H. D. AGENT BEGINS WORK IN FOARD COUNTY

Dosca Hale, home demonstration agent in Foard County for three years, has been granted leave of absence by the A. & Extension Service and Miss Holman of Tenaha, Shelby County, assumed the duties of this position here Monday morning.

Hale's action came as a surprise to the public in general, however, she has planned several weeks of her plans several weeks ago. She left here Monday morning to enroll in the Kansas State College at Manhattan, where she will complete her degree in home economics. She previously graduated from C. I. A. at Denton.

Her predecessor, Miss Virginia Freeman, as agent here on June 1, 1930, Hale achieved an outstanding record in this capacity and her work has been of inestimable value to the entire county. She was a conscientious and tireless worker—going about her duties in a quiet and unobtrusive manner—but always accomplishing the most successful and beneficial results. Miss Hale made friends of friends in this county during her stay here.

With best wishes to Miss Hale in connection with her departure, the people of Foard County welcome Miss Holman in the same spirit. This will be her first experience as a home demonstration agent. Miss Holman is thoroughly qualified for this position and the same demonstration work in Foard County will continue as originally planned for this year.

Miss Holman received her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics from the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' College at Nacogdoches and her Master of Science degree in the same work from the Kansas State College at Manhattan.

She formerly served as professor of home economics in the University of South Dakota and as associate professor in this subject at the Sam Houston State Teachers' College at Huntsville. She has been actively associated with girl scout work and various phases of church work and civic affairs.

Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs of College Station, district home demonstration agent, was here Monday to assist Miss Holman in starting her new work.

While a large number of West Texas counties have received cotton checks during the past week, up to Thursday morning Foard County had not received a single check.

Fred Rennels, county agent, telegraphed cotton administration officials at Washington in regard to the matter Wednesday afternoon and was awaiting an answer this morning.

With the opening of the Crowell and Four Corners schools Monday morning, only three Foard County schools, Beaver, Claytonville and Fish, have not yet opened their new terms.

The Four Corners teachers are Mrs. Florence Griffith and Miss Maple Edens.

West Texas Utilities To Pay Tax Instead Of Electricity Users

Information is contained in the ad of the West Texas Utilities Co., elsewhere in this issue, that should prove of interest to all users of electricity supplied by this company.

The announcement in this ad is to the effect that beginning Sept. 1, the 3 per cent Federal tax on domestic and commercial electric bills will no longer be paid by the customer, but by the West Texas Utilities Co., which takes this step in helping carry out its part in the national recovery program.

For complete information about the action of the West Texas Utilities Co., turn to its ad on page 7.

Send $52 From Here For Storm Sufferers

A total of $52.00 was raised in Foard County by the local Red Cross chapter for the relief of hurricane sufferers in the Rio Grande Valley. The most disastrous storm in the history of the Valley visited that area early last week.

Mrs. H. Schindler, Mrs. T. E. Womack and Mrs. L. A. Andrews raised the funds for this county's part in relief work. Over forty-two dollars of this amount was raised in Crowell.

COMMITTEES ON WHEAT REQUEST EARLY ACTION

Foard County wheat farmers are signing up with the Government in an effort to reduce and control the production of wheat during the next two years. The time for a close of the sign-up period has not been announced by the wheat adjustment officials of the Department of Agriculture, however, the committees which are assisting the growers in the county are very anxious that every wheat farmer in the county, who is interested in the plan see them as early as possible and make application for contract.

If it is more convenient for any grower on his farm during the years of 1930, '31 and '32. It is also necessary to find out the yield of the crops of each year as well as the acreage.

If it is more convenient for any of the growers in the various wheat communities of the county to call at the County Agent's office for assistance in filling out their application or for an explanation of the wheat plan every assistance will be given.

It will be necessary for all wheat farmers who wish to participate in the plan to make application before the close of the sign-up campaign, as information from the Wheat Adjustment Administration states that no more members will be taken until after the 1934 and '35 crops.

Foard County's allotment is based on a five year average of acreages and amounts to 34,000 acres and the average yearly yield amounts to 434,000 bushels.

Pep Squad Will Be Largest in History of Local High School

With forty-five Crowell High School girls reporting for the first meeting of the 1933-34 pep squad Wednesday afternoon, it now appears that the Wildcat football team will have the largest and peppiest organized group of girls supporting them at games this year than at any other time in the history of the local school.

Doris Oswald and Mozelle Lilly were chosen as leaders and the following officers were elected: Mabel Lee Eddy president; Bernice Poland vice-president; Mamie Lee Teague, secretary; Geraldine Carter, treasurer; Madge Moyer, reporter; Miss Ruth Patterson, sponsor.

The pep squad has a real live Wildcat for its mascot with a specially constructed portable cage to use in connection with its activities at games. The cage is attractively mounted on wheels of a small coaster wagon.

