Dick Crosnoe Is Candidate for Precinct 1 Commissioner

The News is authorized this week to announce the candidacy of Dick Crosnoe for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, subject to action of the Democratic primaries in July. Mr. Crosnoe asks the voters to give his candidacy careful consideration when they go to the polls in the coming election. In entering the race for this office Mr. Crosnoe has the following to say: "I am announcing my candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1. Although I made an unsuccessful attempt to be elected to this office two years ago, I come again, solicited by numbers of my friends, to ask for the support of the voters of my precinct in the coming election. At that time, I tried to see each one but due to unavoidable circumstances, I was not able to do so. "During the present campaign, it is my intention to see personally all voters in the precinct and solicit their support and vote. "I feel that I am qualified to discharge the duties of this office and if elected I promise to cooperate to the fullest extent with other officials and citizens in looking after the interests of the county. "I know I can make you a good commissioner, if you will give me the opportunity."

How to Distinguish Nationality of Aircraft

Civilian air raid spotters will have no difficulty distinguishing Axis planes from those of the United Nations if they memorize the markings illustrated above. American and British planes have designs of red, white and blue, and Russia has a red star. Watchers on the southern border occasionally may see the red triangle of Mexico. Axis raiders are easily spotted through the familiar black cross and swastika of Germany, the round red rising sun emblem of Japan and the Roman fasces insignia borne by Italian planes.

CHILDREN AND WAR
In defense to the coming generation, adults should keep their conversation about war calm and assuring, for undue alarm or pessimism may do much harm to children in the household.
That's a warning from Dosca Hale, Extension Service specialist in parent education and child development, who says calm courage in adults will save children from much fear and worry.
'In these perilous times one of the greatest hazards we face is the threat to family life,' the specialist says. 'So time spent in learning to understand the needs of children under rapidly shifting conditions is time well invested for the protection of our homes and the future security of this nation.'

How Pharmacists Can Help Listed by Dr. Cox Health Officer

Austin. — Recommendations to pharmacists concerning the part they can play in National Defense have been released from the United States Office of Civilian Defense, according to Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who is serving as State Chairman for Health and Emergency Medical Service.
The Office of Civilian Defense urges every pharmacist to register with the Chief of Emergency Medical Service in his community, indicating what supplies he has available; register with the Transport Office of the local Defense Corps any delivery trucks available for emergency transport; register his pharmacy with his air raid warden, indicating the telephone and refuge facilities he has available.
Every pharmacist should place his services at the disposal of the local Defense Council for distributing literature and information on Civilian Defense; inform himself of the location, and character of protection facilities in his neighborhood so that he can direct citizens to shelters, warden posts, casualty stations, and first aid posts; review and extend his own training in first aid and prepare himself to instruct his employees.
Large pharmacies should establish a first aid detachment among their employees which can be immediately available as a stretcher team to assist rescue squads. They should be equipped with a stretcher and with first aid supplies.
Doctor Cox pointed out that the Office of Civilian Defense urged all pharmacies to keep their stocks of drugs, medical, surgical, and sickroom supplies constantly replenished.
'Already thousands of pharmacists have inquired of this office how they can best serve in this emergency,' Doctor Cox said. 'Dean W. F. Gidley, of the University of Texas School of Pharmacy, together with other representatives of the pharmaceutical profession, have indicated that their profession desires to serve in every way possible.'

Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them.—Deut. 11:16.

Now that war has come and the priorities demand that materials shall all go to defense and the larger centers and that the sale of many items shall be restricted it becomes increasingly important that the small towns hold all of the business that of right belongs to them. It is going to be difficult enough the coming year, and the next, and the next, to keep up the standard of living and life in the small town, even though it receives all the business of its trade area. This fact should cause every man and woman to stop and think before he sends a dollar out of the community to purchase things that might be secured in the local community from local merchants. The town is going to need all the resource it can muster if its way of life is going to maintain. In more prosperous times this drain was not noticed as it will be the next two or three years. Men and women are being called upon in large numbers to defend the nation and are responding gallantly, and generously, and patriotically. The small towns are also calling in perhaps not so direct and articulate a manner, but never the less calling for the men and women of the community to stand by them and help them ride through the storm that has broken upon us, by keeping the lifeblood of the community—its money at home. It is the best home defense to which we, of the home town, can rally.

