For the past seven years he has been with the Gulf Co. in Venezuela.

Donkey Game Played Here Wed. Afternoon

The donkey baseball game on Wednesday afternoon, which was sponsored by the local P. T. A., was an outstanding success in every way. The game was played between the P. T. A. dads and the members of the American Legion with the result of a victory for the dads, with a score of 5 to 3. A large crowd was present and the P. T. A. realized $55.40 from the gate receipts. Both teams displayed excellent ability both in ball playing and donkey riding. The fielders were mounted on donkeys and the batters were required to mount to reach the bases. The difficulties involved produced much merriment among the spectators. The local P. T. A. finance committee, composed of Mrs. Oscar Boman, chairman, Mrs. R. R. Magee, Mrs. W. C. McKown and Mrs. Paul Shirley, was in charge of all arrangements.

CHURCHES

Christian Science

Sunday, 11 a. m. Subject for Sunday, August 6, "Spirit."

At the Church of Christ

On August 10th a series of meetings will begin at the Church of Christ. The preaching will be done by Elder R. F. Duckworth of Dallas, Texas.

Elder Duckworth is a good speaker well informed, rich in Biblical knowledge; and if you don't agree with him in a religious way, you will enjoy hearing him.

Christian Science Churches

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 6.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Eddy Baker.

ality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit.

"God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence.

SERMONETTE

LET THE BUYER BEWARE By Arthur B. Rhinow

"Let the buyer beware" is an old proverb meaning that in affairs of business it is perfectly ethical for the man who makes the sale to be dishonest; it is "up to" the buyer to let himself be cheated.

This rule will, of course, serve to keep the buyer alert. He will learn to keep his eyes and ears and mind wide open, lest the dealer deceive him.

The disadvantages, however, are disastrous. If business is to be transacted according to the maxim, "Let the buyers beware," we cannot trust one another.

"I am afraid he is trying to put one over on me," we would always caution ourselves.

Besides, this attitude of always being on guard against possible fraud involves a waste of time, precious time that ought to be devoted to the perfection of one's own particular task.

And for that reason we must be honest with one another so that we can trust one another. Dishonesty always was destructive, but especially to the modern system of business.

Margaret Boy Writes From Cleburne Camp

The following letter has been received by The News from Gilbert R. Choate of Margaret:

Cleburne, Tex., July 20, 1933. Dear Editor:—I thought some of the folks back in Foard County might want to know about how everything goes on in the C. C. Camp so here it is.

First, 37 of us who left Wichita Falls on May 2 landed at Ft. Sill. Right off the reel we began to hear everyone shout "fresh meat" and it seemed for some that it was that way.

After we were examined physically, we got a shot in the arm. Some of the boys passed out when the needle was put in their arm but most made it O. K.

Cleburne is one of the nicest towns I have ever been in. The people sure go out of their way to make us welcome.

There is only one of the boys here that is acquainted around Crowell and Margaret. He is Hadley Thomson of Quanah and formerly of Margaret.

The boys here are doing erosion work for the farmers around Cleburne. We are located in the park 12 blocks from the court house, on the banks of Buffalo Creek.

We have plenty of recreation. The recreation house is equipped with radio and there are plenty of books and magazines. We have a dandy baseball team and will organize a football and maybe a basketball team.

Some of the people may think that the C. C. is made up of bums and hoboes, but at least 75 per cent of the boys of Co. 871 have a high school education and the rest, with very few exceptions, are as good a bunch as you can find anywhere.

Yours for more C. C. camps. Gilbert R. Choate, Co. 871, C. C. C. Cleburne, Texas.

THE SPREAD OF DIVORCE

Many persons still living remember away back when it was considered something akin to disgrace to get a divorce, except for the most compelling reasons.

An interesting table showing the spread of divorce in this country is contained in the World Almanac, giving statistics on the subject running back to the year 1888.

Taking the record of 40 years by intervals of 10 years we find the following. There were 6 divorces for every 100 marriages, in 1891; 8.2 in 1901; 9.3 in 1911; 13.7 in 1921, and 17 in 1931.