ENROLLMENT IN LOCAL SCHOOLS LARGEST SINCE 1928; NEW TERM STARTED IN CROWELL MONDAY

Leaves Foard County

MISS DOSCA HALE

Will Begin Service Fri. on Extension of Bus Line to Clovis

The bus will leave Plainview at 3:15 each day, going via Olton, Earth, Muleshoe and Farwell. A passenger leaving Crowell at 10 a. m. would make connections with this bus.

A permit to extend the service of this bus line was recently granted by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Public Hearing on County Budget Sat.

A public hearing on the proposed Foard County budget for the fiscal year, 1933-34, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:00 in the office of Vance Swaim, county judge, according to an official notice appearing elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Swaim urges all taxpayers possible to be present for this hearing in order that they may understand where and how their tax money is to be spent; reasons for the county rate recently set by the court and also that they may understand other questions that may enter their minds. This will be an informal meeting and discussions will be allowed on any phase of the budget.

VISITS HERE WEDNESDAY

Will Lindsey, who was a resident of Crowell when his father, the late Rev. C. E. Lindsey, was pastor of the Crowell Methodist Church more than thirty years ago, was a visitor in Crowell Wednesday afternoon and spent the time looking up and visiting friends of his boyhood days in Crowell. This was Mr. Lindsey's first visit to Crowell since the family left here about twenty-nine years ago. He was accompanied by J. H. Cope of Vernon, also a former Crowell resident.

The Crowell schools officially opened their 1933-34 terms here Monday with an enrollment of 501, the greatest number of pupils since 1928, when the number was 532 at the beginning of school.

The enrollment at the beginning of school each year for the past six years follows: 1928—532; 1929—502; 1930—445; 1931—430; 1932—479; 1933—504.

The high school enrollment this year is 178, 23 more than last year and 48 more than two years ago at the opening of school. The intermediate enrollment of 141 is 16 more than last year, however, a decrease of 14 is shown in the primary enrollment, which is 185.

Supt. I. T. Graves attributes the decrease in the primary department to the fact that school patrons are now becoming adjusted to the ruling inaugurated in 1930, which permitted 6-year old children to enter the first grade without paying tuition.

The enrollment by departments at the opening of school each year for the past few years follow:

	1930	1931	1932	1933
Primary	194	205	199	185
Intermediate	109	95	125	141
High School	142	130	155	178
Total	445	430	479	504

Last year the enrollment in the local schools reached its peak in January when the total was 557.

Opening Exercises

A large number of school patrons were present for the opening of the new term at both the high school auditorium and the primary rooms.

The program in the auditorium, which was attended by pupils of the high school and intermediate grades, was opened with prayer by Rev. R. R. Rives, Presbyterian pastor. Talks were made by Fred Rennels, chairman of the school board, and Supt. Graves. A few announcements were made.

Mrs. C. J. Farrell of Vernon Died Sept. 7

Mrs. C. J. Farrell, prominent church and civic leader of Vernon, died last Thursday night in a hospital at Wichita Falls following an operation.

She was well known to many Crowell people and took a prominent part in the fifth annual conference of the 13th District of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers that was held in Crowell last April. She was state chairman of Founders' Day in this organization.

Mrs. Farrell is survived by her husband, who is the Vernon postmaster, and a son and daughter. The son, Roy Farrell, is one of the leading golfers of West Texas. Mrs. R. L. Kincaid and Mrs. T. B. Klepper attended the funeral, which was held in Vernon on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mattie Mulliniks of Foard City and Polk Tanner of the Vivian community were married Tuesday afternoon by Elder E. J. Smith, local Church of Christ minister, on the lawn at the south side of the local court house.

Grand Jury Returns 3 Indictments; Miller Case Called for Mon.

After being in session on Monday and Tuesday, the Foard County grand jury for the September term of district court recessed until Thursday, Sept. 21.

Thursday morning arrests had not been made in connection with the three bills of indictment returned by the grand jury. One man was indicted for forgery, another for driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and the third indictment was against a man, charged with perjury in connection with testimony given in a trial at the May term of court.

Miller Case

One of two cases remaining on the Foard County docket against Que R. Miller, former sheriff and tax collector here, charged with misapplication of public funds, will be called for trial Monday.

Miller was indicted on four counts in Sept., 1931. Two of the cases were transferred to Quanah on a change of venue last spring. Trial of one resulted in Miller being sentenced to seven years imprisonment. This case is now on appeal in the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin.

Petit jurors appeared in court this morning.

FOARD CO. TAX ROLLS READY FOR APPROVAL

Foard County's 1933 tax rolls are ready for the approval of the commissioners court when it meets here Saturday, according to Vernon Pyle, tax assessor. Following approval by the court, the rolls will be turned over to R. J. Thomas, tax collector, who will probably be ready to accept payment of 1933 taxes by Monday.

Due to the fact that the state rate was not received last year until Sept. 29, the rolls at that time were not turned over to the collector until Oct. 15.