The Japs revealed further their true character when they bombed the open and undefended city of Manila. This was done after Japan had been informed that every means of defense had been removed from Manila. These things should be remembered when the ultimate day of victory comes. The terms of peace should be such as are justly deserved by such principle and treachery and complete lack of honor. They should not be dealt with in that day as men, but as the treacherous, slinking creatures of infamy that they are.

Mussolini is to be the first of the aggressors who is going to be called upon to pay the price of his association with the outlaw, Hitler. He has been stripped of his stolen African Empire and has dragged an industrious people into a fruitless and unprovoked war. He is going to be stripped of his country and his blatant pomposity humbled before the world and his people. He deserves it all. His fate is going to be a lesson to Japan and an example to the world of what happens in a civilized world, to the accomplices of the outlaw, Hitler.

We, of this country, should be deeply thankful that there is an abundance of food. There is enough wheat for two years. There is the largest corn surplus in storage in the history of the country. The government's program of holding surplus in storage is beginning to bear fruit and quite unexpectedly. It means that there will be an abundance of food, of bread, and of meat for the people of this country. The full meaning of this can best be appreciated if we look across the sea at nations older and larger than ours who, because of lack of foresight and planning, are almost without food and are on the verge of starvation at all times. The situation is a suggestion that there is much in the matter of national welfare that can be accomplished by intelligent planning, by forgetting the old plan of hand to mouth and feast and famine existence and planning intelligently and wisely for the future. With this lesson before us there is no doubt that the leadership of the country is going to make still more plans for the future to the end that our wealth and our resources may serve us better than they ever have in the old easy, careless, and carefree hit and miss days.

A scarcity of newsprint is being predicted for the reason that many mills now making newsprint are being turned over to the manufacture of cardboard for shell cases and liners. Some papers will be reduced in size and subscription and advertising rates will have to be increased to meet the added cost.

To meet defense needs the collection of scrap iron, rags, bones and even household greases is to be instituted throughout the country. Years ago every community had a dealer in this type of material and in some sections itinerant buyers traveled through the country buying scrap and junk. It is predicted that this business will be revived.

Candidates Will Save Money By Centering Their Advertising In The News—Many Fake Schemes

This is political year. Foard County has a number of candidates, none of whom have any money to waste on worthless schemes which are presented to them during a political campaign. Each political year brings forth a lot of schemes which are manufactured for the purpose of separating the candidate from his money. In past years various types of so-called magazines, calendars, programs, and what nots have been presented to candidates and pressure brought to bear that they contribute to these publications. These are worthless to the candidates, but profitable to the promoters. Without fear of challenge, The Foard County News offers to the candidates the best and most reliable medium of reaching the voters of the county. The candidate must visit the voters, since he is expected to talk with each and every voter. But The News will reach a larger percentage of voters than any type of publication.

The candidates may rest assured that their messages will be carried to the largest percentage of the voters when printed in The News. During the campaign, The News will keep the candidate advised as to the important dates which must be observed in filing application for place on ballots, payment of primary fees and other political news. The News is printing this statement only for the sake of the candidates, who will be sought as victims of many promoters who seek to exact their hard earned money. Political advertising in The News is strictly cash in advance.

Promptness of Regular Subscribers to Renew and the Addition of Many New Ones Boon to Home Paper

Subscribers have been more prompt to renew their subscriptions this fall and new subscribers have been added in larger numbers than at any other time in the memory of the publisher. This is due in a large measure, perhaps, to the harvesting of a good cotton crop with the price better than in many years, and the improvement of conditions generally. The News is now printing 1,350 papers each week and that number no doubt will have to be increased, provided all regular subscribers renew their subscriptions. Renewals and new subscribers are being received every day and we are more than grateful for this patronage.

At this time, when The News force is so busy getting out the paper and keeping up with the job printing, it is almost impossible to find time to send out notices of subscription due, and it would be a great help if all subscribers who know it is time for their subscriptions to be due to mail to this office the required amount of $1.50, or bring it to the office. This applies to those in the county as well as those whose addresses are at different points in the United States.

