the annex of the League Covenant. Under this interpretation delegates from Germany and Austria will be barred from voting.

TO THE VOTERS OF FOARD CO.:

At the approaching election on November 4th, there are several important Constitutional Amendments to be voted upon by the citizens of this State. Realizing that there is usually an inclination to reject all proposed amendments to the Constitution, and sometimes without careful consideration and deliberation, we deem it no more than our duty to call the public's attention to three of the proposed amendments, which, we think, all good citizens upon reflection are in favor of adopting.

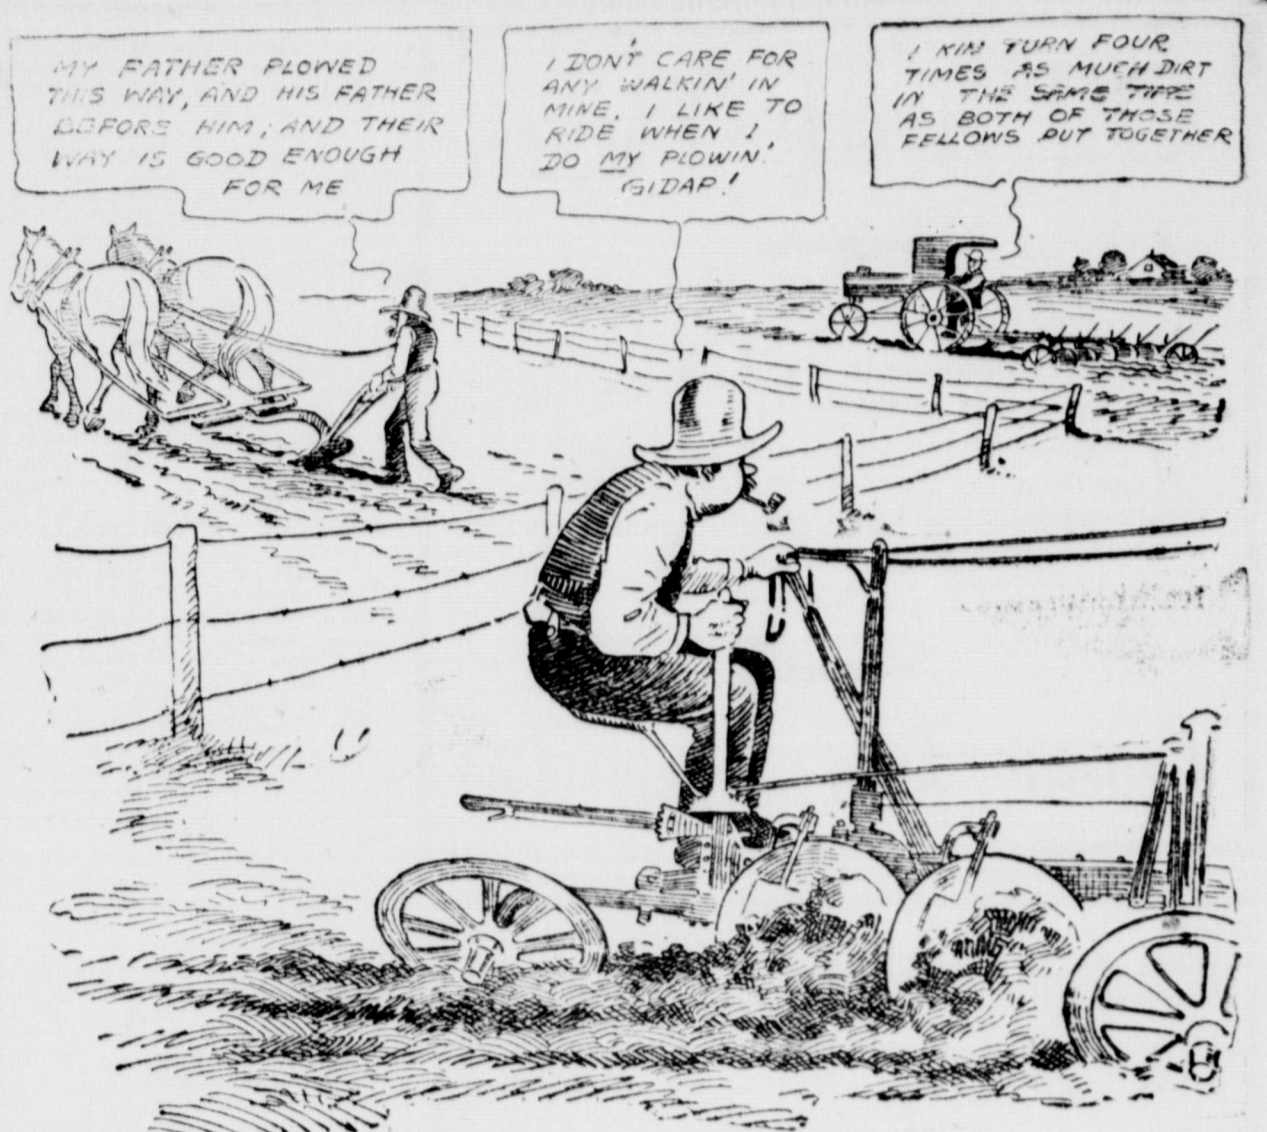

1st. Amendment authorizing the issuance of bonds by the City and County of Galveston.

The adoption of this amendment would in effect simply permit the inhabitants of Galveston County to issue bonds to protect their harbor and city against floods. Certainly no fair-minded man would refuse these brave people the right to protect themselves and their property unaided. They do not ask you or me for one dollar. They only ask permission under the law to look out for themselves. This will not add to the State's obligations and will not increase your taxes one cent. This amendment should be adopted without a dissenting vote.

2nd. Amendment to separate the University of Texas and A. & M. College, as to financial support from the State. There has been heretofore some jealousy and confusion as to the division of the State's contribution towards the maintenance of these two splendid educational institutions. Naturally the supporters of each desired as large a share of the funds for his institution as could be secured. By the adoption of this amendment all this bickering will be eliminated. Each institution will be sustained by its own separate appropriation. Let's do everything possible to advance the cause of education in this State, and by voting for this amendment, you will confer a benefit upon both institutions, and at the expense of neither.