The total valuation for the county this year is $3,715,020.00, compared with $4,039,275.00 last year and $5,364,415.00 in 1931. In the past years the state and county valuations have been the same, however, the valuation for the state this year is $3,066,680.00 due to the home-stead exemption law, which slices $648,340 from the county valuations for state tax purposes.

The total tax due for county purposes this year is $52,764.77 and the state total is $23,615.83. The total special road tax due from Precincts 1, 3 and 4 amounts to $3,964.93. The total for common school districts is $16,956.31, making a grand total of $97,301.84 due for different agencies, according to the 1933 county rolls.

The state tax rate this year is 77c, the county rate is $1.42 and the school rates in the different districts range from 50c to $1.00. The special road tax for Precincts 1, 3 and 4 is 15 cents.

Mr. Pyle assessed a total of 2,095 poll taxes this year. Poll taxes cost $1.75 each, the revenue of which is divided as follows: state 50c, state school $1.00, and county 25c.

Crowell Wildcats and All-Stars Will Meet In Free Game Friday

Football fans of this section will have their first opportunity to witness the gridiron sport for this year Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Crowell High School Wildcats clash with the Crowell All-Stars in a practice contest on the new field north of the school grounds.

This game is free to the public, however, it should be of unusual interest since both teams will have strong squads. One should have a good idea as to how the high school team will fare with other competition this year following this game with former Wildcat stars.

Guy Todd is the captain of the all-star group and has announced probable starting line-up for his team as follows: J. M. Crowell, left end; Hubert Smith, left tackle; Ernest Johnson left guard; Henry Ashford, center; Leo Horn, right guard; Reefe Womack, right tackle; John Todd, right end; Mitchell Allee, quarterback; Crows Cooper, left half; Guy Todd, right half, and R. D. Oswald Jr., fullback. Reserves are George Carter, Chas. Ashford, Bill Bell and Gerald Knox.

Coach Grady Graves has not announced a starting line-up for the high school. As yet it is difficult to tell just what players will qualify for the opening call.

Two outstanding candidates for guard positions reported for practice Monday of this week with the appearance of W. F. Brisco of Crowell and Millard Marr of Vivian. Brisco is 17 years of age, weighs 151 pounds and has excellent blocking ability. Marr is 16, weighs 152 pounds and is rapidly developing into a real prospect.

Crowell's first regulation game is with Knox City on Friday afternoon of next week at the local field.

HEAVIEST RAIN IN 23 MONTHS WED. MORNING

The heaviest rain recorded at one time in Crowell in 23 months fell early Wednesday morning. It amounted to 2.3 inches and together with rain on Tuesday afternoon, the total was 2.6 inches.

The downpour Wednesday morning was general over Foard County and a good part of this section of Texas. The rainfall was lighter in the eastern part of the county.

The need of moisture to supply a season for wheat was keenly felt in a good part of the county. The rain Wednesday morning came in such a manner as to receive maximum benefit from it.

The last rain as heavy as this one to be recorded in Crowell came on Oct. 11, 1931, at which time a drought of over four months was ended. On July 21, 1932, a rain of 2.2 inches came near equalling yesterday's downpour. One of the heaviest rains in recent years was on Dec. 4, 1930, when 3.6 inches fell.

Course in Typing Is Added This Year at Crowell High School

A course in typewriting is available to the students of Crowell High School this year for the first time in the history of the school. Thirteen Remington machines have been ordered by the school board and are expected the early part of next week.

No extra cost to the operation of the local school system will result from this action by the school board. Students enrolled in the typing class will either furnish their own machines or pay a fee of $1.50 a month in using the machines secured by the school. Fees from the students will pay for the machines, according to the terms arranged for in purchasing them.

Henry Black, Spanish and history teacher, will also have charge of the typewriting department. Forty pupils have already enrolled for this new work.

THE HIDDEN QUART

CONOCO

STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY

You may at times forget to add a needed quart. This slip of memory may be forgiven, if you use Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, for the 'Hidden Quart' extends its protection to cover the lapse, and gives extra miles to safely reach the next Red Triangle Station.

This exceptional lubrication is brought about by the Germ Process—exclusively Conoco's patented formula. By adding extra oiliness and penetrativeness to the very highest quality motor oil, complete protection is achieved.

With all these qualities, the total cost of this oil is low . . . five miles for a penny.

CONSTITUTION DAY

September 17 marks the 144th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States by the constitutional convention in Philadelphia after nearly four months of deliberations.

In recent years Constitution Day has been widely observed through suitable exercises by schools, clubs and patriotic societies. It is only the truth to say that the average American is by no means as familiar with this great document as he ought to be.

One of the highest tributes ever paid the Constitution was by the eminent British statesman, Viscount James Bryce, who in his American Commonwealth said:

"The Constitution deserves the veneration with which Americans have been accustomed to regard it. It ranks above every other written constitution for the intrinsic excellence of its scheme, its adaptation to the circumstances of the people, the simplicity, brevity and precision of its language, its judicious mixture of definiteness in principle with elasticity in details."