Bargain rates on The News and the Wichita Falls dailies will be withdrawn before very long and the regular rates will apply. Now is the opportune time to see that a year's reading matter is provided. It is election year and it will be important that residents of this county know who their candidates are, as well as to be able to keep up with the news generally in the columns of the home paper. Renewals and new subscribers listed since Jan. 12 follow:

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

On January 5, a tire rationing plan went into effect throughout the United States, and on January 2, the sale of new cars was ordered stopped.

In my opinion this is merely the beginning of rationing and restrictions. I anticipate that it will be extended greatly as time goes on, and the situation calls for it. We are going to be restricted not only in the number of items we buy, but also in the amount of them we buy. It would not be surprising if in some instances the government should step in and take from those who have more of certain scarce items than their needs require, their surplus.

The rationing plan has already been applied to automobile tires, new automobiles and new machinery. There is every possibility that it will be applied to other items and may even be extended to certain items of food. There will, it is to be expected, those who will complain and chafe at what they deem government interference and restraint. There are several reasons why the tire rationing plan, as well as other rationing plans that may be later imposed, should be accepted in a co-operative spirit on the part of every citizen. Strict rationing of scarce items such as rubber will prevent a cornering of the supply by those able to do so, and the complete elimination of the individual who is not big enough to enter a picture of this kind. Once a movement of this kind got under way it would extend to many items and would result in the mass of people becoming the victims of profiteers and hoarders. We had an example of this in the World War and many millionaires were made at the expense of the mass of people. This is not going to happen this time if the people will co-operate in the effort to prevent it.

The second reason why the individual should co-operate in this plan without hesitation and without reservation is that many of the items of which there is a scarcity are needed in defense production. Without these items of hearing, co-operation will be held up.

The third and most important reason why the restrictions already imposed should be accepted in a full spirit of cheerful co-operation by everyone is that our country is at war. The government, in its defense against the force that threatens, needs every resource available to equip the army and to provide the munitions for the men on the far flung battle line.

Those of us who are permitted to remain at home in safety and in comfort should not only be willing to make every sacrifice that we are called upon to make but we should make it in a spirit of cheerful co-operation. This is not a man on the firing line; they are a sacrifice. These restrictions are not a sacrifice, they are our opportunity to serve our country. We should look upon them in that light. We may be permitted to bear arms or to be on the battle front, but this we can do, and in the measure of cheerful co-operation that comply we are serving. This is the light in which all these demands will be accepted by patriotic men and women.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture a two-year supply of wheat is on hand at the store of corn is the largest on record. Of other food items there is a corresponding abundance. According to these authorities there is no occasion for hoarding, or buying in excess of current needs.

According to the OPM there is no prospect of a sugar shortage in this country.

Crowell High Basketball Team Wins Three Victories During the Past Week; Two Were Conference Contests

The Crowell High School basketball team won victories over Quannah, Archer City, and Iowa Park by lopsided scores the past week. The Quannah game was the Wildcats' last practice game and ended 33 to 7. T. L. Owens led in scoring with fifteen points. The Indians failed to score during the first half. Coach Graves used his second string over half of the game.

The other two contests were conference games. Crowell defeated Archer City 35 to 17 down there on Monday night and won over Iowa Park by a 35 to 16 count here the following night. H. L. Blevins scored fourteen points for the Wildcats at Archer City. However, Captain Alton Roark's defensive work was outstanding for Crowell. He was second in scoring with twelve points. Morrison and Robinson looked the best for Archer City. Each scored four points.

The Iowa Park game was very slow. The long trip to Archer City the preceding night probably caused the Crowell boys to look sluggish. In spite of their poor showing the Wildcats won by a 35 to 16 score. Crowell's bright spot in this game was Charles Nelson's goal shooting. He rang up fifteen points during the three quarters that he played. Boswell was high point man for Iowa Park with six points. The Hawks were playing without their regular center due to illness.