3rd. Amendment to increase taxes for Confederate pensions from 5 per cent to 7 per cent (increase of only 2 per cent.)

We daresay there is not a true and loyal son of the South who thinks more of the few cents or dollars this would cost him than he does of the comforts in their declining days of those cavaliers who wore the gray. Stripped much of their property, broken in all save spirit, these dauntless heroes left the cannon for the plow. They received no Governmental aid, but had to work out their own salvation and future single-handed. Undaunted and undimmed, they worked with the same spirit they had fought, and have given to you and me and posterity a priceless heritage—this beloved Southland of ours. And now when the sun is setting and their lagging footsteps carry them over the western slope, we have the glorious opportunity and privilege (for such it is) to keep them from want and privation.

The Choice Is Up to You

We have never taken the position of telling farmers how to farm. We believe that the farmers have forgotten more about farming than hardware men as a class will ever know, and it's simply our business to serve you, to sell you what you want.

Whether you prefer to walk between the handles, or ride, or crank a tractor, is none of our business. It's our business to show you the very best implement of its kind that we can find and at the right price. The choice is up to you. THREAT OF FORCE WILL NOT PREVENT STRIKE OF MINERS
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—Facing his announcement with the statement that he had received no communication from government sources as to President Wilson's stand against the threatened strike of soft coal miners, Nov. 1, John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, today declared "the widely heralded intimation that force may be resorted to will not serve to allay the crisis."