ORIGIN OF ODD PRICES

We are so accustomed to articles in stores priced at 98 cents, $1.49 and other odd-penny amounts that few persons give any thought to what once was considered a freakish idea of price-making.

But G. H. Cilley, a well-known store advertising manager, tells in a recent article that the custom arose from the solution of a very practical problem by a shrewd merchant.

When Captain Roland H. Macy got tired of sailing the sea and started a store in New York, there were no cash registers or other means for checking up his clerks. Money received for purchases was put in an old-fashioned cash drawer which made no records, and the practice of "knocking down," a euphemism for plain stealing by clerks, was quite prevalent.

Macy changed all prices to odd-cent amounts, established cashiers to make the required change, and cent amounts, established cashiers His advertisement of these odd prices seemed to strike the public eye favorably, and he got a great response. What was at first only an expedient to keep from being robbed developed into a potent psychological appeal to his customers.

Thus the odd-price has survived many years after the original reason for its adoption ceased to exist.

AID FOR THE DEAF

Through an invention recently exhibited by Dr. Frederick Bedell, professor of physics at Cornell University, a great many persons who are supposed to be deaf can hear music satisfactorily through their teeth.

Briefly described, the apparatus used is a special phonograph receiver, terminating in a metal disc, against which the end of a stick of wood is placed, the other end being held lightly between the listener's teeth.

The sound vibrations pass directly to the auditory nerves through the teeth and jawbones, even though the eardrums have been destroyed. Of course, destruction of the auditory nerves themselves would forever preclude hearing, but many cases of deafness result merely from defects in the outer ear. In such cases Dr. Bedell's invention would make hearing possible.

An idea advanced in connection with the new device is that the special transmitters might be placed near a radio or phonograph, or even attached to the seats of a talkie picture theater. The deaf listener could provide himself with the necessary wooden stick and "listen in" at his pleasure, using his teeth as normal persons use their ears.

There would even be some advantage in such a procedure. The listeners would not be annoyed by the irrelevant remarks and alleged wit of "back seat" auditors.

CANCER NOT INHERITED

Cancer experiment with 52,000 rats, during a period of 12 years, the Institute of Cancer Research announces the definite conclusion that cancer is never inherited. An announcement by the institute says: "Cancer is a terrible disease, not only because it brings pain and death, but also because it inspires an immense amount of worry in a great many people who are never going to suffer from it physically."

"It is the people who have seen cancer attack some member of their family who worry the most and without cause. It appears from the research done that cancer does not start unless there is an irritation present. The germ cells which are inherited from parents do not carry the liability to cancer."

"The main benefit derived from the study is that it removes the fatalistic attitude developed toward the disease. It is that attitude which keeps many persons away from the doctor during the early stages of the cancer growth, when through an early examination and treatment a life might often be saved."

POWER FOR PLYMOUTH

Calvin Coolidge no doubt looked forward to the time when the little town of Plymouth, Vt., where he was born and where he is buried, would have electric service, but he did not live to see it.

Here Mr. Coolidge took the oath of office as President, administered by his father by the light of a kerosene lamp, upon the death of President Harding.

But Plymouth is going modern at last. The state public service commission has just granted authority for the establishment of electric power and light service in the town.

TEXON TALES

By Las Vegas Kim, formerly Texon Tattler

Some of you may remember the Texon Tales which quit about the time the depression hit the Southwest Desert which has been known since oil was discovered and developed as The Permian Basin (pronounced Permain Basin). Texon is in the field where they have those famous deep oil wells around a mile and three quarters deep. The Big Lake Co. which is the company for which Texon is the camp, is at present drilling on the thirteenth deep well and with the one other company in the field, have more than twenty deep wells. There have been over three hundred shallow wells but they are drilled no more. We are laying our hopes on deep oil, 3.2, NRA, baseball and the return of prosperity. We have the oil, 3.2, NRA, baseball, and prosperity is a big hope while otherwise we are financially unconscious. Tom Beverly and Paul Crews are here seeing the ball games and still after the first hundred thousand as soon as prices boost. The well known Texon Oilers baseball club was in the West Texas Independent Baseball League with Abilene, Ozona, San Angelo and Coleman. Texon won the first half and with the aid of Mose Simms of Abilene, Ozona nosed out to win the second, which gave us a play-off here Labor Day when Texon won three games out of four and became what they call winner of the flag race or something. We also have what is known as the Permian Basin League in which McCamey, (where J. L. Martin and family lives), Iraan, (where Geo. Thompson lives), Rankin, (where Rayo Thompson works in the post office), Odessa, Crane, and a few places have ball clubs in. Odessa is the champion in that league so Texon plays them three games here next week, so come down. We are threatening to begin the Texon Tales again, so if you don't want them, please let us hear from you. We hope to do better than before, so if you like them, tell others.