The Wildcats go to Seymour for another conference game Friday night and Chillicothe comes to Crowell on Tuesday night of next week.

Those, from the ages of 18 to 35, who are interested in enlistment in the regular Army Air Corps as a mechanic may see Corp. Gann next Tuesday morning.

The pajamas, which never got to France, were issued at the post hospital to Pvt. William Dendy, of Hattiesburg, Miss., who enlisted in the Air Corps Dec. 31, 1941, at Logansport, Ind., where he had been employed in the Logansport State Hospital for the last six years.

Part of a shipment that apparently no longer was needed in France, the pajamas were returned to the U. S., stored in a medical department warehouse at Long Island, N. Y., sent to a medical supply depot at San Antonio, Texas, and finally to Sheppard Field, according to hospital officials.

Private Dendy showed his discovery to Chaplain Nathan Shaw Hardin and Mr. V. W. Hall, Red Cross Director at Sheppard Field. At the moment, they are attempting to locate the writer of the letter.

Also tickled over the discovery were the two ward-masters, Pvt. James Claude Wilson, of Hazel, Ky., and Pva. Max E. Campbell, of Jasonville, Ind.

Exams are over, and the first term is gone, over, finished. Some pupils are happy while others are sad, very sad. Did you make the grade? Many students will say yes to and many will say no to this question. We all resolve to do better next semester but will we? Not unless we all use the will power that is ours. We cannot use someone else's so what are we going to do? I'll tell you. We should all get down to work and study. Of course, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So have a little fun along with the studying, (I know that you will), and bring home A's, B's, and C's, instead of D's, E's and F's. It will do you good, (more than you think); it will do your parents good, and it will save the wear of the hair brush. (Get it?)

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP

In a time as today, with the crisis we face, we must be truer and better Americans than ever before. We must work in our factories, fields, and homes as hard as the boys work who are in the army, navy, marines and air corps. We must fight to win this war and to preserve democracy—the greatest system of government in the world. We, both young and old, can do much by joining the iron forces of our country. We can keep morale high, feed, clothe, and shelter our army and do many other things to help. The home is the foundation of any nation. To keep our home and school life pure is one of the safest ways to defeat any corrupt government of dictatorship. If democracy is worth fighting for, it's worth dying for. "Fear ye not death, for it shall be happy in victory."

FOOTBALL AWARDS

Well, boys, the day has come and gone. You boys have your well-earned football jackets and sweaters. It was a long waited-for occasion Monday, Jan. 19, 1942, A. D. The boys received many nice compliments from I. T. Graves and their coach which they well deserved. The lettermen were presented with grey and gold reversible jackets, while the reserves received black and gold sweaters. The jackets and sweaters are very beautiful and durable. Coach C. G. Graves also had his share of the awards. He was presented with a lifetime Shaeffer's fountain pen and pencil set from all the football boys. Albert Bird and Arnold Smith were elected to the co-captain positions for next year to replace the captain of this year, Bobby Spears and Charlie Thompson, who did excellent jobs.

THE CALL TO THE COLORS IS A CALL FOR DOLLARS!

Dig deep. Strike hard. Our boys need the planes, ships, and guns which your money will help to buy. Go to your bank, post office, or savings and loan association. Tell them you want to buy Defense Bonds regularly, starting now.

You know these women mobs. Evelyn Crosnoe doesn't have her Senior ring on. It seems that a cute little boy from Thalia is wearing it. Junior Hennessee has a girl at Quanah, but he will not tell her name. He has one in CHS too—but no identity. Why the mystery, Junior? Are Travis Vecera and Ruta Cates still hand in hand. We very seldom see them around. What's this about "Shorty" Naron and Edwina Ross sitting together in the school bus for practically a whole afternoon. Looks pretty bad—eh—maybe it's good. J. W. Solla is seen every now and then with none other than Helen Callaway. Gee, they make a cute couple. Ann Favor's boy friend couldn't be Ray Burrow or could it? See you next week, kids, with a new bunch of scandal, I hope.