"The threats to prosecute and incarcerate myself and associates will neither prevent the strike nor terminate it if it occurs," Mr. Lewis said. Lewis stated there were no new developments in the strike situation. He was keeping in touch with international headquarters at Indianapolis by long distance telephone.

"There is even yet a way in which this strike may be avoided," Mr. Lewis said. "The government should assemble the coal operators and use its power and influence to secure from them for the miners a just consideration of their demands. An agreement could be reached within three days if the coal operators would approach the question in good faith and with open minds."

Lewis declared the refusal of the operators to negotiate a new wage agreement and their insistence that the present contract does not expire until April 1, 1920, was the crux of the whole matter.

Mr. Lewis announced his intention shortly before 3 p. m. to depart at 6:05 a. m. tomorrow for Indianapolis, international headquarters, where the executive board will be in session on the strike situation Wednesday. He said no special significance should be attached to his decision to go to Indianapolis sooner than he originally intended.

"The situation is unchanged," he said. "No word has come from Washington."

No more important occasion comes in the life of an individual, perhaps, than his debut into the realm of earthly existence. It is too important to be overlooked, and yet that is an unpardonable sin sometimes with newspapers. The News can not recall all the sins it has committed just here, it wouldn't if it could, because they would be too great to bear. It only asks pardon for those offenses which it can not dismiss by a mere wave of the hand, so to speak, such as was committed last week in our failure to mention the fact of the arrival of a ten-pound boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Finn on the 17th.

TAILOR SHOP DE-

STROYED BY FIRE
The tailor shop of Trout and Jones on the northeast corner of the square was destroyed by fire Monday morning about 9:30. Mr. Jones had been washing clothes in gasoline and in passing a hot stove the clothes caught fire. The flames spread so quickly that very little was saved.

The fire gained considerable headway before the alarm was turned in. The wagon responded promptly to the call and soon had the fire out before it spread to the adjoining buildings.

Ned Curtis' shoe shop occupies half of the building and very little of his property was damaged. The ceiling and walls of the rooms were scorched and his stock of goods was considerably smoked up. Out side of getting everything wet Mr. Curtis said his damage was small.

Practically all the fixtures in the tailor shop were rendered useless by the water, smoke and fire with the exception of the Hoffman press.

Trout & Jones sustained a loss of about $700 and the building, which is owned by Mrs. A. Allison, was damaged between $200 and $300. The building will be repaired.

Messrs. Trout & Jones will reopen their shop as soon as they can get new equipment.—Vernon Times.

STATE NEWS

Ed Turner, foreman of the Guy Waggoner ranch, south of Vernon, shot himself through the head with a pistol Saturday morning, dying almost instantly. He was about 49 years old and is survived by his wife and two children.

Steps are now being taken to carry out the provisions of the law passed by the Thirty-Sixth Legislature making an appropriation of $100,000 for the establishment of a home for dependent white children in Texas. The law has been in effect since last June.

If the threatened coal strike materializes Nov. 1, it is said that it will not effect the coal fields of Texas very materially. There are about 5,000 such miners in the state and most of them are employed in the lignite fields and are not unionized.

$850,000 is to be spent on the campus of Baylor University in the way of new buildings. Of that amount the Baptists are to raise $400,000 and non-Baptists of Waco will be asked to contribute $250,000.

In some of the towns in the main cotton belts of Texas business men are helping the farmers pick their cotton. Because of the serious shortage of labor and the high price of the staple it would be a good thing for any cotton section to adopt the practice.

It is estimated that we will have a 10,000,000-bale crop of cotton, and that there will be about 3,000,000 left over from last year, which will give a total supply of 13,000,000 bales, while the demand will be for 15,000,000 bales.

BUDGET BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

The House of Representatives passed the Budget Bill by a vote of 283 to 3.

The measure makes the President responsible for the submission of the annual estimates to Congress, establishes an independent auditing system in the executive departments under the control of a newly created official known as the Comptroller General of the Treasury, at $10,000 a year to serve for life unless removed by Congress, with an assistant at $7,500 a year, and abolishes the offices of the present department auditors.