EYES UPON THE GOAL

Just what happened in the moment when the food was laid before Jesus in feeding the 5,000, is an impenetrable mystery; but there is no doubt at all as to what took place afterward. It was the event for which the people had waited, the unmistakable sign! Moses had fed their fathers on manna in the wilderness; here was one who likewise called on Heaven, and supplied their wants. Surely he was the son of David, long foretold, who would overthrow the rule of their conquerors and restore the throne to Jerusalem!

Joyously they shouted the news back and forth. The day of deliverance had come; the tyranny of the Romans was about to end. They were an army and had not realized it. Right there on the field they were enough to outnumber the garrison in Jerusalem; but they were only a nucleus of the host that would gather to their banners, once their southward march was formed. If they were five thousand now, they would be fifty thousand, perhaps a hundred thousand of them. They surged forward toward the little hill where he stood—

And then— Jesus had foreseen their purpose, and even while they were perfecting their plan, doubt had raged through his spirit with the force of a tempest. Why not accept their nomination? Why not their king? It would mean an alteration in his program, to be sure—a surrender of his vision of spiritual leadership. And yet it might not be such a surrender, after all. Solomon had been king, and a great spiritual leader; David had been king and had written the nation's highest ideals into his Psalms. He himself was better balanced than David, wiser than Solomon—why not?

It was as splendid a picture as ever stirred the pulses of an ambitious man. For only an instant Jesus allowed his eyes to rest on it. Then he saw the other picture—the vast dumb multitudes of men, his brothers and sisters, the blind being led by the blind, their souls squeezed dry of vision and hope by the machinery of formalism. He saw generations born and die in spiritual servitude which nothing could end except the Truth that he had come to declare. To put himself at the head of this army of fanatical patriots would be perhaps to risk his life and his message with it. But worse than the possibility of failure was the probability of success.

In a flash he saw it all and made his decision. Even as the multitude surged forward, he gave a few crisp orders to his disciples and disappeared. The Gospel story puts the dramatic climax into a single sentence:

Jesus, therefore, perceiving that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, withdrew again into the mountain himself alone.

Agriculture and Livestock Depts. Features at Fair

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 12—Featuring special programs which will deal with the replacement of cotton acres in Texas, the agriculture and livestock departments of the State Fair of Texas expect to hold their greatest shows during the 1933 exposition, it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the fair. The agriculture department will feature the progress of diversification in Texas since 1919, the year such great agitation was started by various farm agencies. This progress will be shown by two exhibits from Dallas County. One of the exhibits will be a duplication of the 1919 display and the other will be a 1933 exhibit. The livestock department will feature utility livestock, or livestock that are practical on any farm, and that which can be fed and milked at the end of the year show a profit. Many agencies advocate livestock as a means of reducing cotton acreage. While these two departments have been featured in planning the 1933 exposition, the amusement end of the fair has not been overlooked and officials of the fair have planned and are bringing the greatest amusement program ever presented in Texas. Headed by three elaborate Shubert musical productions in the auditorium—"Bitter Sweet," "Nina Rosa" and "Florodora" the program has been so mapped that there is a portion of it which will be of interest to everyone. In the Livestock Arena for 12 days, the Southwestern Championship Cowboy Contest will be held, bringing the "top-hands" of the rodeo worlds to Texas. The Beckman and Gerety Shows are bringing many new attractions to the midway, the most sensational of which will be a duplication of the now famous "Sally Rand Fan Dance," which has created such a whirlwind of comment at the Century of Progress in Chicago. In addition to this dance, the shows are bringing several new rides to the 1933 State Fair of Texas.

Christian Science Churches

"Matter" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 17.

The Golden Text is: "In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me" (Psalms 56).

Included with other passages from the Bible is the following from Galatians 5: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Morality must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, they must near the broader interpretation of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (p. 265).

Come! Sunday Evening

Everyone is looking for a change. It is universal. In the higher ranks as well as the lower. It is coming, but of what will it consist? Will it come through government or through other straits. All governmental policies of past ages have crashed into the ground. Will the policies of this country also crumble and fall?

Many who admit that the change is coming forget this one great Biblical truth, "Jesus Is Coming." It is His promise. They are His words. But if this promise is never fulfilled; supposing these words, are false, what? It is an important question that we are holding before you for your consideration. "If Christ Should Not Return, What?" We have conclusive evidence of the facts in this case. This is the great question to be discussed by the pastor of the Christian Church Sunday evening. Come, bring one.

G. L. SLAGLE, Pastor.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

SOLOMON

Lesson for September 17th—1 Kings 5-8.

Golden Text—Psalm 100:4.

Under the leadership of Solomon, the Wise King, Israel reached a high point of material splendor. He began his reign with noble ideals, as he did not beg for long life, or riches, or victory over his foes, but for "an understanding heart."