JOKES

Miss Motley: What is etiquette, Travis?
 Travis: Etiquette is the noise you don't make when you are eating soup.
 Mr. Myers: Don't you think that money talks?
 Mr. Foster: Yes, but all mine ever says is "goodbye."
 Teacher: Joyzelle, what does fortification mean?
 Joyzelle: A big fort.
 Teacher: That will do. Now what does ratification mean?
 Joyzelle (guessing): A big rat, I guess.
 Mrs. Sloan: I see you're getting better marks lately. How's that?
 J. T.: Daddy's away on a business trip and I do all my own work myself.
 Senior: You ought to take chloroform.
 Frosh: Yeh? Who teaches it?
 "Remember," wrote the instructor of the correspondence school of journalism, "to write on only one side of the paper."
 And by return mail came the following inquiry from the new pupil: "Which side shall I write on?"
 A football coach was explaining a few plays to the earnest substitutes. He said, "Suppose the ball is on the four-yard line, last down, one minute to play, and we are three points behind. What would you do, Bill?
 Bill: I'd move down the bench farther where I could see better.
 Richard: I got into trouble today in school.
 Mother: How, dear?
 Richard: Mr. Foster asked me to name an invention by which we can take photographs through walls and all I said was, "A window."
 Miss Cogdell: What inspired the old-time pioneers to set forth in their covered wagons?
 Gabby: Well, maybe they did not want to wait thirty years for a train.

Tin and Defense

(From Office for Emergency Management, Washington, D. C.)

The United States consumes more than 100,000 tons of tin a year. Last year we produced domestically 44 tons, mostly from Alaska. That leaves 99,956 tons we must import and that's the reason the hearts of American tin men skip a beat every time war clouds loom up in the Pacific. For trouble in the Pacific, at Singapore or in the Netherlands Indies, might mean drastic curtailment of our tin supply.

Singapore is the heart of the tin world, or the tin heart of the world, whichever you prefer. Of the 124,810 long tons of tin imported into the United States in 1940, 96,454 came from the British Malay States where Singapore is located and 12,101 tons from the nearby Netherlands Indies.

It's a sad fact, but a true one, that the United States just does not and cannot produce any substantial quantities of tin domestically, although this country is the world's largest consumer. While small amounts of tin are used industrially in the manufacture of bronze and other alloys, and for solder, type metal, and foil, more than half the total annual consumption goes into that standby of American life, the tin can.

Of course, the tin can isn't all tin; it is a thin sheet of steel with an even thinner coating of tin, but so important is the "tin" can to our way of living that we regularly use more than half the world's production. The United States produced more than 17 billion tin-coated cans in 1940. If shipping is interrupted for any reason, that flow of tin will cease. Ancient armies who drove their food supply with them, on the hoof, would not have thought that any cause for alarm, but the modern soldier on the battlefield lives on canned foods. Civilians do too, as a matter of fact, and a curtailment of our tin supply would mean a serious disruption of American life.

The trouble is not that tin is a neglected metal in the United States. We just do not have any ore. A thorough investigation by the United States Bureau of Mines resulted in this report, issued in March 1941: "These early results tend to strengthen the conviction that no appreciable part of the tin required by American industry can be supplied from known domestic sources, regardless of how great the stringency or how high the price."

And we just must have tin. While its uses are not as varied as are some other metals, it is of vital importance in its various fields. This table shows how our tin is used in an average year:

Tin plate	40.4%
Solder	21.8%
Babbitt metal	7.2%
Bronze	6.8%
Collapsible tubes	6.9%
Timing	3.1%
Type metal	1.9%
All other uses	12.9%

The manufacture of tin cans consumes 90 per cent of the tin plate and a large percentage of the solder made with tin. Faced with the possibility of an interruption of tin supplies from overseas, the Government not long ago decided to do something about it—and did. The Government Acts The first step was to begin piling up a reserve stock in this country. At the beginning of 1940, the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department started to acquire a stockpile of tin. So did the Navy. The result is that these and other governmental agencies and private purchasers now have more than a year's supply of tin on hand in the United States. Of the total, the Government now holds 21,419 long tons of tin in storage which will be held for at least three years after January 1, 1941, as a permanent "crisis" supply.