Party lines disappeared in the discussion and vote on the bill, the only differences arising over minor amendments to the measure, which did not disturb its general purpose.

The platforms of both parties contain planks advocating the adoption of the budget system and there have been a number of previous attempts to enact a law covering the matter. The action taken by the House, however, constitutes the first real progress the enactment of a comprehensive law on the subject.

SIX MILLION BIBLES

A wit once defined the Bible as the book most universally owned and least read.

On the other hand the American Bible Society reports the circulation of six million copies of the Bible during the past year, half of which number went to soldiers, sailors, and marines in service.

It is only fair to assume that there were many other Bibles printed and bought by various publishing concerns in this country. The wide distribution of the Bible does not evidence a failure to read it. Few read it as much as they should but few neglect it altogether.

PURPLE AND GOLD

Adorned Armies Which Persian Kings Led to War.

Spectacular Indeed Must Have Been the March of Mighty Hosts Before the Days of Business-like Fighting.

Warfare was a spectacular, as well as a bloody enterprise, in the days of antiquity. Plain khaki and simple businesslike accoutrements would never have suited the ancient Persian soldiers.

Silver altars, surrounded by priests, chanting sacred songs, were first in line of march. They were followed by 800 youths dressed in purple garments. A chariot dedicated to the sun was drawn by snow-white horses, led by grooms wearing white garments and carrying golden wands.

Ten chariots embossed with gold and silver preceded the cavalry of 12 nations, dressed in their various costumes and carrying their peculiar arms.

Then came the Persian Immortals, 10,000 in number, wearing golden chains and robes embroidered with gold and glittering with precious stones. Following at a short distance came 15,000 nobles, relatives of the king, dressed in garments wonderfully wrought.

A company of spearmen preceded the king. He rode in an imposing chariot and wore robes of surpassing magnificence, and a costly mitre on his head. By his side walked 200 of his most noble kinsmen. Ten thousand warriors, bearing spears with shafts of silver tipped by heads of gold, followed the royal chariot of Xerxes. The king's horses, 40 in number, with 30,000 footmen, ended the procession.

At some distance followed the mother and wife of the king in chariots, accompanied by their ladies on horseback. Fifteen cars carried the king's children, their tutors and nurses, and 600 camels, guarded by archers, bore the royal treasury. The friends and relatives of the ladies followed with the cooks and servants. Light-armed troops brought up the rear.

When a king in those days looked upon his troops and saw their strength and splendor, it is no wonder he felt proud and wished to lead them to battle. Such an army was not meant to stay at home, where only their countrymen could see them. Other nations would know how powerful a king he was. So he and his followers marched away, and wars for conquest began.

Peoples were forced to give themselves up to a life of war, either for conquest or defense, and the great highways, which peace would have dedicated to commerce and prosperity, became military roads over which war took its cruel way.

Details Carried to Absurdity.

Trivial details not infrequently become the pivot of momentous decisions, in which cases an element of absurdity is supplied by the breadth of the contrast. A case in point arises in the discussion among English literateurs concerning Shakespeare's alleged "hand" in the play of "Sir Thomas More," in which one expert occupies almost a column of small type in the literary supplement of the Times of London in describing the construction of the letter B as found in one of Shakespeare's autographic documents. The imposing array of warlike and nautical terms in the most letter, such as keel, baseline, ram, forelimb and boundary line, may astonish many who have been accustomed to form it with comparative ease, while the division of the letter into sections and subsections by this savant for purposes of discussion endows the old scrivener's art with unexpected dignity.

Matter of Priority.