What is life's best gift? Some indicated by the impressive story of his dream at Gibeon where, in answer to the divine request, "Ask what I shall give thee," Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

And be it noted that with wisdom come, in inevitable sequence, the lesser gifts. God gave Solomon not only what he asked for, but, in addition, prosperity, honour, length of days, and a reign of peace without a parallel in Jewish history.

Solomon was a splendid politician and administrator. He consolidated the kingdom, welding together its disorganized tribes into a temporary union. He realized, too, the value of foreign alliances, through the promotion of which he stimulated international commerce and good-will, as indicated by the famous visit to Jerusalem of the Queen of Sheba. But his greatest claim to fame arises from his successful completion of the spectacular Temple.

But Solomon's extraordinary wealth and fame proved, in the end, his undoing. "His wives," says the narrative, "turned away his heart after other gods. . . . And the Lord was angry with Solomon." Self-indulgence and pride of possession brought about, at last, unmistakable deterioration in the fibre of his character. With all his wisdom, he lacked self-control. We do not wonder, then, that the glory of his reign was followed by the disaster.

The wisest man in history was made a fool of by his women and his wealth, and his splendid kingdom crashed into ruin. What a commentary on human weakness and divine judgment!

SERMONETTE

PATIENCE

By Arthur B. Rhinow

"The cure is all right," a friend said to me as we chatted in the bank about ailments and methods of healing, "but it takes time. The patient must have patience."

And I said to myself, "Surely, patience itself is a cure for many ills, economic and otherwise."

A thorough study of a problem, leading to mastery, demands patience, and much has been spoiled by impatience. The true scientist who toils for years in the interest of truth may be laughed at by the charlatan who finds his pseudo science far more profitable.

"Keep on digging and digging just for the sake of the truth?" the latter asks with a foolish grin of superiority. "Not I. There is no money in that. And, besides, I haven't time for that sort of thing." But there is a real thrill in the discovery of basic facts after patient seeking.

The impatient man cannot wait for the maturing of plans. He wants the quick and spectacular results, which always prove a disappointment in the end, for himself and others.

We cannot have thoroughness without patience. When, before the war, Newell Dwight Hillis, eminent divine, visited Germany, he came back with the report that in his opinion, the outstanding virtue of the Germans was patience. And they are known for their thoroughness.

And to the fine art of building character, patience is essential. Not through a sporadic and showy display of goodness do we come to ourselves, but through the honest and enduring subjection of the lower within us to the higher within us. And that is often a slow process, involving cross bearing and the cry of divine help.

WHISPERING ROCK

by JOHN LEBAR

Seventh Installment

Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of a three-quarter interest in an old ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died on business in Mexico. Her ailing husband and small child go to Arizona to take the place, thinking the climate would be beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the "Dead Lantern" is 85 miles from the desert. Charley Thane, rancher and rural mail carrier, offers to take them to "Dead Lantern," which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily make their way down the road, Ruth just a huge overshadowing shadow in a gulch in coming to the house, a voice whispered "Go back." At the ranch house she is greeted suspiciously by the rancher partner, Snavely and Ann, a negro and Indian blood. It is difficult to understand the ranch, but Ruth takes up the reins and tries to adjust their three to the ranch and its develop-close; the empty miles of motionless desert made themselves felt, as if they, too, were concerned with what took place in the adobe. All the silent world seemed waiting, waiting. . . . Many times, bits of the road to town flashed through the girl's mind; she saw the twists, the hills, sand-filled arroyos, short stretches where speed was possible. The road was so very long. Twice it would have to be traveled before the doctor came. She knew that at best she could not arrive before six o'clock.

Suddenly the man's eyes opened wide; his voice was an imploring whisper. "Ruth! Ruth!"

"Mama, when is daddy coming home some more?" David would ask at bedtime.

The girl brought her free arm across his breast and laid her cool cheek against his burning one. As a matter of fact, the sun was two hours high before Old Charley and docto finally arrived. Ruth Warren, with wide-eyed David in her arms, was sitting like an image of stone on the doorstep of the old adobe—staring at the live oak tree east of the ranch house. Kenneth was dead.

In the days which followed close upon her husband's death, Ruth Warren felt that she had separated into two women. The one she had always known went about her tasks almost as before—even smiled and played with David. The other Ruth hovered behind her, a black shadow—a half-crazed thing of grief and utter terror, wailing questions which had no answers. It was only by pretending not to know about this other Ruth that the real Ruth could keep her a little away. But at bedtime David invariably asked, "Mama, when is daddy coming home some more?" Then the black shadow entered and became her very self.

At last, the question of what she must do became as strong and then stronger than the hovering shadow of grief and despair. One day Ruth went to Snavely, as he was turning out his horse after the day's ride. Since the slight rain both he and Ann were in the saddle most of the day, Ruth had been glad.

"Mr. Snavely," said Ruth quietly, "could I have a talk with you?" "Eh? All right—go ahead."

"I thought we might want the ranch books to refer to," said the girl hesitantly.