The lowest number of marriages, population considered during this 40-year period was in 1894, when there were 8.6 marriages per 100,000 of population; the highest was in 1920, when the number rose to 11.96.

Taking actual figures without considering the increase in population, it is shown that in 1888 only 28,669 persons in the United States were divorced, while the highest number was reached in 1929, when no less than 201,468 couples were released from their marital bonds.

MORE ABOUT FAT

Nearly every week I am beset with pleas for "something that will help me reduce." So, listen, ye fat people—especially the sisters.

The latest (and I truly believe best) advice, is DON'T ADOPT A POPULAR FAD. Don't go on a diet of carrots, or spinach, or starch-free bosh—nor on any "one-piece fodder."

"Now, I want you to go about this thing in a sensible way. Eat anything you like, just so it's a wide variety. I want plenty of green stuff—plenty of fruits and vegetables.

This good lady had gotten down to two meals a day! And she ate the major portion of a half-bushel at each—mostly carrots and spinach!

Now, you'll be listening at the key-hole, to hear how this girl gets along. If I have luck I'll tell you about results later.

THE COLLEGE PROBLEM College is no "snap." It is a real task. It has its definite problems which challenge the best in every youth. Can you solve them? Here they are:

Problem One—GOING. Can I go? Yes, if you have the money. Many thousand young men and women do not have the money nor can they find a job, thus they will be denied the advantages of higher education.

SOLUTION: Here is an EASY and effective solution. GET A BUSINESS EDUCATION. Many who are attending our school at this moment are doing so as a means to a six-year professional education.

Problem Two—STAYING. Can I stay? Maybe you can, but the chances are against you. Only ten per cent of those who enter ever graduate. Ninety per cent fall by the way side—pathetic, expensive!

SOLUTION: Train yourself to be ACCURATE. Some students stumble, blotch, blur, and blunder themselves out of college. They are literally knocked out with a red pencil.

Many students quit college because they cannot KEEP UP. They never leave college. College leaves them. They lack the double-quick step. They are short in speed. Business Schools specialize in SPEED TRAINING.

Problem Three—GETTING. Can I get the most? Hundreds of thousands of young people will enter college this year. Of those who pursue their courses for a while, some will receive no benefit whatever, many will be moderately helped, but only a few will receive the maximum blessing.

SOLUTION: Train yourself in business first. Until recently slight emphasis has been placed upon business training as a means to a more adequate preparation for effective college work.

College is impossible for some, hard for many, easy for a few. Our specially arranged Business Training Course will make it EASY for you. With it you can go to college, stay in college, and get the most out of your work while there.

Harwell's Variety

Old Charley settled into a physical and spiritual comfort as he crawled by. He made real estate as good a way to make money as any. I reckon he'll be coming home in a month or so for quite a spell—thinks he can stay over to help me work cattle in the fall.

Old Charley considered carefully. "They are mighty dry," he admitted. "A friend of fifty years nodded. 'You got a bad deal last winter—' as the year I lost out."

"No, there's a spur track from Mexico that runs about thirty miles from the ranch but they only use it at cattle shipping time." The young woman looked from her husband to Old Charley. "Do you mean that this ranch is eighty-five miles out in the wilderness and there isn't a machine on the place?"

"That's about the size of it, Ma'm." "But how do they get to town?" "They don't come in so very often."

"There's something about all this I like, though," said Kenneth.

quivering heat—a parched thing which drew moisture from the lips like dry paper. A fence of three strands of barbed wire joined the road from the direction of the butte and followed mile after mile. Then came a gate, and fastened to a post nearby, a wooden box with a tin can on top.

"Do you want to eat here, asked the girl, as she glanced about with eyes narrowed to slits against the brilliant light. "Can't we go on until we come to a stream or a tree—anywhere out of this awful heat?"

"I'm mighty sorry," replied the old man, conscious of a certain quivering under the nettishness of her voice, "but I'm afraid this is the best we can do. There ain't no trees on this road—'ceptin' a mesquite or two—and a stream's plumb impossible. If we kept on in this direction the first water we'd strike would be the Gulf of California."

The girl shrank back in the seat; her eyes darted over the desolate landscape as though imploring it to produce a tree, a house, an animal—anything familiar. She said nothing.