While the people of Denmark are glorying in the antiquity of their national flag, the "Dannebrog," which claims the honor of seniority among all the national flags, and are commemorating its origin in the thirteenth century, Belgian and German patriots are scouring the Middle Ages on a mission of vital import to their respective flags. The new German state has given indications of adopting for its colors black, yellow and red, disposed horizontally. This has aroused protests in Belgium, which claims priority in precisely the same colors, similarly disposed, and patriotic societies are said to be forming to take action to prevent Germany's adoption of them. The Belgian claims are based on the colors of the princes of Flanders and Brabant in the thirteenth century, while the German case is said to rest on the use of the colors in question by the ancient Germanic empire.

What's in A Name.

Naming a plant or flower after a celebrity is a delicate compliment, and one that no doubt at times adds something to the market value. But there are exceptions. That beautiful variety of the lobelia, for instance, known as "Emperor William," would perhaps hold up its imperial head a little more proudly just now if it had had a more fortunate christening.

Stray thoughts on these lines may have been flickering in the mind of a vendor in a London market-place as a likely looking buyer, while examining a box of the old favorite, asked what variety it was. Without deranging the music of an eyelid the coster (and she was a "tily" too) replied: "Douglas 'Algi Four-and-a-tonner a box."

Why Lose What You Make?

Many a time the farmer has lost heavily because he had no adequate protection for the gathered crop. There are two special reasons why he should store this year. One is to save all he can by storing low priced feed until the surplus is used up, when the demand will raise the price. Another is to store cotton for its protection until he wants to sell, thus enabling him to get a better price for his bales when sheltered from the weather. If the farmer intends to hold for a higher price, he will make by holding for a better condition of his product.

See us for plans and particulars on this warehouse. It's an investment that will pay for itself.

SAYS DOCTOR ADVISED IT

Memphis Woman Is Relieved of Twelve Year Trouble by Taking Tanlac

"I have received more benefit from Tanlac than from any other medicine I have ever taken," said Mrs. C. R. Wreford, wife of the well-known steamboat captain, and who lives at 881 No. Seventh street, Memphis, Tenn.

"For ten or twelve years," she continued, "I suffered from an awful case of indigestion. I had been troubled with a weak stomach from the time I was a girl and often suffered agonies from gas on my stomach, and twice I had terrible attacks of acute indigestion that nearly killed me. For weeks everything I would eat hurt me and even water would burn me like fire. Then I had an attack of the grip from which I recovered so slowly that I asked my doctor about trying Tanlac. He said, 'Yes, try it; for it can't do you any harm.'"

"I had no appetite at all and was eating scarcely anything, but after taking two bottles of Tanlac my appetite picked up and I continued to improve right along, eating most anything I wanted without any inconvenience afterwards. I have never had the trouble with my stomach like I did before taking Tanlac, and it certainly has helped me wonderfully and I can't help believing it is a great medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all druggists.

A ROOSEVELT COLLEGE LEAGUE

Last week in New York City plans were set on foot for a nation-wide Roosevelt College League. The organization is to be known as the National College League of Roosevelt Clubs. The Roosevelt Club of New York University was organized at the suggestion of Chancellor Elmer Brown, in a speech following the reception at the Hall of Fame of the Roosevelt Memorial Flag.

The Chancellor said: "Let us establish here at New York University a College Roosevelt Club. Let us invite other universities and colleges to join us in the establishment of such clubs. Let this organization stand for America first of all and for the mission of America to humanity. Let it stand for vigorous and well-ordered interest in nature and in the arts of civilized life which steady the minds of men in the whirl of human affairs. Let it stand for a historic approach to the understanding of our own times. Let it stand for genuine brotherhood and let it stand for realized ideals."

MOTHER ABANDONS HER YOUNG BABY

The crying of a young infant attracted the attention of one of the roomers at W. H. Crawford's residence Sunday night and upon investigation a young infant, scantily clad, was found lying on the sidewalk near the gate at the Crawford home. The child, a girl, was a wee mite of humanity, weighing less than four pounds, and probably 24 hours old. As soon as the facts were known, Mrs. Crawford was kept busy answering telephone inquiries from families who wished to adopt the youngster, which was later given in the care of Mrs. T. L. Lewis, whom the Observer understands will adopt the child.