Snavely's eyes jumped to Ruth and back to his horse's head in silence.

When they had entered the living room of the ranch house Snavely silently collected some papers and the old daybook, dumped them on the table, seated himself opposite Ruth and waited.

"The first thing I want to talk about," said the girl, "is the ranch earnings."

Snavely nodded.

"How much do you think the ranch will earn this year?"

"We can figger it pretty close—can't tell exactly."

"Well?"

"Well, we got about a hundred mother cows an' th' calf crop don't run more'n fifty per cent—" he paused and wrote out some figures. "That'll give us about forty or fifty sellin' calves—that's our increase for the year an' we can't sell no more than that, without going down hill. Well, if we get thirty dollars for fifty head that's fifteen hundred dollars."

"For the whole year?"

Snavely nodded.

"But couldn't a ranch as big as this—twenty thousand acres—accommodate more than one hundred mother cows?"

"It could. But cows cost money. Your brother figgered on buying more—that's why he fixed up the windmill an' the tank an' all—but he claimed he could get hold of some capital."

"Couldn't we borrow some money to buy cows so that there'd be more calves?"

"How?"

"Oh, I don't know—people do borrow money. Couldn't we say to someone, 'Lend us so much money to buy some cattle with, and then we'll pay when the cattle make the money'—We could give the ranch as security."

"No!" Snavely's voice was a high-pitched shout of protest. "None o' that—none o' that. You don't know what you're getting into when you fool with that sort of thing! You'll lose the whole ranch to come cute sharper—that's what'll happen. No! Mrs. Warren, I don't feel that it would be wise to put the ranch up to borrow on. An' it's the law that both partners has to agree before anything's done with the property."

"Certainly, I understand that, Mr. Snavely; and of course we shall agree on everything." She smiled her best. "We're not children looking for something to squabble about—we're owners of this fine ranch and we want to improve it."

"I wasn't complainin' none—that much'll keep me."

Ruth summoned all her courage. "But your share would only be a quarter of that amount."

"What are you hintin' at?" Snavely half rose. "Let me tell you that I ain't got all that's coming to me by a long chalk! It takes all the ranch brings in to buy my grub. I'm the only partner that's workin' an' I figger my quarter is due me as clear salary."

Ruth's heart was thumping. "And I certainly agree, Mr. Snavely—I think you have done splendidly, and if possible I'll see that you get back your share of the money my brother took when he went to Mexico. That's not the point. We've got to make the ranch earn more for both of us."

"The ranch can't. It'll bring in enough to keep the man that runs it, but it won't do no more without you buy some more stock an' put in a well so's the stock can live after you get 'em here."

Ruth's fingers drummed nervously on the table top. No one would have guessed how near she was to breaking down. She didn't pretend to know anything about the ranch, nor the business of ranching—she only knew that her interest in the ranch was all she had in the world—that David had no father. . . . She looked up. "But what can we do? We must do something."

"You mean you got to do something. I ain't needin' money—I been gettin' along for more'n fifty years. I don't reckon you can come anywhere near understandin' me when I tell you I don't want no money. The only good money ever done me was to give it to people so's I could get shet of 'em. Well—I'm a long ways from broke right now. You got a claim on this ranch. The only thing this ranch means to you is money; the only thing it means to me is a place to live myse'f. I'll swap you one for the other."

"How much is my share worth, Mr. Snavely; what will you give me for it? The girl's voice was strained, eager.

She looked up. "But what can we do? We must do something."

A gleam of almost insane satisfaction lit Snavely's face; he leaned forward and would have placed his hand on Ruth's arm had she not withdrawn it. "Now, Mrs. Warren, I think you're gettin' some sense. This ranch ain't no place for a woman an' a baby—it's a wild, lonesome country—mighty strange to you." Suddenly he stood up. "Mrs. Warren, I'll give you every cent I've got for your interest. Then you can git out!" His voice, trembling and pitched high, rang weirdly in the small room. "Yes, you can go! You can leave me like you found me—you can go back to the stinkin' mess of people an' their low tricks an' their mean hog lives an' you can leave me be! That's what I want an' that's what I aim to have! I can't abide people—I don't want no money, I don't want nothin' but peace! There ain't no peace 'mongst people, do you know that?" His pale staring eyes bored through the girl. "—you come here 'cause you thought you could have money out of this place. Well, you can—I'll give you every cent I've got, an' it's more'n this ranch'll earn you in ten years. I'll give you near ten thousand dollars an' I'll give it to you now an' you can go to-night! Rats Cause Disease and Huge Losses in Texas During Year

Austin, Sept. 12.—Texas sustained a fifteen million dollar loss last year, on account of rats, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. This figure is a very low estimate based upon the probable number of rats in the State, two for each person. No doubt many suffer losses from diseases, time and money, caused by the rat.