A year's supply of tin in storage is a comfortable feeling—but not comfortable enough. It was felt that a surer, steadier source of continuing supply was necessary. The result of that feeling is the new American smelter now under construction at Texas City, Texas, owned by a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and managed by Dutch East Indies interests. It will have an estimated capacity of 18,000 tons, about 15 per cent of the annual national consumption, when it is completed early in 1942. A second reason, and one of equal importance for the erection of the Texas City smelter, is to provide a market for South American ores, chiefly from Bolivia. With its European markets cut off because of the war, Bolivia faced a domestic crisis until the United States stepped in and contracted for the bulk of its ores. It was practical "Good Neighborliness" for the United States to insure a part of its own needs at the same time. The United States has contracted to purchase sufficient ore to provide 18,000 long tons of smelted tin a year from Bolivian producers. These steps have eased the tin situation in this country to a certain extent, but the men charged with keeping the United States, its soldiers, and its sailors supplied with this vital material still were, and are, looking for corners to cut and new methods of conservation. The method being used at present amounts to a virtual corner on the world's tin supply. Before the outbreak of the war, European smelters refined the bulk of South American tin. With these closed down, imports into the United States have mounted steadily. This is how the figures on imports appear:

1939	70,104 tons
1940	124,810 tons
1941 est.	150,000 tons
1942 est.	165,000 tons

If the 1941 estimated importation holds true throughout the year, the United States may easily absorb two-thirds of the total world production, estimated at 230,000 tons.

All very well, say the tin men, provided nothing interferes. Of course, Great Britain must have guns, they say, and planes and tanks and weapons of all kinds. So must Russia. So must China. But they also must have food, lots of it, particularly England which grows only a small part of the food needed to feed the teeming population of the island.

Food Without Tin Cans? How would we send food to England without tin cans? How would our ships at sea, so vital to world communications, keep going without canned food? Faced with these questions, the Conservation Unit of the Office of Production Management moved, in April 1941, to make a further saving in the use of tin. Can-making companies were consulted and an agreement promptly was reached reducing by 10 per cent the amount of tin in a can. This can be done in 95 per cent of the cans in use without danger of contamination. The amount of tin was not reduced in cans holding certain types of foods. In addition, makers of collapsible tubes were asked to substitute tin-lined tubes for ones of pure tin for shaving soaps and the like.

Further economies in the use of tin are being studied. Electroplated tin plate is a good example, and now is being used quite extensively. That, in a general sense, is the present story of tin, one of this nation's most vital metals. There is nothing wrong with the picture, tin men say, provided:

1. The Pacific "lifeline" is kept open for a free flow of tin imports.
 2. War does not interfere with the production and smelting of tin in Malaya and the Netherlands Indies.

Pure Seed for High Quality Cotton

Pure seed of an approved variety is the first requirement in the production of better quality cotton at a lower cost, according to M. C. Jaynes, cotton specialist of the A. & M. College Extension Service. Better quality at lower cost should be the slogan of producers in 1942, he says. "The planting seed situation in Texas as reported by reliable sources," he explains, "seems about as follows: A fair supply of Mebane strains, but a probable shortage of other varieties, especially Deltapine (D. & Pl.) and Acala. Due to weather conditions prior to and during the 1941 harvesting, the germination was injured in many areas." Jaynes says he is assembling information regarding available seed supplies within and outside Texas. Seed should be reasonably high in germination in order to insure a good stand, the specialist continues. Only seed with an official or proper test should be planted. It is advisable this year especially to test home-grown seed because seed of low germinating quality likely will be offered for sale. Even this type will be costly and if planted may result in crop failure. "I am advised that the Republic of Mexico now is placing orders for Texas seed and that Oklahoma is making inquiries as to

THIS WEEK IN WAR

The President established a War Production Board headed by Don M. Nelson, former mail-order executive and more recently executive Director of SPAB and Director of the War Relocation Authority. The President directed Mr. Nelson to "exercise general direction over the procurement and production program," to supervise the OPM issue production and procure directives where necessary in all other Government agencies. President said Mr. Nelson's decisions shall be final. Vice President Wallace and other members of the SPAB, now abolished, were members of the War Production Board.