Officers who investigated the case are of the opinion that the child was brought here by its mother from a distant town.—Quannah Observer.

LET PROSPERITY BEGIN AT HOME

Community prosperity is, or is not, as we of the community make it. Much money will be spent around here during the coming Christmas holidays. It is right that it should be so, for every normal person likes to partake of the joys of the yule time.

But where will that money go? Will the profits remain here, and continue to circulate in our midst, and enrich our local community? Or will they go to foreign houses, and be forever lost to us who have produced them by our energy and our thrift? The answer is in our own hands.

Our local merchants will be well equipped for supplying our demands. The goods will be on their counters, where we can see them, judge as to their quality, and know what we get. And the name of a local dealer stands as a guarantee for everything he sells.

But if we buy abroad we lose from our midst both the dealer's cost price and his profits. We never see them again.

And our community is the poorer to the extent of the profits on every article not purchased at home.

Which shall it be? A constructive Christmas, or a destructive one? Prosperity should begin at home.

WORK ON REFINERY TO START SOON

A contract has been closed by the Four States Oil & Refining Company for the construction of their refinery, which will be located about two miles northeast of Quannah. The Hayes Construction Company has the contract and work is expected to start within twenty days. The refinery will have a capacity of 2500 barrels and will employ a large force of men.

This refinery will be the only one located west of Electra, which shows that the promoters are very confident that Hardeman county will soon be a big producer of oil.—Quannah Observer.

The idle youth who inherits a fortune is in greater danger than he who faces the muzzle of a gun in the hands of an angry opponent. The one may plunge to his soul's destruction, while the other may only be deprived of his life.

THEIR GLORY GONE

Helgoland to Join Louisbourg as a Memory.

Famous French Fortress in Canada Has Long Been Demolished and Seen the German Stronghold is to Be Razed.

Announcement that the German forts on the island of Helgoland are to be demolished recalls the similar fate of a glorious landmark on Canadian soil. This is Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, once the pride of New France, and now a pile of ruins, with but a faint echo of its original splendor.

Louisbourg was the remnant of French power on the Atlantic coast when the treaty of Utrecht was signed in 1713, reducing the fortunes of Louis XIV to a low ebb. From 1720 to 1760 it led a precarious but spectacular existence, its magnificence as a defense guaranteed by the expenditure of millions of dollars by the French government, though millions were stolen and wasted by dishonest officials and unhappy officers, whose only ambition was to get rich and go home.

The fortress was imposing, despite the thievery and mismanagement, and it required a seven weeks' siege by Colonel Pepperell and his New Englanders in 1745 to take it from the French.

By one of those diplomatic incidents too plentiful in the history of the new world, Louisbourg was handed back to France in 1748 by the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle. The New Englanders were furious, but ten years later the British army and navy, with such rising strategists as Amherst and Wolfe taking part, again laid siege by land and sea, and in another campaign of seven weeks recaptured the stronghold.

The days of the great fortress were now numbered. The home of discontent, the abode of smugglers, the den of thieving officialdom, received its death warrant in 1760 at the hand of George II and Pitt in London. So well was the warrant executed that for months sailors, sappers and miners worked until they laid Louisbourg level with the dust.

And there it remains. Memorials recording its history raise their modest heads above the chaos of stones and mortar. The site on a point three miles from the railway and the town of the same name is remote and forbidding. Should the visitor follow the shore road by the lonely Atlantic in summer he will hear tinkling sheep bells from the pasture where once stood the French town, now completely obliterated. The great area of the ruins of the fort gives some hint of the vain preparation to hold a last grip against the advancing British and Colonials.

What will be the thoughts of the tourist as he bestrides an airplane on Helgoland a century hence, witnesses its ruined forts, and contemplates the futile ambitions of a race that drew the sword and fought a losing battle for world domination?