Typhus fever is on the increase in Texas and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's Disease, has a low death rate. It occurs among persons who work or live in rat infested buildings. It was the observation of this fact that led to the discovery that rats are carriers or transmitters of the disease. It appears that the rat suffers attacks of this form of typhus fever and that the fleas harbored by the sick rats bite man and thus human infection results.

Although this disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the high fever, and the great mental depression are its most unpleasant features. Like in sea sickness, the patients greatest fear is that he is not going to die. The illness generally lasts about two weeks.

The control of typhus is very difficult and it depends upon the extermination of rats and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning help, but the best results are obtained by starving the rats. This is done by having all buildings where food is stored ratproofed. The State Department of Health and the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be

Quality First

When Roosevelt took his office we pledged our support. When he suggested we adopt the N. R. A. plan, we gladly did so.

He has also asked that ALL stop the cut throat method of doing business. That is—putting their prices lower than those of their competitor in order to take his trade.

We hope we will not be forced to violate the president's plan.

Quality should come first in laundry work.

The Price of Electricity Comes Down!

Beginning September 1st, the 3 per cent Federal tax on domestic and commercial electric bills will no longer be paid by our customers. Hereafter the tax will be paid by the company.

THIS IS A REDUCTION IN YOUR COST FOR ELECTRICITY.

These conditions create new, difficult and costly problems for us, but we approach them willingly, glad to contribute what we can to help the nation to better times.

This-That, Etc.

By Typo Wrighter

According to reports coming to The News every now and then, it seems that misunderstandings are some times caused by the fifteen, twenty and twenty-five year ago columns that are published by this paper, a different year being used each week.

It seems that the trouble is caused by people reading the items without looking at the double-column headline above them, with the results that a number of events recounted are regarded as present happenings.

Three weeks ago in the 20-year ago column there was an article about the old school building being torn away in preparation for the erection of a new structure. From this old item the report got out that a new school building was to be erected in Crowell and quite a few people sought employment on the project.

Several weeks ago the editor wondered what it was all about when he was questioned by a Foard County man as to his future plans since he had sold his paper. The mystery was solved, however, when it was remembered that in a recent 20-year ago column an item appeared about J. L. Martin buying the paper in 1913.

The report of births especially in the 20 and 25-years ago columns, often startles some of the readers, so we learn, "Well, doesn't that beat all! Who would ever have thought that Mr. and Mrs. Soandso would have another baby?" was the statement heard by a local man from one who was reading the 25-year ago column and confusing it with present day news.

Last spring Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wisdom were present for a program in the Thalia school auditorium when a friend approached them and asked if the little baby mentioned recently in The Foard County News was present, to which Mr. Wisdom replied: "Yes, he is up on the stage getting ready to debate." A few weeks before an item appeared in the 15-year ago column about the birth of J. C. Wisdom, who was a prominent debater and athlete at Thalia last year.

A year or so ago an irate taxpayer wanted to know why in the dickens the commissioners court wanted to build another court house when they already had a good one. He had also failed to read the head just above the 20-year ago items. Some clipping bureau evidently pulled a boner on this item also, for soon after its publication a New York financial institution wrote county officials that it was interested in the matter.

A number of other unique situations have resulted from these columns. No doubt there are many of these that we have not heard of. If you have heard of some unusual

Parking Trouble in 1660

Virgil Smith has submitted an item from the magazine, "Pipe Progress," which shows that parking troubles, such as Crowell's are nothing new. In fact Charles II had troubles in this respect nearly 275 years ago, according to the following order issued by him in 1660:

"Whereas, the excessive number of hackney coaches in the city of London are found to be a common nuisance, the streets and highways being thereby impassable and dangerous:

"We command that no person or persons permit or suffer said coaches to stand or remain in any of the streets.

"Given to our court at Whitehall the eighteenth day of October, 1660."

We wonder what old Charles II would say if it should be possible for him to see main street in Crowell on a Saturday afternoon.

School Time Again

Now that school is nearing the end of the first week of a new term, a few comments in this respect might be appropriate.

All in all, we believe that careful investigation will reveal that the student body in both local schools is about as fine a group of youngsters as you will find any where.

Usually you can find some "know-it-alls" and "swell-heads" on a football squad—but don't think for a minute that you will find anyone of this type among the Wildcats. If we thought that they were the type to let flowery remarks go to their heads, we might refrain from making them but that's not the case and we unhesitatingly state that whether they lose all of their games or win all of them, they are a group of boys of which any community should be proud and we believe that they will maintain this respect.

And another thing—we believe that the rest of the school will have to step lively if it keeps up with the average grades of the football squad. We'll see how this prediction comes out later.

The Pep Squad

And don't forget the pep squad. No danger in that anyway, for a group of over forty girls will tainly make their presence known and how!—within a short time, also saved some flowers to toss in this direction.

It is our opinion that it would be difficult to group together a bunch of girls than these. Nature has given them pep, as their smiles imply, but they also have beauty, loyalty and in general spirit that will, no doubt bring to the finest kind of popularity.