Letters to OPM Directors and Hillman and other distribution officials. Mr. Nelson said "we must enlarge all our various activities... all our factories... must produce 24 hours a day, 168 hours a week." OPM Director Hillman, speaking in Washington, said the nation's "ce of workers in war industries must be doubled or tripled, more men must be trained and brought into the labor force to take the place of men going into armed services. He asked employers not to bar aliens in war industries except in plants turned over to secret weapons.

Director Odium of the OPM Street Distribution Division said "plan has been prepared to set aside one percent of all available materials to assist small manufacturers in keeping their plants running until they can be converted for war use. He said the nation's "fire production facilities—all of which are "hidden away in thousands of cities and towns and villages" must join in the total war effort.

asked all mayors to have evacuation centers in their cities. The nearest OPM Conservation Division field office and to "go after war centers nights with every ounce of ingenuity and energy they possess."

The War Front

The Navy Department reported sinking of five enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters—three transports and two large cargo ships. The announcement brought 25 the total of Japanese vessels reported definitely sunk by the navy and Marine Corps in the Pacific. The Navy also announced 20 allied merchant vessels were "tacked by Axis submarines off Iwo Jima. Throughout the week Gen. MacArthur reported heavy and air fighting in the Philippines but said American and Philippine troops were putting up effective resistance and U. S. losses were low.

Army

War Secretary Stimson announced the Army will be increased from the present total of 1,300,000 men to 3,600,000 men this year. Combat air units and armored units will be doubled; 32 motorized divisions will be added, and at least 50 military police units for guarding production facilities will be created. Instead of the originally scheduled 10,000, more than 90,000 privates will be selected to attend officer-training schools. All training centers and posts will be enlarged and five temporary boot camps will be set up. To make 2,000,000 more men eligible, the Army will lower age limits for aviation cadets from 20 to 18 years, make married men eligible, and change educational qualifications by eliminating college credit requirements.

Selective Service Director Hershey said the Army increase could be accomplished without calling up men with dependents. He said there are now 1,000,000 men in class 1-A but not yet called, and 900,000 more men can be obtained by reclassification of other men and from those men who will register February 16. He said deferment cases would be re-examined but deferments will continue to be given where possible to avoid undue disruption of family life. He said married men with one or more children probably will not be called until an Army of 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 has been built. He estimated 10,000,000 is the top number of men the U. S. could mobilize for service even with lowered physical standards.

Labor Disputes

The President abolished the National Defense Mediation Board and established a National War Labor Board with NMB Chairman Davis as Chairman. Four commissioners will represent the public, four will represent employees and four, industry. The new Board has wider authority than the old Board and can arbitrate or mediate disputes as it sees fit except that it cannot disregard existing labor legislation.

The Maritime War Emergency Board established war bonuses for sailors on merchant ships.

Autos

The OPA announced auto rationing would begin February 2 in the same manner as tire rationing. Of the 202,000 cars in the industry quota for January, about 150,000 cars will be stored with dealers who promise not to sell without permission—probably not to be granted before January, 1943—and then only on OPA-established prices.

OPA issued a schedule of prices for "retreadable" tire carcasses and "retreads" and forecast a ceiling over all used tires "in the very near future." Federal Loan Administrator Jones announced plans to increase synthetic rubber production capacity to 400,000 tons by pooling of resources and skills of the rubber and oil industries if priorities can be obtained on steel needed to erect plants. OPA Administrator Henderson said tire rationing would probably not be affected because of increasing military needs for rubber.

Censorship

Censorship Director Price, after consultation with newspaper, magazine and periodical editors, announced a code of conduct which publications were asked to follow in handling information in order to prevent information of a military nature reaching the enemy. Prohibited, unless officially released, are most details of military, naval or industrial establishments, casualty lists, damages to facilities, movements of troops and ships, weather reports except of certain types, and movements of the President or of official military or diplomatic missions.

Agriculture

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said goals have been revised to call for the greatest agricultural production in U. S. history, with particular emphasis on the production of oil-bearing crops such as peanuts and soybeans. The corn goal was stepped up by five million acres in order that there be feed supplies to continue expansion of meat, dairy and poultry production. Dry edible bean and dry pea production increases were called for. An additional five million bushels of rice was

There is a deepening interest in things eternal that seems to be coming from anxious hearts in these days of distressing conditions throughout the world. It is a discredit to human society that we wait for these things to drive us to God but, if it takes distressing times, then let us profit by our present conditions. Christianity is proving itself equal to the occasion and no other type of religion has an answer for humanity when in distress.

We are delighted that new people are attending services most every Sunday. If once we get in the habit of regular attendance and can gradually induce our friends to join with us in worship, the day will not be far distant when the church will come into a new day and the general public will derive far greater benefit therefrom.

The date of dedication for our church has been set for March 22. Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, our resident bishop, will be with us for the morning service. You will want to write your friends and assure them that we are looking forward to their being present. We have waited a long time for it, so let's make it a great day. Begin now to take part that we may be in position to receive the Bishop gladly and up to date with all obligations involved upon us. How can you better spend two hours next Sunday than in attending both Sunday School and church services? If you have something that is of more importance, I yield. You will find the church interested in the development of every thing that is good. One certainly cannot be wrong in following the teachings of Jesus Christ.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 25, 1942. The Golden Text is: "God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 57:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I, even I, am the Lord; and beside me there is no saviour" (Isaiah 43:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If God, the All-in-all, be the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, then everything entitled to a classification as truth, or Science, must be comprised in a knowledge or understanding of God, for there can be nothing beyond illimitable divinity" (page 127).

B&PW Club Members Entertain Guests with Chinese Party

Miss Joellene Vannoy, Mrs. Louise Fisch and Mrs. Lillie Welch turned the O'Connell Lunch Room into a Chinese club on Thursday evening, Jan. 15, to entertain the Business and Professional Women's Club and their guests. At the entrance to the club there hung a large sign, "Club Yu Sin." Inside the room, the lights were dimmed and the tables were arranged in a semi-circle around the dance floor.

Each table had for a centerpiece, a Chinese flower arrangement, with menu and program in a colorful booklet with Chinese lettering. In a corner, beside a door, labeled "Opium Den," sat a guest, Miss Aylene Lanier, dressed as a Chinese opium smoker. Two waiters, Lot Ti Whang and Sun Yat Sen Lil (Lottie Russell and Lillie Welch), dressed in Chinese fashion, seated the guests. A number of the club members and guests were dressed in Chinese robes and pajamas.

Dinner, consisting of bird nest soup, chop suey, rice, glazed peaches, almond cakes and hot tea was served by Chef Yeh Shi Con (Irene O'Connell).

Master of ceremonies, Van Mai Wong (Joellene Vannoy), most perfect speaking Chinese, introduced Chiang Kai Fisk and her trained Panda (Louise Fisch and "Butch"). Madame Mai Li Ling (Mayme Lee Collins), renowned soprano, sang a Chinese love song. The Ghost of Confucius was portrayed by Li Po Hay (Blanche Hays). A famous dance team, Kwei Chen Pok (Estelle Powers) and El Li Wov (Elva Allen), did an Oriental dance to the tune of Chop Sticks.

An interesting feature of the evening was Magician Gus Ku Ku (Gusta Davis) and her black magic, Sing Sang Waw (Alma Walker) sang a popular Chinese song. She was accompanied by Mu Fu Spgen (Inez Spencer). The most sensational event of the evening was a Chinese Fan Dance "We Se Yu" by Toy Lee Noy (Joellene Vannoy), a cousin to the famous Sally Rand. The finale, a monologue "China of Today" by Chung Lung Bur (Thelma Burrows).

Thalia High School Basketball Team Goes to Finals in Tournament at Shamrock and Loses to Pampa, 34-26

A motor torpedo boat, the British navy's newest weapon for harbor defense, makes a test run across Hong Kong harbor. In the background are two lumbering Chinese junks. This "Gibraltar of the East" has lent its might in repelling Jap attacks.

The basketball team of the Thalia High School won five out of six games played last week. Monday night the team journeyed to Memphis and won by a score of 40 to 32.
